Rumors of Rich Deposits Around Milford Said to Be Verified.

LATEST REPORT OF A STATE EXPERT

Prof. Bartlett Declares the Ground in that Locality Conceals Fabulous Wealth, Which Can Be Secured on Small Investment. LINCOLN, Nov. 2 .- (Special.)-There is another installment of gold mining excitement in the capital city. For the past ten days Prof. Herbert Bartlett of the ochre plant at Indianola, Red Willow county, has been investigating the fields in the vicinity of Milford. Heretofore fragments of Prof. Bartlett's conversation have been exceedingly conservative, indicating that he was inclined to proceed cautiously and not commit himself too far. Today he made the following re-

Milford: "Gentlemen: Some time since I came here n accordance with an agreement made with Mr. Taylor to assume temporary control of your gravel deposits and inspect and test the same. This I have now completed, and am therefore rendering this report: "Upon my arrival here I found that the nformation received of these vast treasure vaults had been erroneous. Instead of a ledge deposit, as one expert had put it, I found a gravel gold-bearing claim miles in extent, and much of it fabulously rich, and, taking it altogether, it is equal in extent vaster in depth and richer in value than any similar deposit in the world. Indeed, there have been but two similar ones known—one the great middle field of Australia, from which the owner cleared $2,000,000 and over; the one in Honduras, which I equipped for the late Thomas Parrott, was the other, and in regard to deposit was similar to this one. This Honduras mine added millions to the already princely fortune of its owner. Neither of these mines named was in point of value anything like this one. The Aus tralian gave from $1.25 to $2.90 per ton. The Honduras was worth about 10 cubic yard, equal to a ton. This latter was washed very cheaply by using from three to six giants. The dump was the ocean shore and the outgoing tide left the dump entirely FABULOUSLY RICH. "These tests have been carefully made and conservatively judged, and viewing this deposit from a lifetime of experience, I pronounce it of fabulous value. Shafts and test holes have been sunk and value established, and nothing now remains to do but to adopt some plans or means whereby this gold can be gotten out cheaply and quickly. There has been some talk of mills, rockers, etc., but if either of these was adopted the day of judgment would be here before the last of this body would be treated. "How shall we get this water? The Blue river is near, but the water is so low in the channel that to get it is an impossioility, and if a pump were resorted to mill interests along the river would demand all the water, and so this puts it out of the question. WILL USE ARTESIAN WATER. "So we come back to the only recourse left-artesian wells. With two wells located just across the water shed apex sloping to ward the Blue. Two eight-inch wells would reach this entire gold producing deposit, and after this was out would be a first-class commercial investment, as this will solve the problem for the Nebraska farmers. Artesian wells are no longer an experiment. The mesozoic rock, no matter where it is found, always gives water in abundance. A water level run in this country during the location of the Union Pacific railroad this rock at 700 to 800 feet below the surface. The boring to this depth will be of but little expense as compared with any other means of providing the same, and will be as nothing compared to what water usually costs to work gravel mines. "It is a fair test to measure ourselves by others, and from this standpoint we are fairly sure of success. At Beaver Crossing are fifty wells, all flowing and doing good work. This is less than fifteen miles from Milford. At Niobrara City is one eight-inch well that is 650 feet deep, has a natural flow under ninety-five pounds, is eighty feet high and is used to run a roller mill by and an electric light by night. New York, Onio, Illinois, Canada and the Dakotas are all in line in artesian wells, and the prosperity of this semi-arid section, as well as the gold output of this locality, depends upon these wells. Finally, permit me to con-gratulate the owners of this property upon their rare good fortune in securing this

Prof. Bartlett has been connected for some time with the federal geological survey in Colorado and has had considerable experience in gold mining in South Africa, Honduras and other noted fields. At the request of A. O. Taylor he came to Lincoln. Taylor recently purchased an option on 160 acres of land in the alleged gold district, for which he agreed to pay $12,000. He is said to have closed the deal today, on the strength of Prof. Bartlett's report, and paid up for the land at the rate of $75 an acre.

AMONG CASS COUNTY FARMERS Busy Harvesting a Fine Corn Crop and Preparing the Ground.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Nov. 2 .- (Special.) The farmers of Cass county are engaged in shucking corn, which is reported as being The small grain yielded from 10 to 25 cent better than the owners expected. J. C. Cummins, ex-county treasurer of this county year had in about forty acres of small grain, from which he expected to get about fifteen bushels of wheat and twenty bushels of oats, but when he threshed last week his wheat made twenty-one and a half bushels to the acre and the oats went a fraction over thirty-two.

The farmers throughout this country have hit upon a plan in the last few years that has proven a great benefit in many ways. As a representative agriculturist said today in answer to the question: "Why do so many farmers do their fall ploughing as scon as the crop is off, sow it to fall wheat and then plow it up and put in corn in the reasons for this. In the first place, seed wheat is cheap, and if thus used answers as more or less of a fertilizer, and when we do our fall plowing these dry falls and have the soil from being carried off by the winter winds, but should we have plenty of snow which fall wheat requires to keep it from what we call 'winter kill,' then we are oure of a good stand of wheat, which we can let stand or plow under as we like. On the other hand, should our fall wheat 'winter kill,' and we need some wheat, we go ahead and put in spring wheat. To illustrate the different circumstances: There was one year that I had in nearly seventy-five acres in | and certain returns which may be depended

The very next fall, of course, I was short on small grain and sowed something like the small grain in the small grain gr acres. But we were cut short on snow and I had not over one-fourth of a stand of wheat, and I was compelled to put in spring wheat. In both cases the seed when cheap, and I lost it, but my ground was

The apple business here has taken a peculiar turn in the last two weeks. Two or three weeks ago apples could be had on any terms and in any quantities at almost any price. But now it is almost an impossibility to get them at any price. They are selling at the rate of about $1.25 per bushel, but there seems to be none to be gotten, as they were all shipped out. There was over 100 cars shipped from this county east and about sixty cars shipped west.
