LINCOLN'S TOUGH RESORT

Scheme of the New City Government Not a Brilliant One.

THUGS AND THIEVES ARE NUMEROUS

Social Evil Attracting the Ministers' Attention and the Police Are Puzzled as to the Means of Controlling the Lawless Characters.

LINCOLN, July 19.—(Special).—Following the election of the present municipal administration in Lincoln a certain district in the western portion of the city was set apart as a so-called "reservation," wherein the social evil was to be concentrated and confined by the authorities. Now nearly every preacher in the city has delivered a blast from the pulpit against the attendant disorder which spreads all over the city, the storm center being, however, on the "reservation." But all the ministers in the state cannot do as much toward depriving the "reservation" of its attractions as it is doing itself. It is fast becoming known as a place to avoid. Robberies are of nightly occurrence, and the victims fail to prosecute for fear of exposure. So flagrant are these nightly outrages within the limits of the little sodom that fears have been expressed by parties closely identified with the administration that the "business" of the "reservation" will be destroyed and ultimately wiped out by the boldness and rapacity of the very denizens who look to the great public for custom. These "holdings" have averaged from $5 to $500 within the past month. One of the earlier victims appears to have been a councilman. Since his misfortune the victims have been many and the "reservation" is fast acquiring a reputation only equalled by Hell's Half Acre in Chicago and Cherry Hill, New York.

SIDE LIGHTS OF DORGAN'S DEAL

One of the side lights of the great Douglas penitentiary plant middle is the case of the Western Manufacturing company now pending in the district court of Lancaster county. This concern now lives in an answer filed that there is no need of a receiver to wind up its affairs. The company operates several of the plants at the penitentiary. Several weeks since it gave a number of chattel mortgages to various parties and closed down. The Lincoln Savings bank later began action, alleging fraud in the giving of these mortgages and asking for a receiver to look after the interests of all creditors, of whom it was one. For a first defense the company says that the bank is nothing but a contract creditor of Welch, and that the only suit that can be maintained is one against him and that against the company the bank has no right. It further urges that the stock claimed by the bank was assigned to it by Welch as security for the debt he owed the bank and has never been transferred on the books of the company. The charges of fraud are categorically denied by the company. The manager of the company, Welch, who was recently examined by the attorney in the case, was asked to produce the books of the company. He said this was impossible, as they were locked up in the penitentiary, the company's office at the penitentiary, and no one had the combination but the bookkeeper, who was out of the city and his address unknown. Evidently the books were transferred to the books which the company seems equally desirous of preventing. At last the hearing on the application for a receiver for the Lincoln plant was definitely set for next Wednesday. Judge Holmes will listen then to arguments and testimony.

AS TO THE FITZGERALD ESTATE.

Today the deputy county judge was trying to find out whether Timothy Grogan owns the Fitzgerald estate or the estate owes Timothy. The complaint was on the stand and compelled an admission from a witness that he had neglected to account for the proceeds of certain sales of farm produce, presenting in evidence the checks given by the purchasers and endorsed by Grogan. Free silver enthusiasm received a black eye in Lincoln last night when the "Temple of Silver Knights of America" failed to organize as per schedule, announced during the past week with considerable heating of tom-toms and twanging of hurdy-gurdies. There are forty odd names on the charter list, but the owners of the names failed to get together. It is claimed that another meeting will be held one week from tonight. Tom Hickey will appear in a local justice's court to defend a charge of assault and battery preferred by George Scott. It appears that the other evening Scott attempted to watch the acrobatic performances at Burlington Beach from a column of vantage for which no coin had been paid by Scott. An attack of the grounds sought to dislodge him. Scott declined to evacuate and became abusive. The grounds keeper took a hand in the matter and subsequently a fist, following which Scott called for the police. Hickey says he will have a finer prospect for corn and alfalfa using abusive language, calculated to provoke assault.

RAINS IN MANY LOCALITIES.

Corn in splendid condition and small grain is growing. CHADRON, Neb., July 19.—(Special Telegram).—Another slight rain occurred here today. The crop prospects are now quite good, and another good rain will insure a large yield. HASTINGS, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—This morning about 8 o'clock a very heavy storm passed over this city. In less than a half hour over an inch of water fell. A terrific electric storm accompanied it, but so far no damage has been reported. HOLSTEIN, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—This section has been especially favored by rains this summer. Holstein had considerably more than was really necessary. Last Saturday afternoon and night two and one-fourth inches fell, coming down gently, and all going into the ground without washing, and yesterday forenoon it rained for nearly four hours, about one and one-half inches and all going into the ground. The small grain harvest is on and many binders are being sold. Rye, wheat and rye making fully three-fourths of a crop, oats making about forty bushels per acre. There has never been a finer prospect for corn and the crop will fill it out well and help the last planting of corn. Farmers are all in good spirits. BARTLETTE, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—Rye harvesting is in progress. Small grain of all kinds is the largest crop Wheeler county ever had. Corn is a little backward. NORTH PLATTE, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—Reports received from southern Lincoln county today are not very encouraging. Crops in the northern part of the county are in much better condition, while crops under irrigation never looked better. The Lincoln County Irrigation association is offering cash prizes for grain exhibits to be taken to the state fair, and indications point to a large and splendid exhibit being collected. ASHLAND, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—W. D. Trainer brought to town today a sample of oats from his farm, the head of which measured seventeen inches in length. NEBRASKA CITY, July 19.—(Special).—A light rain fell last night in this section. This means the corn crop, which will be very large. FAIRBURY, Neb., July 19.—(Special Telegram).—A succession of good showers during the past twenty-four hours have thoroughly soaked the ground and greatly benefited the corn and hay crop.

DEWITT, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—A fine rain began falling here this morning about 2 o'clock. The corn was suffering for rain, but now looks fine and the farmers are happy.

EXETER, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—A good shower of rain fell about 2 o'clock.

PRIMONT, July 19.—(Special).—Agriculturists here are pleased with the increased trade during the past few weeks. Several of the largest and latest improved threshing machines have been taken out into the country this week and will soon be at work in the oat fields. Farmers are busy harvesting oats and expect a crop up to the average.

CRAB ORCHARD, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—The heaviest rain in two years fell here last night. It commenced raining about 11 o'clock and continued until 7 this morning. The small grain is higher and more refreshing than for some time.

YORK, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—A nice shower fell here yesterday. Corn is looking well in general. Harvesting has commenced in earnest.

SHELBY, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—During the last few days of hot weather corn has made a tremendous growth. It has not curled in the least and the abundance of subsoil moisture could not be said to be a long dry spell. The mercury has ascended daily above 95. Farmers are taking advantage of the fine harvest weather, and many of the large fields of oats have been reaped.

BEATRICE, July 19.—(Special Telegram).—This section was visited by a fine rain early this morning. Corn is looking well.

GRANT, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—Three inches of rain fell last week in Perkins county. Two inches of rain fell here Saturday afternoon.

MINDEN, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—A heavy thunder and rain storm struck this place this morning. Corn is looking well, and three-quarters of an inch fell in thirty minutes. Considerable harvesting is being done.

ELGIN, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—Eight and one-half inches of rain fell here today. The oats and wheat are very good. Oats are threshing out seventy and eighty bushels to the acre and some will go quite a good deal more. Corn is looking very fine and promises to make a good crop. Alfalfa sown this spring is doing remarkably well.

Hard Rains in Iowa. MALVERN, Ia., July 19.—(Special).—A hard rain set in about 9 o'clock last night and continued at intervals during the night. About one and one-half inches fell during that time. It will interrupt the wheat and oat harvest some, but is more than balanced by the benefit it will be to corn. Oats and wheat are turning out big fifty bushels of the former and twenty-five of the latter to the acre, is what a large number of farmers are reporting.

TABOR, Ia., July 19.—(Special).—This place was visited by a soaking rain last night, which continued to fall until morning. This was timely, as the surface was quite dry, and the heat of the day was intense, telling upon vegetation generally. Rye, oats and spring wheat are being raised. The yield is excellent. Indications for all products point to a heavy crop.

BURLINGTON, Ia., July 19.—(Special Telegram).—A tornado visited this section at an early hour this morning, doing thousands of dollars worth of damage. Buildings were unroofed and partly demolished. The streets and lawns were a mass of broken trees, shattered and blown over. Lightning struck several buildings. Great damage is reported from the country, crops and orchards suffering.

Seven Horses Killed. ELMWOOD, Neb., July 19.—(Special Telegram).—During a severe storm last night at Tay Richards', six miles from here, seven horses were killed by lightning.

HIS POTTAGE HAS SOURED

Mess for Which Dick Jenness Bargained at Lincoln Seems Spoiled.

PROVING FORESIGHT MAY BE VAIN

Plan of a Printer to Provide Himself with a Paper at a County Seat in a New County Goes Awry.

LINCOLN, July 19.—(Special).—Hon. Richard H. Jenness, editor of the Atkinson Graphic and member of the famous Douglas county delegation in the last legislature, is up to his eyes in trouble, and is going to appeal to the supreme court to help him out and establish him firmly in the rights for which he fought in the legislature. Mr. Jenness was elected from Douglas county to the legislature as a labor candidate on the republican ticket. He was prominent in local labor circles, and was elected by a big majority. While in Omaha Mr. Jenness was employed as a printer, and as the advent of machines had greatly reduced the chances of employment for printers, Mr. Jenness had his eye open for a job. He was in the legislature but a short time when the desired job loomed up, and took on tangible shape. There was a printing outfit at Atkinson that was looking for an owner, and votes were wanted in the legislature for the repeal of the valued paper law and for the state repository law. At the time Mr. Jenness was chairman of the house committee on insurance. While these facts may have had no relation, it is a fact that Mr. Jenness had the intention of going to Atkinson immediately after the adjournment of the legislature was almost simultaneous with his decided stand in favor of the repeal of the laws named, and of other measures in which the combine was deeply interested.

To carry out the plan further, Mr. Jenness introduced a bill in the house, which was passed, and goes into effect August 1. The bill provides that a county may be divided, and new counties formed on a petition of a majority of the electors of the territory to be divided.

Mr. Jenness, devoted much of his time to secure the passage of the bill. For its adoption he tied up with the other members of the Douglas delegation on the A. P. A. police bill, to which he was originally opposed, and made a number of combines that resulted in the passage of the bill. His plan was to divide Holt county into four equal parts, to be called Adair, Fountain, Elkhorst and Holt counties, leaving O'Neill the county seat of Holt county and making Atkinson the county seat of Adams, Holt, Jenness and his Graphic office business on the ground floor. Ewing was to be the county seat of Elkhorst, and no site decided upon for the capital of Fountain county.

Things were coming Mr. Jenness' way in the proceedings when the matter came before the county board, with Mr. Jenness and his followers presented a plan asking that the proposition to divide the county be submitted on the lines already described. But the commissioners did not see it that way and adopted a plan of their own. The board submitted a proposition to divide the county into three parts, to be known as Holt, Elkhorst and Holcomb counties. And where did Mr. Jenness land in the division? The east line of Holcomb county, proposed, passes just west of Atkinson, and leaves Mr. Jenness and Atkinson on almost the boundary line of Holt county, in the same county with the deadly rival, O'Neill.

Editor Jenness declares the action of the county board is rotten and alleges fraud of the worst sort in the preparation of the petition for the division proposed by the board. He is at present in Lincoln threatening to have the supreme court open the matter up again and investigate the charges of fraud in the petition.

GOSSIP FROM THE STATE HOUSE

Plans for the Addition to the Soldiers' Home Adopted.

LINCOLN, July 19.—(Special).—The Board of Public Lands and Buildings today accepted the plans and specifications of Architect G. W. Gilford to purchase the Milford and Grand Island saloons and Salton's home at Grand Island. The amount appropriated by the legislature for the purpose was $12,000, which was secured by the persuasive eloquence of Representative Harrison of Hall county. This effort was made immediately following the appropriation to purchase the Milford and Grand Island saloons for an extra soldier's home at Milford, and it has quite generally been supposed that the Grand Island appropriation was a part of the Milford deal. Architect Gilford will receive 5 per cent of the $12,000 for his plans. The board will now proceed to advertise for bids for the erection of the building, according to the plans today adopted.

A profile of the survey through two counties of the Iowa, Lake Superior & Gulf railway was received today at the office of O. J. Inspector Edmiston, who is one of the directors of the road. The same profile, or rather a duplicate of the same, was filed with the county clerk of Gage county. The line of the road runs through Gage and Lancaster counties, beginning at the southeast corner of Gage, and extending, so far, to Bennett, Virginia and Liberty. At no point does the survey deviate more than three miles from an air line. The work has been prosecuted under direction of A. G. Allan, chief engineer of the company.

State Auditor Moore has sent to Clerk Sackett of Douglas county the following notice of assessment: LINCOLN, July 19.—Clerk of Douglas County. At a meeting of the State Board of Equalization, held at the capital on the third Monday of July, 1905 (present, the auditor, the treasurer and the clerk of state funds) the following rate of tax was agreed upon for the year 1905 on the total valuation as returned per year of district of assessment now on file in this office: Total valuation... $22,500,255.31 General fund... 5.000 $12,501.28 School fund... 1.000 2,500.28 Relief fund... 1.000 2,500.28 Total... 7.000 17,501.84

DAVID BURBY, an employe of the B. & M. shops for several years, died last night as the result of a surgical operation.

Judge Chapman passed the case of Elias Sage against the city of Plattsmouth, and rendered an opinion in favor of the plaintiff. Sage's property was taken into the city limits by the council without his consent, and the judgment of the court annuls the council's action and releases Sage from the city taxes assessed against him.

Contracted for Four Bridges. BEATRICE, July 19.—(Special Telegram).—The Board of Supervisors adjourned this evening after a nine days' session. Four more iron bridges were authorized to be purchased, besides the fifteen already contracted for. The board will meet again August 26, two days before the date fixed by the county clerk as the time for a special meeting for the purpose of dividing the county into seven districts, casting lots for membership under the new supervisor law. There was some talk among the members early in the session about resisting the law.

Burglars at Ashland. ASHLAND, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—The residence of I. J. Pickett was robbed last night. It is occupied by J. J. Pierson, traveling salesman for the Colorado Fuel company. Pierson was robbed of his pants, $40 in money and two watches.

The residence of Wayne Russell was gone through last night and a silver watch stolen.

Small Blizz at Shelby. SHELBY, Neb., July 19.—(Special).—The residence of N. B. Snapp, two miles west, was burned yesterday and most of the contents consumed. Snapp was at breakfast when one of his neighbors rushed in and told him his house was on fire. The building was soon destroyed, as a strong wind was blowing. A defective fuse was the cause.

Three or four buggies were burned. There was $600 insurance on the building. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

Injured by a Horse. ELMWOOD, Neb., July 19.—(Special Telegram).—Today while William Cookson, residing two miles from here, was repairing his binder, one of the horses became tangled in the lines, and giving a lunge, fell on him, severely bruising him in the back.
