NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Judge Smith Listening to the Echoes of a Last Year's Excursion to Manawa.

Case of a Man Shot in the Neck

L. C. Duffy Sues Colonel Reed for Damages as the Result of a Fancy Shot

Artist's Failure to Connect on the Target.

The case of L. C. Duffy against Colonel F. C. Reed of Manawa was on trial before Judge Smith yesterday in the district court.

It happened to be a day when one of Colonel Reed's attractions was a fancy rifle shooting.

Duffy was standing behind the target, about twenty-five feet away from it and considerably out of range of the bullet. But it veered and struck Duffy in the neck. The bullet has been there ever since, and from his testimony on the stand yesterday it was learned that he has been suffering from indigestion, loss of eye sight, loss of hair, numbness and many similar ailments.

Dr. Barnes of Creston was one of the witnesses on the side of the plaintiff. He was at Manawa when the shot was fired and was one of those who rushed to Duffy's assistance, besides caring for him at his home for some time after the injury was sustained.

He testified that the bullet entered the neck, but when Attorney D. W. Higbee, who represented Duffy, tried to get him to express a belief as to where it went from there, he refused. All he knew was that there was a "nerve plexus" at just about the point where the bullet went in, and he had not been able to pull the bullet out for fear of disjoining the plexus.

He admitted on cross-examination that any one of the numerous symptoms which Duffy claimed to have been having might have been caused by other things, but he inclined to the belief that he would not have had quite so many symptoms had it not been for the gunshot wound or some other similar injury.

Duffy is suing Reed for $5,000 damages, alleging that he is responsible for the misshot of his fancy shooting.

Moore Taken After a Chase.

William Moore is the name of a young man who was arrested last evening at the house of Mrs. Warren on Avenue D, charged with being a vagrant.

The Omaha authorities wanted him for being implicated in an alleged suit club swindle. It was found that he was engaged to marry Mrs. Warren, and so he was naturally looked for not far from her. Officer Wier knocked at the door and was met by Mrs. Warren, who told him Moore was not there. He insisted on being shown. All the doors inside were unlocked but one and Wier called for the key. At first Mrs. Warren refused it, but later changed her mind and let the officer enter.

An open window would have told him that the bird was in the house, but he had no chance of a lingering glimpse of the bird's coat tails as she slipped off the window sill. A lively chase ensued through back yards, over fences and around houses. Wier shot at Moore, but missed, but hit nothing but empty air. Moore was at last terrified into stopping and was handed in the Danabro hall in his own second floor. Come in and look at them.

Ready for Next Year.

John Lind has returned from Clinton, where he attended the state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. He is well satisfied with the showing his friends made in the contest for the commandership of the Iowa department. "Western Iowa was weak in the convention," he remarked yesterday, "for a lot of the delegates failed to be present. As a usual thing a man has to come before talking about his aspirations a year before he expects to be elected. In that way he puts himself in the line for promotion, as it were, and when he comes up the second year his chances for election are considerably improved."

The selection of Cedar Rapids as the place for holding the next encampment was only accomplished after a fight as hot as any yet known in the history of the order.

Played Two Losing Games.

Lloyd Forgraves, a young man who formerly had a career with large polka dots in it, but who has of late been behaving with a little more regularity, ran up against a bad luck on Monday night last evening and lost $2. This was more than he had bargained for, and in the fervor of his anger he commenced to swear.

John Scheffer, the proprietor of the place, was afraid his noise would disturb other patrons of the great national game and had Lloyd arrested. Lloyd had kicked him. This only increased the trouble, and a pitched battle followed. Forgraves was very much of an under dog, and by the time he struck the sidewalk he had been badly blacked. An officer chanced to come along at just that minute and Forgraves was bundled off to the city lock up with charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace. Scheffer was not arrested.

BIDS FOR WOODBURY COUNTY BONDS.

Failure of officials to observe the law causes trouble.

SIoux CITY, May 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Bids were opened today by the Woodbury county board for $200,000 of bonds, recently issued by the county and secured by a mortgage on the Farmers Loan and Trust company of this city, the highest bidder, who was discovered that they were made to run twenty years, while the statute only authorized the board to issue ten year bonds. A plan has been nearly consummated here for a consolidation of the local street railway lines. A. J. Coffman, president of the Omaha and Sioux City Riverside Street Railway company, foreclosing proceedings are pending, because of the failure of the creditors of the road, who will then bid the property in at a price of $100,000. A consolidation company, the Sioux City Traction, Sioux City and Leeds Railway and Sioux City and Omaha Street Railway, is in a position to join whenever their managements wish. SIoux CITY, May 10.—(Special Telegram.)—The assets of the Interstate Fair association were sold today by the receiver to satisfy $25,000 of liens against the association. The highest bid made was $2,600. The property was accordingly turned over to the bidder, A. M. Coffman, for that price. Coffman acts for a number of local parties who buy property at a speculation. A new company will be formed and the fair grounds and buildings turned over to it as a permanent home. The debt which can be paid from the amount received are the expenses of the receiver, and the court costs, and the interest on labor liens and the mechanics' liens.

The proprietors, Spuhler & Frazier, give as a reason for quitting business the rapid and continued rise in all the speculative markets.
