LIBERIAN COLONISTS TELL A WOEFUL TALE

Taken to the African Coast by a English Colonization Company, Are Abandoned Without Meaus of Subststence.

Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press.) LONDON, Sept. 7 .- The past week has been the hottest experienced in London in several years. This fact has made members of Parliament particularly glad that prorogation permits them to leave for the country. American tourists continue to flock to London in large numbers, homeward bound. These constitute almost wholly the transient population of London at present.

The correspondence between the Imperia

The utterances of colonial statesmen including Sir Jules Vogel, formerly prime minister of New Zealand, are cited to show that they support the movement. The marquis of Salisbury pointed out to the members of the committee that there were fatal risks attending a divided control of naval effairs, but the duke of Devonshire, lord president of the council, the marquis of Lanzdowne, secretary of state for war, and Hon Joseph Chamberlain, secretary of state for the colonies, all promised that the proposal should have their careful attention.

In this connection the Globe this afternoon says that the British empire may be truly said to be on its trial. The anomaly of the present position has forced the question whether the result is satisfactory and whether we can go on much longer without a radical position has forced the ge. None of our colonies, the Globe can regard themselves safe from hestile attacks. In the case of war between England and America, Canada might be ex-pected to be invaded, and self-protection of any of the colonies against any one of the great powers is so manifestly out of the ques-tion that the colonies would be thrown back upon the imperial navy. The colonial govern-ments, the Globe adds, do not hesitate even now to claim the services of the queen's ships whenever they are needed. It seems incredible, the Globe concludes, that there should be any doubt as to the obligations of the colonial taxpayers.

> TALE OF WOE FROM LIBERIA. A. E. Burnett and H. Half the entire number died of fever, aggra-vated by privation. The remainder, excepting a few who were too ill to travel, made their way toward the coast in the vain hope of finding means of returning to America. The International Emigration society of Birm dertook to furnish its members with three nonths' rations after the colony landed. Burnett says, failed to fulfill its promise, dumped the colonists on the coast and left at last assist his comrade, who had been stricken with fever. Both men are now destitute.

Durrant's Attorneys Not Likely to Introduce Much Evidence for the Defense.

RELYING ON THE STATE'S FAILURE

Hope to Break Down the Testimony in Cross-Examination-Main Witnesses for the Prosecution and What is Expected from Them.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 7 .- The trial of Theodore Durrant will be resumed on Tuesday, Monday being a state holiday. During the past week little progress was made in the taking of testimony. None of the really important witnesses for the people have been placed on the stand, and no material points have yet been made against the defendant. The witnesses who have already testified are merely paving the way for those to follow. While their evidence is important in showing that the crime has been committed, it does not point in the remotest degree to the murderer. It becomes more and more apparent that the defense will be negative. More hope will be placed in breaking the chain of evidence presented by the prosecution than in any testimony he may give in his own behalf. As yet the defendant's attorneys have not been successful in their efforts to confuse witnesses and lead them into contradictions.

The real weighty evidence upon which the prosecution depends is to be furnished by three school girls who saw Durrant on the street car with Miss Lamont on the day she disappeared; Martin Quinlan, an attorney, who saw the defendant walking toward Emanuel church at about 4 o'clock with a girl who answers Blanche Lamont's description; Mrs. Leak, who from her house opposite the Emanuel church observed Durrant and Miss side door; and Organist King, who about ! o'clock on the same afternoon was surprised to see Durrant stagger into the library of the church, panting, partially clothed and disheveled. It is these witnesses who will furnish the chief links in the chain of evidence upon which a conviction will be asked and it will be the testimony which the defendants will attack with vigor.

If the defense succeeds in breaking down one of the witnesses they consider they will have a fair chance for acquittal. The prosecution, they say, will have to provide every one of the links in its chain of circumstantic
