

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE.

Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (with Sunday) one year $4.00...

George B. Thurston, secretary of the publishing company, states that the actual number of full and complete copies of the Daily Bee, Evening and Sunday Bee, printed during the month of May, 1895, was as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Date, Copies, Total. Rows for each day of the month from May 1st to May 31st.

Net sales: 19,974. Daily average: 647.5. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 1st day of June, 1895.

Dorgan has the penitentiary, the honest appraisers have their $500 apiece, and the state has its pains for its trouble.

The German emperor knew what he was doing when he visited the Russian warships at Kiel. He was spiking some of France's largest guns.

That Baltic canal would of course have been a doomed enterprise if Emperor William did not insist upon laying the stone that completed it himself.

The commencement season is about concluded. To be consistent, we suppose we should say that the commencement of the commencement season has taken place.

No matter whether they win in the Henley regatta or not, the Cornell crew now in England will have the satisfaction of having kept their English cousins rapidly guessing.

In view of the fact that the decision in the Hay case upholds the power of the governor to remove gubernatorial appointees, resignations of state officers are coming in very slowly.

London hotel keepers are getting rich from the lavish expenditure of wealthy American guests. But American hotel keepers never retire on the profits from the travels of foreigners in the United States.

The prosecution of Captain Howgate is an illustration of how the federal government pursues the federal official who has misappropriated funds, no matter whether the occurrence was this year or ten years back.

How can China get any part of the war indemnity which it must pay unless by floating a loan in the United States when the United States is compelled to go to foreign bankers to float its last $50,000,000 loan?

Revenue officers have seized a brewery in Brooklyn. Out this way they are content to confiscate a few flasks of fire-water which some designing pale-face has foisted on the unsuspecting red man at more than two prices.

Having done away with horses as a motive power, we suggest that the Omaha Street Railway company now do away with the bobtail cars that were pulled by the horses. These ramshackle trailers are a disgrace to the city.

People who are not invited to subscribe for a plate at the banquet to be given Governor Holcomb in this city should yet have an opportunity to pay their respects to the state executive at a public reception and upon general invitation.

Gladstone, so the rumor goes, will return to the House of Commons and re-enter politics. The reluctance to give up public office, so noticeable among American officials, both high and low, seems to have an effect upon a man of even Gladstone's ability and long career.

NEBRASKA IN 1896. In one of his speeches before the National Republican league Senator Thurston declared that Nebraska was sure to give 50,000 majority to the national republican ticket in 1896, no matter what candidate is nominated, and no matter what platform is adopted.

During the campaign of 1892, when Nebraska was one of the most doubtful of the debatable states, Mr. Thurston, in interviews that were published in broadsheet, asserted that Nebraska was perfectly safe and sure to go republican by 20,000 majority for Harrison and Reid.

Last year Mr. Thurston predicted that the republican candidate for governor would carry the state by at least 20,000 in spite of all defection, but when the votes were counted his opponent had been elected by 3,200 plurality.

While we confidently look to the election of a republican president in 1896, whoever may be nominated, it is idle to talk about carrying Nebraska for him by 50,000 majority or for that matter, by 10,000 majority.

Another place for reform. The present administration could in no way more certainly and firmly establish its claim to devotion to the principle of civil service reform than by taking steps to apply that principle to the consular service.

How can China get any part of the war indemnity which it must pay unless by floating a loan in the United States when the United States is compelled to go to foreign bankers to float its last $50,000,000 loan?

Revenue officers have seized a brewery in Brooklyn. Out this way they are content to confiscate a few flasks of fire-water which some designing pale-face has foisted on the unsuspecting red man at more than two prices.

Having done away with horses as a motive power, we suggest that the Omaha Street Railway company now do away with the bobtail cars that were pulled by the horses. These ramshackle trailers are a disgrace to the city.

People who are not invited to subscribe for a plate at the banquet to be given Governor Holcomb in this city should yet have an opportunity to pay their respects to the state executive at a public reception and upon general invitation.

Gladstone, so the rumor goes, will return to the House of Commons and re-enter politics. The reluctance to give up public office, so noticeable among American officials, both high and low, seems to have an effect upon a man of even Gladstone's ability and long career.

THOMAS CATERVAULTS. Every thread is a disappointment in trouble. You never like some people until they get out of town. Romance is over half cotton, and very soon becomes threadbare.

THE COMMENCEMENT SEASON. Chicago Post: Vacation coming! Uncle on the farm! Fish in the creek! Colts to break! Berries to eat! Who wouldn't be a boy?

THE CHERRY SIDE OF LIFE. San Francisco Post: An Indian named "Man-Afraid-of-Nothing" married a white woman in Montana recently, and in one week after his wedding he applied to his tribe to change his name.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. It is wrong to accuse corporations of being soulless. There is the Leather trust, for instance. An analysis of the reported gold discovery in Oklahoma shows 16 of wind to 1 of gold.

COIN AT SCHOOL IN FINANCE. The extracts from George E. Roberts' book, "Coin at School in Finance," which The Bee commences printing today should be read by every one who wants to be informed upon the current discussion of the silver question.

South Carolina constables are indeed in hard lines. If they do not seize liquor in the hands of unauthorized vendors they are dismissed from office for not performing their duties.

THE OJOUZ HAMP. Philadelphia Times: While the ladies ride the bicycle in the best of taste, the way the men double themselves up is decidedly bad form.

THE CURSE OF APPLE BLOSSOMS. Here's a clergyman without a class. He lives in Bridgeport, Conn., and in that town he said in the pulpit that he thanked God that there had been frost enough to destroy the apple blossoms.

A KING OF SARACENS. The Columbian liberty bell committee is having a souvenir bell made to be presented to the people of Russia in memory of March 3, 1895, and the termination of serfdom.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE. Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (with Sunday) one year $4.00...

George B. Thurston, secretary of the publishing company, states that the actual number of full and complete copies of the Daily Bee, Evening and Sunday Bee, printed during the month of May, 1895, was as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Date, Copies, Total. Rows for each day of the month from May 1st to May 31st.

Net sales: 19,974. Daily average: 647.5. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 1st day of June, 1895.

Dorgan has the penitentiary, the honest appraisers have their $500 apiece, and the state has its pains for its trouble.

The German emperor knew what he was doing when he visited the Russian warships at Kiel. He was spiking some of France's largest guns.

That Baltic canal would of course have been a doomed enterprise if Emperor William did not insist upon laying the stone that completed it himself.

The commencement season is about concluded. To be consistent, we suppose we should say that the commencement of the commencement season has taken place.

No matter whether they win in the Henley regatta or not, the Cornell crew now in England will have the satisfaction of having kept their English cousins rapidly guessing.

In view of the fact that the decision in the Hay case upholds the power of the governor to remove gubernatorial appointees, resignations of state officers are coming in very slowly.

London hotel keepers are getting rich from the lavish expenditure of wealthy American guests. But American hotel keepers never retire on the profits from the travels of foreigners in the United States.

The prosecution of Captain Howgate is an illustration of how the federal government pursues the federal official who has misappropriated funds, no matter whether the occurrence was this year or ten years back.

How can China get any part of the war indemnity which it must pay unless by floating a loan in the United States when the United States is compelled to go to foreign bankers to float its last $50,000,000 loan?

Revenue officers have seized a brewery in Brooklyn. Out this way they are content to confiscate a few flasks of fire-water which some designing pale-face has foisted on the unsuspecting red man at more than two prices.

Having done away with horses as a motive power, we suggest that the Omaha Street Railway company now do away with the bobtail cars that were pulled by the horses. These ramshackle trailers are a disgrace to the city.

People who are not invited to subscribe for a plate at the banquet to be given Governor Holcomb in this city should yet have an opportunity to pay their respects to the state executive at a public reception and upon general invitation.

Gladstone, so the rumor goes, will return to the House of Commons and re-enter politics. The reluctance to give up public office, so noticeable among American officials, both high and low, seems to have an effect upon a man of even Gladstone's ability and long career.

NEBRASKA IN 1896. In one of his speeches before the National Republican league Senator Thurston declared that Nebraska was sure to give 50,000 majority to the national republican ticket in 1896, no matter what candidate is nominated, and no matter what platform is adopted.

During the campaign of 1892, when Nebraska was one of the most doubtful of the debatable states, Mr. Thurston, in interviews that were published in broadsheet, asserted that Nebraska was perfectly safe and sure to go republican by 20,000 majority for Harrison and Reid.

Last year Mr. Thurston predicted that the republican candidate for governor would carry the state by at least 20,000 in spite of all defection, but when the votes were counted his opponent had been elected by 3,200 plurality.

While we confidently look to the election of a republican president in 1896, whoever may be nominated, it is idle to talk about carrying Nebraska for him by 50,000 majority or for that matter, by 10,000 majority.

Another place for reform. The present administration could in no way more certainly and firmly establish its claim to devotion to the principle of civil service reform than by taking steps to apply that principle to the consular service.

How can China get any part of the war indemnity which it must pay unless by floating a loan in the United States when the United States is compelled to go to foreign bankers to float its last $50,000,000 loan?

Revenue officers have seized a brewery in Brooklyn. Out this way they are content to confiscate a few flasks of fire-water which some designing pale-face has foisted on the unsuspecting red man at more than two prices.

Having done away with horses as a motive power, we suggest that the Omaha Street Railway company now do away with the bobtail cars that were pulled by the horses. These ramshackle trailers are a disgrace to the city.

People who are not invited to subscribe for a plate at the banquet to be given Governor Holcomb in this city should yet have an opportunity to pay their respects to the state executive at a public reception and upon general invitation.

Gladstone, so the rumor goes, will return to the House of Commons and re-enter politics. The reluctance to give up public office, so noticeable among American officials, both high and low, seems to have an effect upon a man of even Gladstone's ability and long career.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE. Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (with Sunday) one year $4.00...

George B. Thurston, secretary of the publishing company, states that the actual number of full and complete copies of the Daily Bee, Evening and Sunday Bee, printed during the month of May, 1895, was as follows:

THOMAS CATERVAULTS. Every thread is a disappointment in trouble. You never like some people until they get out of town. Romance is over half cotton, and very soon becomes threadbare.

THE COMMENCEMENT SEASON. Chicago Post: Vacation coming! Uncle on the farm! Fish in the creek! Colts to break! Berries to eat! Who wouldn't be a boy?

THE CHERRY SIDE OF LIFE. San Francisco Post: An Indian named "Man-Afraid-of-Nothing" married a white woman in Montana recently, and in one week after his wedding he applied to his tribe to change his name.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. It is wrong to accuse corporations of being soulless. There is the Leather trust, for instance. An analysis of the reported gold discovery in Oklahoma shows 16 of wind to 1 of gold.

COIN AT SCHOOL IN FINANCE. The extracts from George E. Roberts' book, "Coin at School in Finance," which The Bee commences printing today should be read by every one who wants to be informed upon the current discussion of the silver question.

South Carolina constables are indeed in hard lines. If they do not seize liquor in the hands of unauthorized vendors they are dismissed from office for not performing their duties.

THE OJOUZ HAMP. Philadelphia Times: While the ladies ride the bicycle in the best of taste, the way the men double themselves up is decidedly bad form.

THE CURSE OF APPLE BLOSSOMS. Here's a clergyman without a class. He lives in Bridgeport, Conn., and in that town he said in the pulpit that he thanked God that there had been frost enough to destroy the apple blossoms.

A KING OF SARACENS. The Columbian liberty bell committee is having a souvenir bell made to be presented to the people of Russia in memory of March 3, 1895, and the termination of serfdom.

SECULAR SHOTS AT THE PULPIT. Boston Globe: The degree of L.L.D. conferred on Dr. Washington Gladden, the Congregationalist minister of Columbus, O., by Notre Dame university is the first degree of the kind ever given by the university to one not a Roman Catholic.

THE COMMENCEMENT SEASON. Chicago Post: Vacation coming! Uncle on the farm! Fish in the creek! Colts to break! Berries to eat! Who wouldn't be a boy?

THE CHERRY SIDE OF LIFE. San Francisco Post: An Indian named "Man-Afraid-of-Nothing" married a white woman in Montana recently, and in one week after his wedding he applied to his tribe to change his name.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. It is wrong to accuse corporations of being soulless. There is the Leather trust, for instance. An analysis of the reported gold discovery in Oklahoma shows 16 of wind to 1 of gold.

COIN AT SCHOOL IN FINANCE. The extracts from George E. Roberts' book, "Coin at School in Finance," which The Bee commences printing today should be read by every one who wants to be informed upon the current discussion of the silver question.

South Carolina constables are indeed in hard lines. If they do not seize liquor in the hands of unauthorized vendors they are dismissed from office for not performing their duties.

THE OJOUZ HAMP. Philadelphia Times: While the ladies ride the bicycle in the best of taste, the way the men double themselves up is decidedly bad form.

THE CURSE OF APPLE BLOSSOMS. Here's a clergyman without a class. He lives in Bridgeport, Conn., and in that town he said in the pulpit that he thanked God that there had been frost enough to destroy the apple blossoms.

A KING OF SARACENS. The Columbian liberty bell committee is having a souvenir bell made to be presented to the people of Russia in memory of March 3, 1895, and the termination of serfdom.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE. Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (with Sunday) one year $4.00...

"All Look That Way" advertisement for clothing. Includes text: "Especially those who have taken advantage of several of our late offerings in clothes." and "We make our announcements in the newspapers to attract your attention." Includes illustrations of a man and a woman.