Clause Written in After the Surety Had Endorsed the Paper Held to Dissolve the Contract and Release the Guarantor.

The jury in the case of E. M. Officer against Z. Goodwin and George Haskins came in yesterday afternoon with a verdict in favor of the defendants. The amount involved was about $1,500. A note was given by Goodwin to the plaintiff in 1894. Subsequently Haskins was induced to endorse the All Royal Neighbors of America are note with his own name. The maker of the note defaulted in the payment, and Mrs. E. M. Officer commenced suit, making them both defendants. When the note was presented in evidence it was found that over Haskins name were the words, "Payment guaranteed and protest waived." Haskins swore the words were not there when he signed his name, and other witnesses cor-roborated his statement. The court held is unable to care for the 200 delegates that that if these words were put there after Haskins signed his name, the alteration was of a nature that dissolved the contract. The turns association, and the assistance of the jury, in their special findings, reported that latter will be furnished as far as possible. the note had been altered, and returned a verdict, accordingly, in favor of the defense.

White Woman Who is Claimed in Marriage by White and Black Husbands. Anna Boyer and Joseph Tatten occupy different cells at the city fail by reason of what looks like Anna's desire to corner the matrimonial market. At any rate, she is the object of a dispute between Tatten and George G. Boyer, each of whom claims her for his wife. Tatten says he married her seven or eight years ago in Fort Wayne, Ind., and has the papers to show her. Six years ago he brought her to Council Bluffs and took her to a little thatched cabin near the river south of the Union Pacific bridge. A Boyer wanted to board there, and he was About eight months ago Tatten was taken sick with typhoid fever, and while he was helpless he says Boyer proceeded to make love to his wife with the ardor and chivalry that only a colored man can use toward a white woman. The result was that Mrs. Tatten was completely carried away by his charms of face and manner, and when George bade her fly with him, and told her that her present husband would not be of any account to her much longer, for he was going to die, she grabbed his hand and flew. They took out a marriage license last Oc-tober and were married on the 9th by Justice Fox, the bride giving her name as Anna Bechold, and both claiming to hail from Omaha. Tatten got well about a month ago and immediately started out to woo back his recreant spouse. He succeeded without much trouble, for the woman had become rather tired of her darky lover. Tatten took her back to the little thatched cottage, in spite of Boyer's waving the marriage license and telling what he would do and what he wouldn't. They had hardly gotten snugly ensconced in their old home when Deputy Marshal Fowler appeared, armed a warrant for both of their arrests on the charge of adultery. .

Both the accused strenuously objected to being arrested, and Tatten seized a gun and threatened to blow Fowler's head off, but failed to carry out the threat. May 15 The Bee will begin publication of another tale of adventure from the pen of A CONAN DOYLE

ARD escaped from the old English prison at Dartmoor, and of many remarkable adventures which follow his escape, and which lead to a climax as pleasing as it is unexpected. Dr. DOYLE considers these adventures of BRIGADIER GERARD the best work of his life so far, and our readers will agree with him. We shall continue to publish the adventures of the dashing brigadier throughout the summer.

The story in question will be published in daily instalments and will continue five days. OPENING CHAPTER MAY 15.

Art in Furniture--

We have on display the most Beautiful Stock of Furniture in Nebraska.

Among our late studies in old French furniture is this Chiffonniere, with its double swell front and its antique prow-like supports to the mirror. It makes a very beautiful piece of furniture, executed in Bird's-Eye Maple or Curly Birch, and with trimmings of polished brass in Eighteenth Century designs.

These 1895 patterns mean nothing until you stop to recall the fact that they were all designed in the early days of the business depression when low price was the first and last consideration. They are simply "studies in Economy," and such values may not reappear in the furniture business in the next half dozen years.
