UNCLE SAM WEAKENED A BIT. Concluded to Deliver Mail that He Had Been Holding for Some Days.

Evans, secretary of the Omaha Co-operative association, which is incorporated under the laws of Nebraska and does business at 1508 Dodge street. Since September 14 the mail addressed to this association has been held by the Omaha postoffice, and Evans says that his business has suffered serious interruptions thereby.

On the date heretofore mentioned Postmaster Martin received the following telegram: "Hold all mail for Omaha Co-operative association and officers. Fraud ordered by Chief Stewart and Officer Shoup."

Then Evans received a letter from Postmaster Martin asking him to call and receive an explanation. Evans says he wanted to know why his mail should be so suddenly stopped, so he went to the postmaster's office hoping to receive the desired information.

All that was shown him was the telegram, and beyond this Postmaster Martin had nothing to say.

The next move in the matter was made by Evans, who telegraphed Assistant Attorney General, asking him why his mail was held. To this query the following message was received: "Stopped because it operates a bond or investment scheme which is a lottery. What explanation have you to make?"

Evans replied that the organization operated nothing of the kind, and asked for the name where he secured such information. A reply to this denial and query by Evans has yet to be received.

On September 16 the local postmaster was instructed by Mr. Thomas to return all mail addressed to the organization after having marked on the envelopes in plain letters the word "Fraudulent."

Evans when asked yesterday said that he was positive that the officials who had issued the order to hold his mail were acting fraudulently. He said: "The United States government failed in its attempt to show cause for holding back the mail of the People's Investment company, of which I was the secretary. The case was compromised, and ever since that time the officials at Washington have been eagerly awaiting an opportunity to square accounts with me."

"About a fortnight ago the firm of Henry Wichert of Chicago sent a consignment of pickles to our house. The other day a representative of the firm was in town and called at the store to ask us how we liked the pickles. We replied that we had received pickles of no any name, and that Henry Wichert's representative went to the postoffice and secured the notice, at the same time registering a vigorous kick against the interference in their business by the postal authorities."

"I am also secretary of a local beneficiary lodge. During the week a member mailed me a money order in payment of an assessment. Postmaster Martin refused to pay the order, and it took considerable time and trouble to untangle the matter. It was finally delivered to me within a few days."

"I have listened to similar assurances for over a week, and have yet to see the first indication upon the part of the postal authorities that they are going to cease this abuse. I wish the department would indict me, or do something to bring the question to an issue, for I am heartily tired of having my mail held back, all the while being promised that the error will be corrected in a short time."

Yesterday the postal authorities concluded to deliver Mr. Evans' mail. A special delivery clerk visited his office with a bundle of letters and laid them on the desk, retiring from the room without making any explanations.

TRIED TO CUT OFF HIS HEAD. Stranger Prefers Suicide Rather Than Going to Jail.

Fear of imprisonment led J. C. Catron to make an almost successful attempt to commit suicide in the office of the chief of police at 1:30 yesterday afternoon. He dashed a knife into his throat and was searching for the jugular vein when he was disarmed by Chief Stewart and Officer Shoup.

Catron was arrested in the afternoon as a fugitive from justice. A couple of days ago Chief Stewart received a letter from G. W. Johnson of Manhattan, asking him to look out for Catron, who was wanted there for larceny. In looking over the pawn shop reports in the morning, Stewart discovered that Catron had pawned a plain gold ring at Fred Mohle's place. Officer Shoup was sent out to find this man. Catron was taken to the chief's office, where it was found that he answered the description of the Catron who was wanted. Chief Stewart began to question him when he suddenly became violent, and struck at the chief with the blade in the left side of his neck, and was saving away furiously, saying that he would kill the chief if he did not let him go.

A doctor was called in and he found a gash about two inches long and cutting his throat. Luckily no large artery had been touched. His wound will not prove fatal, but Catron will be laid up for several days. He was taken to the city hospital, where a man of a woman who accompanied him when he was arrested, and who is presumed to be his wife.

Neither Catron nor the woman would say anything about themselves. The woman simply wept with fright, while Catron coolly remarked that if he had had his knife he would have been successful. He had four or five silver dollars in his pocket, and said that he wanted to send a message to his brother, asking him to bring the money to his address. When he pawned the ring he gave his address as 117 South Seventeenth street. The address indicated in that of a musical instrument establishment. There is a letter there for him postmarked St. Louis, but the people about the store say they have never seen the man.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS MEET. Bids for Coal Opened and the Contract Awarded.

The county commissioners at their meeting yesterday considered coal bids and awarded the contract for delivering hard coal at the jail and court house to Coustant & Squires at $7 a ton. The contract for the delivery of twenty-five cars of steam coal to the county poor farm was awarded to C. B. Havens & Co. at $2.4 a ton.

The year has expired, at the end of which time the balance of 45 per cent is due for the construction of the new jail on the Military road. Hugh Murphy has for $1,945.85 as his first payment. The road commission has charge of the communication. Several belated bids for assessors were allowed, that of J. D. A. Johnson of East Omaha being cut $15 and R. Crooks' at the twentieth ward, being cut $10.

The commissioners acted on the claim of I. J. Dunn. They rejected two days out of the five days provided for the grand jury service in the capacity of a witness. He had filed a communication declaring a judicial side show was being run in connection with the grand jury, and the certification of a few. He said he was not of the number.

The insanity board suggested that George Riley be shipped back to Council Bluffs, his home. He escaped from the Home of the Public Mind at Glenwood, Ia.

The board adjourned without paying the salaries. It meets again Monday.

CHARGES AGAINST A POSTMASTER. J. N. Simmons of Pellin, Ia., Accused of Postal Notes Frauds.

J. N. Simmons, the well-known Pellin, Ia., was arrested at Nebraska City Friday on telegraphic instructions to the chief of police there by the postmaster at Plattsmouth, Neb. Simmons is accused of issuing postal notes payable to himself at various towns in Nebraska and getting them cashed. He is alleged to have worked the scheme successfully at South Omaha, Plattsmouth, Fremont and this city before being detected. The amount stolen is thought to be in the neighborhood of $500, but will not be known exactly until after the preliminary examination is had.

Time Fixed for the Hearing. John A. McShane returned from Joseph late Friday afternoon. It will be remembered that receivers for the St. Joseph Stock Yards and Terminal company, of which McShane is vice president, were appointed a few days ago, to the surprise of the vice president. The matter will be argued before the court at St. Joseph on October 15, and whether the receivers will continue to act will then be determined.

STREET GANG DISCHARGED

Munro and Winspear Continue to Ride Rough Shod Over Kaspar.

USURP POWER VESTED IN HIM ALONE

Action Considered as a Desperate Move to Secure Absolute Control of Street Laborers for Political and Personal Ends.

Chairman Munro and Sewer Commissioner Winspear of the Board of Public Works held a special meeting yesterday, and acting as a majority of the board they passed a series of resolutions which practically deprives Street Commissioner Kaspar of any voice in the street department. They took it upon themselves to discharge the entire street force, with the exception of the blue barrel men and the sidewalk gang. They delegated to the chairman of the board the exclusive supervision of the overseer of city prisoners, who have heretofore been under the direction of the street department.

As a preliminary Chairman Munro introduced the resolution which directed the chairman to take charge of and issue all orders necessary to the overseer of city prisoners and which called on the overseer not to recognize any orders except such as came from the chairman of the board. This was adopted, as was also the following resolution, which was also introduced by Munro: Resolved, by the Board of Public Works, that for the benefit of the public service the services of the following named persons in the employ of the street department be terminated for an indefinite period, and that they shall not be again employed in that department, to-wit: J. F. Brown, D. C. Rowden, J. J. Corbett, E. Barrett, Charles J. Bloomer, John Sullivan, Frank Murphy, John F. Zwickler, George Vounkin, Fred W. Johnson, J. C. Casey, P. H. H. Hanson, H. Miller, B. Thomas, John Hoffman, Peter Lux, Frank Murphy and J. J. Corbett.

Joseph Kent was then appointed general foreman and inspector in the street department at a salary of $3 per day.

The action of the board aroused intense indignation among the employes and city officials, who are not inclined to favor such a course of procedure. That the heads of other departments should assume the management of another department to the exclusion of the properly appointed and elected chief of that department is altogether unprecedented.

WANT MEN THEY CAN CONTROL. It is an open secret that this radical action of the majority of the board was taken with a view to bringing the street department into the hands of the dark lantern fraternity before election. It is in line with the policy of the board to have the street department shouldered by the street department, and that the heads of other departments should assume the management of another department to the exclusion of the properly appointed and elected chief of that department is altogether unprecedented.

It will be remembered that at that time Chairman Winspear made every effort to have the street department come up to the office of the board in the city hall and sign the payroll roll in person. In this manner Winspear would have been able to control the street department, together with their places of residence. This list has been carefully examined by the chief of police, and such of these men as are not in sympathy with the American Protective association were discharged without any given cause.

It is interesting to note that the man in the street department, who was the chief of the board in the city hall and sign the payroll roll in person. In this manner Winspear would have been able to control the street department, together with their places of residence. This list has been carefully examined by the chief of police, and such of these men as are not in sympathy with the American Protective association were discharged without any given cause.

Speaking of the duties of the street commissioner, the charter says: "He shall appoint all inspectors and employes in his department, and he shall have power to dismiss any employes in his department, and he shall have power to dismiss any inspector or employes in his department when in the judgment of the board it shall be necessary for the public interest."

VIOLATION OF CHARTER. Under the charter the majority of the board cannot discharge the street department, but the appointment of Joseph Kent as foreman is entirely without warrant of law. Some very peculiar reasons were advanced for this action, but they would not stand.

Mr. Winspear said: "Well, the fact is that Munro had reasons for wanting his removal, and his don't know much about it. He refused to turn over the keys of the tool house to any one but Kaspar. As far as the tool house is concerned, we have up our minds that they had been on the payroll long enough, and besides, we wanted to put some other men on."
