PREFERS WAR TO SUBMISSION. King of Ashanii Gives His Answer to England's Ultimatum.

ACCRA, Gold Const Colony, British West Africa, Oct. 31 .- Captain Donald Stewart, the special British commissioner, who was sen o Coomassie, the capital of Ashanti, recently scorted by 100 Hussars under Captains Kramer and Irvine, to present the king of Ashanti with the ultimatum of Great Britain arrived, bringing the first authentic news of the result of his mission. The king of Ashanti has rejected the British ultimatum. saying that he prefers war to accepting the terras of the British, and adds that he is fully prepared for it. The terms of the British ultimatum were that the king should have a British commissioner in his country and that he should place Ashanti under the protec tion of Great Britain. He was given until today to reply. A strong force of native troops will now be dispatched to Coomassie to force the king to terms. Sir Francis Scott, inspector general of the Gold Coast force, who is now in England, will leave for West Africa as soon as posible to organize the force, which is expected to begin its advance by the middle of December. A strong body of Hussars will take part in the expedition.

Mission at St. John's Episcopal.

A fifteen day mission under the conduct of Rev. Father Wattson was begun at St. John's Episcopal church last evening. A careful house to house visitation was made of the part of the city in which St. John's is situated, and an invitation extended to every one to attend the mission, without regard to denominational differences. A mission in the Episcopal church is by no means an everyday occurrence. In fact, there have been but two such series of services in the Episcopal church of Omaha, Father Huntington's mission at St. Barna-bas' in 1850, and Father Cropsey's at the Cathedral in the Lent of 1862. While the ordinary services of the Episcopal church are more or less ritualistic and ceremonial, those of a mission are of the simplest and most informal character. Alvin Ediling left Omaha in August, 1894, and went to Houston, Tex., where he en-tered the employ of the Texas Iteal Estate and Immigration company, as a stenog-rapher, and at which place he died Tuesday after an illness of three days. He graduated from one of the commercial colleges of this city and carried The Bee in order to enable him to secure funds to assist in paying his way through college. He had many friends in this city and was universally liked. Just prior to his departure for Texas, his friends tendered him a farewell reception, which included a moonlight picule in Hans-com park.

Ball of Hibernian Knights.

There was a large attendance last night t the ball given at Creighton hall by the Hibernian Knights. When the orchestra struck up the grand march nearly 200 couples took their places on the floor, and it was seen that Master of Ceremonies Garvey had not made extra proparations to preceive a large crowd in vain. A long pro-gram of dances had been arrangel, which was a cessation of festivities, while the members of the order and their ladies went to the Karbach cafe, where a fine supper was served. The reception committee was composed of T. Garvey, M. P. Hinchey, M. D. Stafford and M. Hannigan.
