The other day romantic courtship was immediately comthe four judges of the district court got together and decided to make a new construction of the law. They drew up their decision in writing, and it is now pasted in the jury pay roll book, where County Clerk Reed can spring it on kickers with ease. It provides that hereafter a day, in the meaning of the statute governing jurors' fees, shall consist of twenty-four hours, commencing at midnight and ending at the next Jurors on the regular panel will be paid at the rate of $2 a day, exclusive of Sundays, when they are not serving, and shall have no extra pay for night work. When excused for a week or more they shall draw no fees for the time during which th y are excused, but only milegae for re-turning from home after such vacation. Talesmen are to receive $2 for each calendar day spent on duty. This new construction will make it much more inconvenient for the jurors to bleed the county for $2 apiece by working nights. It will be possible for them to draw an extra day's pay only by continuing their sessions past midnight, and there is not much doubt that the action of the judges will cut off quite an expense to

HOW JURORS WILL BE DRAWN. The next time a jury is drawn it will be under the new law, and every voter of Pot-tawattamie county between the ages of 21 and 65 will be entered in a grand lottery, which may result in his getting a $2 a day job at the county's expense. The new law provides that the assessor of each township shall report to the auditor and the township clerk a list of all qualified voters of his township every three years. The auditor, before the commissioners of insanity yester-clerk and recorder shall hold a meeting for day and asked that she be allowed to care who claim exemptions from jury duty, and all names of those found by them to be exempt shall be stricken from the list.

The rest of the names are to be written on pieces of paper, which shall be stricken from the list.

n pieces of paper, which shall be folded so to conceal the name it contains and put into a large box. Then a drawing will be had, at which the three officials above mentioned shall preside. One of them shall draw a licket out of the box and hand it to the second man, who shall read it aloud. This process is to be repeated until twenty-four grand jurors and a like number of petit jurors have been drawn. Notices are then to e sent out to the persons drawn, and if any of them fall to appear they shall be sub-ject to a fine of $25 and costs.

The tickets not drawn out are then to be sealed up and laid one side until the next drawing. Among the stuff stolen were four kegs and two half kegs of beer, $9.75 worth of tobacco and $5 worth of cigars, making the total value of the plunder about $35. Some of the tobacco was found at the Kanada mansion, on High street near Thirteenth avenue. An empty tobacco box was found in the gas company's yard, where the boys had thrown it. The Blair boy is supposed to have stolen two crates of eggs. In addition to breaking open the car the gang is thought to have cut a hole in the window of the Union Pacific freight depot on Tenth avenue and made way with some of the property stored there. The officers who are working on the case are continually finding more stolen stuff.

GOVERNOR BROWN TAKES A HAND

Prosecution Avers that the Killing of Arch Brown Was Part of a Deep-Laid Plot to Get Him Out of the Way.

LOUISVILLE, May 8 .- The Courler-Journal prints the following:

"The sensational ending of the Gordon double killing is not over yet by half. The presecution will attempt to prove that Aren Dixon Brown's death was due to a deep laid plot to assassinate him; a trap, as the prosecution believes, fostered and planned by one who, for reasons best known to himself, was afraid to do the work, and used Gordon as the tool to carry out his designs.

"These statements come directly from the prosecution. "Governor Brown has reason to belleve that his son's coming to Louisville on the day of the tragedy and his assignation with Mrs. Gordon was known to a man in Louisville. This Louisville man, the prosecution claims, notified Gordon that his wife was to meet Brown, and 'actively assisted in a foul assassination.' The prosecution further says that the name of the man whom acted the spy is known, and that he will have to be produced in court."

In a private letter last night Governor Brown insisted that the man referred to be brought into court on an attacament. The man who, as the prosecution believes, piloted Gordon to the house of Lucy Smith, is a college chum of Gordon's and was married in

Mr. James A. Scott, the Frankfort attorcute the case, is a fearless, capable lawyer and has the reputation of doing what he be-lieves to be his duty at all hazards. He says: "Governor Brown sent for me yes-terday afternoon. He explained his views and position in the matter, and employed m o prosecute the case in the examining trial, want to say that Governor Brown never authorized any statements that he would not prosecute the case, nor did he ever dream granting a pardon to Gordon, as has been

"Before deciding on the step Governor Brown took counsel with a number of inti-mate friends from all over the state. He came to the conclusion that it was due the memory of his son that there should be a full and fair investigation of all the facts; not necessarily for the purpose of prosecu-tion, but for the purpose of enabling him and the officers of the law to determine whether there ought to be a further prosecution of the case. He arrived at this conclusion after satisfying himself that his son did not seduce Mrs. Gordon and that Mrs. Gordon had no reason to believe that he had led her from the path of virtue. He was convinced that Gordon must have known that his wife was dissipated, reckless and imprudent, if not an inchaste woman. "Governor Brown is now firmly convinced that a well-planned trap was laid for his sor and that his son was selected for the sacrifice out of a large number of like offender and that information was furnished of his coming by some one in Frankfort to another man in Louisville, who, for some motive advised and actively assisted in what Gov-ernor Brown considers a foul assassination. "In regard to the others who were like offenders with Arch Brown, I will say for the sake of Mrs. Gordon's relatives, who are all excellent people, and highly esteemed by Governor Brown and his counsel, the governor would shrink from any attack upoher character, but would prefer to throw the veil of charity over all her acts, especially as she is dead. The future will determine whether it will be necessary to further blacken the character of Mrs. Gordon in order to show the defendant's thorough what the defense will try to prove, and until we do know, I will be unable to answer that question. If necessary we will show that others were equally guilty, but I do not think we will have to do this. I think the developments will be surprising to some peo-

The plans of the prosecution in the Gordon case has taken a sensational turn in the issuance of a subpoena for Webster Gazlay. Attorneys engaged in the prosecution have taken this step upon the theory that Gazlay is the man who telephoned to Gordon and who shadowed and located the couple. Mr. Gazlay is one of the few who was received by Gordon at the jail. Movements of Ocean Steamers, May 8. At Liverpool-Arrived-Catalonia, from Southampton-Arrived-Trave, from
