Gust Gocke and Rae McGreer to Fight for Local Supremacy.

YORK, Neb., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—In the beginning of the bicycle season a twenty-mile road race was had at this place. The winners of this race were matched against each other for a twenty-mile road race, and the same not being satisfactory, a twenty-mile track race was planned, and won by Gust Gocke of this county by a few minutes over Rae McGreer of York second. This race was run the very good time of 55:06. During the county fair, which was held here some time ago, McGreer and Gocke were matched for a ten-mile race, and Gocke won again. On Friday, October 18, there was to be a race at this place, which it is thought will decide the question of supremacy. The race is for five miles, between E. M. Mocket of Lincoln, and Gust Gocke and Rae McGreer of this county. The race will be held at present, and as the race is to be governed by the L. A. What came near being a serious accident occurred last night at Culver & Jenks' barber shop, which is located under a brick building on Fifth street. It seems that Culver, in attempting to light a gas stove, arranged it in such a manner that the oil ran out of the reservoir over the top of the stove and caught fire. The whole stove seemed to be a mass of flames, and it looked as if the building would be destroyed. The fire company was called, but Culver went to work to extinguish the fire, and by the aid of a large piece of carpet and various other weapons of warfare soon had the flames under control.

TO FOLLOW COLONEL GILMAN

Promotions that Will Result as the Effects of His Retirement.

CHANGES IN COMMISSARY OFFICERS

Operation of Law Affects the Status of Several—General Orders from the New Commander—Recent Department Rulings.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The retirement of Lieutenant Colonel Jeremiah H. Gilman of the Subsistence department, on the 11th of November next, will be of especial interest to Omaha and its contingent of army officers, for the reason that a number of the officers who are affected by the retirement are either on duty at the headquarters of the department of the Platte, or have been stationed there some time in the past. Major Sempel T. Cushing, who will be promoted to the lieutenant colonelcy to succeed Colonel Gilman, was stationed in Omaha as commissary of subsistence for the department of the Platte for about a year, being succeeded in that capacity by Captain Frank E. Nye. Major Cushing left Omaha in 1890, and is now stationed in Washington as an assistant to Commissary General Morgan. Captain Henry G. Sharpe, who is now at St. Louis, will be made major to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Major Cushing. There are ten captains in the commissary department as at present, and recent orders limited the number of captains to eight, the promotion of Captain Sharpe will not cause a vacancy in the commissary department.

The next retirement in the commissary department will be that of Lieutenant Colonel Thomas Wilson, which will occur on June 1st next. Colonel Wilson is now in New York, but at one time he was stationed in Omaha. This retirement will cause the promotion of Major William A. Elderkin to the lieutenant colonelcy, and the promotion of Captain Frank E. Nye to be major. Captain Nye is now serving as the chief commissary of the department of the Platte and purchasing commissary at Omaha. The promotion of Captain Nye will bring the number of captains in this corps down to the limit allowed by law.

There will be no vacancy in the grade of colonel until the retirement of Colonel John W. Barriger and the consequent promotions. Colonel Barriger is now in private life, and on July 9, 1895, is now stationed at New York, and he, too, was at one time on duty in Omaha. Lieutenant Colonel William H. Scott, now in Washington, is being promoted to the colonelcy. Major William H. Nash, now at Fort Vancouver, will be made lieutenant colonel, and Captain Douglas M. Scott, now in Washington, will be promoted to the grade of major. The promotion of Captain Scott will leave a vacancy in the grade of captain to be filled by an appointment by the president.

The number of captains in the commissary department was reduced by one by the promotion of Captain Wells Willard to the grade of major, and the promotion of Captain Wells Willard to the grade of major, and the promotion of Captain Wells Willard to the grade of major.

The retirement of Lieutenant Colonel Gilman on the 11th of November will be the last retirement in the commissary department until the retirement of Lieutenant General Coffield, Colonel George H. Mendell of the engineer corps having been relegated to private life on Saturday last.

SOME RECENT GENERAL ORDERS. One of the first orders issued by command of Major General Miles, is a general circular which is published for the information of the army. This circular contains a number of general rulings, etc., which have been rendered recently, relative to important questions of current interest to the officers and soldiers of the army.

The first decision given is one rendered by the assistant secretary of war on September 10, 1895, as follows: "A soldier on duty in the commissary department, while in this status, be brought before a military court for trial, but the military proceedings cannot interfere with the civil, and if a soldier is brought before a military court, which would cover the time fixed for the man's trial by the civil court, the military proceedings are postponed until the soldier is withdrawn from duty by the civil process, his pay status is not affected thereby."

On September 13, last, Lieutenant General John M. Schofield rendered the following decision: "The provision of paragraph 185 of the infantry drill regulations making a soldier responsible for the theoretical and practical instruction of his company, does not, nor was it intended to, make him independent in such respect of supervision, and necessary in his commanding officer. If the captain is immediately responsible for the company, the colonel is no less so for the captain, and it is the duty of the colonel to see that the efforts of the captain are directed aright. The principle herein set forth is universally applicable to all similar questions."

The following general order relative to the misfire of cartridges with the new magazine rifle is also published: "A number of cases of misfire of cartridges, recently found in service, were attributed to the fact that the bolt of the rifle was not entirely closed, and the handle turned down to its extreme position when the trigger was pulled. Attention is called to the necessity for pulling the bolt handle well to place before the trigger is pulled in order to avoid the chance of misfire, failure to properly close the bolt may lead to serious consequences. First, the handle may not be fully pressed down when the cartridge is loaded; second, the soldier in pulling the trigger may press slightly under the handle of the bolt and throw it up sufficiently to cause a misfire."

Another general order published in this circular provides that acting ordnance officers of posts will issue spare parts for the new magazine arms only when such parts are actually required to replace broken ones. On September 26, 1895, the secretary of war concurred in the opinion of the judge advocate general of the army who ruled that "service as cadet at the United States Military Academy should be included in computing the thirty years' service on which an officer may be retired."

A decision of the secretary of war rendered September 26, last, held that "an enlisted man dishonorably discharged for violation of the fifth article of war, in enlisting in the service without a regular discharge from the organization to which he belongs, will be reported as 'dishonorably discharged' on the records of such organization, and not on that in which he enlisted fraudulently. He will be accounted for on the records of the organization to which he served under illegal enlistment as 'dropped,' with the facts noted against his name."

On the instant the secretary of war issued an order to the effect that "whenever any officer of the line or staff is ordered before an examining or retiring board original copies of all military records affecting the character or efficiency of the officer on file in the War Department will be forwarded to the examining or retiring board."

The scenes of Lincoln J. Carter's new play, "The Defaulter," are laid in the English province of Lancashire. It is one of the best and most favorably known theatrical managers in the country. He got his first experience in the management of the William E. Sinn of Park theater, Brooklyn, who is about as thorough a theatrical manager as this country affords. After a few years at the Park theater Mr. Sinn was given charge of one of the Colonels' road attractions, which he handled so successfully that he was induced to buy himself a share in his own attraction. The enormous business done by "On the Bowery" all over the country is due in no small degree to his business sagacity.

"SADDEST OF THE YEAR."

But Fall Days Need Not Be Sad If People Will Not Let Them Be. The fall days are rapidly passing, and before long winter will be upon us. Now is the time to consider whether we are prepared to withstand the dangers which we must be exposed during the coming season. Even perfectly healthy people feel the change from summer heat to the coolness of fall and early winter. There is malaria in the atmosphere, and few people can escape its enervating effects. Under these circumstances something is needed to quicken the pulse, drive out the germs of disease, restore the general health, and promote the general health. For this purpose, there is no equal to Duffy's Pure Malt Whisky, which is endorsed and recommended by the best physicians in the land. Thousands of men and women have testified to its health-giving and strength-giving properties. It is a perfect tonic, and its use is a sure and safe way to get well. Waterbury, Conn., Oct. 13.—A serious freight wreck occurred here tonight, when two parts of a broken train came together. Ten cars loaded with trotting horses, live stock and other exhibits from the Danbury fair were crushed and thrown down a forty foot embankment. Mazappa, the famous champion trick horse of the world, valued at $40,000, was instantly killed, one man was fatally injured and two others seriously hurt. The injuries are: George W. Luago, groom, both legs broken, will die; Henry Thompson, Boston, cut about head, arms and body; James McGarron, Boston, contusion on head, arms and body.

When about a mile from this city the train parted in the middle and the two sections came together again with a tremendous crash when near the center of the city. Cars were splintered and piled up in every direction. Ten of these fell in fragments to the bottom of a forty foot embankment. The car containing Mazappa was reduced to kindling wood. He was owned by H. D. McGuire of Boston. The groom, Harry Thompson, had a miraculous escape from death. McGarron was pinned under a portion of the wreck for two hours and had to be cut out with saws. Traffic was suspended the entire evening.

LONDON Times Comments Castile.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—In an editorial this morning the Times says: "Secretary Carlisle's speech at Boston goes to the very root of the mischief of currency legislation. We should be glad to think that his argument is likely to prevail with congress. It can only be hoped that the better political party can carry a measure advantageous to itself alone, the question may be lifted out of the rut of party politics and a new political party can carry a measure advantageous to itself alone, the question may be lifted out of the rut of party politics and a new political party can carry a measure advantageous to itself alone."
