From semi-official sources the following ex-planation is given of what took place at the planation is given of what took place at the time of the passage of the crimes act in 1882. The Irish suspects had been imprisoned under the orders of Mr. Foster, then secretary for Ireland, but no disposition was shown to bring them to trial, Mr. Foster's policy being to hold them in prison as suspects. The Brit-ish Parliament endorsed that policy by the passage of the crimes act, which empowered the lord lieutenant of Ireland to hold sus-pects as prisoners until he chose to place pects as prisoners until he chose to place them on trial. There was a great outcry in this country against the crimes act. As month after month passed without a trial it was believed that under it the prisoners could be held for life without a trial. President Arthur in response to this sentiment did not demand the release of the prisoners, but he requested Lord Granville to have the lord lieutenant of Ireland exercise the discretion reposed in him by the crimes act and either two weeks after that request was preferred the suppects were all released and Mr. Fos-ter, whose policy had been overruled, had resigned from the British cabinet.

LONDON, Oct. 9 .- The statements made by Lord Sackville, who as Sir Lionel Sackville West was the British minister at Washington in 1881-89, in a pamphlet marked "For Private Circulation Only," a copy of which was obtained here by the correspondent of the New York World, and the substance of which was printed in the United States today, have caused amazement in diplomatic Truth, commenting upon the statements made, says:

The island lies about north of the boundary line be ween the extreme northern portion of Alaska and the extreme northern portion of Britisl North America. If it were possible to follow an air line from Sitka to Herschel island the traveler would have to journey 1,500 miles straight north before he could see the bold headlines of Herschel island. The story of the birth of this northernmost of American bables was brought here by Captain Mason of the steam tender Jeanle. It seems that Captain Sherman and his wife had passed one winter at Herschel Islan and Mrs. Sherman was quite used to the mid night sun of the summers and the long dark-ness of the winter as well. There was great to do about the birth of the baby. There were four women at Herschel Island to idolize the little one. They were wives of whaling captains. The whalers, most of whom had been away from home for more than eighteen month arance when the baby was born, were greatly inter ested in the event and sent many presents to the happy mother. There happened to be a clergyman of the Church of England at the camp. He had been sent to that odd quarter of the world as a missionary. His name was Rev. Mr. Stringer. With all formality that was possible on the barren island he chris-tened the child Helen Herschel Sherman. The baby has taken very kindly to the alld but perpetual daylight of the summer at Horschel island and bids fair to thrive ther Truth, commenting upon the statements made, says: Whether it was courteous or judicious for Lord Sackville to publish this attack when Mr. Bayard is ambassador in London is a debatable question, to which it may, how-ever, reasonably be replied that Mr. Bayard was immeasurably more discourteous and injudicious in his behavior toward Sack-ville-West when the latter was at Wash-ington. Mr. Bayard, therefore, would be mean to couplain of this point. But the matter acquires exceptional interest when it is considered side by side with a recent dispute regarding the race for the Amer-ica's cup. It should be remembered that Sackville-West was the victim of an elec-tion trick. An indiscreet expression of opin-tic scope of exciting anti-English agitation. The trick was successful and Sackville-West was handed his papers. England, in the person of her envoy, was grossly and wantonly insuited. Mr. Cleveland, how-over, falled to secure the election. In our relations with America experience teaches us always to be on the alert. This has made the English pertaps over suspicious, and being so they possibly imagine trickery where it does not exist. SUBSTANCE OF THE LETTERS.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 9 .- The publication by Lord Sackville-West of a pamphlet in which he sets forth his defense and explanation of a letter written by him during the presidential campaign of 1888, in answer to a letter from an alleged Englishman re siding at Pomona, Cal., asking his advice as to the proper channel in which to cast his vote, has revived in the public memory the story of how the "Murchison letter" was written and published, and how it brought a reply that convulsed the country. The letwhich was first made public by the Los Angeles Times, was dated Pomona, Cal., September 4, 1888, was addressed to "The British minister at Wash-ington, D. C.," and was signed "Charles F. Murchison." The writer stated that "the gravity of the political situation and the duties of those voters who are of English birth and who consider Eng-land the mother country was the reason for intruding for information." Mr. Cleveland's mersage to congress on the fishery question was mentioned as exciting alarm, which compelled the writer and others to seek further knowledge before casting their to seek for him. The writer also said that many English citizens had for years re-frained from being naturalized, but Mr. Cleveland's administration had been so fa-vorable and friendly toward England that thousands had become naturalized for the purpose of helping to elect him over again. He continued by saying that if Mr. Cleveland was pursuing a new policy toward Canada temporarily for the purpose of obtaining popularity and a continuation of his office four years more and intended to cease his policy when his re-election was secured and again favor England's interests, he would then have no further doubts and would vote for him. The object of the writer was to ascertain through the agency of an unofficial letter direct from the British minister the real attitude of the British government toward the two great political parties in the United States, to elicit a response which, when made public, should authoritatively settle the dis-puted question as to where the sympathy of that government and the people lay in the electoral conflict then impending. "Murchi-son" stated in his letter to Lord Sackville that he desired the minister's advice on the subject of voting, net only for the benefit the two great political parties in the United subject of voting, not only for the benefit of himself, but for the information of others.

LORD SACKVILLE'S REPLY.

Lord Sackville's reply was dated Beverly ass., September 13, 1888, and is as follows Mass., September 13, 1888, and is as follows: I fully appreciate the difficulty in which you find yourself in casting your vote. You are probably aware that any political party which openly favored the mother country at the present moment would lose popularity and that the party in power is fully aware fieve still desirous of maintaining friendly relations with Great Britain, and is still desirous of setting all questions with Car-ada, which have been unfortunately respond since the rejection of the treaty by the republican majority in the senaite and the president's message, to which you allude. To this end a bill has al-ready been drafted and submitted for the advice of Lieutenant Niblock, in charge of the naval militia division at the Navy de-partment, patterned upon the Massachusetts naval militia act, and providing for the crea-tion of four battallons each comprisions for ion of four battalions, each comprising four livisions, Lieutenant Niblack is looking forward to

Lieutenant Niblock is looking forward to considerable accessions to the naval militia on the great lakes, and the Navy depart-ment is taking steps to prepare for their training. The ordnance bureau is now con-sidering plans for a renovation of the battery of the shop-of-war Michigan, so as to make the ship suitable for the instruction of the militia in the use of modern ordnance. These plans contemplate the replacement of the present battery of antiquated thirty-pound Parrott guns and by two six-pounder and two one-pounder rapid firing rifles. CHICAGO, Oct. 9 .- Two forgers, said to be members of a noble family of Stockholm, Sweden, and who have been living for some time in regal style at the Lexington hotel, Twenty-second and Michigan avenue, were locked up at the Cottage Grove station last night. They have been posing as agents for the Illinois Humane society for four months, and it is said they have secured more than $5,000 by bogus checks. All these checks bore the forged signature of President John

G. Shortail or W. H. Flich of the Illinois Humane society. These checks were cashed in many towns of northern and central Illinois, and were drawn on two prominent Chicago banks. The forgeries were claverly executed and the checks very genuine in ap-

Several of the checks came through the channels of trade to the banks upon which they were drawn, and neither Mr. Shortall nor Mr. Fitch having deposits at these banks the checks were found to be forgeries. Detectives were sent to various towns where the checks had been received and accurate de-scriptions of the two forgers were secured. It was found that the real names of the two are E. C. and Thom Enstromer. They are brothers and distinguished looking and handsome chaps. A dozen Illinois bankers are ready to testify against them and Mr. Shortall is very anxious to prosecute them.

TRIED TO COMMIT MURDER BY MAIL THEY PADDED THE PAY ROLLS. Convict Physician in Sing Sing Plans Municipal Corruption Exposed by a

a Daring Crime. SING SING, Oct. 9 .- Warden Sage has submitted to General Lathrop, superintendent this morning three men were arrested who are charged with embezzling large amounts of state prisons at Albany, certain correspondence confiscated in Dr. Henry F. Meyer's of money from the city by padding the pay cell in Sing Sing prison, which shows up a murder, similar to the one for which he was convicted and sentenced to prison for life. Meyer was tried for the murder by slow poison of Carl Brandt, so that he could get the insurance money on Brandt's life. Meyer wrote letters in German to his wife, who was arrested with him, but was not tried, plan-ning another murder, so that she could get certain insurance money, which was to be used in getting him out of prison. The plan was called to the warden's attention some time ago, when Meyer gave Chap-lain Wells a letter written in German to Mrs. Meyer. He asked the chaplain to mail it for him. When the letter was translated the plot was discovered. A watch was placed on the doctor and his cell was searched, which brought to light letters and memoran das planning the murder. In the letter to his wife he said he would send her a prescrip tion to be used which would do the work. Warden Sage said today that the matter was ow in the hands of Superintendent Lathrop and a full investigation would be made. Dr Meyer is now employed in the clothing shop When he came to the prison he wanted a place in the apothecary shop and also in the hospital, but Frison Physician Irvino refused to place him in either department.

Grow Sumatra Tobacco Here. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 .- F. In a report to the State department he says this tobacco is suitable for growing in Lower California and on the southern coast of the United States. Con-sequently he has addressed himself to the task of procuring seed, and finding it impos-sible to obtain this through official channels owing to the reluctance of the Dutch planters, he has obtained a supply from a private source and forwarded it to the department. His report gives a complete description of the method of culture.
