

JUDGE RESCINDS HIS ORDER

Jury in the Criminal Court is Not to Be Given a Recess.

"WHOLE BATCH OF CASES" IS ON HAND

Bench Decides that it Will Not Be a Waste of Time to Proceed in the Disposal of Fifty Complaints—Douglas for Burglary on Trial.

The judge of the criminal section of the district court was in a huff from a mind Monday afternoon and said that he would try no more criminal cases this week. He considered his time too valuable, he said, to wait until a batch of cases had been prepared for him. At that time there was no criminal case ready for trial, as the man whose case was set down surprised the state by pleading guilty at the eleventh hour.

The morning hours had been occupied in proving a case against J. D. Ellis, the man who ran off to Kansas with Gustave Anderson's Knight Templar outfit. The case was given to the jury at 1 o'clock and the jury, after swallowing a hasty dinner, returned at 2 o'clock with a verdict of guilty. Thereupon the county attorney called up the case charging Richard Rice with burglary. He had been previously arraigned and denied all knowledge of the crime, but when he saw a box full of jurors waiting to investigate his misdeeds, recanting, he pleaded guilty. This left the state without any cases for the afternoon and the judge of the criminal court ascertained that to be a fact he flew into a passion.

"I don't propose to sit here and waste any time," said the court as he raised and lowered himself in his seat, unable to control his passion. "I shall dismiss this jury until Monday morning." The county attorney tried to explain the situation and told the court that he had set two cases for trial that morning, in one of which seven witnesses had been subpoenaed and in which it was supposed the prisoner had as many more. The defendant, however, failed to make any showing and the prisoner pleaded guilty.

"You should have a whole batch of cases set for trial, so that if one goes off you will have two or three to fall back on," snapped the court. The county attorney replied that he had thus far kept the court busy by only having a reasonable number of cases on call and did not propose to subpoena thirty or forty witnesses in different cases and compel the county to pay the fees while doing so. He stated that he would have informed the court that he would have three cases set for trial yesterday, and if the court failed to put in appearance it would be his own responsibility he kept the jury waiting.

When the court opened at 9:30 yesterday the judge was again upon the bench, having rescinded his order discharging the jury from attendance on his court. The docket was called and it was developed that fifty criminal cases remained for trial, in some of which the state expected pieces of guilty. Judge Scott said he would try Ed F. Moriarty's case for forgery and it was set for an early date, as was also Adam Snyder's case for embezzlement. The court then showed first term that Judge Scott was pro-secuted and Judge Blair took the case.

The burglary charge against Henry Douglas, an old case, was dismissed, also the charge against Joe Peterson for larceny. He had fled the country. The larceny cases against Thomas Flood and others of South Omaha over a fair of stolen goods, and the trial of Ed Tuttle for assault was begun.

Because Assessor Failed to Swear. Before Judge Ambrose the suit of H. J. Twining against J. B. Finlay and others has been on trial. Twining seeks to foreclose tax liens to the amount of $100 upon lot 10, block 35, in the original townsite of Omaha. The defendants deny the charges and show that the assessor in the year 1890, in the Fourth ward, failed to swear to his returns and that he invalidated the assessment. Twining contends that this is merely a clerical error and he should have the money. Part of the taxes, it appears, which Twining bought had been in reality paid.

County Shut Out the Light. The county has been made a defendant to a suit for $3,000 damages. Ellen De Land brings the suit. About a year ago the county did some grading in the park on the east and west road along the public square. No apparatus to ascertain what the benefits would be were ever appointed. The De Land lived in a small house fronting on the square, where they had lived for twenty-seven years. The filling done in front of them, it is claimed, raised the cellar damp and shut out their view so that the family had to move.

AMALGAMATED ASSOCIATION CONVENTION

Union of Iron and Steel Workers Stronger Than Ever Before and Important Action is Expected to Be Taken This Week.

CLEVELAND, May 21.—The twelfth annual convention of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers of America was called to order in Memorial hall by President Garland this morning with about 100 delegates present.

The general sentiment which apparently prevails among the delegates is that this convention will be the most important in the history of the organization.

"The association," said Secretary Kilgallon, "was never in such a good position to hold a convention. While the position in point of attendance has been somewhat disappointing, the strength of the association as represented was never so strong."

President Garland reiterated in substance a series of resolutions of the secretary. If of the delegates are in expressing themselves that the business before the convention is of more than ordinary importance.

When the convention took a recess the delegates stated that the session had been devoted entirely to routine business. The open meeting was postponed until tomorrow morning, when Mayor McKisson and Hon. Robert E. Porter will deliver brief addresses.

A Dead Easy Job--

A dead easy job for the "ad" man in this establishment. Nothing to scheme, nothing to think. No sensational reports. No experiences of slaughter houses. No pathetic reports of money-losing transactions; not even a report about some financial calamity, happened to some concern not on the planet.

Here are three different suits a day old—rather—a day old in this store, each marked $10.50. Two of 'em are 3-button cutaway sack and the one a straight cut sack.

The writer of this is partial to dark coloring. Perhaps it has some influence when they're described as pretty patterns. However, we'll agree to let your optic judge. A black worsted, mixed with a tiny thread of glossy silk, is always a welcome pattern for neat and tasty dressers.

Precisely what they are: Silk mixed worsted, some mixed with old gold color silk, some with pure white or cream. Matters little what coloring of silk, but pure silk is what we desire to call your attention to.

Not a particle of doubt that you pay for a garment like it at least $15.00. It is worth every fathoming of it—silk mixed worsted is a tailor's cloth, and we wager that a suit of the same material, the same lining and trimmings as ours, cannot be had in any of these slop-job-ready-made-tailor-shops for less than at least $25.00.
