

FRIED THE MEXICAN RATIONS

First Experiments by the Army Were Not Altogether Successful.

MADE MANY OF THE MEN SICK

War Department Not Altogether Satisfied and Will Try It Again in the New Expedition. Experiments of No Value.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—(Special).—The test of condensed food for the army, which was recently performed by a detachment of troops from Fort Logan, near Denver, Colo., was not of sufficient value to permit a decision as to whether the "emergency ration," as it is familiarly known, will be a success or not.

A detailed account, however, which has just been received at the office of the commissary general of subsistence, shows that the experiment was not successful. The test was not only a partial trial. On the first day the men were served as their allowance for dinner a portion of bean soup and one of the ration cakes.

CHARACTER OF THE FOOD.

The soup is made from a tablet which has been prepared in a special manner. The soup when made under ordinary circumstances. The cake is made of whole wheat. In the preparation of the cake the first thing to be done is to cut the wheat into thin shreds, which are then dried. After boiling the tiny particles are forced through an arrangement like the ordinary grater, and when this operation is completed the shreds come out in thin shreds, which are soft and moist. Small cakes are made of this substance, and are used to make the bread. The bread is made by taking a portion of the shreds, which have not been toasted to add to that which has gone through the operation of the ordinary bread. Besides the bean soup the soldiers were served coffee as a beverage.

The report shows that the men who were affected by the food were not affected by the food. They were not sick, but they were affected with nausea and a disposition to vomit violently. None of the men were affected on the first day, but on the second day, when the food was served, they were all affected. The test was not continued on the two remaining days of the test march, although several of the officers made it at it, but they did not experience sickness.

DO NOT ADMIT FAILURE. Officials of the commissary general's department said that the test does not show the new food to be a failure. The fact that at that time it may succeed. The sickness of some of the men is attributed by surgeons to the fact that the food which was tested was not fresh, but was old and had been manufactured some time before being used. The test was not continued on the two remaining days of the test march, although several of the officers made it at it, but they did not experience sickness.

MUST MODIFY THE PROCESS. The preparation of the condensed substance for making the coffee is partially a success. That is, good results are obtained from the preparation which has been invented and which is being used in the field. There are objections, however, to the manner of packing this condensed substance. In most cases the coffee is packed in a tin, and this is not a satisfactory arrangement. The coffee is packed in a tin, and this is not a satisfactory arrangement. TOPEKA Must Have a Warrant. POPEKA, Kan., Oct. 6.—An important decision was handed down by the supreme court yesterday, involving the validity of one section of the prohibition law. The law of 1889 conferred upon the people of the state authority to enter any place where it was thought liquor was being sold and make arrests without a warrant. This section of the law has been held to be unconstitutional by the supreme court, and the result is that the prohibition law is now inoperative.

So They Were Married. CRESTON, Oct. 6.—(Special).—Mrs. Mary Wombold of Red Oak, Iowa, and her husband, Mr. John Wombold, were married at Creston, Iowa, last night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Smith, pastor of the Methodist church. The bride was dressed in white and wore a beautiful train. The groom was in a dark suit. The wedding party consisted of the bride's parents, the groom's parents, and several friends. The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

PRACTICAL WORK OF B. T. WASHINGTON

The Tuskegee Institute a Bright Example of Energy and Talents Applied on Practical Lines—Education and Reformation.

Since the death of Fred Douglass the colored people of America have had no one generally recognized as a type of what the emancipated negro might become until the opening of the Atlanta exposition the best specimen of the race to be seen in the United States was made by Booker T. Washington's speech at once caused him to be known to the many, as he was already known to the few, as the wisest and truest leader of his race this country has ever produced.

AMUSEMENTS. "Rush City," which was remembered from its presentation here last season as one of the liveliest of those hurly-burly, better-skier fare comedies which are dear to a very respectable portion of the theater-going public, returned to Omaha last night, and was well received. The play is a good one, and the actors are well cast. The production is well mounted, and the play is well acted. The audience was well pleased with the performance.

Danger of Unwise Expansion in the Flux of Business Revival.

CAUTIOUS OBSERVERS APPREHENSIVE

Fear that Conditions Do Not Warrant the Gait at Which Industrial Wheels Are Whirling Just at Present.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street: "The stock market has been a repetition of the comparative quiet and the absence of outside interest, that have characterized the market for some time past. There is a fair 'traders' market, with moderate fluctuations in prices, and the market is generally quiet. The business revival is not yet established, and the market is generally quiet.
