Dumont were turned down with little ceremony, and as Mayor Bemis refused to make another appointment at that time an adjournment was taken until 10 o'clock this forencon, when it is expected that another name will be presented.

A caucus which included all the republican nembers except Bechel was held in the city clerk's office immediately before the council onvened. At this time the plan to force the appointment of George Heimrod was fully developed and the members agreed to vote as a unit to defeat any other appointment that night be made.

When the council was called to order the judiciary committee fulfilled expectations by presenting a report in which it recommended that the appointment of Thomas Swobe be not confirmed. The report was declared adopted and the roll call on confirmation re-sulted: Ayes-Beckel, Burkley, Cahn, Holmes, Lemly-5. Nays-Back, Gordon, Jacobsen, Jaynes, Kennard, Kment, Mercer, Prince, Saunders, Taylor, Thomas, Edwards—12, No. speeches were made, except when Burkley explained his vote by saying that to vote against confirmation was practically to vote to continue Mr. Bolin in office, and this he

Another recess was then declared, and again the sergeint-at-arms was sent in quest of the mayor. This time he was gone fully half an hour and returned with the information that the mayor had gone out of the appointing business for that evening. Prince then sprung the caucus plan by introducing a resolution by which the mayor was not field that in the opinion of a majority of the council George Heimrod was the proper man for the place, and if the mayor would submit his name the appointment would be promptly confirmed.

Thomas moved to refer and Burkley followed with a motion to table. Jacobsen supported the resolution, which he claimed was morely designed to inform the mayor of the sent ment of the council.

Burkley declared that the resolution contemplated the appointment of a city treasonfirmed.

urer by the council. The charter vested the appointing power in the mayor, and he objected to any attempt on the part of the council to coerce that official.

Bechel took the same view and declared that he would not be a party in an attempt to dictate to the mayor whom he should appoint. Mercer suggested as a substitute that a committee be sent to the ma urge him to submit another name. manner in which the council was acting in the matter was bound to make trouble and to injure the credit of the city. FAULT WITH THE COUNCIL.

Cahn said that the delay was the fault of the council and not of the mayor. The mayor had sent in the names of as good men as could be found in the city, but the counil had stubbornly refused to confirm Burkley inquired why they did not reselve that they would vote to confirm no man except one whom they could control in matters of appointment, as every one knew that this was where the difficulty lay.

The resolution was carried by the re-typed vote of 10 to 7, and by way of taking the curse off a committee consisting of the curse off a committee consisting of Mercer, Saunders and Taylor was appointed convey it to the mayor. The committee was absent until 11:30, when it returned with the report that it had been unable to induce the mayor to send in another name until he had had
