Farmers Near Crescent Think Their Fruit Crops Ruined.

ATTRIBUTED TO THE HOT WINDS

Joseph Abel is Satisfied Friday Nights Frost Had Nothing to Do with Blighting Apple Buds in His Vicinity.

Joseph Abel, a farmer living near Crescent, was in the city yesterday exhibiting a sprig off an apple tree which he says is a fair sample of the way things are looking in his vicinity. The buds, which had just begun to take on the fruit form, were blackened A marriage license was issued yesterday to and withered, and on consulting with his neighbors he found that nearly all their apple and plum trees were in that condition He attributed the fact to the hot winds and thought the recent frosts had nothing to do with it. All his hope of a big fruit crop has gone glimmering. The frost Friday night did but little damage, so far as can be ascertained, in this immediate vicinity. Spencer Smith had all his preparations to give Jack Frost a tussle if he should make his appearance. He had the low places on his farm east of the city loaded up with dry brush wood, and at the first sign of a frost had planned to apply the torch. Abel had laid his plans in same way, but neither of them had need to carry them into execution. The frost did not touch the highlands, and on the lower ground was very light. At several places in the city, however, the weather was cold enough to cause water to freeze the thickness of ordinary window glass.

OPPOSITION TO THE FERRY SCHEME

Fears that More Direct Communication with South Omaha Will Divert Trade. The meeting which was held in South Omaha Friday night for the purpose of taking steps toward the establishment of a steam ferry line to Manawa has developed Fourth no small opposition among the people of Council Bluffs. In this case the fight will be, in all probability, between the people of Omaha and Council Bluffs on one side, and South Omaha and the farmers of western Pottawattamie county on the other, and there is considerable doubt as to whether the party of the first part will be able to throw enough old water on the scheme to put it out.
The South Omaha people want the farmers to grade and keep in repair for a term of years a road running from the east shore of the lake, just north of Manawa, about a mile in length. This, with the ferry, will give the farmers direct access to the packing uses of South Omaha and will cut of about nine miles of their present roundabout way. At present the farmers have to pass ng and returing, and generally manage to drop some of their cash at the stores of both cities. If the plan of the people of South Omaha is carried into execution both cities will be left out in the cold, and the stores of South Omaha will receive the bene-ers that it will not be for their interest to have the new road opened up and the ferry established," said E. H. Odell of the Me chants' and Manufacturers' association of this city vesterday, "Our association will certainly fight the proposition as hard as we can, although what we can do more than to use moral suasion with the farmers I do not

In this fight Mr. Odell will occupy a two fold position, being president of the Mer-chants' and Manufacturers association and the chief owner and proprietor of Manhattan beach. In the former capacity he may, of course, be expected to oppose the ferry scheme, but as a private citizen and propscheme, but as a private erty owner he cannot be blamed very much if he regards with pleasure any move that will increase the attendance at Manawa and Manhattan beach. He states, however, contingent at the lake would be so small that he feels his patriotism rising to the emergency, and he will help the association do all it can to prevent the ferry from be-

BENNISON BROS., Council Bluffs. Forgraves' Brain Was Fogy. Lloyd Forgraves was asked to tell what he knew about there being gambling at the Manhattan saloon on Broadway yesterday morning. William Crissman, his friend, was like-wise invited to tell what he knew about it.

Judge McGee was the interlocuter, but both of them had pains in their recollectories and had as little as possible to say, Forgraves was having a hearing in police ourt on the charge of disturbing the peace. His friend Crissman had paid a midnight visit to Judge McGce, so the latter said, and was filled with righteous indignation to think that gambling should be permitted in Council Bluffs. He told the judge that he and For-graves intended to see that John Scheffler's place was closed before daylight, because Forgraves had lost $2 bucking the tiger. But when Crissman was put upon the stand yes-terday mornig he had lost all his indignation, and his story was so much molified from his story was so much modified from that told the preceding evening that Judge McGeo's curiosity was considerably aroused. He propounded a large number of questions to Crissman, but the answers displayed an ignorance so dense that even the judge was obliged to give it up as a bad job. He im-posed a fine of $16.40 on Forgraves for disturbing the peace, and so long as the present ng of amity exists between the city offi-and the gamblers there will probably be nothing more done about the case.

In Forgraves' pocket, when arrested, was found a letter from a girl at Vail, Ia. No name was signed, but its contents indicated house of a chicken raiser, and that she had become in timate with Forgraves. There were some references to - an extended visit to Council Bluffs, and an operation she expected to have performed when she got The police are searching for more light on this feature of the case.

DES MOINES, May 11-(Special Telegram.)-In the district court this morning Judge Stevenson announced a decision in the case of the city of Des Moines against Polk county, which was an action rubmitted to have decided the question whether or not the county should pay to the city a balance of a certain bridge tax left after paying certain bridge bonds of the city, levied and collected from the taxable property within the city limits, and also to recover money for cases brought in police court in which vagrants and tramps were the defendants. The South Omaha Live Stock exchange neld a special meeting yesterday afternoon to hear the report of the committee appointed to draft a reply to the letter to Secretary Morton of the Department of Agriculture regarding the competency of the inspectors recently appointed by Mr. Morton. It was expected that in the face of Secretary Morton's letter denying that he had appointed men as inspectors for purely political rea sons a rather emphatic letter would be sent to the secretary of agriculture in reply, but such was not the case. The committee re ported as follows:

Prior to this commit ees had been working among the merchants and securing handsome subscriptions, but when it was found that the affair was a gorgeous failure many of the subscribers re-fused to pay. This left the committee with-out sufficient funds and a meeting of the captains of the various companies was held and an agreement made that 50 per cent of the prizes offered should be accepted in full payment. As a matter of fact it was shown on the trial that the Fencibles received $3,750, or 75 per cent of the $5,000 prize. At the time of the agreement to take 50 cents on the dollar they were well satisfied, but under the leadership of Captain Charles S Dormer they brought suit against W. J. Broatch and others of the committee to recover the $1.250 balance on the $5,000 prize. This sum the jury decides they are not entitled to. One of the chief defenses made in

The Plan of Drs. Copeland and Shepard is a Public Blessing. Affording Superior Treatment and Medicine Upon a System of Quarter Fees-Read What Our Patients Say.

The best medical service in this season of "hard times" should not cost more than people are able to pay.

This is the stand that Drs. Copeland and Shapard take. This is the gauntiet that they throw down to their confecres in the profession.

The physician who charges more than that amount as his monthly fee does so because his practice is so limited that he is obliged to, or vocase he feels that he is able to bamboogle his patients into swelling his receipts.

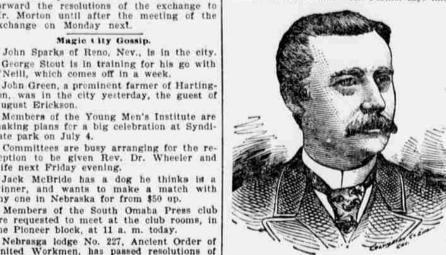

There is no better medical service than Drs. Copeland and Shepard give in their specialties. Their large practice attests this fact, their testimonials emphasize it.

A nominal fee a month is the only charge for treatment and medicines. If you pay more you are simply giving away all over and above that amount.

MAKING IT EASY. Invalids receive steady treatment under Drs. Opeland and Shepard for the briefest periodicessary to a lasting cure, without any tax of assessment, beyond a little fee monthly, includ-

"I was coming from Liverpool upon one of the famous liners," says Bishop Potter, "and, although the sky was clear and the weather warm, a somewhat tempestuous sea had oc-casioned more than the usual amount of seasickness among the passengers. As I paced the deck one afternoon I noticed a lady re-clining upon one of the benches, and the unearthly pallor of her face and the hopeless languidity of her manner indicated that she had reached that state of collapse which marks the limit of seasickness.

Sk ! f at Driving. It is not in driving through the streets done that the skill of the Fire Department drivers and tillermen of trucks is shown, says the New York Sun. It is exhibited equally in the operation of backing into the engine huose. Thus, at fire headquarters in East Sixty-seventh street, the other day a visitor saw 16 truck go out to try a new horse. The new horse was in the middle of a team of three driven abreast. The truck was back in a minute or two and the firemen began backing it into the house without any cessation of movement except at the inceived from eGneral Venukoff a communication describing a submaring volcano which stant when the direction was reversed from at 8:45. Miss Hannah Mahoney, 1528 3rd street.

"I think my case illustrates the efficiency of the treatment of Drs. Copeland & Shepard in catarrh, bronchitis and hay fever. I was wretched for twelve years with these complaints until Dr. Shepard cured me several months ago. My catarrh was of the worst form, not only in the head and throat, but it went all through me, acting like a slow blood poison. Some time after the catarrh appeared I began to have regular hay fever with inflamed and watery nose and eyes, sore throat, headache and a suffocating cough with paroxysms of sneezing. In summers I could scarcely sleep at all, during the night I always took cold. Often I would cough and sneeze for an hour at a time by the clock. These attacks were so exhausting that I was unable to work at all in warm weather. In short, I was a complete invalid.

all in warm weather complete invalid.

"The great thing about my treatment was that it proved genuine and lasting. A few treatments gave me comfort and strength, and in a little while I got entirely well and I have been free from every distressing symptom. The cost was almost nothing, including all medicines, being about one-sixth the usual fee charged for such services."
