

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

Published every morning. Terms of subscription: Daily (without Sunday), one year, $3.00; Daily (with Sunday), one year, $3.50; Six months, $1.75; Three months, $1.00; Single copy, 5 cents.

Advertisements: All communications relating to news and editorial matter should be addressed to the Editor. Business letters and notices should be addressed to the Business Manager.

Statement of Circulation: For the week ending September 7, 1895. Total copies printed, 100,000; Total copies distributed, 85,000.

Table with 3 columns: Number, Name, and Amount. Lists names and their respective contributions or amounts.

Keel Hardie ought to have remained at home and watched his own political fences. The way to build up Omaha is to patronize Omaha merchants and buy home made goods.

Receipts of cattle during August were greatly in excess of those of August a year ago, while the prospect is that 1896 will be the greatest year in the history of the South Omaha market.

"In the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as fall." With this motto inscribed on their banners the managers of the State Fair association have overcome all obstacles and redeemed all promises.

The large hotels should not put up their prices during state fair week. If done it would injure them as well as the town. Hotel proprietors should lose no time in advertising their rates for the fair, so that prospective visitors may know what to expect.

The Grand Army reunion at Louisville commences today and promises to prove a highly successful gathering. These national meetings of the Grand Army have come to be events of much more than local importance.

The frosts have arrived and are doing trifling damage in some parts of the state. The principal crops, however, are well beyond injury by anything but the heaviest freeze.

Between the dispute over the award of the governor's cup and the complaints over the failure of the advertised sham battle to materialize, this year's encampment of the Nebraska National Guard threatens to hold the boards for weeks and months after the time allotted to it on the military program.

The international yacht races will continue to be the uppermost topic in the sporting world this week. The American representative having made so good a beginning will naturally be expected to keep up the showing.

Ex-Speaker Crisp says that Whitney is the man for the democratic presidential nomination. Mr. Crisp has just returned from his European trip. Were it not for the fact that his recent visit to his birthplace in England has impressed upon his mind his ineligibility to the presidency by reason of his foreign birth, Mr. Crisp might be saying that he is the man himself.

Silver Dick Bland has all planned and settled for a split in the democratic national convention next year. The division, Mr. Bland assures us in an interview, is inevitable and is to be lines separating the eastern democrats from the western. This may perhaps not be what will happen, but it is what the free silver democrats appear to be working for.

Prince Bismarck confesses that he needs the assistance of experts when it comes to forming an opinion as to the quality of American whiskey. Whenever the prince wants any help we know of several eminent American authorities on this question whom we can recommend both as to ability and capacity, and who are sure will be willing to accept that high honor.

The story which comes from London of the disaster that has overtaken the members of a negro colony sent from the United States to central Africa by one of the colonization societies ought to call for an investigation into the facts. According to this story, American negroes are lured from their homes with promises of a lucrative field for work in Africa and practically sent to their death.

It is impossible that the present condition of affairs in the Indian territory can permanently continue and so urgent is the demand for a change that it would seem the hopeful expectation of the commission may be realized.

IMPORTANT INDUSTRY THREATENED.

The irrepressible conflict between the men who have raised the price of steel billets and the manufacturers of tin plate will be watched with a great deal of interest by all Americans who desire to see the industry permanently established in this country.

The tin plate manufacturers assert that they cannot possibly continue competition with the product of foreign mills that employ cheaper labor and enjoy the privilege of exporting to America at a mere nominal import duty.

If, on the other hand, the advance in steel billets is due to increased cost of production, no permanent relief can be looked for until congress restores the tin plate duty to a point that will enable American mills to compete with those of England and Wales.

The explanation given by Mr. Balfour of his declaration in the House of Commons, which was generally accepted as an assurance that the Salisbury government would do nothing to counteract or encourage an international monetary conference, does not put the matter in any more favorable light.

But honest assessors alone will not protect the taxpayers from treasury raids and overcharges. The demand of the hour is for a business administration in the city hall and court house by men of known integrity and business capacity.

Reform must go from the bottom upward and not from the top downward. There is no more noteworthy fact in connection with the business recovery than the steady advance in the price of iron and steel, due to an extraordinary demand.

It is to be hoped the commission of which ex-Senator Dawes of Massachusetts is chairman, now in session in the Indian territory, will be able to accomplish something for the adjustment of the difficulties which have made that territory a scene of lawlessness and trouble for years.

It is the crisis for which, according to the St. James Gazette, we are heading so straight is the crisis for which we are heading so straight is the crisis for which we are heading so straight.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

Notwithstanding the fact that many people in the Missouri river valley are still suffering from the effects of the Yellowstone country to the Gulf of Mexico, United States engineers are asserting the possibility of that stream becoming only a dry ravine.

NEBRASKA STRAIGHTS.

Globe-Democrat: The Nebraska democrats are trying the experiment this year of dividing themselves into two parties, and there isn't any chance for them to succeed as a single organization.

Debate: The resolutions adopted by the convention at Lincoln begin with the statement: "The democracy of Nebraska is unshaken." etc. This recalls the old story about the three tailors of Tooley street.

Tribune: At the Lincoln convention there was no covering up of anything. The hall was packed with sure enough democrats, and there was no getting down on knees to Douglas begging for coalition.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

It is an indisputable fact that the abuses from which this city and county are suffering are largely if not wholly due to the system which enables professional politicians to foist themselves into offices for which they have no qualifications.

WHAT THE CORN CROP MEANS.

The enormous harvest and its comparative value. In corn, as in cotton, and not as in wheat, the American supply controls the market.

Our annual production of corn happens to be about equal to the wheat production of the whole world, and governs the price in proportion.

Our actual export of corn for the year 1894 was only 41,806,711 bushels, which brought $19,378,891.20, so that the export is only one-fifth of the crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

It is a little remarkable that those who so glibly recite the vanishing prices on the market which they say are due to the fact that the aggregate returns for a very large crop may be, and sometimes are, less than the aggregate returns received for a smaller crop.

BRADFORD AT HIS OLD BUSINESS.

Caught with a Set of Counterfeit Plates in His Possession. NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Chief W. P. Hagan of the United States secret service, together with his detectives, succeeded yesterday in recapturing Dr. O. E. Bradford of the Broadway gang, who escaped from his office on August 4, while under arrest charged with counterfeiting.

Bradford was arrested at noon by Agent Esquire, assisted by Agents G. R. Bagg, S. Hoge, Byrnes and Flynn at 101 East One Hundred and Fifth street, where he had hired a furnished room. In a search of the room $200 in gold money was found, and new counterfeit plates, concealed between the lower drawer and the bottom of the chest.

The plates were of copper and were made to imitate the $100 United States notes, series 1880, with the Lincoln vignette. Both front and back plates were found, the back plates being complete, while the front plate was all ready for use, with the exception of having the ink number engraved. Chief Hagen says the plates are remarkably good.

The others arrested were John Nixon, formerly a keeper at Sing Sing, who he knew Bradford when the latter was serving a sentence for malpractice; John L. Courtney, who had time for forgery, and Carl Bentley, a dentist.

A Chief Hagen said Bradford would not be tried on the warrant on which he was arrested with the Brockway gang in Hudson county, New Jersey, but the finding of new plates in his possession will lead to new charges being drawn here. Said the chief: "I have to admit that Bradford is a very clever new deal, knowing the detectives must be straining every nerve to capture him."

LILLY BRINGS SUIT FOR DIVORCE. Papers Prepared in England and Sent to Her American Solicitors. NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Lilly Langtry has at last begun suit for divorce from her husband, Edward Langtry. The preliminary move in the affair was the placing of papers and a retaining fee of $700 in the hands of Abner Hummel of the law firm of Hanks & Hummel of New York. The complaint was drawn up by Mrs. Langtry's London solicitors and sent to America by a specially commissioned bearer of the momentous decree.

The grounds for the suit are desertion and neglect. Mrs. Langtry is a citizen of California and the property owner in California and has lived in California during the last ten years. In the suit for divorce she charges her husband with desertion and neglect. She charges that he has abandoned her and that she has been left with a young child, Jeanne. Mrs. Langtry lives at the house of her mother, Mrs. Langtry, in New York. Mrs. Langtry is on the continent. She has had a distressing, but not serious, attack of rheumatism, which interfered with her keeping her American engagement for this season. Sir George Lewis, the keeper of the deadly secrets of all social England, is solicitor for Mrs. Langtry. The complaint is simple enough, but when Sir George Lewis brings there will be some wonderful suppression of facts or some astounding disclosures.

Archaeologists and Socialists Barred. CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 8.—About 300 delegates are in the city to attend the annual convention of the Polish National Alliance of America, which assembles in the morning. The delegates attended mass at St. Stanislaus this morning, after which they were tendered a banquet at the Hotel Hamilton. Garfield's tomb in Lakewood cemetery. The organization is a patriotic one, its object being to educate the Poles in their native land, and to assist them in getting their rights. None but naturalized or native born citizens of the United States are eligible and anarchists and socialists are barred.

SMASHING THE RECORD. British Railroads Take the Lead for Long Distance Speed. Chicago Tribune. England is just now agitated over the question of railroad racing. Protests based upon the ground of public safety have been made to Parliament, but without avail, as the president of the Board of Trade replies that he has no power to interfere in the matter and that the public must rely upon the common sense of the railway companies.

THE PASSING SHOW. Des Moines is in the right mood to condole with St. Paul. Both are short on census. Mr. Keir Hardie might add to safety of the world the portents by frequent reference to the crime of '73.

A joyfully jagged individual leaped against a hydrant for support and softly murmured, "The waters run deep and so sinuously." Speaking about the situation, the altered anguish of Jeremiah is clearly outlashed by the muttered melancholy of St. Paul.

The inventor of the Chassepot rifle, the one on which Napoleon III relied to defeat the Germans in 1870, kept a hotel in Nice. The late Colonel Breckinridge of Kentucky came to talk the stump for Wat Hadden. If the colonel agrees to take nothing else his resurrection will be tolerated.

After Robert G. Ingersoll's address to the soldiers of his command at Elmwood, Ill., last Thursday, some suspicious rascal touched his pocket and made away with $250 in cash.

Sir Henry James, who might have been Lord Chamberlain had he shined, wears the shabbiest of clothes and a tall hat conspicuously in the badge of genius.

Tom Chas. Dana, editor of the New York Sun, has returned from his annual jaunt through Europe in superb health and with the halo of his dense bristling with subdued admiration for the civilization.

Susan B. Anthony has decided to take a rest and yield the mantle of emancipation to younger women. Miss Anthony is 70 past, and a suspicion has penetrated her inner consciousness that she is no longer a new woman.

Having handled the Christian Endeavorers and Knights Templar with profit and satisfaction, Boston proscribes its readiness to give the republican and democratic national campaign a whirl. Boston's nerve is on a string.

Millions upon millions of gallons of water were stolen from the mains of Chicago by means of blind pipes, and the loss to the city averaged $300,000 a year. The thiefing, which was confined to the stock yards, surpasses the best efforts of New York in the stock watering line.

The latest popular story in Germany about the emperor is the effect that he recently asked his brother, Prince Henry, what he (the emperor) could do to make another sensation. "Stay at home for three consecutive months," was the reply. "If you do that, the chances are that the suggestion will never be adopted."

COMIC CHUCKLES.

Philadelphia Record: No matter how strange it may seem, a good joke is only appreciated when it's cracked.

Chicago Tribune: The Man with the Iron Mask—I don't believe you even know your own name.

Washington Star: "The kind of a man that I like is a man that I can't get on with."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Central flyer, which made the trip from the Grand Central depot in New York City to Buffalo, 440 miles, in 520 minutes. But, as the New York Sun remarks, both these English roads have great advantages over the American, so far as fast running is concerned. There is not a grade crossing on either of the English lines, so that they do not have to reduce their speed going through cities and towns.

Philadelphia Record: No matter how strange it may seem, a good joke is only appreciated when it's cracked.

Chicago Tribune: The Man with the Iron Mask—I don't believe you even know your own name.

Washington Star: "The kind of a man that I like is a man that I can't get on with."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

Washington Star: "General," said the subordinate officer in the Spanish army, "another column of our troops is advancing."

"Where will you take me, my pretty maid," "To Browning King's, sir, she said—"

$2.50

For a Boy's Two-Piece Suit—In brown and gray mixed cassimeres—ages 4 to 15 years—the very best style points in every suit—made up in our usual careful manner—strong, durable and neat—of course we have others at $3, 3.50, $4, $5—and Reefers—a good selection at $3, $4 and $5—all new goods to satisfy every taste—money back if you want it.

Browning, King & Co. S. W. Cor. 15th and Douglas Sts.