OFFICER CURRY'S

His Talk to New Policemen About Uniforms Makes Him Trouble.

HEARING BEFORE POLICE COMMISSIONERS

Charges Against Him by Mr. Gibbon-New Operator for Alarm System-Hathaway Will Answer.

Mayor Bemis and Commissioners Brown and Deaver were present at the meeting of the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners last night.

The trial of G. B. Curry, patrolman, charged with violating the police rules and conduct unbecoming an officer, was taken up. Curry was accused of having advised Officers Lilly and McMahon not to buy their uniforms, and stated that they would have no use for them after August 3, when the new police board would be in power.

Commissioner Brown stated that he would add the charge of contemptuous conduct toward the fire and police commissioners. Officer McMahon repeated the charges as set forth in his complaint filed with the Officer Lilly testified that Curry had advised him not to buy his uniform until after August 3, as he would probably not need it

W. A. L. Gibbon testified that on July 4 he was on an open motor car on the Walnut Hill line when a cannon firecracker was exploded under the seat he was occupying. The performance was repeated a few blocks further on, and on Cuming street a third cannon cracker was fired at his feet. He remonstrated with the conductor, who said that he had tried to get the young man to desist, but had been unable to get him to do so. Officer Curry sat beside the young man, in full police uniform, and failed and refused to use any effort to stop the rowdy's actions. Mr. Gibbon was under the impression that Curry was either under the influence of liquor or at any rate guilty of very unbecoming conduct. He had not reported the matter to either the police or the street

Officer Cravens testified that he had heard Curry use words to the effect that it would be too bad for the new policemen to buy uniforms, as they would not need them after August 1. Curry had also said that there would probably be some changes on the police force about the first of the month, and there would probably be a change in

ONE NIGHT WITH THE FIGHTERS. Several Little Affairs the Police Were

There was a little neighboriy quarrel or one man was burt, and he not fatally, but this fortunate result was brought about neither by the small size of the weapon nor the good will of the assailant.

The two principals to the quarrel were Thomas McGuire and Levi Altschuler, the former a teamster, and the latter a peddler. They live in adjoining houses, Altschuler being at 1837 South Thirteenth street. Liv-ing so close together they have yet been far apart in spirit, and peace has been a stranger at their meetings.

It appears that the McGuire family has been in the habit of pouring slops in such a place that it flowed into the yard of the Altschulers. The Altschulers have notified the McGuires that they would be able to get along in life with the void that the absence of this odor would create, but these hints have been of no avail.

Yesterday afternoon, however, Mrs. Mc Guire brought matters to a climax when she dumped another bucket of garbage into the yard. Mrs. Altschuler told Mrs. McGuire that this would have to stop. When Alt-schuler came home he told Mrs. McGuire the same thing. When McGuire came home Mrs. McGuire told him what Altschuler and his wife had told her and then the trouble began. McGuire hied himself to a blacksmith shop at 1335 South Thirteenth and picked himself out a good piece of hickory, four feet in length, which had been fashioned into a neck yoke, and with this in hand he waited for Alischuler. Shortly after 8 o'clock the latter appeared, and in a haughty manner McGuire asked what in blazes he meant by his threats. Altschuler made an irrelevant remark and told him that he was not afraid of his weapon. Then McGuire raised the stick and Altschuler bit the dust and bit it hard. Altschuler was removed to his home and several hours were spent in bringing him to onsciousness. An examination of his head list was not at hand the pay roll of the street disclosed the fact that he got off with a department was held out of the regular apslight compression of the skull and a very propriation ordinance by the comptroller at bad bruise. McGuire was arrested and the instance of Chairman Taylor of the charged with assault with intent to do finance committee.

According to all accounts, Charles Trobey, a member of engine company No. 6, at Sixteenth and Izard streets, was on the war-path last night. He came out all right, but two farmers are nursing injuries which they claim they received from him. It happened at 10 o'clock. Trobey had been rushing a growler all evening from a saloon on the opposite corner of the street and had become intoxicated. When he went to the saloon for another can of beer at 10 o'clock there were two farmers in the place, James Frank and George Gibbs of Elkhorn. Trobey carried his beer to the engine house and then returned in company with a large board. As spectators claim, he struck both the farmers without the slightest provocation, in fact, without exchanging a word with them. One of the men received a blow behind the right ear and the other's arm was lamed and it was necessary to summon a physician

Dan Hurl, the fireman who was recently lischarged for committing an assault on several men in the engine company of which he was a member, became intoxicated again last night and wanted to fight. He picked out as a victim Officer Sebek, who was on the same car with him. This time Hurl came out second best and he is now in jail.

John Lyons, the terror of Frog Hollow, is once more in jail. He accumulated one of in these paris lately and then started out to run amuck. Negro Melodies and Plantation Songs by Colored Singers. At Young Men's Christian association hall last evening negro melodies and plantation ongs, with one or two numbers of a different brand, were given by the Knoxville Glee club. The singers are all students at the Knoxville college, and are traveling through knoxville college, and are traveling through the north to raise funds for the maintenance of that institution and the furtherance in other ways of the education of the negro.

The first number on the program was a psalm anthem by the double quartet consisting of C. H. Wilson and J. W. Fisher, bassos; J. H. Johnson and H. M. Green, tenors; Miss Fannie Carey and Miss Mary McCravey, altos, and Miss Annie Floyd and Miss Anna Kennedy, sopranos. After a couple of melodies, the "Vacant Chair" was given by four male voices, and the "Toothgiven by four male voices, and the "Toothgiven and given by four male voices, and the "Tooth-ache Song" was presented as an encore. Miss Minnie L. Jenkins at this time occupied a quarter of an hour giving informa-tion about the work that is being done at Knoxville college for the education of the negro. She stated that already a number of the leading schools in the south had entire negro faculties, and that they were pro-gressing well. But she said that the great difficulty was to reach those who lived in the country places, and that in the states where the colored population was the thick-est 90 per cent of the negroes were outside

Miss Kennedy rendered "My Old Kentucky Home" remarkably sweetly. The four Iemale voices gave "Call the Cattle Home" and "Mary's Little Lamb." Mr. Wilson exhibited his strong, deep bass in "Old Black Joe" and "Down by the Sea." On the humorus side, perhaps the cleverest piece was the "Simple Simon" given by a male trio the "Simple Simon" given by a male trio-consisting of Messrs. Wilson, Johnson and Green.

ALL OF THEM OUT OF WORK

South Thirteenth street last evening. Only Street Laborers Are Discharged by Munro and Winspear.

WILL HAVE NEW MEN TO THEIR LIKING

Indignant Company of Workingmea at City Hall When Pull Plan Was Revealed-Kaspar Replies to Allegations.

Street Commissioner Kaspar is still sick at is residence and in his absence the other members of the Board of Public Works are carrying out the provisions of the resolutions which were adopted at their last meeting. Nearly all the men who were employed in the street department and who were laid off Saturday by Chairman Munro were at the city hall yesterday morning. They were formed in line and made to sign the employe list, as demanded by the finance committee of the city council.

The action of the majority of the board in this affair is entirely without precedent. The making up of the monthly pay roll has invariably been the exclusive duty of the head of each department. The lists as submitted by the various departments have then case the finance committee of the council demanded a list, showing in detail the name and address of each employe and the particular various times during the month.

At 3:30 this morning Altschuler was in a dangerous condition. His left side was paralyzed, and there was some question as to par's foreman, but this he refused to accept on the plea that he wanted each man to sign the list in his own handwriting. The list was taken back and again brought to the office of the Board of Public Works with the names of most of the men written by them-This, too, was refused as unsatisfactory.

WINSPEAR SHOWS HIS HAND. "How can we tell whether this is the hand-writing of the men themselves," said Commissioner Winspear. "The signatures may be forgeries. There is only one way in which an acceptable list can be had. The men must come up here and sign in my presence so that I know they are the ones who have signed."

This was the purpose of the order which brought most of the employes of the depart-ment to the city hall yesterday morning. A list was produced and as the roll was called Winspear had each man come up and sign is name and residence.

While this was being done the men stood around and discussed the unusual proceeding. They saw the employes of other departments going into the comptroller's office and reappearing with their warrants and could not unperformed. derstand why their pay was being held back while that of the other men on the city pay-roll was forthcoming. They had been laid off indefinitely and instead of going out to look for work they were compelled to put in their time waiting for their turn to sign Winspear's list.

The effect of the action of the board has been to seriously impede the business of the street department. Sunday night there were he most artistic drunks that has been seen | red lights hung at ten different places around the city where bad washouts or other obsta-cles made the streets dangerous. As there were no men working yesterday these places were not being attended to and there not even men on the ground to see that the lights were taken down in the morning and ut un again in good order at night.

> PLANS OF MUNRO AND WINSPEAR. When it was announced that the majority of the board proposed to overlook all the regular employes of the street department and appoint new were unreservedly indignant. They asserted that while the work of the department might not require the highest order of skilled labor ten men who were familiar with it could accomplish more than half as many more who were without experience in street repairs. No fault had been found with their work and they declared that it was an outrage that they should be turned down to make room for others who had no better claim to consideration.

Street Commissioner Kaspar says that the assertion of his colleagues that the ex-penditures of his department during July reached an extravagant figure is the flimsiest sort of pretext. No work had been attempted except the usual and necessary repairs and the work which had been or-dered by various resolutions of the city council. The pay roll had amounted to something over $3,000, which he considered very reasonable in contourison with the pay rolls which ran up to $10,000 when Winspear was street commissioner. The street clean-ing pay roll amounted to $1.990, which was $512 less than it was during the correspond-ing month of last year, when the streets ing month of last year, when the streets were cleaned under James Stephenson's con-

Chairman Munro announced yesterday that he and Sewer Commissioner Winspear would now employ a lot of men for street department, as there was a lot washouts to be repaired and other work to be done. When asked if the old men who were laid off Saturday would be re-employed. he said that those who had been regulari employed would not be considered. He and Mr. Winspear thought that the men who had had work should be obliged to take turn of idleness while new men selected by themselves were given a chance to draw salaries for a while.

CONTEST OVER THE BOGGS WILL. Allegations Made by the Brothers and

The fear that George H. Boggs had that his leaving his property to his wife to the exclusion of Boggs' brothers and sisters is what the latter declars in probate court.

The contest of the Boggs will has fairly begun, a paper having been filed yesterday by fifteen brothers and sisters, reciting that two years ago Boggs made a will by the terms of which he left a small property to his wife, Mrs. Ida M. Boggs, the balance being given to her in trust to be by her, on her death, given to Boggs' brothers and sisters. This will, the relatives may, they have never seen, but they are of the firm belief that it exists, and that it further provided for the annual division among the Boggs family of the income from this trust estate. The family goes on to recite that Boggs was weakened mentally by disease and that Mrs. Boggs got her father and mother to co home while Boggs was in his last illness and by influencing him, owing to Mrs. Boggs' strong character individually, and by making Boggs believe that she would comm suicide if he did not remember her with all his property, Boggs was induced to make a will cutting off all the rest of the family The family also complain that it was unable to get an interview with Boggs alone, for his was never absent from him, so before his death it could never be accurately ascer-The Boggs estate is valued at several
