MINK GIVES SOME FIGURES

Some Features of the Union Pacific Accounts for the Short Line Branch.

ON THE STAND A LARGE PART OF THE DAY

American Loan and Trust Company Begins by Taking Exceptions to Judge Cornish's Ideas Respecting Scope of the Hearing—Equipment and Material.

When Special Master in Chancery Cornish began the hearing in the Short Line & Utah Northern divisions case yesterday in chambers in the Union Pacific headquarters the attorneys interested in the cause began a wordy battle over the rules presented by Auditor J. M. Kellogg, representing the American Loan and Trust company, said that while he had no direct information from his people he felt inclined to accept the rules. Mr. Pierce representing the first mortgage interests, started out by objecting to any surplus being attributed to what have been termed consolidated mortgage divisions at any time while the first mortgage interest was in default, and in this view he hesitated to commit his interests to the acceptance of rules, which might involve this.

Mr. Kellogg then showed his hand by stating that it was his understanding that this hearing would largely aid the court next Monday in making a final order in the application for a separate receivership. This brought the lawyers into the arena, and a hot battle was fought, which Judge Cornish listened intently in that calmly passive manner he has while on the bench, the master made the following ruling:

"That the proceeding involves the stating of the accounts from the period from October 13, 1893, to September 1, 1894, for the purpose of ascertaining what, if any, funds are subject to a division as a first question to be presented in this reference, as to the period referred to, if the parties are not ready to proceed to the examination of this account at this time they can arrange for a further and adjourned hearing upon that point and if that is done proceed with any other part of the inquiry suggested by the reference they can do that at this time or continue the whole matter as they desire. The hearing in this reference should be held in a room to be designated by the master in which any such inquiry and investigation on his own account as he deems to satisfy himself as to what funds are reported to the court as appropriate rules for the division for the period prior to September 1 or thereafter."

NOT QUITE SATISFACTORY.

To this ruling Mr. Kellogg took an exception and then the St. Paul attorney called for Mr. Oliver W. Mink, one of the receivers of the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern. Mr. Mink makes an attempt to explain the matter with millions as little children do with their small belongings and which in their play they speak of as money.

In October, 1894, the receivers filed an answer to the petition of John F. Dillon, in which they reported total receipts and net earnings to August 31, 1894. He stated that they reported total coupons paid, as well as all features in connection with the accounting. In that answer they stated that the result of operations warranted the payment of all first mortgage interest in default at that time on the Utah Northern first mortgage and Oregon Short Line 65. Under the order of November 16, 1894, the interest coupons were paid in part at the offices of the receivers in New York, Boston, London and Amsterdam. The interest on the coupons due August 1, 1894, has not been paid, or rather the interest on the interest, said Mr. Mink, although the court made an order to that effect.

He stated that he considered the rules as to the division of accounts under discussion and they embodied his judgment as being the only rules that could be made under existing circumstances. He stated that the letter in the first instance taking up this matter with the auditor had been written by him. He was asked if he could give the net surplus on the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern system from October 13, 1893, to March 1, 1895, after the deduction of all interest payments to the latter date, which he stated to be $254,722.12.

Mr. Kellogg said that he understood that for March, 1895, the net earnings from operation were $122,249. To which Mr. Mink gave assent. Mr. Mink, when asked if he would be able to report to the court next Monday in St. Paul fully as to the earnings by months on the Short Line & Utah Northern, said that the receivers would be able to report in part if not wholly; that he had given instructions to have late months made up in order that an estimate may be made, but these also had not yet been issued.

PAID INTEREST STATEMENT.

Mr. Mink then offered the following statement showing the amount of interest on mortgages of the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern Railway ordered paid by the court and authorized to be paid by the receivers, which statement the witness thought necessary by reason of questions propounded to him by Mr. Frank Kellogg representing the American Loan and Trust company:

Utah Central first mortgage coupons, due January 1, 1894.....	1,440
Utah & Northern railroad first mortgage 7 per cent coupons, due January 1, 1894.....	20,715
Utah & Northern consol coupons, due January 1, 1894.....	45,773
Utah Southern railway general mortgage 6 per cent coupons, due January 1, 1894.....	15,400
Oregon Short Line first mortgage coupons, due February 1, 1894.....	47,820
Utah & Northern railway consol first mortgage coupons, due April 1, 1894.....	3,576
Utah Southern consol coupons, due January 1, 1894.....	23,886
Total.....	158,110

Several other questions were asked by Mr. Kellogg of the witness with a view of bringing out features of the account which plays so prominent a part in the case. For separate receiver for the Short Line and Utah Northern.

On cross-examination by Senator Thurston Mr. Mink went into detail as to the equipment of the Short Line and the manner in which material is purchased and how charged out on distribution. He stated that his report would not show the amount of material that had been distributed and not used and would not appear in the accounts of the Short Line company, coming only into the accounts on actual use. He said that on August 31, 1894, there was material to the amount of $22,161.64 which had not been charged into the Oregon Short Line & Utah Northern. This same general arrangement was continued after September 1, 1894. Generally speaking he said the amount of material on hand and not used would run about $200,000, which was a charge on the Short Line, but not included in the present accounts for reasons stated.

Mr. Mink said that his statements presented a faithful picture of existing conditions, but there were many unjust claims that would have to be taken into consideration in the event separate receivers were appointed. Mr. Mink stated that the net earnings of the operation of the Short Line & Utah Northern from October 13, 1893, to March 1, 1895, above the same ordered paid were $256,722.28, but he wanted it understood that this amount in no sense represented cash on hand, but was merely a book credit.

Cross-examination by Mr. Kellogg, after which an adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock.

TRAMPING OUT THE ROUTE.

Tramway People Preparing to Submit a Proposition.

A route of the proposed Omaha-Fremont tramway is now being laid out. Representatives have within the past few days been in the country, traveling over it with the aid of the preliminary blue prints, mention of which has already been made. The line of road will be mapped out and in this form a definite proposition will be submitted to the county commissioners, in all probability, in the near future for them to act upon. Thus far the proposition from Colonel Pratt has been regarded on both sides as in the nature of a notification of what was proposed.

Karl's Clever Rook. The great blood purifier, gives freshness and clearness to the complexion, cures pimples, eruptions; 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Goodman Drug Co.

Fire horses on a Run.

While exercising the fire team at No. 10 engine house Wednesday evening the pin in the clevis of the road wagon broke and the neckyoke slipped from the pole. The pole struck a sewer cap and was broken. This frightened the horses and they started on a run, dragging the driver, Ira Loomis, out of the wagon and throwing it on the ground. Loomis held on to the lines as long as he could, but was compelled to let go, or be dragged to death. Loomis was completely cut from the hips and legs and was also injured, but neither dangerously. The horses ran to Thirty-sixth and T streets in South Omaha, where they were captured and brought back, none the worse for the run.

Bills after the St. Louis Bridge.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 23.—In the state senate today, Chairman Chubb of the interstate bridge committee made a report that the statutes of the United States and the interstate commerce laws, as well as the laws of the state of Illinois are being constantly violated by the St. Louis Bridge and Terminal company. He recommended that the Attorney General Molney be requested to communicate with the attorney general of the United States to invoke a remedy for the great evil resulting from the unjust discriminations and extortionate rates of the bridge combination existing in open violation of law.

Celebrated the Wife's Birthday.

The jury in the case of the state against Paul Johnson, charged with selling liquor on the island without a license, remained out all night without reaching a verdict. On Friday the state witness called, they bought beer at his place, having been attracted by the sign "Saloon" hung over the door. Johnson swore that the witnesses did not call at his place after he had been arrested, because he was celebrating his wife's birthday. He also said that he disposed of nothing of value after the party, and that on the beginning of the year that his place was not located in Iowa.

Had No Fat for Mince.

A saloon row which occurred in South Omaha on April 3 has been tried in the criminal court before a jury in a case in which Mike Stokes has been charged by the state with committing an assault on Conrad Beyrich, resulting from the saloon on Twenty-sixth and Q streets. Stokes and three companions were drinking and grew noisy. They were ordered to leave, which all did except Stokes, who was thumping a banjo. Beyrich attempted to eject him and used a chair for the purpose, but got the worst of the fight. The quarrel then found its way into court.

Foot Boneless a Car.

Thomas Coover, 19 years old, and residing at Eighth and Pierce streets, had his left foot badly crushed yesterday by a freight car passing over it. He was crossing the tracks at Seventh and Pierce streets just as an engine of the Union Pacific was passing over some empty box cars. His left foot was caught in the frog and before he could extricate it and before the train could be stopped half of the foot car passed over it. Coover was taken to St. Joseph's hospital and it is thought that the foot can be saved.

Villard After the Oregon Short Line.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Henry Villard is said to be taking an active interest in the Oregon Short Line contest on the line of the present (Starbuck) management, and there are indications that he may be trying to strengthen its position by purchases of stock in the open market, it being lawful to vote upon the actual certificates under the laws of organization.

But Little to Do.

From present indications it seems probable that when the city council meets as a board of equalization this morning it will have less to do than usual. No protests have been presented although it is expected that some will be presented directly to the board.

A handsome complexion is one of the greatest charms a woman can possess. Pozzoni's Complexion Powder gives it.

ORDERED TO BE SOLD.

The Court Forces the Receiver of the Equity to Close Out the Stock.

"Within thirty days this stock must be closed out," so says the law. Not a dollar's worth must be left. Everything must go. The average man doesn't realize what such an undertaking means when so large a stock as the Equity Clothing Co.'s is taken into consideration. It means first that all the $15.00 to $18.00 suits in the house must go for less than half price to make their sale sure; the receiver made it $6.75. Fine worsted, cassimere and cheviot suits, nicely trimmed, the best fitting, best wearing suits in the world, $6.75.

$5.00 gets all the $10.00 and $12.00 suits. $4.00 gets all the $8.00 and $9.00 suits. The furnishing goods are almost given away; 25c and 35c socks go at 15c a pair.

Neckties of all descriptions, 25c, 35c and 50c ties, go at 10c, 15c and 20c.

An elegant line of negligee shirts for 50c.

Hats cut all to pieces, $2.00 and $3.00 derby hats cut down to 95c.

13th and Farnam Sts., Heliman Block.

CHANGES AT THE POSTOFFICE

All of the Departments to Be Transferred to the First Floor.

Postmaster Martin has decided to make a radical change in the location of departments at the postoffice. The money order and registry departments, which are now on the second floor, will be removed to the first floor in the quarters now occupied by the stamp department. The latter will be transferred to the corner occupied by the general delivery "box," and this corner will be enlarged in order to make room for Chief Stamp Clerk Anderson and his assistant, Miss Briggs. Miss Collins' desk will be permanently located in the former postmaster's office and thus sufficient space will be at the disposal of the money order department. The old quarters of the latter on the second floor will be used as "overalls" rooms.

The citizens of Omaha who patronize the postoffice can transact all business on the ground floor, save time caused by climbing stairs and expediting service generally.

Postmaster Martin says that he has been prompted to make the change to accommodate the patrons of the office and in response to popular demand. Recently he kept an account of the number of inquiries made by strangers as to where the money order department was and found that in three days there were thirty-five of these inquiries. He then advised that the change will prove beneficial to everybody, including overworked postal employees, to whom questions of this kind are daily propounded by bewildered people in search of the money order department.

ARRESTED AFTER A HOT CHASE.

Two Men Who Are Believed to Be House Breakers Are Arrested.

About 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon John N. Hulbert, an employe of the American Express company, went to his residence at 503 South Twenty-first avenue. When he entered the house he saw that it had been ransacked and a number of valuable articles stolen, among them being two suits of clothes. The burglars were probably in the house when Hulbert entered and made their escape through a back entrance. They were seen by Al Ward, an ex-policeman, as they went down the alley and he quizzed them as they were about to enter another yard from the rear. After being closely questioned they gave up the idea of entering the latter yard and started south on Twentieth street. Soon afterward Hulbert went down the alley to make inquiries and learned the circumstances. The police were immediately notified and Detective Savage and Dempsey started on the trail. The men were sighted near Twentieth and Pierce streets and after a hot chase, were both captured and sent to a station. At the police station they gave their names as Charles H. Thompson and Frank Flower and claimed to have come from California. Nothing of any value was found in their possession and it is thought that they had planted the stolen property somewhere near where it was stolen.

The police are of the opinion that the men are experienced crooks, although they are not over 25 years old. They answer the description given by Fritz Staecher, who was robbed last night in Thirtieth and Lark streets.

A Dead Easy Job--

A dead easy job for the "ad" man in this establishment. Nothing to scheme, nothing to think. No sensational reports. No experiences of slaughter houses. No pathetic reports of money-losing transactions; not even a report about some financial calamity, happened to some concern not on this planet. Nothing—but sit down on the edge of some dry goods box and write up a few facts about something that lay before him.

Here are three different suits a day old—rather—a day old in this store, each marked $10.50. Two of 'em are 3-button cutaway sack and the one a straight cut sack.

The writer of this is partial to dark coloring. Perhaps it has some influence when they're described as pretty patterns. However, we'll agree to let your optic judge. A black worsted, mixed with a tiny thread of glossy silk, is always a welcome pattern for neat and tasty dresses.

Precisely what they are: Silk mixed worsted, some mixed with old gold color silk, some with pure white or cream. Matters little what coloring of silk, but pure silk is what we desire to call your attention to.

Not a particle of doubt that you pay for a garment like it at least $15.00. It is worth every fathoming of it—silk mixed worsted is a tailor's cloth, and we wager that a suit of the same material, the same lining and trimmings as ours, cannot be had in any of these slob-job-ready-made-tailor-shops for less than at least $25.00.
