At no time since Valkyrle arrived in this country has the excitement approached the degree to which it rose today, excepting the times when the winners had crossed the line or rounded a mark, or something like that, when she displayed her superiority

The unfortunate collision of yesterday and its attendant incidents have kept the public in a fever, so to speak. Everybody was auxious to know what the regatta committee of the New York Yacht club would do about Defender's protest, and having learned that the decision was in Defender's favor, they were further stirred up by a report that Lord Dunraven, considering that he been unjustly treated, had determined withdraw his boat and go home without another race. That the English party holds the sincire opinion that they have been bully treated there can be no doubt. If any testimony on this point were needed, it could have been found tonight over in the Erie basin, where the two yachts were b ing measured for the third time, under electric light—something new in that line—when the feeling between the respective crews of the ships manifested itself in various ways. DUNRAVEN'S FRIENDS RATHER CURT.

Lord Dunraven's friends and advisers on the City of Bridgeport, the Valkyrle's ten-der, were all curt in manner and reserved in words. They seemed to let the American callers know that they were deeply hurt. For a long time Commodors Arthur Glennea, who has gained the reputation since he has been on this side of being a genial and ex-ceptionally merry fellow, refused to give the newspaper men the slightest hope that there might be a race tomorrow. He would only say that he was "waiting for orders from Dunraven." He did warm up a trifle, however, about 8 o'clock, and admitted that Valkyrle would start tomorrow, certainly. This fact had been discounted before Mr. Glennea's admission, because of the presence of Measurer Hyslop, the general activity of Valkyrie's sailors and the very plain purpose of the English boat's managers to lighten her and thus decrease the load water line length. It might be incidentally mentioned that one the things done to lighten Valkyrie was be remove the eighteen pigs of lead that were taken aboard of her on the day before the first race. This lead weighed in the neighborhood of a ton. Excitement among yachtsmen was at fever heat all day. Everybody had an opinion to express. Of course most persons upheld the committee from patriotic motives if nothing else. There were a good many, however, who championed Valkyrie and her cause. There were others who said that the committee ought to have given the race to Valkyrie, because Defender could beat her anyhow, and a verdict favorable to the Englishmen would have no other effect the en would have no other effect than to make necessary one more race. While thinking the whole matter over, old timers recalled the action of Sir Richard Sutton, the owner of the Genesta, who raced against Puritan in 1885. It was remembered that Puritan accidentally fouled Genesia at the start on the first day of the match. When the committee sent word to Sir Richard that Purltan had been disqualified and that he could sail over the course alone and win the race he replied that he did not want vin-that way; he wanted a race and no tover. He showed himself to be a sportsman. Lord Dunrayen has shown in this case that he is not the quitter that some persons have tried to make him out by saying to-night at the Waldorf hatel that he would eertainly be on hand to race tomorrow.

DUNRAVEN TAKES A FIRM STAND. The Herald this morning says: "That the certain." That it will not be sailed if there is the slightest indication of crowding by the pleasure craft was fully determined by the committee last night. After the race on Tuesday last Lord Dunraven sent a letter to the committee. It was made public last night. It is as follows: "Gentlemen: It is with great reluctance that I write to inform you that I decline to start Valkyrie any more under the circum-stances that have prevailed in the last two craces. First, to attempt to start two such large vessels in such confined space and among moving steamers and tugboats is, in my opinion, exceedingly dangerous, and I will not further risk the lives of my men or the crowding was race the the we mark boat and could not tell when we were near the line, and we were much hampered by steamers, especially on the race home. To race under these conditions To race under these conditions is, in my opinion, absurd, and I decline to submit myself to them again." ENGLISH PRESS COMMENT.

LONDON, Sept. 11.—With one exception the London evening press today exhibits a generous and sportsmanlike spirit in com-menting upon the outcome of the second race of the series between Valkyrie and Defender for the America's cup, and all express the wish that the race be not given to Valkyrie on a mere technicality, or as the result of an accident. The same spirit characterizes the talk among yachtsmen. Fear is expressed that the excellent showing made Defender in her crippled condition has practically settled the contest against the Sun this evening says: "There is so very little true sportsmanlike feeling in America that yesterday's cheering of the

The Pail Mail Gazette says: "Defender was at a disadvantage, and we shall find little satisfaction if the decision favors Valkyrie." The Graphic, commenting upon the de-cision of the regatta committee on Defender's protest, says: "Much as every Briton will decision, the verdict of the committee will be accepted no less loyally by the cisatiantic public than by Lord Dun-raven himself. The owner of the Valkyrie is so thoroughly a sportsman, in the only true sense of the term, that had the protest not been sustained he would probably have asked permission for the race to be sailed over, so as to win, if win he might, without even the imaginary assistance of an accident. He is not the man to throw away now a remote chance of winning the cup because a committee of American gentlemen has he't his yacht to be

The Times says: It was thought the judgment might go against Valkyrie III, but it was not anticipated that the committee would do more than order a resall. That is what of us here would have desired, and it would also have met the wishes of our sportsmanlike kindred in America. It is, however, not qu'te clear whether the committee has power to order the race resailed.

The Standard says: The Judgment of the committee will be accepted without demur. They must be credited with a single-hearied desire to decide the question upon its morits. A review of the evidence by public opinion would be futile and uncivil. The laws of sport are inexorable, and from a technica point of view we suppose the committee had no alternative open to them.

The New York correspondent of the Times

telegraphs to his paper: I do not think the decision reflects the best American opinion, whether of yachtsmen or the community in general.

The Post comments: Whatever English feeling may be, there is nothing to be done but to accept the verdict. It is possible Mr. Iselin will offer to recall the race, but it is not certain that Lord Dunrayen would accept the offer if made. At the same time, it would be both a graceful and sportsmantike course for the Americans to pur-sue. The misfortunes attending the two first races cannot but prejudice the sport first races cannot but prejudice the sport of international yacht racing. It may be taken for granted this is the last contest which will be sailed in New York waters. It is gratifying to see the better informed acction of the American press take the opportunity to point out the general regret that the accident should have happened. A writer in the Daily News says: To

A writer in the Daily News says: To have given the race to Defender seems rather sharp practice. Sarely "no race" would have better met the justice of the case. It may be the rigor of the racing law, but it is hardly sport. The severe award of the committee is a new reciprocity. award of the committee is a poor reciprocity for the generous treatment of the Cornell crew at Henley. The Chronicle says: We confess we do not see why the race was given to Defender. Had Valkyrle wiffully foured, the penalty could not have been greater. There is no equity in the decision, and we shall not be surprised if Lord Dunraven declares the rest

AVARRES STAVING POW Passed Domino, Whose Race

Run, Just Before Reaching Wire. NEW YORK, Sept. 11.-Ten thousand per ons saw Henry of Navarre win the race at Sheepshead Bay between the cracks of the year, Henry of Navarre, Domino and Rey el Santa Anita. It was thought possible a few days ago that Clifford would also be a contestant, but later his owner decided to keep him out. The race today was the to keep him out. The race today was the fifth on the card, consisting of a sweep-stakes of $1,000 each at a mile and a furlong. There was some delay at the post, but when they were sent away Domino, who had the rail, got a trifle the best of it. The black whirlwind cut out the pace, and a fast one it was, with Navarre keeping well up and the California crack a length back. Not until the turn was reached did the real race begin. Perkins on Navarre then made an effort to come up with his mount and Taral on Domino drove his horse along at a terrific rate. Here also Rey el Santa Anita started for the lead, and it seemed as though he would be in with the driving finish. When they swung into the stretch Domino still had a length to the good, but was faltering, and Navarre was holding on with the tenacity that has always characterized his work. Taral used whip and spur, but the gallant black was unable to hold his own against the Belmont crack, who, just before the wire was reached, poked his nose in front, and, driving along with undiminished speed, beat the fallering Domino half a length. Rey el Santa Anita was far in the reer.

The other feature of the card was the September stakes, which brought together a large field of crack 3-year-olds. Flying Dutchman was an oddson favorite, but could do no better than third, Nanki Pooh winning from Counter Tenor in a drive and making a new track record at the distance, one mile and three furlongs, of 2:21. In the third race Harry Reed made his first appearance since M. F. Dwyer, his owner, brought him from Europe. Simms had the mount, and Harry Reed won. The other events were all well contested. SPEED BOOKS ARE STILL OPEN. State Fair Managers Giving the Horsemen a Chance. Late Tuesday night and early yesterday George Dickman, clerk of the speed department of the state fair, was busy booking worst of it, only picking two favorites, the other races going to the outsiders. Weather clear. Track sust, Summaries:

First race, five and a haif furlongs: Tit for Tat won, Tutuila second, Lady Diamond third. Time: 1:07½.

Second race, four and a half furlongs: Alvarado won, Lady Doleful second, Bonnie Dundee third. Time: 0:55.

Third race, six furlongs: High Test won, La Fiesta second, Early Rose third. Time: but entries were coming in at such a rapid rate that it was thought wise by the board of managers to extend the by the board of managers to extend the time of closing. Some of the horsemen who own calebrated strings have been racing them on eastern fair circuits and have thus delayed entering until the last moment. Many of these parties have now fallen in o line and will help to make the races one of the main drawing cards at the fair. The official list of entries will probably made public today.

The finishing touches on the buildings have een pushed right along, but not fast enough to suit the managers, who want to have everything in perfect order upon opening day. The golden rod was selected at the last session of the legislature as the floral emblem of the state of Natural Property as the floral emblem of the state of Nebraska. A wagonload of the handsome plant has been secured and every one within the gates of the fair upon that day will be presented with a spray, which he will be expected to wear as a boutonniere.

The Pierce county exhibit arrived at the grounds yesterday, four carloads in all. The exhibit will be quite a novelty in its way when completed. It will represent a minature fort, with ramparts, parapets and bastions on a hillside formed entirely of farm produce. High overhead, guarding the saily-port, two cannon, formed of the same material, will keep watch over the samples of the county's industries. The various parts of the fort will be in colored various parts of the fort will be in colored grasses, fruit and grain, and the effect of the whole exhibit when completed will be very pleasing Lincoln county representatives arrived at the grounds yesterday with one of the largest exhibits yet received. It comprised six carloads of farm produce and samples of the products of the county.

The Buffalo county display is expected here today and will make a very elaborate showing of fruit and vegetables. A carload of products from Casper, Wyo., represent-ing Natrona county of that state, came in vesterday.

Before General Lawler ca form he was addressed by Mayor Tyler, in a short, informal speech, presented with the keys to the city. Loud and applause greeted General Lawler when he came forward. In the course of his sponse he said: APPRECIATE THEIR RECEPTION

"Comrades, ladies, children, everybody her in Louisville: I want to say to you that I accept your welcome. Not for myself alone, but in the name of 200,000 Grand Army of the Republic men. You have given us a royal welcome, and I want to tell you tha we appreciate it. You are doing more than you promised and every one of us fully ap-preciates it. I have been all over the country during the last year and everywhere went I met comrades, who, without exception were looking forward to coming to this gateway to the south with pleasure. They wante to let the boys of the south know that the realize there is no longer any south or north Our expectations have been more than real ized. The greetings you have given us ar-far more elaborate than we would have be lieved. We will go away feeling in our hearts pain and the dangers of par-turition fill many a woman's breast with dismay. There is no reason why childbirth should be fraught with danger and distress. It is a perfectly natural function, and should be performed in a natural way without undue suffering. Nature never intended that women should be tortured when doing the one thing which makes them wholly womanly. The perversion of nature's laws has brought this suffering about, and a return to right living will stop it. Nine out of ten women are troubled more or less by weakness and diseases peculiar to their sex. It is so because they do not take proper care of themselves—because they neglect little ills and little precautions. A woman in perfectly hearty health goes through her time of trial with comparative ease. The thing to do then, is to make all expectant mothers healthy - to strengthen them generally and locally. The medi-cine and tonic to do it with is Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is a powerful invigorant and nervine. It soothes and strengthens the nerves and acts directly on the feminine organism in a way which fits it for the proper and regular performance of all its functions at all times. Taken during gestation it robs childbirth of its dangers to both mother and child, by preparing the system for delivery thereby shortening labor, lessening pain and abbreviating the period of confinement. A Book of 168 pages on "Woman and Her Diseases" and telling how to cure them with home-treatment, 10 cents (stamps) to part cover postage. WORLD'S DISPENSARY
