AN INFAMOUS CONSPIRACY.

The refusal of the council combine to confirm the appointments of judges and clerks of election appointed by Mayor Benis in conformity with the law is part of an infamous conspiracy to disfranchise the citizens of Omaha at the election next Tuesday and to count in men who do not receive a majority of the votes cast.

This conspiracy contemplates nothing more nor less than the perpetration of wholesale frauds by election boards packed in the interest of the dervish candidates and a lawless interference with the votes by police acting under orders of W. J. Bronich, chairman of the police commission and dervish candidate for mayor.

The program of the conspirators has not been a mystery. It was discussed among members of Council 125 more than ten days ago and one of the A. P. A. ward heebers served personal notice on Mayor Benis, through his secretary, that the council would reject every election officer that was not satisfactory to it.

Councilman Saunders, chairman of the council judiciary committee, who is designated in the A. P. A. documents now in our possession as captain of the Fifth ward, had the impudence and audacity to assert that the men were rejected because they were incompetent, when in fact every applicant was required by the mayor to give proofs of his competency, and those proofs are on file in the mayor's office.

The real reason and the only reason for this outrageous conduct is that the gang proposes to rape the ballot boxes. If the object was to get more competent men than the mayor had selected why did the combine adjourn immediately so as to prevent the mayor from sending in other names?

Three of the councilmen who have taken active part in this conspiracy, A. G. Edwards, S. I. Gordon and Halfdan Jacobsen, are candidates for city and county offices and their only hope is to defeat the will of the people, which they already know is overwhelmingly in favor of their retirement to private life.

We serve notice on the conspirators and their abettors that the citizens of Omaha will not allow their rights to be trampled under foot and their franchises wrested from them either by fraud or by force.

Hereafter judges who have occupied positions in this judicial district have been men selected for their known experience and ability. Never before in the history of this judicial district has it been thought necessary for judicial candidates to traverse the district and engage in the slum work of the ordinary politician.

It is fortunate for Mr. Edwards, now running for city treasurer, that he is not a member of the Chicago Board of Trade or he might be expelled from the organization for operating as a bucket shop gambler besides being trampled down in his ambition for public office.

putating their power and the power of the judges as expert politicians.

Upon the other hand such men as Wakeley, Duffie, Keyser, Hopewell, Redick, Magney and Ferguson, sedate, conservative judicial minds, if invested with the power of making these appointments, will make them upon a basis other than the mere political trickster.

Referring to the proposal to retire the legal tender notes, which is the cardinal feature of the administration plan of currency reform, one of the ablest financial papers in the country, the New York Commercial Bulletin, says that neither congress nor the people may be expected to assent to any contraction of the currency. In order to retire the greenbacks it would be necessary, under present conditions, with the revenues of the government falling behind the expenditures, to issue bonds.

It is not probable that for such a purpose the government could sell bonds bearing a less rate of interest than 4 per cent. This would burden the country with an additional annual interest of nearly $1,000,000 and contract the currency to the amount of $346,000,000, taking from it the best form of paper money we have. True, it is proposed to replace this by allowing state banks to issue currency, but no acceptable plan for doing this has yet been devised, and moreover the American people, or such of them as know anything about a state bank currency, do not want such a substitute for the greenbacks. It seems to be assumed that President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle have decided to recommend legislation for retiring both the greenbacks and the Sherman notes and it is equally certain that no such proposition will receive any serious consideration from the republican house of representatives.

That genial but unreliable and unscrupulous champion of the dervish ticket, John Lee Webster, has taken the contract to keep the people of Omaha away from the Coliseum tonight. He has had the town flooded with dodgers announcing that he proposes on the same night to expose the origin of the citizens' reform movement at another place. Several brass bands have been engaged regardless of expense to assist Mr. Webster in drumming up an audience, and a procession of hired torch bearers is to light the way to Webster's show.

But the herculean task of stemming the irresistible tidal wave of reform is not to rest upon the shoulders of John Lee alone. He has secured the aid of Assistant City Attorney Cornish as sponge holder while he mops off all the spots from the tattooed candidates. If any man, or rather any two men, were equal to this task it would be the firm of Webster & Cornish, general white-washers and record-cleaners. Webster gained immortal fame in scouring off the black spots from the impeached state house officials who had connived at the penitentiary steals and asylum robberies. Cornish points with pride to the letter which he wrote to Mayor Benis, in which he glossed over the defalcation in the city treasury, exonerated the embezzlers and excused the criminal negligence of the comptroller and his deputies.

Webster was city attorney under Broatch, while at the same time he was attorney for the owners of the gas works. He made a bold bluff to resist the inflated $45,000 gas claim and was instrumental with Broatch in having the city confess judgment. Cornish conducted the Olson investigation and instead of prosecuting him was constantly inventing excuses for him. Webster and Cornish may ridicule and belittle the efforts of citizens to rid themselves of incompetents and rogues in public office, but intelligent people will discredit their talk and refuse to be sidetracked from the main issue that will be discussed by Henry D. Estabrook, W. S. Poppleton and other able speakers at the Coliseum tonight.

According to Washington advices our government has another complication on hand. It is stated that the State department is being a good deal annoyed by the persistent failure of the Turkish government to comply with the requirements of modern diplomacy and in the event that government continuing to ignore conditions on the part of its officials of the rights of American citizens within its domain it is said to be the intention of Secretary Olney to resort to the most drastic treatment. It appears that diplomatic questions with Turkey have arisen with such frequency in the last two years that they now occupy almost as much of the time of the State department as those of more important countries. They further require the presence of one or two war ships almost constantly in Turkish waters and a close watch on the part of the American minister at Constantinople to protect United States citizens and those who have denied their allegiance to Turkey from annoyance and even bodily injury.

A case now before the State department is that of an American woman who was assaulted and severely maltreated by banditti. Some of the assaults were arrested, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment, from which they escaped. Our government now insists that these persons be rearrested and punished and threatens, in the event of this not being done, to demand an indemnity. A Washington dispatch says that Secretary Olney makes no concealment of his desire to bring about some definite understanding with Turkey regarding her recognition of the rights of American citizens to receive that protection to which they are entitled, and if this cannot be accomplished Turkey will unquestionably have to face the stern realization that she must be treated with rigor and decision.

The first step the administration should take, if it is really anxious to secure from the Turkish government proper protection of the rights of American citizens, is to recall the

LOCAL CAMPAIGN CHATTER.

When you read the accounts of defuncting city and county treasurers you will find in almost every case that the defaulter had a shabby deal on the board of trade and got swamped in protecting it. It is inviting a defalcation to vote for a man for city treasurer who is a bucket shop fiend. A. G. Edwards has lost his own money on the board of trade and there is no assurance that he would not lose the city's money in the same way if he were elected treasurer of Omaha.

NO. 101.—To members of the Conference Committee, A. G. Edwards. I am a candidate for congress to succeed Dave Mercer next fall. You understand my position. I am with you from start to finish and you know I have publicly denied that I am a member of the order, but you fully understand that I have to keep my republican record clean. The fact that I have been fighting your battle for you this fall ought to satisfy you of my sympathy with your cause. Didn't I do all I could to get you elected? Didn't I call for your friend? When Dave Mercer was called in he made one speech for you and then skipped out to Minneapolis, while I have been here every day trying to wash the spots off Scott's political garments. If this is not a sufficient test of loyalty to your cause would you like to know what I would do if you tried all the respectable lawyers in town and they all refused. Webster doesn't like the job any better than I do, but he has the promise of the city attorneyship, and I certainly want something for prostrating my manhood and degrading myself in this cause. Trusting that I will get your endorsement for the position I seek, I am, gentlemen, yours fraternally, E. J. CORNISH.

NO. 888.—To members of the Conference Committee, A. P. A.—Gentlemen and Friends: As soon as you can get around to it I want a vindication. I am under bonds to the city for a certain term of the district court to answer to the charge of robbing the city by changing the course of nature and making a hole in the levee and ten deaths. That is no worse than Broatch has done and I am as much entitled to a vindication as he is. I am a member of Council 125 in good standing. ISRAEL FRANK.

When Henry Boll refused to let West-brook examine the cash books in the city treasurer's office, why didn't John appeal to the conference committee of the A. P. A. as he did in all other matters connected with the administration of the city affairs. That's another case of criminal negligence on John's part.

NO. XX.—To members of the Conference Committee, A. P. A.—Gentlemen: It's bad enough to lose money in a bucket shop deal, but it is worse to lose and then kick me out of my own money. I have $12,000 to make up the sum I had to pay to take up that judgment against me. Think I can square the business if that is done. A. G. EDWARDS.

Hiram Savage, the bellicose balliff of C. Raster Scott's court, tried to do a little eccentriking the other day on his own account. He harped that there were 150 members of the Omaha Wheel club and thought he would sound them as to how they would take to a little lunch and amber refreshments at the expense of Judge Scott. He accordingly approached one of the well known members of the club and asked for his opinion. "I'll tell you just how it is," remarked the boy with the bicycle face, "you tell Judge Scott what we'll do for lunch and drink his beer, but if we find a member in the ranks who is ornery enough to vote for Scott we'll puncture his head for him." Uncle Hiram saved the lunch.

OMAHA, Oct. 30.—Hon. H. C. Russell, Omaha Public Lands and Buildings Commissioner, says that he has been working that letter racket for all it is worth. I have shown the saloon men here your letter and that if I am defeated for mayor I will be reappointed as member of the Fire and Police board when my term expires in December. I don't care to flash on nearly every saloon keeper in Omaha. They are all anxious to get rid of me as member of the board and would vote for me for mayor if they could accomplish the feat. They would be disappointed if they thought I wouldn't take your word for it. They say that your promise may not be any better than mine. I am going to O'Connell's and will be there for you, and that promptly. The promise won't do. Send me the commission on the great big seal in red letters, so as to make it apparently binding. Of course you can tie any confidential string to the commission that you see fit, but send it and so quick. Burn this letter. Yours in distress, W. J. BROATCH.

PERSONAL AND OTHERWISE. The governor of Arkansas displays admirable energy in pulling off the fight. Why should the spirit of mortal be sad while countless candidates lend so much glory to life. Tacomans were surprised to find their city treasurer shy $109,000. Stranger still, he is in jail and there is a growing disposition to prosecute him. William E. Gladstone calls the sultan of Turkey "a curse God has given to mankind." The Grand Old Man still has perfect control of his famous vocabulary. It was an unlicensed poet who said that "Autumn leaves." Perhaps owing to the prevailing cordiality of the reception hereabouts, deprecare is indefinitely postponed. Mayor Pingree, the potato statesman of Detroit, is likened by admirers to Washington and Lincoln. They threaten to break into a presidential campaign, but for the present they will vegetate at home. Senator Sherman grows younger as the years pile on. He is vigorous and alert, as bright as an arrow and his step is elastic. It is alleged that the venerable senator is living down his reputation for frigidity. He has thawed out noticeably in the last year. It is a bad thing to have on a jury a man who has the habit of winking unconsciously. Such a man was chosen as jurymen in a trial held at Haverhill, Pa., and because he was seen to wink apparently at the prosecutor a new trial of the case has been demanded. It is calculated by a scientist who knows it all that this planet has rounded out 55,149,000 years. Perhaps annual, biennial and quadrennial campaigns are comparatively modern events and there would be reasonable grounds for doubting this oracle of science. But really it doesn't look it. Guerrilla, who is now the first ball fighter in Omaha, has appeared in the field this season and is engaged for nineteen more. He receives $1,200 for each appearance, and his expenses average $400 a performance. His clear income amounts to over $90,000 a year besides the presents made to him. An exchange suggests that now is the time to use force on Turkey. That depends on the selection of the material. With a scanty twenty days before marketing, moderation and discretion should be exercised so as not to overheat the fan with the fan. The wise Turkman avoids the club and ramrod. Only in one respect will the Marlborough bride override the dictum of fashion. The heels of the bridal shoes are cut low, so as not to make the disparity in height of bride and groom too conspicuous. The duke is three inches shorter than the bride, but with the settlement of $10,000,000 practically arranged he will not be short very long. Secretary Barstow, the Kaffir boomer, whose amazing bound into fame and fortune is one of the marvels of the hour, is quite a Jocosse individual, who takes nothing seriously—no sports, no games, no politics, no business, no light fiction and is a student of the drama. He aspires to the position of a playwright and says that he would be willing to lose half his fortune to write a great drama. Joaquin Miller related an anecdote in Oakland, Cal., the other day of Carlyle, whom he visited with Lord Houghton in Chelsea. The two were in dressing gown and slippers, sat at his fireplace and poked the fire while he discoursed on the immortality of the soul. "I know of but one thing on this earth more monstrous than a man without religion," said he. "And what is that thing?" asked one of the visitors. "It is a woman without religion," said Carlyle.

OMAHA COUNTY MONEY MISSING.

Treasurer Reported to Be Short by an Expert Accountant. SIOUX CITY, Oct. 31.—Special Telegram—T. C. Cannon, an expert accountant of this place, has just completed a report on the financial condition of Cedar county, Nebraska, in which he shows a shortage in the accounts of the ex-current county clerk, John Gobeil, of $3,631.65 for his term of years from December 31, 1894, and in those of his predecessors, Claus Crismon and Franz Nelson, of $1,048.09 and $2,450.58 respectively. Gobeil is a present candidate for reelection. His refusal to settle until an expert employed by himself has examined the records.

Iowa Live Stock Breeders Meet. MASON CITY, Ia., Oct. 31.—(Special.)—The twenty-second annual meeting of the Iowa Live Stock Breeders' association met for a two days' session at Osage yesterday. The short horn breeders held a very interesting session this afternoon. Among the topics discussed were: "Iowa's Wealth," by A. A. Berry of Clarinda; "The American Farmer," by Prof. W. M. Beardshair of Ames; "Sticks to Your Bush," by A. G. Lucas of Des Moines; "The American Farmer," by Barrett of Osage; "Hereditarily as a Factor in Live Stock Improvement," by Prof. C. P. Curtis of Ames; "Reflections on the Capacity of the Soil," by Prof. D. A. Kent of Jewell Junction; "Some Precautions Against Imparting Disease of Our Live Stock," by Prof. M. H. Stiles of Ames; "The Agricultural College," by James Wilson Ames, the "Average Farmer," by E. C. Bennett of Tripoli. A banquet will be tendered the association Thursday evening.

Transferred One Distillery. CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Leaves have been in the county recorder's office by which John McNulta, as recorder of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company, gives over to the use of the American Spirits Manufacturing company the property known as the South Side distillery for the term of years ending October 1, 1912, and E. J. Jensen as president of the Distilling and Cattle Feeding company conveys the same in a second deed. The property is used for distilling purposes and that the lease shall run until renewal for the term stated.

Big Four Will Have a Fast Mail. CLEVELAND, Oct. 31.—An attempt will be made by the Big Four next Monday, unless present plans are changed, to make the fastest single track time on record. The trial will be made between this city and St. Louis. It is scarcely expected that the phenomenal time made last week by the Lake Shore, 67 miles per hour actual running time, will be equaled, but it is hoped that the 549 miles between Cleveland and St. Louis will be covered in 10 hours and 10 minutes, or sixty miles an hour will be recorded. Should this be accomplished, it will beat the single track record of the world.

Good Prospects for Another Lanching. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—Great excitement prevails in the little suburban village of Brent, eight miles west of the city, on the Missouri Pacific railroad. John O'Connell, an expressman at that place, was shot and mortally wounded late last night by a pair of murderous robbers who entered the saloon of the Omaha Wheel club and thought he would sound them as to how they would take to a little lunch and amber refreshments at the expense of Judge Scott. He accordingly approached one of the well known members of the club and asked for his opinion. "I'll tell you just how it is," remarked the boy with the bicycle face, "you tell Judge Scott what we'll do for lunch and drink his beer, but if we find a member in the ranks who is ornery enough to vote for Scott we'll puncture his head for him." Uncle Hiram saved the lunch.

Husband Goads His Wife to Suicide. INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—Mrs. Harry H. Branch of the Chicago Lyceum theater is dead at English's hotel, this city, with a bullet hole through her breast. At her feet lay a five-year-old child, who had been trying to awaken his mother. Branch and his wife were engaged in getting up an entertainment for the Young Women's Christian association. Mrs. Branch killed herself, her husband says, because he goaded her to it.

Wholesale Dry Goods Men Fall. HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 31.—Half a New-bourer Bros., wholesale dry goods and cotton buyers, today filed a deed of trust and a chattel mortgage with C. S. Reckman as trustee, covering a stock of cotton and real estate in several counties. Total liabilities are $225,000, of which $181,250 is preferred. Assets are estimated at $210,000.

Concurred in the Jenkins Decision. NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—In the action of the Farmers' Loan and Trust company against the Northern Pacific Railroad company, Judge Lacombe in the United States circuit court today concurred in the decision of Jenkins, permitting the first and third mortgage bondholders to become parties to the suit.

Will Continue Present Agreement. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 31.—The executive officers of thirty-five railroads, representing all of the principal systems west of Chicago and the Mississippi river, in session here to agree upon rules for government of transportation, have decided to continue the present year's agreement for 1896.

National Passenger Agents Meet. DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 31.—About 100 members of the National Association of Passenger Agents met in annual convention in this city this morning. After addresses of welcome and responses a vote was taken to the state fair and race. Officers will be elected today.

SATOLLO TO WEAR THE RED HAT.

Receives Official Notice of His Elevation from Rome. WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Mgr. Satollo today received official notice of his elevation to be a cardinal. The first announcement came by letter and this was followed by a cablegram from Cardinal Gibbons, as follows: "To the Most Eminent Cardinal Gibbons, U. S. A.: I am happy to inform you that the Holy Father having decided to confer the cardinalate upon the apostolic delegate, Mgr. Satollo, I am glad to announce that he is to be a cardinal. In this way to perform an act gratifying to your equities." RAMPOLLA, Cardinal.

Assigned in Favor of Creditors. PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 31.—The Frank Bros. Implement company, Mayor George P. Frank, president, wholesale and retail dealers in farm implements and carriages, has made an assignment in favor of its creditors. The firm has been in business here for twenty years and has done an extensive business. The low prices for farm products which have ruled for several years and the loss of the grain crop in certain sections in 1894 have rendered it impossible for collections to be made. The firm has been carrying these accounts up for some time to do so when it was deemed best to make an assignment. No statement of assets and liabilities is obtainable.

Used the Malls for Fraud. CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—C. W. Prior, who has an office at 127 La Salle street, was arrested this morning on a bench warrant from the federal district court and held for trial in the sum of $1,500. Prior was indicted by the grand jury last week on a charge of using the mails for the furtherance of a fraudulent scheme. He sent out circulars under the name of the United States Press association asking for contributions and promising a rich reward for all news sent to his alleged association. He wanted $50 admission fee to his association and a commission and a badge in exchange for the $50.

Receivers Liable for Contempt. SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 31.—Under Judge Harford's citation, issued October 2, Thomas P. Oakes, Henry C. Reese and James C. Payne, the receivers of the Northern Pacific, will be liable to imprisonment for contempt of court unless they appear today and show cause why an attachment should not issue. There is no prospect that they will appear.

CHERRY REMARKS. "Puck: He-I confess I don't quite understand what a woman means by a confidante. She—A confidante is the first one to whom a woman tells a secret." "Harper's Bazar: The bride on the honeymoon. Why not only bought one ticket, dear? The groom—By Jove! I never thought of myself!" "Truth: Mrs. Temple—Aren't you afraid to stay in your house when you go to bed? Why not? Mrs. Dacks—Oh, not at all. The woman on this bed is engaged to my cook."

Yonkers Statesman: He—What did the doctor say was the matter with you? She—She said I was not all like the flies. "What did he recommend?" "Bicycle riding." "And that will make business for him, because you'll run other people down."

Cincinnati Enquirer: "I understand that Tillinger and his bride have quarreled already. The bride is going to the wedding presents being. He wanted two or three things to take to his office. She insisted that he be allowed to stay at the house."

Indianapolis Journal: Tommy—Paw, why is it the good die young? Mr. Fleg—The good die young because they are good. But they stay good because they die young.

Yonkers Statesman: "You can see for yourself that these goods are marked down," said the salesman pointing to the altered price marks. "They appear to be all marked up," replied the customer, as he looked at the many hieroglyphics.

Washington Star: "This pie," he said, apologetically, "is not all like the pies they used to give me at home." "No, you've answered in a voice that was very genuine," replied the waiter, as he looked at the man who had bought the pie.

San Francisco Examiner. The young man rose to give the girl a seat. She was a maiden with a fair complexion. Who, as she smiled a smile as honey sweet, Was thrown upon another young man's knee. Then strode away in rage the first young man; Jumped from the moving car with loud exclamations; And 'twere a most profane and foolish plan To try to think the thoughts that young man thought.

CITIZENS' LEAGUE ACROSTIC. Content this year to sink our party cries, I hope our public funds from hoodlers' eyes, In safety place them where they will remain, Zealously guarded by elected honest men, Each one about to elect clever, clean, No hoodlers like the past we want again, Success to our fair city is what we mean.

Review our county officers must stand each one beyond reproach, their record stainless be, A. P. A. in council must not rule our land, Give us the equal chance—this country's trend, 'Tis not the glorious heritage bequeathed us at our birth, E quality before the law, we love for all it's worth. Omaha. —I. McE.

Browning, King & Co. FINE PHOTOGRAPHS OF YOUR BOY FREE FREE This offer holds good from now until Christmas. Commencing Thursday, Oct. 31, we present with each purchase of $6 or over from our children's young men's clothing department, an order on Blinckel's 12 photograph, for a half dozen beautifully finished cabinet photographs (2 proofs for selection), no advertising, not even our name on the photograph. Our only condition is that the boy or young man, when having photograph taken, shall wear the garments bought from us. That alone is advertisement enough for us. You give them to your friends—maybe tell them about the Browning-King garments—that'll bring in other boys, too. Young men—15 to 20 years—give their photographs to their friend—and surely they will mention that they are dressed in Browning-King's fashionable clothing.
