Crouching among the bushes, I observed that there were two horses to the equipage, that a small postboy was standled or steel and a frame which had been dough ened by twelve years of camp and field. Thus I was able to keep up this wild flight for another three hours, during which I still guided myself, you understand, by keeping the wind in my face. At the end of that time I calculated that I had put nearly investor and the prices and myself twenty miles between the prison and myself. Day was about to break, so I crouched down among the heather upon the top of one of those small hills which abound in that coun-try, with the intention of hiding myself until nightfall. Hubbard on His Way for Sampson.

C. W. Hubbard, sheriff of Minnehaha county, South Dakota, stopped at the Mil-lard last evening, on his way to Sundance, lard last evening, on his way to Sundance, Wyo., to take into custody Joseph Sampson, recently acting mayor of Sioux Falls, ap-prehended for embezzlement. While acting mayor it is alleged that he stole $1,000 turned over to him as police court fines. He had been acting in the place of Mayor Roy Williams, who was sick. April 16 a municipal elec-tion was held, and John C. Coggin becams president of the city council, and, there-fore, acting mayor. About a week ago Sampson skipped out. His embezzlement was soon discovered, and he was arrested on advices from Sioux Falls at Sundance last Monday.
