NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—The World tomorrow will print the following special dispatches from Foo-Chow, China: A mob has just looted the American mission chapel at Ing-Hok, fifty miles from here. Unless prompt and effective action is taken there is danger of great riots in other places.

The Chinese soldiers sent to Ku-Cheng to protect foreign property plundered the American residence. The American consul has come here. The situation is critical.

The evidence already obtained shows that the massacre at Hwa-Sang was planned at least a week beforehand. The foreign consuls have the names of the leaders in it and of some of the participants. It is known that those sent to 224 to prevent the massacre on the 24th of July to prevent the missionaries from murdering Chinese. The missionaries thought the missionaries and removed the troops to be sent and decided to kill them. They began immediately to gather at certain designated places. In passing through the villages on the way, they were surrounded by the Chinese soldiers and the intention to destroy the churches and to kill the Christians. The local officials knew of this, but they did nothing to prevent it. They were ordered to go to the massacre and to remove the foreigners. The night before the massacre a native pastor in Ku-Cheng heard the Chinese soldiers were being ordered to march on the morning. He wrote a letter of warning to Mr. Stewart at Hwa-Sang, but delayed sending it until daylight. The messenger arrived half an hour after the massacre.

SANK WITH ALL ON BOARD

After Intense Suffering.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 8.—The British ship Prince Oscar, from Liverpool, Captain Henderson, collided in mid-ocean last night with an unknown sailing vessel. Both ships sank in less than ten minutes. Six members of the crew of the Prince Oscar and all on board the unknown vessel were lost. The survivors, seventeen in number, were rescued by the ship Dharwar, after being confined in an open boat with neither food nor water for three days. They were transferred to the British steamship Capea, from Plesauca, and brought to this port today.

The names of the lost are: William Knight, cook; South Shields; Oscar Nilman, seaman; of Christiania; E. Peterson, seaman, of Denmark; August Carter, deck boy, of Ostend; J. Relp of Douglas, Isle of Man; J. Anderson, steward, of Liverpool, and the entire crew of the unknown vessel.

The disaster occurred shortly after midnight on latitude 9.30 south, longitude 123.20 east. The Prince Oscar, which was bound from Shields, which port she left May 27, for Iquiqui, laden with coal, was going at a clipping gait on the port tack before a brisk wind, and with all hands on deck. She was mated by the crew that she was making about six and a half knots an hour, when suddenly there loomed directly under her bows a four-masted vessel. The Prince Oscar struck the other ship, knocking her almost on her beam ends and crashing through the woodwork until her prow was more than half buried.

The stranger vessel, on her beam ends, as the Prince Oscar backed away from the wreck. As the crew of the Prince Oscar stood peering through the darkness they saw the stranger vessel's masts and rigging, and then rapidly sank. They listened in vain for some signs of life, but not a cry for help nor a word of command came from the wrecked vessel. In less than ten minutes the Prince Oscar was struck the stranger vessel keeled over and plunged stern first into the depths below.

DISTURBANCES ARE SPREADING.
Reports of an Alarming Nature Com- ing from Various Parts of China.

CHONGKING, Aug. 8.—The Chungking Mail Gazette from Shanghai says that further and reliable news of an alarming nature has been received there. It is stated that fanatical outbreaks against the Christians have occurred at Ching-Chow, a seaport of the province of Ho-Kien, and at Hu-Peh, Tai-Ping and An-Hui. These outbreaks, it is said, are not merely the work of fanatical, but they are said to be organized and carried out by the Chinese officials. The extent of the damage done is not yet known. Such foreigners are reported to have escaped.

On account of the unsettled state of the province, 200 British Indian troops from Hongkong will escort the British consul from Foo-Chow to Ku-Cheng, where the consul will conduct an inquiry into the recent outbreaks.

ASSOCIATE JUSTICE JACKSON DIES SUDDENLY
at His Tennessee Home.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 8.—Hon. Howell Edmunds Jackson, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, died at his residence at West Meigs, six miles west of this city, this afternoon in the 64th year of his age of consumption.

Judge Jackson had been in failing health for the past four years, but it has only been in the past eight or nine months that the progress of the disease began to cause his family and friends uneasiness. Last year he went on a lengthy trip to the far west in search of health. Later he went to Thomasville, Tenn., where it was hoped the mild and bracing climate would restore his one-time vigorous constitution. The trip did him little good, and after a time he was brought home. At his old home Judge Jackson seemed to improve slightly until he went to Washington to sit in the second hearing of the income tax case. He stated that trip fairly well and after his return home appeared to have regained his strength. Nevertheless, Judge Jackson never took to his bed till last Wednesday week. Since that time his family and friends have been waiting for him to rise, but his death was not unexpected.

STORY OF A SURVIVOR.

The World will print tomorrow in a special cablegram from Shanghai, China, an account of the massacre of missionaries at Hwa-Sang, written by Miss Mabel Hartford, one of the survivors of the massacre, and the only one who witnessed it. Miss Hartford's statement is as follows:

"August 1, at 7:30 a. m. I heard shouts. They were the yells of servants who rushed in shouting for me to get up, for the foreigners were to be massacred at Hwa-Sang. I went to the house on the hill belonging to the English mission. A few minutes later a teacher came to my door and told me to run. I put on my clothes and rushed to the door. I was met by a man with a spear, who yelled, 'Here is a native woman. Go to the other side of the hill. I twisted it to one side and it just grazed my ear and head. He threw me to the ground and beat me with the wooden end of the spear. My servant came and wrenched the spear away and told me to run. I jumped down the embankment and ran along until I got upon the side of the hill. I then lay down there to get more rest. After resting twenty minutes, I saw a soldier walk up the hill. He saw me and he ran to me. I hid behind a rock. A servant went to see how matters were. He returned in half an hour, telling me to come home. That five women of the English mission were taken to the school. They were bound and that my house, a rented native house, had not been touched.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The State department has not called upon the secretary of the navy for war vessels to assist in protecting the missions, but it is known at both departments that the Petrel on her recent voyage to the Yang-Tze assisted materially in the rescue of the missionaries. The report received at the State department a report from Consul General Jeranigan at Wu-Hui, saying that the arrival of the Petrel at the Yang-Tze prevented, saving many lives and preventing anticipated trouble. British Consul Ford concurs in the report and says that had it not been for the American gunboat, the missionaries at Wu-Hui would have suffered in the riots. The Petrel is the only vessel of the Asiatic Squadron which can go to the river, as the considerable distance, the oblong being of too great draught. The Petrel on her last voyage went to Han-Kow, 600 miles above Shanghai, and she will continue her trip to the immediate scene of the first disturbances, but it is believed that if a vessel were sent up to the Yang-Tze it would have a quieting effect upon the rebels.

THREE BODIES IN ONE HEAP.

The last three bodies were lying in one heap. Apparently no post mortem mutilation had been attempted. This frightful massacre was done by members of the secret society known as the Vegetarians, which is causing much trouble alike to Christians and heathen in and around Ku-Cheng. From various reports of those who saw the attack, it was learned that the men were armed with spears and swords and seemed strongly organized and under one chief. The attack came like a thunderbolt out of the morning of August 8. There was a great slaughter of Christians and heathen. The bodies were lying in one heap. The bodies were lying in one heap.
