JACKSONVILLE, 111., May 18 .- (Special Telegram.)-The Omahas played a beautiful game today, and all the way through it was characterized by hard hitting and good fielding. Up to the eighth inning it looked as though it would be a shut out for the home team, but by a scratch, Bell crossed the home plate, making the only run for the home team. Zeis received a hard blow on the leg, breaking it at the ankle, at an carly stage of the game. The home team today worked under the direction of Bob Caruthers, who has been made manager and captain, and a miserable exhibition of ball playing it was JACKSON VILLE.

Banquet's Win at Newmarket Sets the Torrent of Abuse and Criticism Loose Again-Simm's Given the Customary Turning Over.

DWYER AND CROKER SCUNDLY BERATED

Copyrighted, 1895, by Press Publishing Company.) LONDON, May 18 .- New York World Cablegram-Special Telegram.)-Both Croker and Dwyer are at Newmarket, and your correspondent there writes that although there have been many reports of a dissolution of their partnership they still remain together. For the first time this morning the English newspapers give voice to ugly comments made in private racing circles, and the Telegraph speaks of them very plainly. Referring to Banquet's race on Thursday, the Telegraph says: "There was not the very faintest savor of sport about the business; indeed, it is now well understood that the importation of these horses is a purely commercial transaction with no pretense to anyhting else. Readers who are not well acquainted with turf matters will understand the state of the case when it is explained that Banquet, one of the best horses America has lately produced, ran on Thursday for a £100 selling plate, the lowest description of race recognized, and that he, of course, met a poor lot of op-ponents. The successful competitor for the £100 was bought in after the race for 1,510 guineas, close on sixteen times the value of the stake won. Retaining him cost his owner close on f1,200, or if the race was worth f100 his selling price was f300, and that was all the set off against the £1,585 to which the bidding reached. It will, of course be understood that profit is obtained from the money won by betting, and as it chanced this money was nearly lost by the indifferent riding of the American jockey, who was at one time in front, at another behind, and at all times apparently without any distinct plan of action, though the immense superjority of the horse, running thus against pacity, rendered it difficult for this rider to throw the race away.

SCORES SIMMS ALSO. "The suggestion that the jockey was in-tentionally taking liberties will not com-mend itself to any judge of horsemanship. The lad is not sufficiently cool-headed for such diversion, one of his reprehensible practices being to flog his horse severely when the winning post is well passed, a proceed-ing, it may be added, in most marked con-trast to the finishing of the best English horsemen with their one or two well-timed strokes of the whip, when indeed the whip is used at all, just before the post is reached "Another American horse, Stonenell, failed to win the little selling race for which he was entered, and, as a matter of course was claimed and retained in spite of an offer from the American owner of a bonus of £500 to surrender the animal. A very natural curiosity exists to see what this horse will do when trained on the English system. The World correspondent, on the other hand, and he is one of the best of English sporting authorities, speaks highly of Simms. He writes: "The fact is that the visitors have not netted the pile they expected; that the wagers won on Eau de Gallie and Bandard Markey bere and the speaks have been speaked." quet have been eaten up by the expense of drawing commissions and the buying it money, and none of the 2-year-olds have done any good, although Montauk still keeps well. The severe drouth is all against the American horses, but old Banquet seems to possess cast iron legs, and I have it on th est authority that according to the present arrangement he will start for the Mancheste r seventeen pounds less than top weight. STONENELL HAD THE WORST OF cup of £2,000, in which he carries eight stone "Simms has ridden Banquet splendidly in each race the horse has won, and at New market kept his mount back so as to lead th bookmakers to believe he was beaten and to lay against him. He had to ride hard to Drogo, but gave a fine exhibition o jockeyship, which increased his popularity immensely in the short races of five furlongs. The English riders are quite up to his artfu endeavors to slip away with the lead. The entirely destroyed his chance of winning th selling place at Newmarket, with Stonenell by hanging back so that it was no start when Simms had a good place and when the starter dropped his flag they dashed away. leaving Stonenell pretty well last. Simms had an impression that if he finished in the first three Stonenell could not be claimed by The rule, however, is very strict, and says that every horse running in a selling race may be claimed, the owner of the second having priority. This was taken advantage of in this case, but had the owner other people running horses in that race would have taken the horse for £503, for he would be cheap at 2,000 guineas." MADE A MESS OF THEIR RACING Gentlemen Riders at St. Louis Let Their

The chief event of interest was the ofth race, three-quarters of a mfle, gentlemen riders, in which there were thirteen entries, a silver pitcher being the trophy. On reaching the post Audiphone, with Aler up, and No Remarks, the favorite, with M. Ewing up, ran away. but Was to Nowise Close. The game yesterday afternoon was rather a remarkable one in many ways, and reflects no small credit on the Omaha Cricke

The members of the club, at least such o them as do not belong to All Saints church. tried conclusions with such of its members as do belong to it, with the result that the "sinners" succumbed to the prowess of the 'saints.'

Rev. J. P. D. Llwyd and A. T. McPherson, to "face the music," furnished by Messrs. W. A. Vaughan and G. H. Vaughan, but it was not long before buth batsmen were disposed of without having scored. The advent of H. New put a little life into the game, as this batsman played in his usual brilliant form, and almost succeeded in carrying out his bat with the tidy score of twenty-five to his credit. Had it not been for New, the "unrighteous ones" would have made a poor showing, indeed, as it was, even, 150 to 44

looks very fishy.

It may be as well to state that G. H. Vaughan was very much on the spot, so much so, in fact, that he took four wickets R. W. Taylor, who captained the "saints," sent in Messrs. J. Francis and C. H. Young who, after making four and five, respectively were retired. The next comers, Messrs. R. R. Young and W. R. Vaughan, did better, as the former put up ten and the latter thirteen before they were disposed of. The best bat-ting performance of the day (it might be said of many a day), was that of R. W. Taylor, whose sixty-seven was the result of fine free hitting. Among others of the "saints" who distinguished themselves were Messrs, P. S. Young and C. H. Cookson, the and the latter, after making ten, "carried out" his bat.

Taking it all in all, the batting of those who made any showing at all was very cred-itable, and speaks well for the future. While the bowling of the winning side was very good, it must be stated that the losing were very weak in that commodity. It is but just to mention the fact that E. Hart, who went in last for the Omahas, started in with a determination to do something. As an evidence of his intention in this direction, he opened up his innings with a five hit to leg, off G. Vaughan's bowling, and as he "carried out" his bat, it is hard to say what he would have done. Below are the score

WERE LIKELY STARTERS. The Nebraska lads cut quite a lot of ic n the preliminary practice, and made quite an impression with their classic mugs and inflammatory uniforms. They were all from the State university, but whether sophs or freshmen I am not certain, though I think the field. Still I am liable to be mistaken Every man from Lincoln is not a freshman for I know a score or two myself as stale crowd was in a fever of expectation and it looked as if a very warm time was ahead despite the previously alluded to hyperborean breeze. George Carrish of Uncle Dave's pro-fessional gang had charge of the indicator and young Mr. Robinson of Omaha and Prof. Crowley of the Nebraska college were the contending pitchers. The students came here flushed rosy, celestial red, with the colossal triumph achieved at Wahoo day before yesterday, where they eat up the country boys without a jump or skip, and they looked as if they meant to serve Captain Crawford's graduates the same way.

For three innings they showed up in most creditable manner, then went to pieces like an old slop barrel that had been left in the sun all summer.

POOR WORK AT SHORT. First, Algernon Pace began to fumble ev erything that came his way, and he is count-ed on as one of the best shorts there is in the collegiate field. Once Algernon made : grab at his off foot. He thought it was the ball, and he caught hold of it, lifted it over his fair young brow and was about to dash to Charence Heald, when Reginald Randolph ran up to him and after a little trigonometrical argument induced him drop his Trilby and get down to business. But the faux pas seemed to rattle the who faculty, and from that on to the close the budding luminaries of the land gave one of the most appalling, heterogeneous, undigest ed, incoherent, delirious exhibitions of the great national game seen since the days of two ole cat and round stakes. Paregorically speaking, they just butted their erudite brows, grabbed their bats and got right into the center of the curriculum and beat the very stuffing out of syntax, outraged orthography, ripped up rhetoric and performed the most preposterous pollutions on prosedy.

They were all in a frightful state of desutation when Vivian Packard, the last man at bat, tossed his mane defiantly in the wind and took his stand for a last welt at young He arched one over to Bittinger and the battle was over,

TROUBLED WITH RATTLES. All testing aside, it must be admitted that the university boys from the capital bave undoubtedly a staunch and stocky little team. They were afflicted with the rattles yesterday selves amidst the blare and glare of a great city. They did not play half the game they are capable of. Friel, the catcher, is a good man, and so is Heald at first, Benedict at second and Pace at short. Crowley pitched a magnificent game and would have escaped with but three hits off him had he received anything like decent support. On the other hand, the local Universities all played finely, one Russell McKelvey being the only one to evince signs of rust. Mac, however, has had little or no practice, and like Papa Anse, he will yet show the young bloods that they are not the only ball players left. Robinson pitched in professional form and Frank Crawford caught as good a game as has been seen in Omaha this year at either professional or amateur grounds. Creigh is unquestionably a ball player of rare quality and should he choose to pursue it for a livelihood he wouldn't be long without a job. With work he will make a star. NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 18.—Yale de-feated Princeton in a very exciting game this afternoon. It was a battle between the pitchers. Princeton made one scratch hit and Yale only three. Honors were about even between Carter and Altman, but when the former's arm gave out in the sixth, with one man out. Trudeau took his place, clearly doing the best twiriling of the day. The only run was in the seventh. Score: Hits: Yale, 3: Princeton, 1. Errors: Yale i; Princeton, 3. Batteries: Altman and Wil-liams; Carter, Trudeau and Greenway.

Creightens Won It. The Creighton University Base Ball club defeated the team from the Institute for the Deaf on the college campus by a score of 21 to 3. The main feature of the game was the pitching of Powers, who had his opponents at his mercy. Score:

PHILADELPHIA, May 18.-The University

being packed and the field about it crowded.

The grounds, which are a block square, can be put into excellent shape with a few of California athletes verified their prediction can be put into excellent shape with a few improvements, and when these are put in the field will be among the best in the city. The managers have been at work upon it during the past few weeks and have put it into very good condition, especially the ball field, which is level and hard. The track has been marked out, but has not as yet been perfectly leveled. In the northeast corner of the ground four clay-topped tennis courts have been laid out, which are hard and smooth. A dressing room, with shower baths, and containing nearly 100 lockers, has also been fitted up.

The program was opened yesterday with of a hard tussel with the University of Pennsylvania by scoring a tie in the track and field sports today. The points were not reckoned as they were at Princeton last week, when the Tigers were beaten, 61 to 51. Only firsts were counted today, and at the finish each team had scored seven. The threatening weather and the steeplechase racing kept people away ,and there was an also been fitted up.

The program was opened yesterday with an egg race for boys. Among the entries were Roy Dumont, Reid Hanchett, Harry Baidwin, Will Vom Weg, Robert Risdon, Harry Higgins, John Jacobs and Dana B. Hellings. After a hot race Reid Hanchett nulled out winner. attendance of about 1,200. Many of the contests were exciting, notably the mile walk and the 440-yard run. In the walk, Maryin of California started off with a spurt and kept the lead until the third lap, when Fetulled out winner.
The entries for the 100-yard dash were Will terman of Pennsylvania passed him. A me-Parker, Frank McConnell, Charles Rogers, H. V. Blinkiron, John Coleman and W. D. Staley. They started off in a bunch, but Blinkiron crossed the tape fully ten feet ahead of the rest, McConnell and Coleman were tied for second place. The time was ment afterward Davis of Pennsylvania was following his colleague, leaving Marvin behind, but on the last lap the Californian put on steam and won in a most exciting finish by about four inches, Fetterman coming secwere field for second place. The time was 12 seconds flat.

For the half mile the entries were Charles Battelle, Will Parker, Frank McConnell, Charles Staley, H. V. Blinkiron, W. D. Staley and C. H. Young. All but Parker, Staley and Battelle dropped out before the finish. Parker spurted ahead on the turn into the stretch and came in an easy Winner. Staley was second and Batelle third. In the 440 yards dash Captain Koch of the California team caught the lead. War-ren of Pennsylvania pushed him hard, and afterward, after covering about 200 yards, passed him, whereupon Koch made a spurt and won by about three yards. Orton of Pennsylvania won the half mile without any difficulty, Shell coming in second. Bradley, the Californian, was not in it at any stage, and was so used up at the finish that he was unable to compete in the mile run, which was a walkover for Jarvis of Pennsylvania.

The 220-yard dash went to the visitors with ease, Pennsylvania not being in it from the start. Barnes finished first, with Scoggins a close second. Both the hurdle races were handily won by the Californians. In the 120 yards Dyer and Torry ran a dead heat for first, Schlief coming in away behind. The 220-yard hurdle was another close contest be-tween the California hurdlers, but Torrey came in a few yards in advance of Dyer, Middleton of Pennsylvania taking third place, Schlief, his partner in the race, having fallen over one of the hurdles. The two-mile bleycle race ended in a fizzle. The starters were Dozler of California and Osgood and Coates of Pennsylvania. Osgood, who has a record of 5:97, took the lead and easily maintained it. On the second iap Dozier dropped out of the race, complaining of a cramp in the leg. Osgood finished in 5:37 3-5, with Coates second. The field events were without special interest.
