FINA PASTURAGE.
Exquisite Climate, Pure Water, Rich
 Grasses do very finely here and I have never seen any soil that will produce better clover, corn, oats, potatoes and any kind of vegetables. The climate is delightful. One very great advantage this country has over the more northern states is the fine winter pasturage. It is quite unnecessary to feed stock during the winter season and raising stock and hogs I do not know of any country that compares with our south land. A more kind and friendly people do not meet, generous to a fault, warm-hearted and true, and I will assure any of our northern friends who will come a warm and hearty welcome.
 I will say this, it is the best country on the face of the globe for a man of moderate means and energy, and there would be no doubt of success and health to any one who would be temperate and use good water, which I consider essential to good health and a preventive of any disease. I raised two remunerative crops on the same piece of land.
 Men of moderate means with families to raise and a home to secure, are interested in such a place as Orchard Homes. A trip there is the way to satisfy yourself as to the credibility of the statements as to this favored region.

SELLING FALCONER'S STOCK
 A Story About Remnants from Omaha's Greatest Sale—It Will Interest You.

EVERYTHING IN REMNANTS AT HALF PRICE

Falconer's Stock Recognized as Being the Cheapest Merchandise—All the Odds and Ends from Every Department Found Together.

On Monday and Tuesday our store was jammed.
 Buyers were eager, anxious, and delighted.
 One lady, more exuberant than the rest exclaimed, this is a "bon marche"; we looked up our French dictionary and found that translated these words mean "good market," and at once agreed with the lady that the name was appropriate.

We mean to make the Falconer store a veritable good market, where everything in dry goods can be bought—the best of its kind—and at the lowest possible price.
 Our story today is of remnants.
 "LIST TO IT!"

Remnants of dress goods, short lengths of silks, odd lengths of laces, ends of embroideries, ribbons in small ends, flannels and cottons, linings just right for trimmings and findings. Odd sizes in garments for men and for women, jet trimmings can show in small ends to suit you. All the remains of a sale most astounding.

Saturday night has been set for this offering, and we have arranged a space in the center of the store where all the remnants can be found together.

Goods all marked in plain figures. You will take them quickly at half price.

Of course, it will depend whether the lengths will suit you; otherwise goods are never cheap.

We would like to speak of goods for men, for we have underwear, ties, collars and cuffs, and so forth, at—well, space forbids description. Ask to see them.

Sale commences at 6:30 prompt.
 The counter space of the book department will be given up to this sale. If, however, you want books, we will see that you get them.

SOUTH OMAHA NEWS.

Roy Barnard, an A. D. T. messenger boy, was severely injured last evening while trying to jump onto a B. & M. switch engine. The lad had been over in the yards watching the unloading of some cars, and when switch engine No. 103 started for South Omaha Roy made a jump for the running board, but missed his footing. He caught the hand rail all right, but before he could gain a foothold his right leg struck a switch block, and the knee was badly injured. When the youngster tried to jump on the engine his coat caught in a hook and he was dragged for fully half a block. His screams attracted the attention of the engineer, who upon looking out of the cab window, saw what was the matter and stopped the engine.

It was Expensive Lard.
 George Griffin was fined $7.50 and costs by Judge Christmann yesterday afternoon for attempting to carry away a five-pound can of lard from Cudaby's without paying for it. Griffin had taken the lard from the stock yard switching crew, and while over at Cudaby's a night or so ago was seen by Special Officer Sexton to pick up a full of lard and start off with it. The lard was worth at retail about 75 cents, but it cost Griffin $10.50 to get out of the scrape.

FROM MIST TO SOLID GROUND.

Nebular Hypothesis of Planetary Origin Expounded by Y. M. C. A. Hall.

The first of the midwinter lectures was delivered last evening at Young Men's Christian association hall by Prof. Erwin H. Barbour, professor of geology in the University of Nebraska, and late of the United States geological survey. There are to be three lectures on this subject, the first, that of last evening, dealing with the early struggles of science, and especially of geology, and showing the nebular hypothesis and early theories of planet and crust formation. The second is to deal with the later forces which served to give shape to the topography of the earth, and the third is to be directly illustrative of the geology of Nebraska and of the Bad Lands.

The first of the lecture of last evening was given mostly to a consideration of the work of Copernicus, Galileo and Kepler, then later, when the nebular hypothesis was put forth by Kant, Laplace and Hirschel, was considered the stereotyped view of evolution, giving excellent illustrations of nebulae and the various changes through which they are supposed to pass in their evolution to planets.

The various conditions of the crust of the earth was well shown in all the stages of cooling.
 Throughout the audience was greatly interested in the rapid survey of the work and the illustrations of the theories. The next lecture will be November 23, on the development of the world under the influence of later forces.

He Likes the Exposition.
 "The people of Atlanta deserve more credit for their fair than do the people of Chicago for the World's fair," said Isaac Harris at the Millard yesterday. "They have spent $2,000,000 in improvements, which is far more to them than the $20,000,000 which the World's fair has cost. They have one of the best exhibitions ever held in the United States. In every department they rival the best, and are consequently the most beautiful little exposition ever held in America."

Proving Their Love.
 George Menzies and John Powers came to blows because of their high esteem of the same woman, at Sixteenth and Chicago streets, last night. From appearances when they met at the police station, it looked as though Menzies had had the better of the argument. Possibly this was due to the fact that he is a rival business associate of Powers, who is a well known face close communion with the flowing bowl.

TOLD OF THE MARTYRED QUEEN.

Count Onahon Addressed the Pupils of St. Catherine's.

Count W. J. Onahon of Chicago delivered a lecture yesterday afternoon to the pupils of St. Catherine's academy. There were present numerous members of the local churches, besides several of the priests. The count took as his subject the "Life of Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots."

Her life was described as one continued series of vicissitudes until it culminated in her unhappy marriage with Lord Darnley, who proved to be a man of violent temper, unbridled passions and unprincipled aspirations.

Her character, though often criticized by historians, was said by the speaker to be nearly faultless, and the young girl-wife was more stoned against her than she was.

One of the most striking features of the story was the treacherous plotting of Queen Elizabeth, the traitorous husband, the death of Rizzio and the final downfall of Darnley, due to his own plotting. The capture of Mary by the troops of Lord Hohnell and her subsequent imprisonment at the castle of Dunbar was dwelt upon at length, and the marriage of Mary to the lord, that followed later on, was described as purely a forced one for political motives.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, particularly to the womb and its appendages. For feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

A Book of 168 pages, on "Woman and Her Disposition," the Nature and How to Cure them by home treatment, sent sealed in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps for postage. This book is profusely illustrated with wood-cuts and colored plates, also with a vast number of reproduced photographs of those cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and without having to go through the ordeal of consulting a doctor. Full names and addresses are given so you can correspond with them and learn their experiences in curing themselves. Address, WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Jos. G. Collins, (P. O. Box 357) of Alford Center, Ala., writes: "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for three months and it helped me more than all the other medicines that I had taken for four months with uterine troubles. I am now around on my feet, and I feel better than I have for some time. I could hardly believe it, but I hope this statement will benefit others."
