Dark Hints that Complications Coming Up Will Land the Matter in Courts-New Trial of the Hill Case is Postponed.

LINCOLN, May 22.-(Special.)-Appraisers Broatch and Gale began work this morning estimating the prison property on hand and alleged to be in possession of Contractor Dorgan. There are liable to arise some serious complications in the course of the appraisement, which may eventually land the ranged whereby Frank Dorgan, a brother of the contractor, is to be made a sort of secretary or bookkeeper for the appraisers. There is opposition to this move on the part of certain state officials connected with the appraisement. Umpire Gaffin proposes to take a position in the affair whereby he will received prolonged encore. After a short this tory review an excellent paper on "The their field work was very jagged. In the supreme court this morning Judge Post handed down the decision on the motion for a new trial of the state against ex-Treas-urer John E. Hill and his bondsmen. He an-nounced that the court had decided to post-pone the second trial until the next term of court, which begins in September. This he said, was necessary because the court had already consumed three weeks of its time in this case, while there were other State Agricultural association. important matters pending that were entitled to action. No specific date for the new trial was assigned. Practically the decision was a was assigned. Fractically a defense and just most favorable one for the defense and just what the state did not desire. The state had expressed some anxiety lest the appropriation for the trial of this case should lapse by its limitation, August 1. The court however that there was nothing in the act to prevent the governor from drawing home in Lincoln yesterday. the remainder of the appropriation and holding it for payment of expenses of the new trial. It is difficult to obtain a definite idea of the amount which will remain after paying the expense of the recent trial. It is estimated that the defense will eliminate from the trial all question of the validity of the Hill bond, relying solely upon the condi-tions surrounding the turning over and accounting of the retiring treasurer. Mr. Lambertson, it is reported, will not take an active part for the state in the new trial.

NO DECISION IN THE HAY CASE. Judge Tibbetts did not hand down his de ciaion in the Hay-Abbott injunction case to day, as was confidently expected. Word is now given out that he will do so tomorrow. But this same thing was said yesterday. There is a possibility that he may not render any decision at all. The supreme court has agreed to take the case up on its merits tomorrow and go to the bottom of the whole affair, rendering a decision which will be final. This is in accordance with the pro-visions of a stipulation between the contending superintendents, to which Governor Hol-Buildings have already agreed. Attorney John Abbott, retained as counsel, with Judge Reece and Attorney Hollenbuck, for Dr. Ab-

The Great Western Type foundry of Omaha anks the district court to be joined with the Carpenter Paper company and W. Morton Smith in their application for a receiver for the Lincoln Daily Call. The bill of the type foundry is $185.25. The type men say they secured judgment in a justice's court, but the constable returned the execution, with found. At present, the cross-petitioners aver, the Call newspaper plant is grossly mismanaged, and the petitioners are unable to get hold of anything because of mortgages on file against the plant, and that it is ap-parent from the face of these mortgages that the total amount owing is about $17,000 As now managed, they claim, the business is not paying expenses, but could do so if conducted in a proper manner. Therefore they ask for a receiver to take charge, run the plant and be instructed to pay their claim out of the proceeds thereof.

when the assertion is made that the Council Bluffs Jockey club scored a magnificent success yesterday, their inaugural day, at Union park. The weather was beyond improvement, the track superb and all other influences auspicious for just such an achievement. The crowd in attendance was unquestionably the largest seen at any sort of a race meeting here for years. Both of the very large and commodious grandstands were packed with apparently delighted men and women, the quarter stretch was a sea of swell equipages, and the paddock and betting sheds the constant promenade for restless throngs. A good band was in attendance and the scene presented just before the start of the first event was a gay and picturesque one indeed. There was a particularly large turnout of ladies, embracing many of the fashionable and beautiful of both cities, and they placed their coin and their gloves and bombons, that is quite a contingent of them, with an abandon and recklessness that was refreshing in these hard times. That some of them were well up in the lore of the turf and know a good piece of horseflesh when they see it was attested by their handsome winnings. One vivacious and pretty young narried lady lay a swell wager on Little Nell, on post form alone, and won just as easy as sipping a creme do menthe frappe.

It being opening day there was some little belay in getting a send-off, but when the surprise parties. There was considerable play on all of the P. 15 to 1, proving the surprise parties.

It being opening day there was some little delay in getting a send-off, but when once secured the presiding judge, Joseph Swigart of Frankfort, Ky., assisted by Messrs. Stewart, Wickham, Gregory, Butler and Wright, whirled the program through with most commendable expedition. A new judges stand, supplied with telegraph, telephone. electric annunciators and other modern conventiences, has been built on the west side of the track just opposite the old stand, and was the means of facilitating the work of the presiding judge and his retinue. It was exactly 3:30 when the saddling bell was sounded for the initial event, a half mile, purse $100. P. H. Butler handled the flag and executed his trying duties admirably, giving the crowd a most pleasing exhibition of what a first-class starter can do when he trys. Out of seventeen original entries nine started, every jumper being on the track three minutes after the post bugle sounded, and in as many minutes more were off for

OFF FOR THE FIRST RACE. Ben Harrison got a trifle the best of the drop and jumped away with a good lead, followed in order by Gray Baffle, Northwestern and Susie Nell. Harrison quickly fell to the rear, Ward, his mount, losing his stirrup. and Baffle and Northwestern set out to make the running. When they rounded into the stretch they were nose and nose, but Little EII, who had been running easy, here em rged from the ruck and came on he touch of the whip, winning handly, with Northwestern second and Gray Baffle third. would undoubtedly had a chance.

Hen Harrison, had he come to the post fit, The second race, five furlongs, purse $100 showed an even dozen starters, the big bunch being sent away in nice shape on the second trial with Lucy Day, Republic, Van Meter and Idyl striving for the front, and Sylvan left at the post. Hart was on Leonell, the favorite, and the glass showed him holding ard until within an eighth of home, when ne loosened up a bit and beat the big bunch out getting up a prespiration.

The third race, selling, was six furlongs, for horses that have not won a race this year, weight for age, purse $125, and proved the sharpest and most interesting of the whole Onze. Virginite and Sir Charles were juoted on even terms, at the rate of 3 to 1 but only Virginite was in the push were eleven starters out of a gang of eighteen and it was a hustle from start to finish. Doo was coming fast and gamely and would doubtless have cut a lot of ice in the result had be not been crossed on the turn and crowded to the fence by Onze. It was a race from this on to the wire. Virginite, Belle Stout and Snarley showing their heels to their neighbors and coming on down home under the bat. It was a whipping finale, if there ever was one, Virginite managing to get in a head in front of the Belle, with Snarley

GRAND HOTEL HANDICAP. The Grand Hotel handicap, one mile and a The Louisville entry, Pat Malloy pair. One breakaway was all that was necessary, Wedgefield leading, then came Harry Smith, Long Ten, Constant, Pat Malloy and Little Nell. Long Ten worked up in the van at the three-quarters, with Little Nell and Pat Malloy nose and nose at his rump. A hundred yards away Little Nell drew up alongside, then thrust her delicate nose to the fore, and by the masterly riding of Smith kept it there until the purse was hers. Long Ten a head behind and Pat Malloy two American Derby at Chicago has always been distinguished as such. Judge Swigert says the track is not only very fast one, but is in superh condition a very fast one, but is in superb condition. The going is easy and nice and he looks for some of the horses to distinguish them-selves.

The many improvements about the park and grounds display praiseworthy enter-prise on the part of the management and if the meeting is not a big success it will be through no fault of theirs. Judge Swigert is a brother of the celebrated Kentucky turfman, Dan Swigert, and is a gentleman well qualified for the position he fills. The Swigerts have a stable at Latonia and think they have a likely winner of the Derby.
