

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE.

Published every morning. Terms: In Advance, $1.00 per month. Retail, 5 cents.

Subscription rates: Daily (without Sunday), One Year, $10.00. Daily (with Sunday), One Year, $12.00.

ANOTHER NEW FEATURE.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE.

The English Working Classes. Arrangements have been made to publish in the Sunday Bee a series of letters on the English working classes.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE.

FOR THE WORKING MEN. And the surprises in the English elections are not yet at an end.

What has become of the report of the council retrenchment committee? Has it been lost in the shuffle?

A few more unexpected defeats and the liberal party will be almost bereft of leaders in the new House of Commons.

Most people are at a loss to understand why any one should think the report of the Horst-Harvey debate worth copyrighting.

Ex-President Harrison's presidential chances seem to worry other people a great deal more than they worry Mr. Harrison himself.

There seems to be a healthy rivalry between the different religious denominations as to which can get up the most enthusiastic national convention.

The Belgian Chamber of Deputies is said to have had a heated session the other day. The temperature in Belgium must be very like the temperature in Nebraska.

No one need be frightened by a few playtime shipments of gold out of the United States. This country has withstood several drains upon its gold reserve and can do so again.

Another big irrigation enterprise has been launched in Deuel and Keith counties, involving a district of 25,000 acres. The people of the western counties propose soon to be in position to defy the drought.

If there is an author who has written on economic subjects from the time of Moses down who has not been cited on one side or the other of the free silver controversy he certainly has reason to feel insulted.

Army officers and private soldiers are disqualified for engaging in politics. There are many reasons that it should be so and these reasons apply with equal force to members of the municipal police and fire department.

The cattle rustlers of the northern border have pleaded guilty and will be transported to Lincoln for safekeeping. Here is an example of the advance of civilization in the Niobrara country. A few years ago the cattle rustlers would not have lived ten minutes after their capture.

Efforts to connect the recent changes in the police force with the Citizens' league movement will fail utterly because the one has no the remotest relation to the other. Any police officer who may hereafter feel called upon to dabble in politics will doubtless stumble on to this fact in short order.

The Nebraska State Relief commission seems to have resolved itself into a commission for the relief of a few clerks and stenographers employed in the secretary's office and the proposition of A. P. A. literature. The commission should make its report, discharge its employees and close its office at once.

People who believe what the Lincoln Journal has to say about the wonderful activity of Attorney General Churchill in the appeal of the maximum freight rate cases will be inclined to think that the legislature made a mistake in making an appropriation to retain the services of a capable attorney to represent the state in these cases. Had the legislature only known what a jewel it had in Mr. Churchill it might have saved to the taxpayers the fees which it agreed to pay to Mr. Webster.

THE SITUATION AT PENDEL.

Without undertaking to say on which side the right is in the trouble that has grown out of the eviction of settlers on the Indian reservation in Thurston county, The Bee earnestly advises the people there not to allow themselves to be influenced by passion or by the counsel of rash leaders.

It is proposed to hold a meeting at Pendel next Thursday at which the Nebraska senators and representatives will be present and talk over the situation with the people.

HOW IT WORKS.

An illustration of how the foreign manufacturers are favored by the present tariff law is furnished by a statement of the United States consul at Bradford, England, showing the value of declared exports from that consular district to the United States during the month of May 1894 and 1895.

THE STORY OF THE CAMEL.

With an overlap of over $20,000,000 starting in the face and a marked decrease in the tax valuation the council still persists in running the municipal machine on the basis of $200,000,000 valuation and 200,000 population.

THE TRANSACTION CLOSED.

The bond transaction between the treasury and the Morgan-Belmont syndicate has been completed so far as the transfer of bonds is concerned, this having been effected in London a few days ago by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis.

THE TRANSACTION CLOSED.

The bond transaction between the treasury and the Morgan-Belmont syndicate has been completed so far as the transfer of bonds is concerned, this having been effected in London a few days ago by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis.

THE TRANSACTION CLOSED.

The bond transaction between the treasury and the Morgan-Belmont syndicate has been completed so far as the transfer of bonds is concerned, this having been effected in London a few days ago by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Curtis.

combination of bankers did not foresee all that has taken place to increase the foreign indebtedness of the United States since they entered into the agreement to protect the gold reserve of the treasury and that consequently they are now confronted by greater difficulties than were anticipated.

The treasury now has a cash balance which appears to make its condition perfectly safe at least until congress meets, the gold reserve amounting to $100,000,000. Under ordinary circumstances it would experience no embarrassment in meeting all obligations during the next six months, or for even a longer period, though receipts should continue to fall behind expenditures.

WHERE THE MINORITY COMES IN.

The man who runs the Jackson Battery wants to know whether a minority of republicans when dissatisfied with their own party action should have the right to name nominees in a nonpartisan movement. That depends upon conditions.

THE POLICE REFORM.

Twenty-five of the Omaha, who were appointed by their political and A. P. A. "pals," and who had been discharged summarily by the new chief and the police board, and strict orders have been issued that all other officers must not let political and religious matters interfere with their duties as guardians of the peace of all the people.

FREE SILVER'S WEAK POINT.

The strongest argument against free silver is to be found in the fact that the treasury cannot possibly keep more than about one-eighth of one per cent of the gold in circulation. They are put out at every opportunity, but they will not stay out.

INTERNATIONAL METALLISM.

The prospects of an international money conference appear to have been improved by the agreement between Germany and their such a conference, but the prospect that "something will be done for silver" is not improved thereby.

REFORM FOLLY IN NEW YORK.

The determined effort of Mayor Strong and Police Commissioner Roosevelt to enforce the Sunday closing law in New York City is not only foolish and visionary, but dangerous from a party point of view. It is a question which is smaller by $1,000,000 than they are entitled to serious consideration.

VOICE OF THE STATE PRESS.

Holdings Citizen: The big corn crop in the great state of Nebraska will do more to settle the money issue than all the efforts of the politicians.

Arachnoid Pioneer: Some people in Omaha do not consider it a crime to take $25,000 from the city, provided the money is returned when the time is desired.

Fullerton Journal: The free silver controversy is gradually gaining its race, and other matters will come to the front once more.

When will the taxpayers have relief from such systematic taxing? Will they ever rid the city of salaried burlesques so long as the old party machine, republican or democratic, controls the city and county governments?

The Sioux City council sees the necessity for an ordinance prohibiting city officials from selling anything to the city or engaging in any contracts with the city directly or remotely.

The free silver democrats of Nebraska are figuring on a monster mutual admiration meeting sometime in October, at which Senator Morgan of Alabama will be the principal exponent of free silver doctrine. Senator Morgan is to be imported all the way from Alabama to tell the democrats of the north to do what the democrats of the south have refused to do.

The commissioners for the Nebraska exhibit at the Atlanta exposition deserve every encouragement of their efforts to make a creditable display of Nebraska products. The principal object is to advertise its resources and work up new immigration. Other states will be actively pursuing this work and profiting by the occasion, and Nebraska should be in the front rank of its sister states.

The Sunday Bee will contain extracts from some interesting letters written by Congressman Mercer during his tour of China and Japan describing the places he has been visiting and commenting upon recent events in the Orient. The article will be a treat, not only to Mr. Mercer's friends, who are almost legion, but also to all of our readers who are anxious to know more about China and Japan.

Where are the patriots who were so anxious for police reform and reorganization a few months ago? They wanted a competent and unpurchasable new chief and they have been accommodated. They wanted the force purged of disreputable and incompetent and they have been accommodated. Surely they ought to feel happy now and commend the police commission for carrying out their wishes.

When Omaha gets its new union depot, a market house and a million-dollar hotel we will probably also get a new sidewalk in front of where the old opera houses stood on the corner of Fifteenth and Farnam streets. In the meantime the sidewalk inspector continues to draw his breath and his salary and, like the rest of this suffering community, is overworked and underpaid.

SPENDING BY THE CARD.

Globe-Democrat: Governor McConnell of Idaho, who says "the silver men will not force the financial issue in the republican national convention," is right, of course. There will be no financial issue next year.

AWFUL FARGONE IN CUBA.

The latest news from Cuba indicates that despite the efforts of the bloodthirsty revolutionists and their hated oppressors to keep away from each other, they are managing to maintain their usual average of fatalities, accidents, and killed and three wounded every three days.

PROGRESSIVE POLICE REFORM.

Although the Belgian government has declined to accept the offer of King Leopold to take immediate possession of the Congo free state and transform it without further delay into a Belgian colony, yet it has voted the $5,000,000 needed for the construction of the Congo railroad, and for the repayment of the $1,000,000 loaned to the free state by an Antwerp syndicate, which had accepted a security lien upon certain choice pieces of territory. In voting this money the Belgian government has at least shown that it should enter into no financial engagement of any kind whatsoever without the consent of the home government until the year 1900.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

The French journals are calling on Germany and Great Britain to make notes of the fact that the Russian and French fleets at Kiel were ferried to the coast and behind them there is naval and military force enough to whip the rest of European creation. The Berlin and London papers are reticent in kind, and the English press in particular is much more outspoken than usual in replying to the Parisian war talk.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

There are three questions now on the European carpet which may at any time assume an acute phase. The first concerns Attelma and the Turk. The second centers in North Africa, and its sensitive nerve is the English occupation and administration of Egypt. The third grows out of the Japanese victory over China and Russia's aggressive policy toward the new power in Asia and the Pacific.

OTHER LANDS THAN OURS.

Two years ago the annual allowance of King Oscar of Sweden and Norway was reduced. It was a pretty serious cut-down—rather more than 50 per cent. At the same time the allowance of the crown prince was cut more than 60 per cent. This was at the time of the great depression, when wages of workmen were reduced generally. It was hardly as a matter of economy, however, that the cut was made in the wages of the royal family.

By the Berlin treaty Bulgaria was made a tributary principality of Turkey. From the first day of Stambouloff's advent to power he has constantly thwarted Russian intermeddling with Bulgaria's domestic policy and has been equally constant in the effort to make the country independent of Turkey. To this end he was instrumental in the chief instrument in the election of Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha as prince of Bulgaria, and to the same end he brought about the marriage of the prince with Marie Louise, eldest daughter of Duke Robert of Parma. During his career Stambouloff steadily pursued his designs for his country's advancement among the nations, and he has invited the hostility of Turkey and Russia, and has also incurred the enmity of his own sovereign, such a career in a country which possesses so many inflammable and volcanic elements must necessarily have been a tempestuous one.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

Stambouloff has been elected to fill a vacancy in the senate of the supreme court and his disposition was to stay in the middle of the road as an independent. So the republicans concluded that the minority party composed of one member had a right to name the candidate for president. David, very modestly but naturally, thought that he was the best man in his party and therefore named himself.

Moral—In a political campaign good generalship and military necessity may require the recognition of the minority without which the battle cannot be won.

TALKING AGAINST TIME.

Brooklyn Eagle: The two combatants ought to be good for a keg of apples, and as to the public—when—if the Chicago barrows do not put a premium on standing room for the next few days we lose our guess. Depend on it, the brewers are behind this gabfest.

Globe-Democrat: Messrs. Horst and Harvey propose to emit 140,000 words in their financial discussion. The public need not expect anything more forceful until the disputants reach the only practical question in the whole subject: "Should we have free coinage by the United States alone at the ratio of 16 to 1?"

St. Paul Globe: So far the debate has waged round of a series of complications that constitute so large a share in the silver discussion. The public need not expect anything more forceful until the disputants reach the only practical question in the whole subject: "Should we have free coinage by the United States alone at the ratio of 16 to 1?"

Chicago Chronicle: Discussion in its nobler form is undertaken for the ascertainment of truth. Carefully protracted discussion, such as Horst and Harvey's, has no other purpose than the levelling of dollars out of the pockets of the public. The advertising machinery is elaborately arranged, and it is with great American public likes this thing, why the Lincoln used to say, "It's the kind of thing they like."

Chicago Times-Herald: The forensic hip-bole will continue for some days. It is a purely private speculation. In order to secure the largest free advertising for it Mimmy Jefferson will be cross-examined further on dollars out of the pockets of the public. The advertising machinery is elaborately arranged, and it is with great American public likes this thing, why the Lincoln used to say, "It's the kind of thing they like."

Chicago Times-Herald: The forensic hip-bole will continue for some days. It is a purely private speculation. In order to secure the largest free advertising for it Mimmy Jefferson will be cross-examined further on dollars out of the pockets of the public. The advertising machinery is elaborately arranged, and it is with great American public likes this thing, why the Lincoln used to say, "It's the kind of thing they like."

EXCLUSIVE SPECIAL FEATURES.

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE.

The English Working Classes. The first of a series of letters by Mr. Henry Tuckley on the English working class in England. The influence of the working class on the American mind is being shown for American laborers to read and ponder over.

THE SHALLEY LETTER.

A new feature added to The Bee's already unexcelled foreign news service. The latest London news is explained by the veteran journalist, George Shalley, of the London correspondent of the New York Tribune and now American representative of the London edition of its Sunday issue.

MEN OF THE MOSS HAGS.

Additional chapters in S. R. Crockett's quaint story with artistic illustrations. A CONGRESSMAN'S VISIT TO THE EAST. Tour of Congressman and Mrs. Mercer through the cities of America. Descriptions of the different cities visited. Some pertinent comments upon the conduct and condition of the war between China and Japan.

MONITOR AND MERRIMAC.

Story of the famous naval engagement as told by the victor. The popular correspondent, Frank G. Carpenter.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS.

The festive book agent the ever present tempter of the great. Deaver teachers' convention—Lack of economy in the management of the public schools—Live educational notes.

GARFIELD'S MOST TRUSTED GUIDE.

Story of Joseph Soward, the military scout. The military scout's life. The undertone for the union army during the great rebellion.

WITH THE CIRCUS COOK.

The biggest traveling kitchen in the world—How a great circus is fed—Vats of soup and mountains of bread. The coming generation.

AT HER FEET.

When women meet they always kiss. Ah! why this waste of honeyed bliss? Because they know what grief and pain They cause the men, who long in vain And kick themselves, when women meet.

AT HER FEET.

He knelt before her in most courtly fashion, As maidens romantic think a lover should. He bowed his head, and kissed her hand, And then he said, "I love you, my dear."

AT HER FEET.

He rose and mopped his flushed and weary features, And muttered, as they wandered from the spot, "That's the fifth time you've got me at it this business. Next time I'll tie that shoestring in a knot!"

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE.

THE ONLY NEWSPAPER.

Change Your Pants. It's Time. For this is panting weather. Now is the time to pant. We change the price. You change your pants. If you want to, They never were so low. SEE OUR 15th STREET WINDOW. Prices are $1.50, $2, $2.50, $3, $3.50, $3.75. JUST ABOUT HALF PRICE. 500 PAIR. Men's fine Black Clay Worsted Pants that have always sold at $3, $6 and $7, we have put on sale at $3.50. You never saw, nor you never will see again, best Clay Worsted at that price. Your Money's Worth or wa'll Trade Back. King & Co.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report. Absolutely Pure. Your Money's Worth or wa'll Trade Back. King & Co.