CHARGES ARE PREFERRED SERIOUS

Persistent Efforts of the Librarian of the Omaha Public Library and Her Sister to Secure Dismissal of the Assistant Librarian.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Omaha Public Library last Saturday an application was received from Mrs. Mary Allan Bock for the position of assistant librarian. The application was endorsed by the librarian, Jessie Allan, a sister of Mrs. Bock, and supported by a long petition which were promptly executed. It is not probable that Miss Allan will ever be called upon to substantiate the allegations made signed by prominent business men and bankers. This fact would not merit more than a mere mention were it not that there to behind it a long and interesting story. The application of Mrs. Bock reads as fol-lown OMAHA, Sept. 7, 1895.—To the Honorable Board of Directors of the Omaha Public Library: The election of a new librarian will undoubtedly cause a charg : in the other offices. Please consider me an applicant for the position of assistant librarian. MARY ALLAN BOCK.

"That's anticipating a little, isn't it?" re-marked one of the members of the board, as the document was read. There may perhaps be no doubt in the minds of Jessie Allan and Mary Allan Bock as to an early change in the assistant librarianship of the Omaha Public Library but if so, it is be-cause they have spared no pains to bring about the change so much desired by them. At its April meeting the board adopted a resolution expressing thanks to all the members of the library force for their con-scientious work during the five months' absence of the librarian.

the very best values in the trade. Every lady in Omaha is invited to inspect them. At the May meeting the board was startled find that the regular monthly report of a librarian concluded as follows:

the librarian concluded as follows: During my absence the work has seem-ingly gone on in a satisfactory manner, and I understand official action has been taken to this effect. I cannot in justice to the library let this resolution go on record without a protest. I have repeated evidence either of pos-itive indifference to or an utter incapacity for understanding the instructions sent by me to the assistant in charge. This has de-layed printing, as after three so-called re-visions by her it was necessary for me to practically have the whole work done a second time. No attention was paid to or-ders given several weeks before my return. It has been impossible for me to revise all the bills, but in those examined errors have been discovered.

the bills, but in those examined errors re been discovered. y presenting duplicate pay rolls my rule to lost time and my discipline were ques-led. This rule has been absolute since and is known by every one in the library. For years I have done a large part of her work over again, and there has always been a feeling of insecurity. Now the se-rious state of my health makes a competent masistant more than ever an absolute ne-cessity, so, in justice to myself, the library and my successor, I formally make this charge of incompetency. JESSIE ALLAN.

The board would not at first regard these charges as seriously made, in view of the pre-carious state of Miss Allan's health. The embers asserted that she was not responsi-e for this part of her report and declined to take any formal action upon the matter. It was suggested a month later that, inasmuch as the charges were of a most formal mature, it was at least due to the assistant librarian, Miss O'Brien, that they be sub-stantiated or disproved. At that time, how-ever, it was doubtful whether Miss Allan would be physically able to attend a formal hearing, and it was decided best to drop the matter altogether.

WANT IT IN THE FAMILY.

The different members of the Allan family apparently did not take the same view. The regular monthly report received at the meet-ing last Saturday contained the request on the part of the librarian that Miss O'Brien be dismissed and that her sister, Mrs. Mary Allan Bock, be employed as assistant librarian. It went still further in reasserting the HAYDEN BROS.

Thirty-first and R streets, was robbed at 2 o'clock yesterday morning of $60. Licenstring sleeps in a small room adjoining THURSDAY the saloon, and was awakened by falling glass. He arose to see what was the matter, and when he reached the broken window four revolvers were held at his face and he was ordered to open the door. Licen-string obeyed, and admitted five men, all strangers to him. The robbers covered the liquor dealer with their revolvers and compelled him to produce a sack of money which he had placed under this pillow. After gaining possession of the money the robbers ran different direct.ons, Licenstring dressed and started out to hunt a policeman. It was some time befor the matter was reported at headquarters. Chief Brennan and a couple of men at one started out on the trail of the thieves, bu so far have not succeeded in arresting of them. Three suspects were arrested by Officer Tangeman yesterday, but as they tell a pretty straight story it is not thought that they had anything to do with the hold-up.

I make the formal request that so much of my report for the month of May as deals with the assistant librarian be placed on the record. I understand that it is said that the complaint was not specific. It can easily be made so.

At the same meeting a letter was read addressed to the president of the board and signed by Mrs. Elizabeth Allan, mother of bath Jessie Allan and Mrs. Bock, asserting that the serious condition of her daughter's health was largely brought about by her con-finement in the public library and the lack of a "reliable and competent assistant," and saying further that she was sure that her daughter's health would be largely benefited if her sister, Mrs. Bock, were appointed her successor. At any rate, she pleaded, it was no more than fair, if that were not done, that Miss Allan should be continued as libra-rian and be given an assistant with capacity for something more than "Irish wit and re-

It is supposed that when the charges of incompetency were originally made the last of May the Allan family expected the board to take immediate action in the matter, and to depose Miss O'Brien and to instate Mrs. Bock in her place. Mrs. Bock would then be in line to succeed her sister as librarian and the hold which the family has had upon that sition ever since it was created would be unbroken
