Programs at the Cemeteries, Carried Out Under the Direction of Grand Army and the Union Veteran Legion, Quite Interesting.

None of the old-time enthusiasm was abated in yesterday's observance of Decoration day. The people of the vicinity generally observed the day as a holiday.

Two celebrations were held, one under the auspices of Abe Lincoln post, Grand Army of the Republic, at Fairview cemetery, and the other at Walnut Hill cemetery, under the auspices of the Union Veteran Legion.

The Grand Army parade was formed around Bayliss park, and contained the larger share of those who wished to honor the dead soldiers by marching.
