

POPULISTS WANT A MEMBER

May's Appointment on the Fish Commission Depends on Number of Vacancies

BROKEN BOW BANK CLOSES ITS DOORS

Chancellor Canfield Bids Goodby to the University Students - Program for Memorial Day - Drunken Poeticism Run In.

LINCOLN, May 29.-(Special).-There is a doubt expressed in the office of Governor Holcomb as to whether or not the present fish commission of the state of Nebraska is a legally organized body. In 1893 Governor Crouse appointed, during an intermission of the legislature, Lou May, R. H. Oakley and Mr. Meighan as a fish commission. The last session of the senate, following the appointment, failed to confirm these appointments. Their terms expire in 1895, 1896 and 1897, Mr. May's being the first to expire. It is an applicant for reappointment. Governor Holcomb has written to the president of the National Fish Commission, expressing high appreciation of the services of Mr. May, and stating that should it be decided that all three appointments are now null, owing to the failure of the senate to confirm, he would take great pleasure in naming him as one of the three commissioners. But he says there has never been a popular election of the commission, and should it transpire there was but one vacancy he should feel it incumbent on him to appoint a populist.

The Bank of Commerce, a state bank of Broken Bow, has gone into voluntary liquidation. Bank Examiner McGrew left this evening to take charge of it. The president is F. M. Ruble and the capital stock was $25,000.

The farm lands of Louis Meyer, in Little Salt precinct, were this afternoon sold to be sold at master commissioner's sale by Scip Dundy.

BOUNDED OVER FOR COUNTERFEITING

Lee Byers, another of the five men arrested for passing counterfeit money, had an examination before master commissioner Blumley and was bound over to the district court in the sum of $300. He awaits trial in jail.

This morning defective gas fixtures caused a fire in the residence of John H. Ames of the law firm of Harwood & Ames. The parlor furniture was ruined before the flames were extinguished.

The last chapel services of the year were held at the university this morning. The room was crowded. Following the regular services Chancellor Canfield addressed the students. This was the last of his address on which the chancellor, who goes to the Ohio State university, will be with them. He thanked them briefly for their kindness to him during his tenure of office and asked them to receive his successor, whoever he might be, as they had received him. His words were vigorously applauded by the students.

Following is the complete program of Memorial day exercises tomorrow at Wyuka cemetery:

Line of march from Grand Army of the Republic hall at 1:30 p. m., proceed east on O to Twenty-third street and take cars.

Reassemble at cemetery gate at 2:15. Distributing flowers by Woman's Relief corps to comrades.

Decorations of graves. Assembly at Grand Army of the Republic hall at 10:30 a. m. Unknown dead by Grand Army of the Republic.

Song and flag drill by twenty little boys and girls.

Contributions to "unknown dead" by Woman's Relief corps and Daughters of Veterans and Sons of Veterans.

AT PLATFORM. Song by Farragut quartet. Prayer. Song by Daughters and Sons of Veterans. Address by Comrade Strode. Song, "America."

Taps. All organizations, and especially all old soldiers, are cordially invited to join the procession and take part in the exercises.

A portion of the police force this morning were employed in arresting one of the officers who had arrived at that stage in a prolonged spree when he became violent and abusive. His name is Blair. He attempted to take two men into custody at an early hour this morning who were walking peacefully along and disturbing no one. Blair's actions attracted the attention of Officer Wheeler, on another beat, and he came to the rescue of the men. Wheeler says Blair pointed his gun at him no less than a dozen times while he was taking him to the station. In special session this morning the case was heard and Blair from the force and appointed George Harry to his place.

Ministers Meet at Station. STANTON, Neb., May 29.-(Special).-The Elkhorn Valley Association of Congregational Churches in session here today and will close tomorrow evening. The following ministers and lay delegates are in attendance:

Ainsworth, Rev. H. E. Loehlin, Bloomfield, Rev. E. Martin, T. J. Simonton; Brunick, Rev. G. T. Noyce; Butler, Rev. W. Loney; Carroll, Rev. S. James; Moore, J. A. and O. W. Jones; Creighton, Mrs. J. D. Kilpatrick; Rev. Dustin, Rev. W. T. Williams; Mrs. Mary Williams; Glover, Mrs. M. A. Rice; Rev. William Leary; Park, Rev. N. H. Nigh; Rev. J. F. Ellis, D. D., Mr. J. S. Robinson, Mrs. E. B. Geer, Mr. O. A. Williams; Norfolk, Rev. J. J. Parker; Rev. R. E. Rees; Rev. William Leary; Park, Rev. G. E. Clark; Pierce, Rev. A. G. Brande; Mrs. M. C. Brande, Mrs. G. C. Chase, Mrs. D. L. Upton; Stanton, Rev. H. M. Lyman, Mrs. George; Rev. H. M. Lyman; Rev. C. W. Valley, Mr. Donner, Miss Grace Donner; Clearwater, Mr. J. Doremus; West Cedar Valley, Mr. Carl Thompson; Willow Valley, Rev. G. T. Noyce, Mr. D. F. Noyce; Park, Rev. N. H. Nigh; Rev. Thomas Griffith; Individuals, Rev. J. W. Kidder, Rev. J. D. Stewart, state Sunday school superintendent, Aurora; Rev. W. J. Baake, general missionary for northern Nebraska.

Cockrell Wants to Resume Business. LINCOLN, May 29.-(Special).-C. W. Cockrell, who yesterday was forced to the wall by foreclosure of a chattel mortgage on his property, and the wild ruck in wheat Saturday last, has decided to resume business, provided he can make a satisfactory settlement with his creditors. To this end he has addressed the following circular letter to all interested. Mr. Cockrell says this does not mean that he will continue the Omaha business. That will remain closed, as he believes it impossible to successfully conduct a grain and brokerage business in this city at the same time.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 29.-(Special).-Dear Sir: Owing to my inability to meet margin calls, I was compelled to resign my position as an appoint Tuesday, the 4th day of June, 1895, to meet my creditors and to appear on the basis of settlement. Will meet them at Capital hotel on above date at 2 p. m. Yours very truly, C. W. COCKRELL.

Wishes to Still Live. FREMONT, May 29.-(Special).-People are coming to the conclusion that A. W. Forbes, instead of being at the bottom of the Platte or some of the lakes in this vicinity, is alive. A party here claims very positively that he saw Forbes walking east on the Elkhorn about a mile west of the city at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, carrying a small bundle in his hand. He was too far away from him to speak to him, but waved his hand, and Forbes in reply waved his bundle. He says he will take his oath that the party he saw on the track was Forbes. Another man claimed to have seen Forbes near his house Wednesday, but on being questioned about it said it might have been Tuesday instead.

No Trace of Dunbar Brothers. DUNBAR, Neb., May 29.-(Special Telegram).-The jewelry trays which were stolen from C. H. Wilson's safe last night were found empty near the stock yards. No clue has yet been found to the robbers, though three suspects are now being held. Talk

THEY OULTE THE HIGH SCHOOL

Eighty-Eight Pupils Allowed Last Evening to Withdraw with Honor.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT BOYD'S

Completion of the Four Years Course Signaled by a Profession of Complimentary Poquets and Flanetis from the Friends Who Packed the House.

Eighty-eight of the bright youth of Omaha sat beneath the star of hope on the stage of Boyd's opera house last evening. It was the annual high school commencement. A small army of young men and women stepped upon the battlefield of life, with diplomas as weapons and school days as a mental evergreen of the past. The usual garb of white lost none of its time-honored popularity among the "sweet girl graduates," while the slender youths were adorned by their sides looked mainly in conventional black.

The air was thick with the fragrance of flowers. Roses were visible everywhere. They nestled in Psyche knots on the fair ones and held down the thumping hearts of the bashful young men who faced the biggest audience of the season. The background of the stage was a woodland scene, while hanging from the top center of the stage flags of 1895. Prof. Homer Lewis sat on the stage near the wings. Near him sat President Akin of the Board of Education, Superintendent A. B. DeVoll, Mary E. Quackenbush, C. B. DeWitt, Mrs. E. R. Taylor, Dr. A. Johnson, Mary E. Sanford, Earl J. Kelsey, Villa B. Shippey, Mary A. Landis, Bessie J. Snyder, Bells H. Lewis, George M. Turner, Helen Dineen, Mrs. R. W. Taylor, W. W. Walker, military drill, Lieutenant Julius A. Penn.

PUSHING ALONG GOD'S WORK.

Episcopals in Session Listen to the Bishop's Annual Address. The twenty-eighth annual council of the diocese of Nebraska convened yesterday at Trinity cathedral. Twenty-eight clergy and forty lay delegates were in attendance. The session was opened by the celebration of the holy communion at 10 o'clock, Bishop Worthington being the celebrant. Rev. Canon Goodale acted as epistolary and Very Rev. Dean Gardner as gospeller, Canon Whitmarsh assisting.

In place of a sermon the bishop read his annual address, in which he gave a summary of the ten years' work of the diocese; noted the clerical changes, and deplored the frequency of the changes in parishes. The clerical force had increased in numbers, he said, but had been touched by the "evil spirit of the age." This has tended to retard the extension of God's kingdom. He deplored the fact that it may, it had interfered with the very threshold of the church.

The mission board, he said, had determined on a revision of its methods, the field now to be divided into four divisions under four archdeacons. Attention was called to donations in offerings for the Disabled Clergy Fund, the Theological Fund and the Clerical Missionary Fund. This advice in some parishes from a disregard of the church resolutions passed supporting these lines of work. The importance of cultivating the missionary spirit was stressed, and the clergy reminded not to neglect to keep the people informed on the needs of missionary work. The bishop hoped that Omaha was there, and that the "evil spirit" would be dispensed with, as un-Catholic and without satisfactory basis. Referring to the pastoral letter to the House of Bishops, he said that it had a coercive power to bind the clergy, but made very clear in theological terms and ecclesiastical language that which was the duty of the clergy. It was in the name of disloyalty and faithlessness. "We earnestly hope," said the bishop, "that the letter has been read in the churches of the diocese, and that its contents have been made the basis of clear and explicit instruction from the pulpit." Referring to church statistics, the bishop said that the important labor of the women's auxiliary and the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, these every parish, he urged should have both these lines of work well pushed to the front.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS.

When the members of the graduating class marched upon the stage they received an ovation. The class of '95, with colors of apple green and white, was profusely decorated in honor of the event. The boxes were draped with bunting of white and blue intermingled with the High school colors. The seating capacity of the house was not sufficient to accommodate the immense crowd. It seemed as though "all Omaha" was there, and the "bravo" and "seats on the radiators were at a premium long before the clock struck the hour of 8.

Members of the class: Sadie P. Allen, Anna Anderson, Grace Barthel, Klitie May, Blanche Margaret Chamberlain, Carolyn Cortevilla, Ida Marie Dunn, Nellie Gamble, Eva Hamilton, Dorothy Holland, Lydia Johnson, Edith M. Kuhn, Mary Livesey, Teresa McArdle, Grace McMillan, Nellie Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Hattie Paulsen, Minnie K. Allison, May Anderson, Beatrice Ball, May Ballou, Rose Bernstein, Lee Comstock, Carrie Day, Carrie Fairchild, Mrs. Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Myrtle Robinson, Louise C. Smith, Mary Towne, Edna Fay Wetzel, Grace T. White, Emma Winlade, Ida Withrow, Ella Phelps, Nellie Randall, Kate B. Swartzlander, Mary Wallace, Adla Whipple, Ethel Williamson, Katie Winslade, Walter E. Banker, Samuel Burns, Jr., Burton Christie, Austin J. Colett, Frank C. Engler, George Helms, William Matthews, Albert Oberfelder, George Axford, Hal T. Beas, Edwin T. Chapin, Gordon Clarke, Mosher G. Colpeter, Harry M. Cross, Hamilton G. Gillespie, Robert G. Johnson, Merritt, Fred S. Parsons, Clark G. Powell, Ernest A. Sheldon, Joel Stebbins, George Stoner, Fred Walker, George Winlade, Albert Parmelee, Frank W. Peck, Frank Shank, David A. Small, Alvin A. Steel, John T. Sumner, Clarence Williamson, Frank H. Woodland.

ORATIONS AND ESSAYS.

The program was introduced by an overture by Butler's orchestra, followed by a splendid essay on "The Influence of Decay," by Miss Anna Anderson. Alvin A. Steel introduced an oration on "Life Insurance." He favored the idea and advanced a sound argument. Miss Eva Hamilton won honors easily by her happy thoughts on "The Means of Reform," an essay teeming with originality. An instrumental duet, "Saville," from Bergson, was the next number in which the participants, Misses Othella Karbach and Helen Mackin, received the plaudits of the audience, which was enthusiastically given. Miss Ella Phelps' essay, "The Modern Oracle," was one of the best features of the evening.

The benjo club of '95, consisting of Misses Ruth Pierson, Grace McMillan, Grace Leonard and Messrs. Sam Burns, Jr., John T. Sumner and M. G. Colpeter, was greeted with an encore by the orchestra. The Franklin march expired, and played the "Merry Traveler's Quickstep."

THEY OULTE THE HIGH SCHOOL

Eighty-Eight Pupils Allowed Last Evening to Withdraw with Honor.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT BOYD'S

Completion of the Four Years Course Signaled by a Profession of Complimentary Poquets and Flanetis from the Friends Who Packed the House.

Eighty-eight of the bright youth of Omaha sat beneath the star of hope on the stage of Boyd's opera house last evening. It was the annual high school commencement. A small army of young men and women stepped upon the battlefield of life, with diplomas as weapons and school days as a mental evergreen of the past. The usual garb of white lost none of its time-honored popularity among the "sweet girl graduates," while the slender youths were adorned by their sides looked mainly in conventional black.

The air was thick with the fragrance of flowers. Roses were visible everywhere. They nestled in Psyche knots on the fair ones and held down the thumping hearts of the bashful young men who faced the biggest audience of the season. The background of the stage was a woodland scene, while hanging from the top center of the stage flags of 1895. Prof. Homer Lewis sat on the stage near the wings. Near him sat President Akin of the Board of Education, Superintendent A. B. DeVoll, Mary E. Quackenbush, C. B. DeWitt, Mrs. E. R. Taylor, Dr. A. Johnson, Mary E. Sanford, Earl J. Kelsey, Villa B. Shippey, Mary A. Landis, Bessie J. Snyder, Bells H. Lewis, George M. Turner, Helen Dineen, Mrs. R. W. Taylor, W. W. Walker, military drill, Lieutenant Julius A. Penn.

PUSHING ALONG GOD'S WORK.

Episcopals in Session Listen to the Bishop's Annual Address. The twenty-eighth annual council of the diocese of Nebraska convened yesterday at Trinity cathedral. Twenty-eight clergy and forty lay delegates were in attendance. The session was opened by the celebration of the holy communion at 10 o'clock, Bishop Worthington being the celebrant. Rev. Canon Goodale acted as epistolary and Very Rev. Dean Gardner as gospeller, Canon Whitmarsh assisting.

In place of a sermon the bishop read his annual address, in which he gave a summary of the ten years' work of the diocese; noted the clerical changes, and deplored the frequency of the changes in parishes. The clerical force had increased in numbers, he said, but had been touched by the "evil spirit of the age." This has tended to retard the extension of God's kingdom. He deplored the fact that it may, it had interfered with the very threshold of the church.

The mission board, he said, had determined on a revision of its methods, the field now to be divided into four divisions under four archdeacons. Attention was called to donations in offerings for the Disabled Clergy Fund, the Theological Fund and the Clerical Missionary Fund. This advice in some parishes from a disregard of the church resolutions passed supporting these lines of work. The importance of cultivating the missionary spirit was stressed, and the clergy reminded not to neglect to keep the people informed on the needs of missionary work. The bishop hoped that Omaha was there, and that the "evil spirit" would be dispensed with, as un-Catholic and without satisfactory basis. Referring to the pastoral letter to the House of Bishops, he said that it had a coercive power to bind the clergy, but made very clear in theological terms and ecclesiastical language that which was the duty of the clergy. It was in the name of disloyalty and faithlessness. "We earnestly hope," said the bishop, "that the letter has been read in the churches of the diocese, and that its contents have been made the basis of clear and explicit instruction from the pulpit." Referring to church statistics, the bishop said that the important labor of the women's auxiliary and the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, these every parish, he urged should have both these lines of work well pushed to the front.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS.

When the members of the graduating class marched upon the stage they received an ovation. The class of '95, with colors of apple green and white, was profusely decorated in honor of the event. The boxes were draped with bunting of white and blue intermingled with the High school colors. The seating capacity of the house was not sufficient to accommodate the immense crowd. It seemed as though "all Omaha" was there, and the "bravo" and "seats on the radiators were at a premium long before the clock struck the hour of 8.

Members of the class: Sadie P. Allen, Anna Anderson, Grace Barthel, Klitie May, Blanche Margaret Chamberlain, Carolyn Cortevilla, Ida Marie Dunn, Nellie Gamble, Eva Hamilton, Dorothy Holland, Lydia Johnson, Edith M. Kuhn, Mary Livesey, Teresa McArdle, Grace McMillan, Nellie Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Hattie Paulsen, Minnie K. Allison, May Anderson, Beatrice Ball, May Ballou, Rose Bernstein, Lee Comstock, Carrie Day, Carrie Fairchild, Mrs. Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Myrtle Robinson, Louise C. Smith, Mary Towne, Edna Fay Wetzel, Grace T. White, Emma Winlade, Ida Withrow, Ella Phelps, Nellie Randall, Kate B. Swartzlander, Mary Wallace, Adla Whipple, Ethel Williamson, Katie Winslade, Walter E. Banker, Samuel Burns, Jr., Burton Christie, Austin J. Colett, Frank C. Engler, George Helms, William Matthews, Albert Oberfelder, George Axford, Hal T. Beas, Edwin T. Chapin, Gordon Clarke, Mosher G. Colpeter, Harry M. Cross, Hamilton G. Gillespie, Robert G. Johnson, Merritt, Fred S. Parsons, Clark G. Powell, Ernest A. Sheldon, Joel Stebbins, George Stoner, Fred Walker, George Winlade, Albert Parmelee, Frank W. Peck, Frank Shank, David A. Small, Alvin A. Steel, John T. Sumner, Clarence Williamson, Frank H. Woodland.

ORATIONS AND ESSAYS.

The program was introduced by an overture by Butler's orchestra, followed by a splendid essay on "The Influence of Decay," by Miss Anna Anderson. Alvin A. Steel introduced an oration on "Life Insurance." He favored the idea and advanced a sound argument. Miss Eva Hamilton won honors easily by her happy thoughts on "The Means of Reform," an essay teeming with originality. An instrumental duet, "Saville," from Bergson, was the next number in which the participants, Misses Othella Karbach and Helen Mackin, received the plaudits of the audience, which was enthusiastically given. Miss Ella Phelps' essay, "The Modern Oracle," was one of the best features of the evening.

THEY OULTE THE HIGH SCHOOL

Eighty-Eight Pupils Allowed Last Evening to Withdraw with Honor.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT BOYD'S

Completion of the Four Years Course Signaled by a Profession of Complimentary Poquets and Flanetis from the Friends Who Packed the House.

Eighty-eight of the bright youth of Omaha sat beneath the star of hope on the stage of Boyd's opera house last evening. It was the annual high school commencement. A small army of young men and women stepped upon the battlefield of life, with diplomas as weapons and school days as a mental evergreen of the past. The usual garb of white lost none of its time-honored popularity among the "sweet girl graduates," while the slender youths were adorned by their sides looked mainly in conventional black.

The air was thick with the fragrance of flowers. Roses were visible everywhere. They nestled in Psyche knots on the fair ones and held down the thumping hearts of the bashful young men who faced the biggest audience of the season. The background of the stage was a woodland scene, while hanging from the top center of the stage flags of 1895. Prof. Homer Lewis sat on the stage near the wings. Near him sat President Akin of the Board of Education, Superintendent A. B. DeVoll, Mary E. Quackenbush, C. B. DeWitt, Mrs. E. R. Taylor, Dr. A. Johnson, Mary E. Sanford, Earl J. Kelsey, Villa B. Shippey, Mary A. Landis, Bessie J. Snyder, Bells H. Lewis, George M. Turner, Helen Dineen, Mrs. R. W. Taylor, W. W. Walker, military drill, Lieutenant Julius A. Penn.

PUSHING ALONG GOD'S WORK.

Episcopals in Session Listen to the Bishop's Annual Address. The twenty-eighth annual council of the diocese of Nebraska convened yesterday at Trinity cathedral. Twenty-eight clergy and forty lay delegates were in attendance. The session was opened by the celebration of the holy communion at 10 o'clock, Bishop Worthington being the celebrant. Rev. Canon Goodale acted as epistolary and Very Rev. Dean Gardner as gospeller, Canon Whitmarsh assisting.

In place of a sermon the bishop read his annual address, in which he gave a summary of the ten years' work of the diocese; noted the clerical changes, and deplored the frequency of the changes in parishes. The clerical force had increased in numbers, he said, but had been touched by the "evil spirit of the age." This has tended to retard the extension of God's kingdom. He deplored the fact that it may, it had interfered with the very threshold of the church.

The mission board, he said, had determined on a revision of its methods, the field now to be divided into four divisions under four archdeacons. Attention was called to donations in offerings for the Disabled Clergy Fund, the Theological Fund and the Clerical Missionary Fund. This advice in some parishes from a disregard of the church resolutions passed supporting these lines of work. The importance of cultivating the missionary spirit was stressed, and the clergy reminded not to neglect to keep the people informed on the needs of missionary work. The bishop hoped that Omaha was there, and that the "evil spirit" would be dispensed with, as un-Catholic and without satisfactory basis. Referring to the pastoral letter to the House of Bishops, he said that it had a coercive power to bind the clergy, but made very clear in theological terms and ecclesiastical language that which was the duty of the clergy. It was in the name of disloyalty and faithlessness. "We earnestly hope," said the bishop, "that the letter has been read in the churches of the diocese, and that its contents have been made the basis of clear and explicit instruction from the pulpit." Referring to church statistics, the bishop said that the important labor of the women's auxiliary and the Brotherhood of St. Andrews, these every parish, he urged should have both these lines of work well pushed to the front.

MEMBERS OF THE CLASS.

When the members of the graduating class marched upon the stage they received an ovation. The class of '95, with colors of apple green and white, was profusely decorated in honor of the event. The boxes were draped with bunting of white and blue intermingled with the High school colors. The seating capacity of the house was not sufficient to accommodate the immense crowd. It seemed as though "all Omaha" was there, and the "bravo" and "seats on the radiators were at a premium long before the clock struck the hour of 8.

Members of the class: Sadie P. Allen, Anna Anderson, Grace Barthel, Klitie May, Blanche Margaret Chamberlain, Carolyn Cortevilla, Ida Marie Dunn, Nellie Gamble, Eva Hamilton, Dorothy Holland, Lydia Johnson, Edith M. Kuhn, Mary Livesey, Teresa McArdle, Grace McMillan, Nellie Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Hattie Paulsen, Minnie K. Allison, May Anderson, Beatrice Ball, May Ballou, Rose Bernstein, Lee Comstock, Carrie Day, Carrie Fairchild, Mrs. Nordstrom, Anna Nelson, Myrtle Robinson, Louise C. Smith, Mary Towne, Edna Fay Wetzel, Grace T. White, Emma Winlade, Ida Withrow, Ella Phelps, Nellie Randall, Kate B. Swartzlander, Mary Wallace, Adla Whipple, Ethel Williamson, Katie Winslade, Walter E. Banker, Samuel Burns, Jr., Burton Christie, Austin J. Colett, Frank C. Engler, George Helms, William Matthews, Albert Oberfelder, George Axford, Hal T. Beas, Edwin T. Chapin, Gordon Clarke, Mosher G. Colpeter, Harry M. Cross, Hamilton G. Gillespie, Robert G. Johnson, Merritt, Fred S. Parsons, Clark G. Powell, Ernest A. Sheldon, Joel Stebbins, George Stoner, Fred Walker, George Winlade, Albert Parmelee, Frank W. Peck, Frank Shank, David A. Small, Alvin A. Steel, John T. Sumner, Clarence Williamson, Frank H. Woodland.

ORATIONS AND ESSAYS.

The program was introduced by an overture by Butler's orchestra, followed by a splendid essay on "The Influence of Decay," by Miss Anna Anderson. Alvin A. Steel introduced an oration on "Life Insurance." He favored the idea and advanced a sound argument. Miss Eva Hamilton won honors easily by her happy thoughts on "The Means of Reform," an essay teeming with originality. An instrumental duet, "Saville," from Bergson, was the next number in which the participants, Misses Othella Karbach and Helen Mackin, received the plaudits of the audience, which was enthusiastically given. Miss Ella Phelps' essay, "The Modern Oracle," was one of the best features of the evening.

THE HUMAN MAGNETS

THE WORLD'S INVINCIBLE. Magnetic Healers. WILL TREAT THE Blind, Deaf, Lame, Palsied, Paralytic, Rheumatic, AND ALL CHRONIC DISEASES FREE UPON THE STAGE.

They are Coming WITH HEALING IN THEIR HANDS, and will Publicly Demonstrate Their Wonderful Power of Animal Magnetism in the Cure of Many Chronic and So-Called Incurable Diseases.

Blind, Deaf, Lame, Palsied, Paralytic, Rheumatic, AND ALL CHRONIC DISEASES FREE UPON THE STAGE.

PROF. W. FLETCHER HALL will Deliver the following Lectures: FRIDAY NIGHT, Subject: "The Power of Vital Magnetism as a Curative Agent." FREE TO ALL, BOTH SEXES.

SATURDAY MATINEE, Subject: "Suffering Woman and Her Heroic Fortitude to Endure." PRIVATE TO LADIES ONLY. NO CHILDREN ADMITTED.

SATURDAY NIGHT, Subject: "Our Disobedience of Nature's Laws." FOR MEN ONLY. No Boys Admitted Under 14 Years of Age.

TEN YEARS' WORK-What statistics declare has been achieved in the Permanent Cure of Chronic Diseases by Animal Magnetism during the Past Ten Years. The following is a full Synopsis of cases successfully recorded as Permanently Cured by Animal Magnetism.

Table with 11 columns (years 1885-1894) and multiple rows of medical statistics including Chronic Catarrh, Rheumatism, Diabetes, etc.

SPECIAL NOTICE-The Management of these Great Magnetic Healers, known throughout the world as "The Human Magnets," has engaged a special suite of parlors, Nos. 2, 3, 4 and 5 at the PAXTON HOTEL, where all those who are able and willing to pay for private treatment may call during the entire month of June, commencing Friday, June 1st, and receive consultation, advice and examination of their various conditions free of all expense, and if curable may receive the services if they so desire.

SCHOOL CHILDREN

will eat sweetmeats and you can't prevent it. The first you know of it there is a head ache; the child is bilious and something must be done. Use Ripan's Tablets, a remedy which is standard for such troubles.

Ripan's Tablets: Sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (60 cents a box) is sent to The Ripan Chemical Company, No. 19 Spruce St., N. Y.

Advertisement for Sexine Pills, RESTORE LOST VIGOR. Includes a small illustration of a man's face.

FOR A LIMITED TIME A HANDSOME AMUSEMENTS.

Large advertisement for Leather Pockets, FREE TODAY. Includes illustrations of a leather pocket and a man's face.