EXODUS TO EUROPE ON THE INCREASE

Sights the Visitor to Switzerland Will Have in Store-Marriage of a Member of The fice Staff-Chat of Well Known Men and Women.

People going abroad this summer and traveling anywhere near Switzerland will want to see the magnificent doings which are Mrs. P. L. Davis, at Coffeyville, Kan., Tuesto make the railway up the Jungfrau a day morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Samuel D. Jewell of the First. reality. About fifty years ago, when France, by England and America were already covered with a network of railways, George Stephenson was invited to go to Switzerland to give the benefit of his experience in the matter of the construction of railways in a country so much cut up by mountains and rivers. Several companies then set about constructing lines of railways in places which lent themselves the more easily to such enterprises, but it was never contemplated then that a day would come when even the most insurmountable obstacles would be conquered. when the highest points would be stormed and carried, and the deepest chasms bridged. Since then many climbing railways have been constructed in the mountains of Switzerland-funicular railways and others of that now familiar type which ascend heights by means of cog wheels gripping a center rail, but all uniform in one respect, in that they utilized steam or hydraulic power. The railway up the Rigi, with its interlocking wheels, way up the Rigl, with its interlocking wheels, sufficiently demonstrated the superiority of this system, whether regarded from a practical point of view or in the light of such a purely per-sonal point of view as safety, but a dis-advantage has always been the smoke and water the such a club and water dirt and the weight of the coal and water which the engines are compelled to carry. But science now makes such rapid strides that it could not in any case have been long before a satisfactory alternative was available, and this is now found in electricity, developed either by steam or hydraulic power and readily conveyed to any convenient dis-tance. One of the first electrical mountain railways was constructed on Mount Saleve in Geneva.

The concession for constructing a railway of this description, starting from Scheidogg and traversing the interior of the heights of the Eiger, Monch and Jungfrau, at the summit which it emerges into daylight by means of a lift, was granted by the Swiss government, after long debate, at the end of last year. rallway is more than eight miles long and rises to a height of 6,890 feet, the gradient varying from 1 to 26 per cent. The lift in the center of the cone of the Jungfrau has to rise 216 feet. With the exception of the station at the point of departure, all the other stations, to the number of six, are bired in the solid rock. The exits communicate with path-ways, by means of which travelers alighting can finish the ascent of the peaks on foot. These stations are complete with every luxury possible, containing diving rooms and minia-ture bed rooms, like cabins on American liners. The lift to the summit of the Jungfrau consists of an enormous tube fitted int the vertical hole sunk in the rock. Withi this iron tube the cage ascends and descends this from tube the cage ascents and descents, worked by a dynamo, which in turn derivers its power from a hydraulic motor utilizing the waters of Lake Luchinen in the Lauterbrun-en. Within the tube is a winding staircase. so that travelers not caring to use the lift may reach the summit of the mountain on foot. The tunnels, galleries, restaurants and lift are all lighted with the electric light, and it is even anticipated that the carriages may be warmed by the same means. It is scarcely necessary to say that the stations are all in communication by telegraph and tele-phone with the world below.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

The coming of Dr. Joseph Krauskopf of Philadelphia to Omaha on June 7, to deliver his lecture, "An Evening with Count Tolstoi," at Temple Israel, Harney and Twenty-fourth street, will be the first visit of the eminent divine to this city. Dr. Krauskopf, who is still a young man, has in the past ten years become prominent in social and economic reforms. Mainly through his efforts the late George W. childs of the Philadelphia Ledger became interested in tenement house reforms in that city. With the co-operation of other philanthropists, Dr. Krauskopf's scheme was realized, whereby the abuses of crowded tenment houses and the sweating shops wer essened. In extending aid to workingmen and women in technical schooling Dr. Kraus-kopf has devoted a large share of his enrgies, with the result that the number of 'ree night schools and lyceums for the praileal education of bread winners has bee increased. About a year ago his sympathies were drawn to a solution of the Jewish problem of Russia. For the purpose of clearly understanding the social and industrial couig of England. Mussel said "as cold as at Englishwoman," and the French picture her as a creature with enormous feet, a jaw like that of a gorilla, hony hands and a flat neck wearing a round hat, a green vell, spectacles, a plaid shawl and loose, ill-fitting stockings falling over boots like those attached to a driver's dress. Such an idea could only have been produced, he declares, by hatred of Pitt or the defeat of Waterloo. The gallant correst o ident proceeds to com are Englishwomes with Frenchwomen, not all to the disadvantage of the former. What superficial observer, take for coldness in the Englishwoman, he declares, is really calmness, an easy bearing a bold, grave, confilent and unaffected man ner, which excludes coquetry in favor of personal dignity. The London woman, he adds, is brought up in a spirit of independence, which is wanting in French female education. She may appear a little more mannish, perhaps, in consequence, but one gets used to this, and one finds she is none the less pretty or fair, or fresh-colored, or graceful, or ten

The ("Hansel and Gretel") name which Humperdinck made for himself in a short time, by giving the world an opera that found a responsive chord in the hearts of big and little children, was enough to con-vince him that fame and wealth lay in that direction. He has already completed a new "Schneewittchen," the libretto, as on the musical former occasion, having been arranged by his sister, Adelheid Wette.

The Berlin correspondent of the London Standard writes under a recent date: "The new opera, 'Der Evangelimann,' (The Gospel Man'), of which both music and libretto are by Dr. William Kienzl, was performed for the first time, and with great success, at the Royal Berlin Opera yesterday evening. The day elder of whom succeeds in getting the younger sentenced to twenty years' penal servitude for a crime he had himself com-mitted out of revenge for his rejection by a girl who loved his brother. The second act describes the vifiain's death, shortly after being forgiven by his injured brother. The music, which is modern and realistic, beomes more and more original from scene to comes more and note original road asking to scene, and reaches such a depth of pathos that the composer was called before the cur-tain nine times. There can be no doubt that Dr. Kienzi must be designated a highly gift-
