The Thurston medal was again up for competition, and won by Private Page. The mimbers are making great progreas in military science, and, as each indi-vidual drill proves to be more close and in-cresting than the one preceding, the mem-teresting than the one preceding, the mem-ber who is now fortunats in carrying off the honor has every reason to be proud of his successful attainment. At the conclusion of the contest all present took sents in the armory hall and injoyed an excellent pre-gram of song and music, in which the High School Mandolin club and the Rifles' Banjo club played several selections. During the program eights were passed around, which The employes of W. R.
