KANSAS HAS A FINE CHANCE OF WINNING

Jayhawkers' Victory Over Nebraska Makes the Championship Almost a Cinch for the Sunflower Tenm-In the East.

Nebraska has worn championship honora for over a year. The Lincoln players now have an opportunity to mourn the loss of all this glory, and the sturdy sons of Kansas are responsible for the mourning. When Kansas defeated lowa by fifty-two points It was predicted that the former must be cona surprise to many that an eleven which had already defeated the Missouri Tigers should be turned down by Kansas. Such had not considered the exact manner in which Missouri was defeated, and probably based their conclusions on the erroneous impression that Nebraska outplayed Missouri from start to finish. Nebraska was not in the best form for Saturday's hard game, Whipple especially being in no condition to play. Yet there were two players of the Kansas team who should have been in their rooms. so that the cripple argument cannot alto-gether account for Nebraska's defeat. Moreover, Nebraska was playing at home, and had the support of nearly 2,000 persons. Kansas played the faster ball and made two touchdowns while Nebraska was making one. Nebraska scored in the same manner as it scored the first touchdown against Missouri, on a blocked kick.

The race for the pennant of the Western Intercollegiate Foot Eall association apparently hinges on the game between Kansas and Missouri. From the foot ball both teams have thus far exhibited it looks as though have thus far exhibited it looks as though that would be a baitle royal. Interest in it will be increased immensely by the fact that it will be a struggle between those old rivals, Princeton and Yale. Hector Cowan, who kicked the pig skin for the Jersey Tigers back in the 89s, is coaching the Kansas boys. His rival is Laurie Blies, who made so many famous runs while half back on the New Haven eleven. Kansas will win the pennant if it can defeat Missouri. will win the pennant if it can defeat Missouri. Nebraska taking second place, providing both it and Missouri defeat Iowa, which seems probable. If Missouri wins from Kansas, and the Missouri and Nebraska games with and the Missouri and Nebraska games with liaces. Is said to said the Missouri will be tied for first place. In that event the race would probably be awarded to the team which had made the best showing in its series in championship. best showing in its scores in championsh games. In this Kansas would have a b lead on account of the large number of poin rolled up against Iowa. Therefore it b hooves Nebracka and Missouri to score often as possible against Iowa, otherwise they may not be in the race.

Cornell's supporters were disheartened ear In the season when small scores against we teams was the best the team could do. Su sequent developments prove that Marsh Newell was making his team slowly b surely. He has had considerable to wo against this fall. A number of men who had distinguished thems lives did not return to college, the faculty declared Billy Ohl, the star full back, was not a bright enough student for Cornell, there were no heavy men, no new material of great consequence was in sight, ends had to be turned into half backs. and men taken from the freehman squad to make a 'varsity eleven. Against these odds well has turned out a team which kept Princeton from scoring until within the law ninute of the game, and on Saturday defeated Brown, the same eleven men who played Yale to a tie. After the Princeton game the New York critics united in declaring that Captain Wycoff's playing at quarter back was a revelation. On Saturday this little individual again distinguished himself, not only captain of the Pennsylvania eleven, is the only other quarterback of a prominent team attempting this quarterback kick, and his efforts have failed an often as they have succeeded. Fifteen punts in twenty-five minutes is Wycoff's record, and not a single one blocked. Both Brown and Cornell had been through hard games the preceding Saturday, the one tleing Yale, the other all but shutting out Princeton. Brown had the disadvantage enthusiastic cheering of 2,500 Cornellians. One who has not visited Ithaca does not appreclate what that means. Cornell was not so good condition as was the Brown team, so that the disadvantages appear about equal There was no scoring in the first half, and each team made a touchdown in the second. game was won by the goal kicked by Freshman Young, Ritchie being unable to enter the game. Cornell's defeat of Brown, after the latter's stand against Yale, lends additional interest to the great Thanksgiving day game in Philadelphia between Cornell and Pennsylvania.

Speaking of Cornell, Caspar Whitney has this to say in the last issue of Harper's Weekly: "The Bachelor says very properly 'that too much attention is paid to sports at Yale.' And it could have added with equal truth that too much attention also is paid to sports at Harvard, at Princeton, at the University of Pennsylvania and at Cornell, though believe sport to be nearer its proper place at the last named university than at any other. It cuts a lesser figure there. It is more subject to the curriculum than at any of the other larger universities."

Princeton and Pennsylvania did not play on Saturday. The former is saving itself for the great game with Yale at New York next Saturday, the latter for its contest with Harvard at Cambridge on the same day. There is the usual wall from Princeton and Pennsylvania that nearly all the valuable men or the teams are crippled. In fact, they are so badly injured that a number of the Tigers spent the past week at Delaware Water Gap, and the injured Quakers snifted the ocean breezes at Atlantic City. If foot ball has gone so far that an undergraduate has to take a vacation right in the midst of his studies to recuperate, then a halt his studies to recuperate, then a halt should be called somewhere. In contrast to-this recent liberty, stands the unwritten pledge of both of these universities that they would assist in the moderation of popular excitement over the great college game and do all in their power to purify intercollegiate athletics from the remotest stain of professionalism. Princeton has a hard battle on its hands for Saturday, and it is reported on good authority from New York that Yale is the favorite. The game at Cambridge will be no less exciting, though if Coach Woodruff's men are in condition they surely ought Yale played its second game with Orange Yale played its second game with Orange on Saturday, and showed up in splendid form, winning, 26 to 0. This time Orange never threatened the Blues' goal, and the New Haven boys rushed the oval across their opponents' goal almost at will. As was expected, Yale's back field showed that it had few superiors, Captain Thorne and Jerrems excelling. The line, too, gave evidence that it will make a great fight against the stone wall of Jerseymen that will meet it on Saturday.

Early' in the season, after Purdue's defeat by Missouri, it was thought the Indiana team would lose the high position it had won by its splendid performances during the past few seasons. On Saturday, however, the Purdue boys made such a showing against Michigan as entitles them to recognition among the best elevens of the west. To be sure, the Ann Arbor players were pretty well tired out from their recent game with Harvard, and the consequent travel; but granting this, Purdue played a great game. If most of the honor of the Harvard-Michigan match went to Ann Arbor, despite the fact that Harvard. honor of the Harvard-Michigan match went to Ann Arbor, despite the fact that Harvard won, then it is only proper that the buik of the glory in Saturday's contest belongs to the sturdy lads from Purdue, which some one has aptly termed "the Princeton of the West." It was Purdue that made the first touchdown, and it was Purdue that forced the fighting all through the two long hours. Bloomington again demonstrated that he is a wonderful full back. Among his good performances, he won the game for Michigan within the last COSSIP FROM THE GRIDIRON two minutes by kicking the goal necessary to keep the yellow and blue colors from being lowered. Until Saturday Michigan had scored, in six contests, 222 points to their opposents' four, Harvard having done the only scoring. Purdue now divides the honor with Harvard and emphasizes the fact that Michigan in find all the hard and even fott bail it wants right at home.

Stagg has brought his team around again, and on Saturday the University of Chicago team squared itself for the many defeats it has suffered this season by turning down the strong Northwestern cleven, 6 to 9. Capital Van Doozer of Northwestern, as usual, played a strong game, and had the pleasure of scorner Chicago, The rival cap. ing a safety against Chicago. The rival cap-tain was also in the game making Chicago's only touchdown. Charlie Allen, the Chicago captain, does not give any signs of a let down in his foot ball playing, and is today playing as strong. The Omaha boys were coached in the early part of the season by Frank Crawford, last year's University coach, and all season have showed the effect of his excellent work. The boys have been unable to secure a game with a high school team so far this year, although they have challenged all the teams in Nebraska and western lowa. Des Moines and Minneapolis. They played October 12 at Tabor, Ia., defeating Tabor college, 18 to 0. October 19, at Nebraska City, they played Nebraska City and Plattsmouth Athletic association a close game, which the latter won on a fluke, 12 to 6. There are too many dealers who find it convenient and profitable to get posters for nothing and then sell them to collectors for a quarter of a dellar apiece. Some of the largest magazine and publishing firms are already trying to devise some scheme which will smalls them devise some scheme which will enable them to retain ownership in the poster until it has been displayed for a certain period, after which it will become the property of the shopkeeper or newsdesler.

AMUSEMENTS.

Robert Downing and his company opened last evening a short engagement at the Boyd in "The Gladiator," Saumet's splendid tragedy is a favorite in Omaha with those most familiar with the tragedian's ability. "The Gladiator" is pronounced the best of strongest qualities of his dramatic instincts, hig magnificent physique and his exquisite command of human emotions. The ten years that have elapsed since he first attempted "The Gladiator" have not reduced the fire and vigor of his interpretation of the heroic role, though some changes have been made in the presentation of the piece in the decade. The alterations, however, have contributed to the excellence of the piece. The cene in which the wretched man is ordered o dispatch a victim, and discoveres in her his long lost daughter, brings out Downing's best emotional demonstration. As he lifts the helpless victim's hair with one hand to better guide the executioner's blade, and sees that she is his child, the one being of all others for whom things earthly may be tolerated, the one binding tie, the bitter cup of the miserable slave is drained.

Eugenic Blair as Neodamia, the Christian martyr, and daughter of the gladiator, re-ceived much attention. She exhibits in many pression that the conception is not studied but wholly spontaneous. Mrs. Bates adequately protrays the wicked empress Faustina, and the role of Flavian is happily cast in the hands of Mr. Ferry. The cast is strong without exception, and the elaborate and effective stage settings are interesting features.

Cosgrove & Grant's comedians in "The Dazzler" were greeted by two crowded houses at the Creighton yesterday afternoon and evening. Lovers of farce comedy, interspersed with songs, dances and just enough of a plot to account for the appearance of a numbar of spacialty people, can see "The Dazzler" with assurance of passing a very pleasant evening. The piece is not new to Omaha, but nearly all the faces are additions of the present year to the company, numbering several old time favorites in the west. This s the sixth year of the piece on the road. The engagement will close Wednesday even ng.

"Helena," Robert Downing's new play, which will be seen for the first time in this city tonight at Boyd's, is from the prolific pen of Victor en Sardou. Mr. Downing has spared nothing in the mounting of this play, the scenery being all new and the costumin most elaborate. The story of the play is laid in Italy during the feud between the Guelphs and the Guibellines in the Fourteenth cen-tury. In the part of Orso, chief of the Guelphs, Mr. Downing found a role that is most congenial with his robust and heroic abilities. Eugenie Blair will be seen in the title role. Tomorrow evening "Othello" be given, with Mr. Downing as the dusky Moor and Miss Blair as Desdemona.

The young tragedian, Walker Whiteside opens a three night engagement at the Creighton, Thursday, November 21, presenting during that time "Hamlet," "Richard III," and "Richelieu." A company of well known players, headed by Miss Lelia Woolson, give competent support. The advance sale of reserved seats opens at the Creighton theater box office at 9 o'clock this morning.

Thompkins' gorgeous spectacle, "Black Crook," comes to Omaha for the first time this season, opening a four night engagement at the Creighton, with a matinee Sunday, November 24. This production will be staged with the same sumptuous effects and com-petent company which characterized its unparalleled run of one year at the Academy of Music, New York City, and six month

When Martha Morton undertook to write play for William H. Crane a little over i year ago it struck her that the meddling old father-in-law had never been thoroughly "shown up" on the stage, and she determined to prove that while a mother-in-law might be a maker of trouble, she was simply not in it when her better half chose to assert himself in "His Wife's Father," which Mr. Crane is to present at Boyd's theater on next Monday this idea is said to be skillfully carried out and in a droll manner. An old man wh dotes on his only daughter, tells her on he wedding morning that he proposes never to leave her during life. And he means it. He endervors to run her houshold, and, as the young husband does not like this, there is trouble. The comedy is said to exceedingly bright, and its success has been of the mor pronounced kind.

Next Sunday night J. K. Emmet, the wel known comedian, will appear in his comedy, "Fritz in a Mad House." This is one of his most successful pieces, and the one that his illustrious father counted as his greatest achievement.

The Thanksgiving attraction at Boyd's will be the pretty comedienne and favorite, Emily Bancker, in her successful comedy, "Our Flat." Miss Bancker's company this season is the strongest she has ever had in her support. It includes Will Mandeville, Philip H. Ryley, George W. Parsons, H. D. James, Walter Parr, Miss Anits Verne, Elizabeth Rosell, Chaunez Olney and others of note.

Two hundred of the Tourist wheelmen and their ladies will attend Robert Downing's grand production of "Helena" at the Boyd theater tonight. Acts at once, never fails, One Minute Cough Cure. A remedy for asthma, and that feverish condition which accompanies a se-

SALISBURY'S SPEECH SAVES THE MARKET

Assurance of Peace and Bracing Up of the Kaffirs Offset by Gold Shipments and Holding Back of Exports.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.-Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., writes of the situation in Wall street: Upon the whole, the course of affairs in Wall street has improved during the past week. Partly, the recovery has been due Downing's entire repertoire to bring out the to the political assurances afforded by Lord Salisbury's Mansion house speech, which, leaving Turkish internal affairs still in a desperate condition, left no room for appre-hension of serious political differences as between the great powers. The effect of these utterances upon the European bourses was a prompt restoration of confidence, which has been especially apparent in American, securities.

It seems probable that now those stocks have come under the control of the leaders, who have no doubt gathered immense wealth from their operations, and in that case further disaster may probably be confined to a few minor operators whose lifetoriums could not be of much importance to the general market for securities.

In addition to these improvements in European conditions, the ratiroad situation has shown a more hopful prospect. In spite of the light movement of grain and cotton to the seaboard, the railroads begin to exhibit a decided improvement in earnings. When cotton and wheat come to be exported in the volume usual at this season of the year, their traffic will be largely increased and earnings will show a further gain upon their aiready liberal volume. The southwestern lines have been suffering from an expected light crop of cotton and from its being withheld from market; now, however, opinion begins to favor a somewhat larger yield than has been expected and the price has fallen to a point much nearer the views of foreign takers, so that it is reasonable to look for an early liberal export of the staple, with a consequent gain in the business of the roads of that section. The corn crop also is now but beginning to move. The Agricultural bureau now estimates the yield at 2,148,000,000 bushels, or $35,000,000 bushels above that of last year. It is impossible that such an increase in one of our buildiest products can fail to largely increase the income of the roads situated in the corn belt.

These improved conditions have arisen concurrently with a largely oversold condition of the stock market, and the result has been a rush to cover short sales, which has caused a general rise in the railroad list. So far, however, the improved turn in affairs has had little effect upon the outside element in speculation. The transactions have been chiefly confined to board operators, and outsiders seemed disposed to wait until the recovering tendency becomes more marked and positive.

But while the flow of gold tow commitments when the prospect is not sonably clear of clouds.

While, therefore, the general industrial and commercial conditions are favorable to the value of stocks, and are likely to afford a good substratum of confidence to the market, it will be prudent to avoid expecting too the condition of the condition much from these encouragements. The proper temperament for the moment is hope-fulness, but not extravagant expectations. The market is anything but a safe one for selling, but buying should be moderated by satisfaction with quick turns and moderate and Cotton Reporter says of the wool trade "Notwithstanding the occurrence of election day, with its usual tendency to distract attention from business, there has been more general inquiry than in any previous week since the middle of October. The fact is that there are others than those who have wool to sell who appreciate that among the various commodities in dealers' hands at the seaboard and in the interior, there is no better property than wool. No better proof is needed of the inherent strength of the general market for the staple than that afforded by the failure of recent quiet, but persistent, attempts to depress it. The volume of transactions in the principal markets has been generally larger than previously for some weeks. It is useless to discuss rates of kinds of wool that are not selling. It is trade in commodities that establishes prices for them; for such sorts of wool as are in general inquiry than in any previous week kinds of wool that are not selling. It is trade in commodities that establishes prices for them; for such sorts of wool as are in demand and have been right along a user must pay substantially the same as he had to a fortnight ago. The sales in New York, Boston and Philadelphia during the past week have amounted to 6,571,600 pounds, of which 3,442,700 pounds were domestic and 3,128,900 pounds foreign.

DEALERS' GREAT FAITH IN WOOL Investors Find the Staple a Good Place to Put Money. BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The American Woo

"There is no material change in the position of the New York market from that which it has occupied during the past few weeks. Demand is slow, mills not being willing to anticipate their needs, while there is so much uncertainty surrounding the heavy weight season and the immediate future price of wool. The sales for the week aggregate 576,500 pounds, of which 246,500 pounds were domestic and 730,000 foreign. The total sales singe January I have been 60,628,460 pounds, against 35,788,600 pounds a year ago.

pounds were domestic and 730,000 foreign. The total sales slage. January 1 have been 60,628,400 pounds, against 35,788,000 pounds a year ago.

"Notwithstanding the period under review, with its tendency to distract attention from business, there has been more general inquiry at Boston than, for several weeks. A considerable sample business is being done. Prices for such kieds of done tic snl foreign stock as are in any resquest are very steady. There are indications of an improved inquiry for medium and, low medium wools. The sales this week have amounted to 2,240,900 domestic and 1,662,500 pounds foreign making a total of 2,502,400 pounds, against a total of 2,277,550 pounds for the corresponding week last year. The sales since January 1, 1895, amount to 181,120,570 pounds, against 127,884,855 pounds a year ago.

"The domestic wool market at Philadelphia has received as fair share of attention from the representatives of two worsted mills, and there have also been some negotiations in a quiet way through eastern brokers, on account of large eastern mills. Fleece wools are firm; some choice lots have brought a fraction over market prices. Good carpet wools are scarce and firm in value. The aggregate sales of the past week have been 1,591,700 pounds, of which $55,300 pounds were domestic and 735,400 pounds foreign. Sales since January 1, 1826, have amounted to 82,209,515 pounds. Sales for the corresponding period last year were 49,327,327 pounds.

"The sales of wool at Chicago this week have aggregated about 350,000 pounds. There has been a little more inquiry for sample bags; pulled wools have moved a little more freely. A large western mill has purchased from one of the largest machine brushed pullers all the combing grades ahead for some time to come; values of wool are generally firm, of staple wools are especially so. "Trade picked up considerably at St. Louis toward the end of the week, and a large lot of fine pulled—some lambs' pulled and other wools—have been sold and shipped."

overmuch confidence in the future of mining enterprises. Turkish affairs still prevent any real improvement in foreign stocks, but most other departments are distinctly better. Considerable disposition is shown on the part of the investors to revert their attention to American railroad shares, but many people are deterred by the doubtfu aspect of the currency problem in the United States. Except Norfolk & Western and Reading shares, which show fractional declines, all prices have risen during the past week. Cotton Market Unsettles Trade. MANCHESTER, Nov. 17.—Business has been prejudiced during the week by the insettled state of cotton, but it is believed that preparations are being made for a little eastern trade. There is little demand little eastern trade. There is little demand for yarn, but yesterday a moderate trade was done at an eighth and sometimes at a three-sixteenths decline. Stocks re burdensome in several quarters. In cloth a small and scattered business has been done all the week, with the Indian inquiry increasing, although the limits are far below cost. The Levant trade has been nearly suspended. Eastern buyers are being slowly convinced of the enormous crop shortage. South America is doing little. The home trade is satisfied with small repeated orders for assorted stocks. Calico printers are fairly well employed. On the continent things have been more quiet. They are waiting for crop developments, but all the machinery will be fully occupied for a considerable time yet.

OMAHA GENERAL MARKET Condition of Trade and Quetations

on Staple and Fancy Produce.
As the season advances the receipts of dr poultry increase and the market shows mor tions for the holiday trade. The supply will doubtless be heavy, as there is a large crop of variation everything closed either about the opening or slightly lower. There was no particular feature to any of the trade.

Wheat started in with several brisk trades, at from 57%c to 57½c, a trifle over yesterday's close. Everything seemed to promise well, weather, crop reports, etc., but after a short season of sharp trades things eased up again. There were no noteworthy individual trades aside from those of Brosseau of St. Louis, who began at the start to cover all he wanted, commenced to sell as rapidly as he had bought. Many small traders took the cue from him, and as a result December, which had started to climb, went down again and closed at from 57%c to 57½c, with the feeling fairly steady.

Corn trade was very light, but November and December, after their temporary gain, fell off and closed at the bottom price. Trading all around was rather light.

After the first hour oats were even more quiet than they have been during the week. The entire business for the day showed that only 35,000 bu. changed hands. May sold at 20%c, and after changes not ranging over opening or slightly lower. There was no particular feature to any of the trade.

OMAHA LIVE STOCK MARKET

Week Closes with a Light Run of Cattle and Steady Prices.

HELD REMARKABLY STEADY

Most Liberal Offerings of the Month Taken Readily by the Local Packers at Firm Prices-Sheep Strong.

SATURDAY, Nov. 16. Receipts and shipments for the past twenty-four hours, as compared with the previous four days, are as follows:

November 16... November 15... November 14... November 13... November 12... SHIPMENTS.

November 15. November 14. November 13. November 12. November 11. CATTLE-The week closed with the usual Insignificant run of cattle and the few that were here were not all on saie, seventeen or eighteen loads being held out by the owners. There were not enough fat cattle to make a test of the markets, but what there were sold at prices that looked about steady.

The few cows and heifers here were

The few cows and heifers here were mostly all picked up early in the morning at prices that were about like yesterday's. In the stocker and feeder division there was, as usual on a Saturday, very little business doing. There were few cattle on sale and very little demand.

House in spite of the fact that it was the last day of the week and the run was the largest of the month, the market did not develop any weakness. On the contrary, there was a good active demand at fully steady priess. The trade was over in good season, with everything sold. The quality of the hogs was hardly up to yesterday's average and in consequence there were not so many sales reported at top prices. Most everything sold inside the range, $2,402.2.50, with $2.45 the most popular price.

The hog market during the past week has been unusually stendy, there being hardly any change from day to day. On Tuesday there was a slight improvement in values and from that day until the close of the week there was no material change in values. It has been a $1.46, market all the week, that price tasking the great bulk of all the week, that price tasking the great bulk of all the good loads of packing hogs. So far this month the market has about held its own, the steady downward course of values that prevailed for some months past being checked. In fact hogs have sold during the past week at a little better prices than during the first week of the month. The market is just 31 per hundred lower than it was a year ago.

SHEED—The demand was good and the market strong.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

Cattle Market Very Quiet and Reccipts Light.
CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—The cattle market was very quiet today. The day's receipts were lighter than yesterday. The week's receipts have been only $1,450, a decrease of $9,000 from last week and 2,500 from the corresponding week last year. Prices ranged practically the same as yesterday and the trading was very light,

The receipts of hogs were 23,000 head and there were 7,000 left over. The demand was fair. Sales were made at yesterday's late prices, common to best fetching from $3.40 to $4.75. The best heavy sold at $3.75 and prime asserted light weights at $3.70. Sheep receipts were only 2.500 and the demand was light. Sales dragged at from $1.75 to $3.50 for natives, from $2 to $3 for westerns and from $3 to $4.50 for lambs. Heavy sheep were very dull, feeders being slow at from $2.60 to $2.85.
