NEWS FROM THE COUNCIL BLUFFS

John W. Paul and His Land and Improvement Company Sued.

HEAVY REAL ESTATE LITIGATION

Creditors for Small Sums Anxious to Force a Settlement—Hundreds of Acres of Suburban Property in the Deal.

Attachment proceedings were begun in the district court yesterday afternoon involving about $45,000 worth of the property of John W. Paul and the Union Land and Improvement company. E. W. Nash is the principal attaching creditor, his claims amounting to $33,000, while Finley Burke, attorney for Paul and the Improvement company, has claims amounting to more than $5,000.

Paul is well known in Council Bluffs and Omaha as a hustler in real estate circles. For several years past he has been engaged in accumulating property in the northwestern part of the city, with a view to establishing manufacturing enterprises on a large scale.

The Improvement company, of which he is president, has about 500 acres, including nearly all the land in the city limits north of the levy, and Paul himself has a third interest in town lots, which altogether comprise about 110 acres. About a year ago a large amount of town property was bought up by him, and since that time he has been busy with the purchase of several acres, and there were signs of a boom, which, for the time, set the real estate men all agog. It was reported that a contract was signed by which an enormous packing plant, with stock yard attached, was to be built north of the city. Options were seized on all of the property as rapidly as they could be had. The yards and packing houses failed to materialize, and real estate has resumed its normal course. For several months past Paul has been in Chicago, and only occasional rumors have been vouchsafed to the public as to his intentions.

In the principal suit commenced by Nash, he alleges that the Union Land and Improvement company borrowed $30,000 from him, using two tracts of 2700 acres in town lots, 1894. The total amount due is $30,846, including unpaid interest.

FORCED A SETTLEMENT. In the second suit Nash alleges that Paul borrowed from the Improvement company $7,837 in 1891, giving as security three notes, all of which are long past due. Nash claims that Paul has failed to pay the notes, and that he is entitled to a judgment for the amount of the notes, with interest. Nash also claims that Paul has failed to pay the notes, and that he is entitled to a judgment for the amount of the notes, with interest.

COMING FROM NEAR AND FAR

Supreme Temple of Patriarchal Circle of Americans Convenes Today.

MANY OF THE DELEGATES HAVE ARRIVED

Address of Welcome to Be Delivered by the Mayor, After Which the Work of the Temple Will Begin—List of Delegates.

The supreme temple of the Patriarchal Circle of Americans convenes in annual session this morning at 10 o'clock in Patterson hall. An address of welcome will be delivered by Mayor Bemis after the business of opening the supreme chapel has been concluded. Supreme Oracle C. H. Lovewell will respond. The balance of the morning will be consumed in acting upon the credentials of the numerous delegates who are arriving from the various states and territories.

This order is prominent on account of its military features and the members claim to wear the finest uniforms of any secret society. The organization is largely charitable in its objects. Speaking of the order, Grand Oracle Van P. Cronos says: "It does not boast of ancient origin or seek in the dark recess of some old castle for manuscript or other evidence to prove its antiquity; it originated ten years ago, and has met with favor wherever it has been presented; it is adapted to the uses and purposes of today, no back number. It is composed of young business men, many of whom are already active in everything relating to the property and growth of the community in which they live; ready to do anything that will benefit the community or soon will for who have retired from a curly birch chair, with carved panels and oak frame, richly upholstered and only marked $20, a leather couch seven feet long and a wide, olive green, leather chair $15, that would last forty-five years in daily use; brass and enameled bedsteads, dining table of quarter sawed oak and piano finish, folding chairs, music stands and corner pieces in the quaint designs are among other novelties. There is hardly a new piece made in the factories that is not some part of the big store, and there is something for every nook in the home. Even the baby is forgotten, for the latest model of a carriage in the state is ready for his royal pleasure. The firm is composed of two of the most hustling young men in the country, and they are going to do it. They demand that the public makes up their mind, and do it at prices that will cut out all competition. Ladies who desire to see beautiful new things for their homes and adornment are invited to go through the big establishment, whether they want to buy or not.

Campers at Manawa. There are about fifty families camping at Manawa, and the tented population is being increased every day. A. W. Rickman and family are the latest additions. They erected their canvas palaces yesterday and occupied it last night. Only those who have enjoyed the delights of camping will be able to realize the pleasure that an outing at Manawa affords. It is so near town that the business man can keep in the closest touch with his business, and he who is tired of the city are over he can join his family and friends on the banks of the beautiful lake and have all the enjoyment of a camping 50 miles from home. The market garden around the lake make early morning calls in the canvas city and furnish their freshest and crispest vegetables and milk and cream. The big ice houses near by supply quantities of ice at prices that are not fazed by any scale of prices. The housewife can get a nickel worth of milk for the housewife in the city, for the farmers and gardeners around the lake supply the city with their best products. The tents are wonderfully comfortable, and how people do sleep! An early morning dip in the lake, a row or a sail over its wide expanse, and the refreshment of the elastic black bass give an appetite for breakfast that paralyzes the cook. More than half the people camping are from Omaha, and about to disport business or professional men. For those who camp at Manhattan beach the steamer "Liberty" has an excursion to church, school and home, and is a most comfortable and convenient mode of travel. The boat leaves at 7 o'clock, and makes a quick trip across the lake, and reaches the shore at 7:25. The electric motor that passes the Paxton hotel in Omaha each morning at 8:15. The business man gets at his work at an earlier hour than ordinarily, invigorated by the soundest sleep, the heartiest breakfast and brightened by rushing through nine miles of summer morning sunshine. Do they enjoy it? Well, ask them when they are going to move back to town and get the universal answer, "not as long as I can get away from here." The lake are becoming very pleasant. Colonel Reed's entertainments at the Grand Pavilion are free to all, and are a most enjoyable occasion, excepting Sundays, and a ball in the pavilion is almost a nightly occurrence. The campers are about evenly divided on both sides of the lake, and the social circles. The prospects are that the number of campers will be largely increased in the next few days, for all the crowd there are talking enthusiastically about the pleasures of the happy mode of existence.

Judge Woods kindly Lays Off Six Months from Debs' Time. CHICAGO, July 9.—Judge Woods today reinstated his former order making concurrent the sentences of Eugene V. Debs and other officials of the American Railway Union. As a result Debs will serve but six months in jail and his associates but three months. The men were convicted on two charges and in each charge they received six months in jail sentence and the other defendants were given three months each, the sentence being concurrent. In order to take the case to the supreme court Debs' attorneys had the sentences separated and when the appeal was refused it left the prisoners under the double sentence with the result that Debs is in jail for Debs and six months for each of the other railway union officers. The defendants' attorneys had asked for a reinstatement of the former order, the petition being granted by Judge Woods today.

CRAFTS HOLDS ON TO LEADERSHIP

Efforts of Dissatisfied Democrats to Displace Him Prove Futile.

SPRINGFIELD, July 9.—A vigorous and determined effort was made in the democratic caucus to depose ex-speaker Clayton E. Crafts as leader of the minority. The effort proved a failure, though for a time things looked rather shaky for the ex-speaker. The opposition to Crafts was led by Judge Michel Stoskopf of Stephenson county. He was backed largely by country members, who disapproved of Crafts' action at the regular session. The idea of the opposition was that the republicans might split, and if Stoskopf were the democratic nominee he would receive enough republican votes to elect him. They held that he had many friends on the republican side who, should a split occur in their ranks, would vote for him.

The Stoskopf people first tried to secure a recess until after the republican caucus, so that they would be in a position to split Crafts' followers saw at once that this might prove fatal to their man and used all their might to defeat it and were successful. After some further wrangling a vote was taken, and Crafts was chosen as the democratic nominee for speaker. The democratic members of the house held their caucus in the senate judicial committee rooms immediately after the house adjournment. After discussing as to the advisability of selecting some other democrat who would be more apt to effect a compromise, it seemed an even chance that party, a motion was made by Mr. Le Cronos to defer nominations and take a recess until such time as the result of a republican caucus for speaker should be known. The motion was lost.

Mr. Stoskopf was the only democratic name presented by Crafts. On roll call Crafts received twenty-nine and Stoskopf nineteen, and on motion of Mr. Stoskopf he was declared the unanimous choice.

The caucus of the republican members will support Herbert Muir for speaker to succeed Meyer, deceased. This further complicates the fight for speakership. Early this morning the republican caucus was held, and candidates for the honor. The republican leaders talked this way and every effort seemed to be tending toward the selection of these two men. It seemed an even chance, though rather acrimonious, race, and efforts were spared by neither side to win votes. Now that Cook has declared for Muir, it would be empty honor and it is highly probable that before the matter ends a dark horse will step in and carry off the honors.

Thomas Needles of Washington county is at the head of the dark horse though it is not available. As soon as he arrived in the city after recess he announced that he would not take a hand in the race. He said it was empty honor and he would not take a condition take the speakership. This was in case the different factions of republicans could not agree upon a man, otherwise he would be a compromise candidate. Some of the country members have talked of Kitzmiller, but aside from him no one has been talked of. The Cook county caucus met in the state house immediately after the house adjourned. After a stormy session it was agreed to support their only available Cook county candidate, Muir, for speaker. This effort is, however, limited to two ballots only. After five ballots Cook county members are not further bound, but they will move to adjourn.

But two members were voted on in the caucus. These were Muir and Gibson, all others withdrawing before a vote. This resulted: Muir, 12; Gibson, 9.

Sioux Nation Greatly Agitated. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 9.—(Special.)—A considerable proportion of the Sioux nation is greatly agitated by the discovery that since 1851 the famous pipestone quarries at Pipestone, Minn., have passed from their possession into the hands of the government. The Indians claim to have only recently made this discovery, and a council was at once called to meet at Crow Creek agency to discuss the matter and take appropriate action. This council has just concluded its labors, and as a result of the meeting a petition was framed and placed in the hands of the government authorities at Washington. The petition protests against the government assuming ownership of the quarries, and asks that the authorities close the quarries and declare them again the common property of the Sioux nation. The council lasted four days, and was held on an extensive plateau two miles northwest of the quarries. The Yankton tribe of Sioux refused to send delegates to discuss the matter, and they are now charged by the balance of the Sioux nation with being responsible for the loss to them of the quarries. The Sioux make frequent pilgrimages to these quarries and worship them in accordance with tradition. The Yankton tribe handed down by their forefathers. A peculiarity of the council was that the delegates were from 55 to 95 years of age. Delegates were present from Crow Creek, Sisseton, Pine Ridge, Rosebud, Lower Brule, Cheyenne, Standing Rock, Flandreau and Devil's Lake. The representative of the Pine Ridge Indians, and High Bear represented the Indians at Rosebud agency.

The attachment was based on an allegation of fraud on the part of Folds Bros. in making the assignment.

There were funding warrants to the amount of $250,000 which fell due at that time, but since that time he has Phillips announces that the state is in good condition financially.

Unusual Church Litigation. SIOUX FALLS, S. D., July 9.—(Special.)—According to rumor there is likely to be a novel suit in the courts here. It is stated that Rev. J. L. Andrews, pastor of the Unitarian church here will institute suit against several Sioux Falls people who have subscribed to the support of the Unitarian church. He refuses to pay. The cause will be that the subscription was made on the representation that Rev. Andrews was to devote his entire time to the local church and that he really has spent a large share of his time with other congregations and in giving lectures.
