Then the dervisites in the lobby howled themselves hoarse and the proceedings were good-naturedly allowed to lag until they had sufficiently expressed their approval of Saunders' insult to the bench. When this had subsided a roll call was excitedly d manded and was proceeded with in spite the fact that the alleged commissions of the th appointees had not even been read to the council. For opee in his life Back did not pass, but voted aye on the approval of the bond. Bechel, Burkley and Cahn voted no, and for a second the lobby was silent. Gordon voted with the majority and then the tumult broke forth again. Holmes voted no, and Jacobsen and Jaynes fell into the dervish alignment. The call proceeded and every aye was greeted by a yell from the lobby, which changed to hisses when Kennard and Thomas voted to respect the orde Kennard said that for of the court. Kennard said that for one he had received the telegraphic notice which enjoined him from voting to confirm or ap prove the bonds. He was bound to believe that this order was genuine and he was no  $\mathbf{r}_{cady}$  to go in opposition to the courts.

REPORT ON INVESTIGATION.

The dervishes got eleven votes for the resolution as Thomas voted for the first time with the majority. It was declared carried and Saunders submitted the report of the committee on judiciary relative to its recent effort to investigate the affairs of the Board of Fire and Police Commisstorers. This report was a very tame affair as compared to the one which was originally outlined by the majority of the committee and which Kennard refused to sign. It occupied half a dozen typewritten pages and was largely devoted to a brief in support of the claim that the council had jurisdiction over the affairs of the board.

The report recited that the allegation that twenty-one police officers had been dismissed was true, and that they had been removed without a hearing by the board It was stated that the authority of the ommittee to act had been denied by Mayor Bemis, Commissioners Brown and Deaver, Chief White and Sergeants Ormsby and Whalen, but the report did not state that they had been fined for alleged contempt nor recommend that the amounts be deducted from their salaries as was the pre ous intentio

Then followed divers quotations from the charter, the ordinances and the state laws which bore on a little of everything except the case in hand. These were supposed to indicate that the committee had acted under due authority of law. The members male a proligious protest on account of the fact that members of the Commercial club had contributed an extra $500 to secure the services of Chief White and argued that this was affording a preseduat on the secure was affording a precedent on the strength

In explanation of his opposition to the re ort. Burkley read the written of City Attorney Connell, which was given to City Attorney Connell, which was given to the connell on February 1, when the election of Fire Chief Redell was under considera-tion. This opinion stated in positive terms the fact that the law undoubtedly gave the board the exclusive power to conduct business of its department. Mr. Bur Burkley Ransom if he could differ with that opinion, but Ransom squeezed out by refusing to commit himself unless he was given an epportunity to study up on the subject. Barkley moved that the consideration of the report be postponed until Mr. Raisom had an opportunity to file an opinion, but he was quickly overruled. The council then adjourned and met a min-ute later under a special call. At the sec-ond meeting the July appropriation ordinance was passed.

This afternoon the governor received a long string of rambling, ungrammatical, lurid resolutions, condemnatory of the course of the chief executive in the police commission embroglio, passed recently by the Young Men's Republican club of Omaha. They were accompanied by a letter signed by the sec-retary, J. A. Beck. The resolutions enunciated the fact that "Our Republican Attorney General and Our Republican Land Commissioner" had met as a majority of the board and appointed the gentlemen to act as commissioners. MUST OPEN THE STATION.

The State Board of Transportation today filed its findings in the La Platte case, the state of Nebraska, ex rel Richard Hogeboom, on his own behalf and on behalf of the citizens of La Platte, plaintiff, against the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company, defendant. The petition of La Platte Sarpy county, was filed March 15, 1895. It set up that in consideration of certain privileges given the road it had agreed to construct and had constructed a depot at La Platte, but had since abandoned it. The board was asked to compel the road to maintain such station. The hearing of the case was had May 20, 1895. After showing that the business of the road has decreased at the La Platte station, but through no fault of the citizens of the place, the board finds that the railroad company should reopen the station and makes the following recommendation:

"We further recommend that the follow ng order be made by the court: It is hereby considered, ordered and adjudged that the defendant, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad company, reopen the La Platte station within thirty days from the service of this order upon it, and furnish the usual facilities that belong to an open station.

These findings will be laid before the full board on August 15 and their approval asked. Notice to this effect has been served on both plaintiff and defendant

It was during the roll call on Vander-voort's hond that Cahn suggestively invoort's bond that Cahn sugg stively in-quired what the council was voting on. No credentials had been produced to show that these men had been appointed as fire and police commissioners, and the members seemed to be taking a good deal for granted. This was a poser for the dervishes, so after a short consultation they essayed to amend the members were the policies. the matter by beginning all over again. The alloged commissions, signed by A. S. Churchill and H. C. Russell, were read. They consisted of the statement that the governor had refused to act with the board and that two members whose names were appended had therefore proceeded to appoint Broach, Foster and Vandervoort as members of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners for the terms indicated. The ballots were then retaken with the same results. During this roll call Cahn asked Ransom to state whether the new law repeiled the law which stated that all commissions must be signed by the governor. Ransom relieved himself of the assurance that there was no necessity for any commission at all. The law had designated the appointing board and this carried with it the power to give a proper notification of the appointments. It was not necessary that the governor should Immediately upon the adjournment of the ity council yesterday the dervish hosts were brought together, and under the direction of Captain Shoup and some of his trusty leutenants, were held for marching or ders. But the orders that they waited for did not come.

It was the general supposition that the riginal plan would be carried out. This conemplated that the new commission would at once repudiate Chief White and the present police force and appoint a new chief and attempt to take possession of the police station and the offices in the city hall. But the leaders had made a change in the program. Instead of the new commission holding a meeting, the two members of it who were present, Broatch and Vandervoort, satisfied themselves with receiving the slobbering congratulations of the assembled dervishes, and then disappeared.

The hosts were kept in walting for the promised meeting until about 6 o'clock, when the members of the rump commission started for their homes. Before leaving Colonel Foster stated that the commission would have a conference in the evening of a private nature, but would not make any appointments, and would do nothing that could be given to the public. When asked when the new com-missioners proposed to take official charge of their office, he replied that they would do nothing until they were satisfied of their right to assume the dutics of the office. He would not say whether a public meeting of the commissioners would be held today or not. He was certain of one thing, and that was that the board would not act until its members were satisfied of the legality of

BROATCH WAS UNEASY. Captain Broatch was not satisfied until he ecured a little legal inspiration, and so made a visit to the residence of his friend, Judge Scott, before seeking his dinner. He remained in conference with the dervish coun sel for some time, and went home with a load off his mind. He had been assured that he courage of the valiant Churchill and the was in and the other fellows were out, and that the burden would be upon them to prove title to the office. While this sounded very nice, Mr. Broatch did not feel like taking any decided action in the primises and was villing to wait another day to see what turn Rairs would take. The applause of his lervish friends was all well enough, but he affairs would take. did not relish the murmurs that came from other quarters in protest at the action of the council in ignoring the mandates of a judge of the district court. Mr. Broatch preferred a postpone further work on the dervish plan ntil he saw his way clear out of the woods. The difficulty of selecting a chief of police or the new force was also a problem that the commission was not ready to tackle. Lowis and McDonald were both being urged by their friends and the members of the comission were hopelessly divided. The two andidates held a conference last night, and t is thought that an amicable adjustment of this question may be reached and relieve the commission of its embarrassment on that score. Both McDonald and Lewis are candidates for the nomination for sheriff on the republican ticket at the coming convention, and each is anxious to get the other follow

The claims of the men for consideration were presented to council 125 last night, and it is understood that both are willing to abide by the decision of that body, which has as-sumed the making of city and county officials. HARD FOR THEM TO WAIT.

There was no end to the excitement that was manifest on the streets last night. The announced plan of the dervisites to take amounced plan of the dervisites to take peaceable or forcible possession of the city fall and the office of the chief in the city hall, had attracted a iarge concourse of people who had expected to be in at the fulfillment of the dervish prediction, that associating would drop last night. After the adjournment of the city council the crowds thronged the corradors of the New York Life building and the vicinity of the offices of those must eminent detervives. Shoop and Liewis, held a crowd of ex-poleemer and men Lewis, held a crowd of ex-policence and men-who had been slated for positions under the new board. They wanted to go to work at once, and it was with difficulty that they were persuaded to wait. Finally Shoop and Lowis left their offices and tried to shake their followers but it was a difficult task their followers, but it was a difficult task

Another evidence of the reckless insubor lination that has characterized the actions of certain members of the police department was in evidence at 1 o'clock yest rday morning, when A. S. Romano, a fire and police alarm operator, deliberately refused to obey his uperior officer and walked out of the office At a meeting of the Board of Fire and Po lice commissioners Thursday afternoon Joseph Hengen, a former fire and police alarm operator, who was recently appointed as a patrolman, was put in charge of the fire and police alarm office. His authority was not questioned until early in the morning, when Romano asked Hengen what he would do If he should refuse to recognize his authority Hengen replied that he would be compelled to suspend him and report the occurrence to his superiors. "Well, then I'm suspended," said Romano, and putting on hi-hat and coat he walked out of the office.

What makes Romano's offense more cul able is the fact that he waited until ar hour when his describen would crimple th department. If he had announced his inten tion earlier in the night his place migh have been filled, but after midnight it was impossible to make any provision for the mergency. Fortunately Officer Hengen was familiar with the instruments and he took off his cost and attended to the service himelf for the remainder of the watch. Operator Romano now stands suspended by his own action and it is expected that he will be formally dismissed from the service at the next meeting of the board.

RUSSELL SIGNED THE COMMISSIONS

New "Police Commissioners" Appointed at Lincola This Forenoon.

LINCOLN, Aug. 2 .- (Special Telegram.)there was a feeling of suppressed excitement in the breasts of Tom Majors of Nemaha and Senator Dick Smith of Omaha this forenoon courage of the valiant Churchill and the redoubtable Russell, both of whom were auspected of a desire to weaken at the last moment. At 10:30 o'clock, however, Majors and Smith rounded up Churchill and Russell in the office of the latter. The attorney general and the commissioner of public lands and buildings retired to an inner room to go through the farce of "appointing" three mem bers of the Board of Fire and Police Com-missioners for the city of Omaha. Governor Holcomb was not present. In fact he was not in the state house. After a few moments' deliberation Colonel Russell emerged from the private office and announced that the three commissioners had been appointed as follows: A. C. Foster, for the term of three follows: A. C. Poster, for the ferm of three years; Paul Vandervoort, for two years; W. J. Broatch, for one year. The fact that A. C. Foster drew the long term was something of a surprise, as it had been expected that one of the other ap-pointees was to have the appointment to the longest period of zervice in the sette of the ongest period of service in the gift of the

As soon as the "appointments" had been agreed upon Colonel Russell drew up and signed their "commissions." That sent to plonel Foster was as follows:

Colonel Foster was as follows: Hon. A. C. Foster, Omnina, Neb.-Dear Sir: I herewith enclose your commission as member of the Board of Fire and Police of the city of Omaha, beginning on this date and ending December 21, 1897. Having re-posed this confidence in you, all we ask is a course as will bring about good govern-ment in the city of Omaha. Very truly yours, H. C. RUSSELL, Chairman Pro Tem. Dedicated a Bridge.

SIDNEY, Neb., Aug. 2.-(Special Telegram.) -The opening of the new wagon bridge at Bayard vesterday across the North Platte river, sixty miles northwest of here, attracte nearly 1,200 people from all parts of the ountry. The occasion was made auspicious because it commuts the people in the beautiful Platte valley by a stronger tie. Everybody was happy. Stirring incidents were re-cited by the pioneers of the country. A basket picnic had been provided and all partici-pated in the good things spread out before them. Music was rendered by the brass band from Gering. In the evening a dance took place to the edification of the young and old. The bridge is 1,750 feet long and ten feet wide and built of good, solid material.
