

EVIDENCE FOR THE DEFENSE

Alleged Lynchers of Barrett Scott Give Their Stories in Court.

MULLIHAN TAKES THE WITNESS STAND

Testifies in His Own Behalf and Materially Strengthens the Alibi Theory for His Companions—Features of the Day's Proceedings.

BUTTE, Neb., June 24.—(Special Telegram.)

When counsel for the defense shortly before 6 o'clock this evening announced that George D. Mullihan would take the stand and testify in his own behalf, intense interest was manifested by the large assemblage in the court room. Mullihan was charged with being the leader of the assaulting party which brought Scott to his death. A battle royal occurred between the attorneys for the defense and the attorney general when Harrington undertook to elicit from the defendant Mullihan the names of battles in which he had taken part in the war of the rebellion. The attorney general objected and Harrington argued that the object of the question was two-fold. First, for the purpose of showing the military record of the defendant, and second, that he had been five times wounded in the war. The attorney general would prevent him from taking an active part in so hazardous an expedition as the capture of Barrett Scott.

AS TO AN ALIBI.

Mullihan testified to being in company with Elliott and Roy Smith on the night of the afternoon of December 31. That after leaving them he crossed the Red Bird and went over to Eagle creek, southwest of his place. He was with them until about 10 o'clock. He and W. D. Bradstreet and John Bayha, and later on Steve Donnell. He was rightly cross-examined by the attorney general, but no part of his evidence was shaken. He answered promptly all questions put to him, including some statements that it was impossible for him to have been in the room where he was described by defendants' counsel as a treasury thief and Hawkshaw detective. EARLY HISTORY OF THE CASE.

He testified that he never received any portion of the money which Scott stole from Holt county. Similar evidence in this regard has been given by the other defendants, and although they were all charged with the offense of introducing the defendant's counsel brought out today that Barrett Scott and his confederates stole $40,000 from Holt county; that Scott fled to Mexico; was captured and returned in iron; was released on bail, signed by his confederates; that he was arrested on the charge of not attending his conviction he was still at liberty at the time of his death, and that his friends openly boasted that he never would be punished for his crime. Mr. Irving's last official appearance as leader of the Nebraska State band was at the inaugural ceremonies of Governor Holcomb. Today Frank Effenberg was committed to the asylum. The insanity commissioners visited him at his home, where he was found to be sane. He was judged him insane. He appeared in his bad way, and is quite violent at times in his ravings. The doctors found that it was caused by Bright's disease and blood poisoning.

THE EXPLOSION YESTERDAY OF A traction engine in North Lincoln produced a startling commotion and caused considerable destruction in the immediate vicinity. There were a number of engines used in hauling and unloading lumber from the J. I. Case warehouse. W. F. Kimsey, a blacksmith, had fired up two of them to exhibit to a man who expressed a desire to purchase. Suddenly the Kimsey was mounted on top of it, one of the engines exploded. He was thrown over another engine, but managed to walk to the warehouse, where he fainted. He was taken to the hospital, but died before it is understood he is seriously injured. The engine was wrecked. The door, weighing 100 pounds, was carried across the street, where it plowed its way through the side of a small house. The occupant of the cottage was lying sick and asleep upon the bed and the missile struck him in the mattress under him. Pieces of machinery were carried to the Missouri Pacific round house, fully 600 feet away.

DR. HUNTLEY PERFORMED THE ceremony last evening which bound the hearts and hands of B. B. Palmeter and Miss Abbie B. Gardner at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. W. DeLoe, 2402 D street. Intimate friends only were present. The house was suitably decorated. The young couple go to housekeeping at 2438 E street.

SPECULATED ON THE SIDE

Lincoln Manager of an Omaha Commission Firm Wrecks the Institution.

ENGINEER WHO WAS IN GREAT LUCK

Was Standing on Top of a Boiler When it Exploded but Escaped Without Any Serious Injury—State Teachers' Institute.

LINCOLN, June 24.—(Special.)

This morning the doors of the Lincoln branch of Duncan, Hollinger & Co., grain commission men, did not open. J. T. Duncan, the head of the firm, came down from Omaha yesterday, on receipt of a letter from the manager, W. G. Beach, and closed up the establishment. In this letter Beach acknowledged that he had been speculating on the side with the firm's money. Mr. Duncan refused to state how much he was short. It also stated that he had allowed patrons to overdraw their accounts several thousands of dollars, giving the impression that it was from $15,000 to $20,000. When seen, Mr. Beach said he had used some of the firm's money, but did not consider that he had robbed any one. He was to receive $100,000 from the firm, but said all he had gotten out of it was about $200,000. He had been guilty of mismanagement and had used the funds of his employer for purposes of speculation on his own account, and had lost them. Mr. Beach said, when asked if he should prosecute Beach criminally, that he did not see that it would do any good. As to the Lincoln branch, he did not know whether he would reopen it or not. Nothing could be learned concerning the liabilities to patrons.

LINCOLN OFFICERS ROASTED

Rev. E. H. Chapin Denounces the City Administration as Thoroughly Corrupt.

GAMBLERS AND PROSTITUTES GALORE

Lancaster County Divine Asserts that the Guardians of the Peace Are in League with All Forms of Vice.

LINCOLN, June 24.—(Special.)

Several hundred citizens of this city were treated yesterday to an interesting lecture on municipal reform by Rev. E. H. Chapin. The gentleman's subject was "Lincoln Misgoverned and the Causes." The address was delivered with great force and is being referred to generally as a very clever effort. The divine said: "Let us stop a few minutes and consider the kind of a city government we are under. All that is needed is to consult the facts, the state of things now existing, to demonstrate that Lincoln is misgoverned and that it has openly and flagrantly not to say shamelessly, abandoned the path of decency and virtue. 'I have in my possession, as president of the Rescue society, a paper containing the names and addresses of more than thirty parties who are known to be keepers of houses of prostitution, and there are in these houses nearly 100 people who are engaged in this unlawful business. This paper also contains the names of thirteen gambling institutions, which are being operated at the present time in our midst. This paper was presented to a joint meeting of the Evangelical Ministers' association and the Rescue society held last Monday morning, when the chief of police of the city was present, and he did not deny the facts but affirmed that what the paper stated was true. 'He admitted further, when questioned by the ministers present, that according to city laws prostitution and gambling were crimes. When asked why the laws were not enforced, he replied that so far as the crime of prostitution was concerned, it seemed to be the sentiment of a majority of the people of the city as expressed at the ballot box last spring that it should be condoned. But in reference to the crime of gambling he made no reply. He knew that it was being openly carried on in the city, and yet he preferred not to answer or discuss the question why this was so. 'I bring these facts to your attention to show that we have a city government inefficient and by the admission of its chief of police on the side of lawlessness and disorder and the disregard of such Evangelical and heinous character as to be set down in the statute books of the state as nothing less than criminal. 'I charge this city has elected a man to rule over it in the person of a chief executive who now occupies his exalted station and administers his sacred trust, not to carry out or to enforce the laws which God has given the laws which the greatest human wisdom and the largest sense of earthly justice have established for our guidance and safety. There is no one here who is worthy of the title of a virtuous political action, and that is to call it by its right name—arbitrary. About a year ago Prof. Herron stood in our midst and accused the people of this city of being a political party, and we, in our Pharisaism, stoned this prophet of truth and honesty by driving him from among us with bitter and cruel words. It was done even for our pulpits to speak a kind, sympathetic or appreciative word of him. The very deed that we ourselves have committed the very deed that we ourselves have done, warned us against, what shall we say? 'Once more I declare that Lincoln is this morning a city of lawlessness and crime, and very officials are in league with the lawless and criminal classes, that its mayor and those most closely associated with him in official position occupy the seats of authority not to protect the innocent and to encourage sobriety, order and righteousness among the people, but for the purpose of political gain, selfish greed and ambition, and that he will willingly and knowingly permit the commission of crimes which imbrute, rob and pauperize the people in order that those sordid and wicked ends may be attained. 'For daily "upper crust" and wholesome lower crust says only Price's Cream Baking Powder in making pies.

END OF A FABULOUS CASE.

Three People Found Guilty of an Atrocious Murder in Arkansas. PORT SMITH, Ark., June 24.—The jury in the Kettering case filed into the United States court about noon with a verdict of guilty against all three defendants, Mrs. Mary A. Kettering, George Washington Frazier and Richard Calhoun. This ends the most important and mysterious murder case ever tried in Arkansas. The victim was Mrs. Kettering's husband, who was beaten to death by the side of the road near his home in Muldrow, I. T., it is claimed, $20,000 insurance on his life. The prosecution's testimony revealed a conspiracy of long standing that Kettering and Frazier had taken into, and also that after a scheme to defraud insurance companies similar to other defrauds had been arranged and had written letters showing that he feared violence from different parties and was being followed by different men, his co-partners executed a plan to kill him.

ORGANIZED A COAL STRIKE.

DENVER, June 24.—Northern Colorado coal operators are jubilant over the new combination they have formed which will commence operations July 1. The new combination will be known as the Northern Colorado Coal company and it has already signed contracts with all of the northern mines to buy all of the output at a stated price per ton and it will have a complete monopoly of all the coal produced in northern Colorado. All mine operators of the lignite field are interested in the new company, either as officers or stockholders, and contracts have also been made with the wholesale dealers, who will, after the first of the month, buy their coal from the Northern Colorado company instead of from the mine direct as at present. This plan, it is anticipated, will insure a uniform price for all lignite coal coming into Denver or being sold elsewhere in the state.

INFANTS DYING.

Early Appearance of Cholera Infantum.

Serious Times Ahead for Badly Nourished Ones.

When Children Run Most Risk of Diarrhoea.

The Diet Invariably Used in Most Careful Homes.

Children Take Lactated Food Eagerly and Reain It.

Only by the most judicious feeding can children be saved from intestinal disorders that now lay in wait for every unfeebled infant. Children should not stop growing and steadily increasing in weight during the summer months. Any decline in strength, activity and high spirits at such times should be even more quickly observed and remedied than at other seasons of the year. Any sign of the healthy nourishment of the child should be met with lactated food. The carefully studied composition of this perfect infant diet, so accurately adapted to the needs of growing children, makes it easy to induce them to take abundant food of a highly nourishing quality and of absolutely assured purity. Babies fed on a diet of lactated food lose that pinched look, most immediately, the profuse perspiring that usually accompanies weakness ceases; their sleep becomes restful, and their cheeks and white lips get full and rosy. All this change will be due to the simple effect of lactated food, and more satisfying diet of lactated food. At the beginning of the summer the physician gives warning that the utmost care must be taken to insure the full assurance of this emphatic warning does not reach every child and town in this state is evident from the numerous deaths that occur in those places where the newspapers have published the discussions that are now going on regarding proper infant feeding in summer, large numbers of babies die. The statistics show that the fewer deaths occur in those towns and cities where the larger amount of lactated food is used. Comparisons of this sort are absolutely convincing. June is a fatal month for the little ones, and without the utmost care the local physicians say that the dreadful mortality and increasing amount of sickness among children will continue. The one safe plan is to feed infants on lactated food. Physicians say that in every case of cholera infantum the child is improperly fed and nourished, and hence the disease. "It is absolutely certain," says a physician, in one of the medical journals, speaking of the epidemic of the fall assurance that "the cause of this high death rate among infants is indigestion." Thousands of physicians prescribe lactated food to infants, and the full assurance that the dread disease is not likely to appear in that family. It must be borne in mind that lactated food is so inexpensive that it is within the reach of everyone. One hundred and fifty meals can be obtained from a dollar package of the food, and prepared for use it costs less than 5 cents a quart. Mothers should remember that cholera infantum can be more easily prevented than cured. Feed the baby with pure lactated food, and keep the child well and strong.
