

CONDITIONS OF TRADE

Local Business Situation Shows Little or No Material Change.

COUNTRY COLLECTIONS GENERALLY SLOW

Stormy Weather During the Early Part of the Week Helped Trade to Some Extent—Most Lines of Merchandise Steady.

The trade conditions prevailing in this section of the country have undergone little material change from the conditions of the current season's business is concerned. Only a few country buyers have been in attendance and in many departments orders for goods have been rather slow. The total volume of business, so far as may be judged from the reports of leading houses, will show up about on a par with last week's figures.

As to prices, there have been some changes during the week, but these have been of a very general nature, and nothing of any very great importance. WITH THE GROCERY TRADE. In the grocery trade there has been very little doing out of the ordinary. Business has moved along the old well beaten path without developing anything new or of any new or important features.

In the matter of prices there have been a few changes, but these have been of a very general nature, and nothing of any very great importance. In the matter of prices there have been a few changes, but these have been of a very general nature, and nothing of any very great importance.

RETAIL TRADE UNCHANGED. The retail trade has been somewhat spotted during the past week—there have been good days and poor days, and the average for the whole week is no more than fair. Business men generally are paying attention to the market, and it is expected that for a storm and it came the early part of the week, but it rained somewhat short of filling the want. It failed just enough to keep prices from falling, and the result was a couple of days, but had it continued to stimulate the demand for winter goods to any great degree. Still most all houses reported a fairly active trade during the latter part of the week.

OMAHA GENERAL MARKET.

Conditions of Trade and Quotations on Staple and General Merchandise.

As the season advances the receipts of dressed poultry increase and the market shows more activity. Thanksgiving will occur Thursday, November 22, and dealers are making preparations for the holiday trade. The supply will doubtless be heavy, as there is a large crop of turkeys throughout the west, but it is too early to give any accurate idea of what the market will be. The weather will probably have much to do with the stock of poultry.

Wheat Started in with Several Brisk Trades at a Trifle Over Friday's Close—Stocks and Bonds. CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The markets today were depressed after a somewhat brisk opening, influenced by smaller receipts, good exports and a discouraging cable. After much trading, everything settled down to a quiet opening or slightly lower. There was no particular feature to any of the trade.

Wheat started in with several brisk trades, at from 57c to 58c, at a trifle over yesterday's close. Everything seemed to trade well, weather, crop reports, etc., but after a short season of sharp trades things eased up again. There were no noteworthy individual trades aside from those of Brownson of St. Louis, who began at the start to cover briskly, but after finding that he could get all he wanted, commenced to sell as rapidly as he had bought. Many small traders took the cue from him, and as a result, December wheat, which had started to climb, went down again and closed at from 57c to 57 1/2c, with the feeling fairly steady.

STOCKS AND BONDS

Movement of Prices Was Narrow as a Rule.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Today's stock speculation was not especially interesting. The movement of prices was narrow as a rule, and the trading was at times sluggish and the market opened dull, with a lower tendency. A firm tone was soon developed and important fractional gains occurred in some of the leading stocks, with a subsequent recovery of about one-half of the decline. The closing was dull and as a result of the day's business trading was closed at a lower level than in instances. The week's operations in stocks have been based upon information, most of which had their origin in the market.

Supposed to Come from that Section of His Stomach.

A remarkable case of natural unconscious ventriculotomy, a phenomenon which scientific men believe was responsible for most of the cases in which persons once were supposed to be possessed of devils—has caused much consternation among the superstitious and great interest among the scientific in Orangeburg, S. C., says the Washington Star. The history of the case is told by W. L. Dunley of Cladin University, Orangeburg, in the Appeal.

The phenomenon appears in a 13-year-old boy, the son of poor and illiterate parents. He was taken ill about a month ago with violent pain in his stomach. The doctor was called and treated him for a week or more but the boy grew no better. After he had been ill about nine days his parents began to fear strange noises, apparently in his stomach. They were frightened and faint at first, but daily grew stronger. They described them as like the crowing of a cock, the bark of a dog and the growling of a bear. In a few days intelligible human expressions in human speech, were heard. A voice, sounding as from the boy's stomach, said: "I'm hungry" and "You hurt me."

The doctor was puzzled, and related the case with curious castors. The voice would answer questions put to it. The boy averred that he could not control the voice, and that the voice would answer questions put to it.
