Central Trust Company Wins Against the St. Joseph and Grand Island.

DECREE OF FORECLOSURE TO BE ENTERED the pleasing announcement was made Auction to Be Had at Hastings Depot and Four Million Must Be

Bid - Interesting Point Passed On.

In the decision rendered yesterday ... the case of the Central Trust company against by Frederick Archer. Right Rev. Bishop the St. Joseph & Grand Island Railroad company, in which the Central Trust company wished to foreclose on the first mortgage bonds, there was a point decided which has Hoffman, and "Songs of the Vikings," by not before been clearly decided in the history of railway litigation. The points in question were as to whether the proceedings had been irregular or not in the matter of notice, and the further question as to whether the mortgagees have the right to foreclose without waiting a certain length of time when there is a clause in the mortgage which stipulates that that certain length of time purchase of works of art, and that he would shall have elapsed after the last default in payment of interest or payment of principal, or both, before foreclosure proceedings can be entered upon. This matter clause is the one which is of note, for many of the mortgages of railroads stipulate that foreclosure cannot be entered upon before six months shall have elapsed after the last payment has become due and unpaid. In this particular Judge Sanborn ruled that it was a stipu-lation which was irregular and of no force, and that foreclosure proceedings can be be-gun at any time after there has been a default in payment of the interest on the bonds or of the principal when due. The whole of the morning session was given to arguing the evidence as brought out in depositions taken in New York last burg by Mr. Carnegie. July, F. K. Pendleton, attorney for the second mortgage bondiolders, representing $1,680,000 of bonds at a market value of about 6 per cent, intervened in the case, arguing for more time in the hope that there might be some change in affairs which would enhance the value of the bonds. He argued that the proceedings were irregular for the reason that there had not been due demand made for the payment of the interest, and that on that account there had been a neglect of the rights of the holders of the second mortgage bonds. The first argument was as to whether or not the Central Trust company was a duly appointed agent of the raitroad for the payment of the interest. The depositions taken in New York showed that there was no record obtainable which

that there was no record obtainable which showed conclusively that the Trust com-pany had been appointed the agent, the only evidence in this regard being a cononly evidence in this regard being a col-tract or traffic agreement between the Grand Island line and the Union Pacific, in which the Grand Island line stipulated that there should be placed in some depository in New York, to be selected by the trustees of the first mortgage bonds, $35,000 per month for the payment of the in crest of the bonds, and that the trustees of the bonds should have the naming of the denominy. In rehave the naming of the depository. In rethis, the judge ruled that the Cen gard to this, the judge ruled that the Cen-tral Trust company was the agent, as it had been so recognized for a term of years, and that the people had learned that there their coupons would be eashed whenever there were funds for them. And hence it was that when the attorney for the second bondhelders argued that there had been no due demand for payment served as prescribed in the mortgage the judge ruled follows: Hart Taylor, E. D. Winslow, bondheiders argued that there had been no due demand for payment served as prescribed in the mortzage the judge ruled that here had been due demand, even though it had not been in writing, as stipulated in the morigage, for the article in the mort-gage which prescribed that there could be no foreelosure without a written demand on the more demand, even though the at Graceland cemetery and will be in private. ASSAULT ON CHIEF BRENNAN.

Unknown Thugs Attempt to Murder South Omaha's Chief of Police. Chief of Police Brennan of South Omaha was assaulted at 1 o'clock yesterday morning while crossing the Q street viaduct.

Brennan had been out making a tour of the Third ward and as he neared the east end of the vladuct two men stepped out and commenced to talk to him about politics. After the conversation had continued for a minute or two a third man stepped out from behind a supporting pillar and struck Brannan a terrible blow with a club. The chief feil from his buggy to the pavement and was unconscious for fully half an hour. Soon after the assault a man crossing the bridge saw Brennan lying in the roadway and stopped to see what was the matter. He found the chief bleeding badly and still unconscious. The police station was notified and the chief taken to headquarters, where a physician dressed his wounds.

The blow was struck from behind and the hief's right ear was badly cut and the scalp bruised. In falling Brennan struck the rough plank flooring with the left side of his will be a carnival of mirth, magic and mys-tery, for Herrmann, with his many acts of necro-antique diablery will hold forth.
