Facts Regarding Failure to Bring Frank and Spoorl to Trial.

COUNTY ATTORNEY MAKING EXPLANATIONS

Case Set for Friday but Witnesses Were Subposensed to Appear the Next Monday-What the Record Shows.

SOME STRIKING MEDICAL PACTS. Mayle last ancine it became apparent that there was something crooked in the management of the affairs of the deg catcher's department. It was said that many more dogs were reported killed than were really disposed of. At the same time it was intimated that Israel Frank and John Spoort, the two men in charge, were in collusion in their efforts to defraud the city. When Martin J. White was appointed chief of police the dog catching business was called to his attention and he was asked to investigate. He soon reached the conclusion that the city was being defrauded and a few days later called upon T. A. McGuire, a detective, to assist him. McGuire, in contune tion with several other detectives, went to work and in a short time secured evidence to show that Frank and Spoeri were regularly charging the city for dogs that were never drowned. This evidence having been procured, Chief White went to County Attorney Baldrige and asked him to institute proceedings against the two men. The county at-crney tried to doige that duty by insisting that he sign the complaint. Mr. White having then been ousted from his official position saw no reason why he should sign the complaint as a private dilizen. The county attorney then tried to aduce Mayor Bemis or City Attorney Connell to sign the complaint and failing in that was almost on the point of refusing to prose-cute the culprits. White placed the evidence which he had gathered in the hands of the county attorney and told him to do his duty or take the responsibility for evading it.

After some delay County Attorney Baldrige caused the arrest of Frank and Spoerl, who were taken before Police Judge Berka, where the preliminary examination was held. Both men were bound over to the district court on the charge of defrauding the city. The case was docketed in the district court. Mr. Whits and McGuire, who had come to Omaha to be present at the preliminary hearing, returned o Chicago.

When the September term of the district ourt convened the case of the state against Frank and Sport appeared upon the docket of the criminal section. In due time it was reached for trial and once or twice postponed for reasons advanced by the attorneys. Last Friday it was called and dismissed for want of prosecution, none of the witnesses for the state being present, although the county attorney informed the court that they had be subpoenaed. At the time of the dismissal the county attorney pretended to enter a protest by saying that his witnesses had been subpoenaed, but had refused to attend.

NOT SUBPOENAED FOR FRIDAY. Since then it has developed that Mr. Baldrige did not subpoens his witnesses to be present Friday, but instead ordered them, ven those residing in the city, to be in court

That there may be no question about this statement, the copy of the original subpoena is herewith printed. It speaks for itself and s as follows:

In this connection the following letter from Mr. Baldrige to McGuire is of interest:

OMAHA, Nov. 12.—T. A. McGuire, Esq. Chicago, Ill. Dear Sir: In all probability the case against Spoerl will not be reached until Monday next. The case on trial might possibly be wound up Friday morning, in which case I could take your testimony Friday afternoon, but the probabilities of this are quite remote. I would therefore prefer that you come here Sunday morning and the case will surely be reached the first thing on next Monday.

You might be here on Friday morning and wait ever until Monday morning, but if your time is otherwise engaged I believe you had better not come until Sunday. This case must be tried at the time set and cannot be continued or passed, and I cannot try it successfully unless you are here. The county will nay your expenses. If you come Friday of course I will do all in my power to get up case so that you can get away Friday night. Don't disappoint me in falling to come, Yours, very truly.

night. Don't desaproper of the County Attorney.

H. H. BALDRIGE, County Attorney. McGuire yesterday stated that when he received the telegram from Baldridge, notifying him of the date for the hearing of the case, he was in New York, where he had some important business. He at once arranged to start for Omaha, notwithstanding the fact that it was very temporal for him to come at this year temporal for him to come at this year temporal for him to come at this year temporal for him to come at this year. very inconvenient for him to come at this time. For years it has been the custom to avoid setting cases on Friday, especially where the trial would consume any time. This has been due to the fact that the judge has not wanted to keep the Jury out over Sunday, Saturday is an off day in the criminal sec-

STATEMENT FROM BALDRIGE. County Attorney Baldrige makes the following statement regarding the matter; "After I had written to McGuire, telling 'After I rad written to McGaire, telling him that the case would be taken up on Monday, but that his testimony could be taken on Friday if he wished it. I received an answer in which be raid that he would be in court on Friday, but that it was absolutely necessary for him to return to Chicago on Friday night. I agreed to this, On Thursday, while I was out of the city a taken. day, while I was out of the city, a telegram was received at my office from Bell, stating that McGuire would leave Chicago at 6 o'clock on Thursday night. This telegram was opened by my assistants, and consequently Mr. Siabaugh allowed the case to be called for trial, as he expected McGuirs to be here. McGuire was the most important wit-ness in the case, and without him nothing could be done."

County Attorney Baldrige expressed great regret that the case had been dismissed. For A. R. Coleson, Wisner.

CORY CAUSED THEM TROUBLE.

Police Officers Charged with Bad Con-

George W. Covell presented on application or the position of attorney for the board in duct by the Sergeant. Sam Cory, sergeant of police, was the causa of most of the business at the meeting of the fire and police commissioners last night. The sergeant had a bunch of complaints, One of them was against Officer Vanous, who was suspended some time ago for talking disrespectfully of W. J. Broatch, who was at that time a candidate for an office. The charge was not pressed. Vanous I. W. Lansing of Lincoln is registered at office. The charge was not pressed. Vanous also achieved some fame and a great deal of entity in critain citcles for doing some detective work that helped get Israel Frank into trouble for drowning dogs by proxy, to the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and Company of the profit of his friend, John Speerl, Vanous and John Sp was due for more trouble and Sam Cory sent in a report to his chief that Various had been missing from his beat. There was no date fixed and the charge was so vague and indefinite that Mr. Foster objected to enter-taining it. It was referred back to the taining it. It was referred back to the chief, and Cory was given an opportunity to rearrange his time schedule and bring the charges up again. He told a story that Mr. Foster picked to pieces badly. Vanous told a story exactly opposed to Cory's statement and the board will decide the case on Wednesday.

Officer Charley Monroe was the second target for Sam Cory's attack. Cory filed a re-port charging that Monroe had stood at the Webster street depot for thirty minutes talk-ing to a hack driver. Mr. Foster put Cory to a cross-examination, in which the ser-geant admitted that he had been in an office in the depot building for an hour spying on in the depot building for an hour spying on Officer Monroe, and that after coming down stairs he sneaked away without speaking to the officer or asking why he had stood so long in conversation with the hack driver. He claimed to have asked him the next day for an explanation.

Officer Monroe, in his own defense, stated that he had been patrolling his beat as usual and had spent no more time at the depot of the state o and had spent no more time at the depot than was necessary and customary. On the morning in question he had talked to a hack morning in question he had talked to a hack driver but a few minutes, and said that he spoke to the sergeant when he came down from the building. The hack driver testified that he had not talked with Monroe more than five minutes, and that Cory, when he came down from the depot building, spoke to Monroe. This was the statement of two men against the very badly jumbled terimony of Cory and the case went over until Wednesday for a decision. Charges were made against Officer Raven-camp. The officer was accused of having said that he would whip Sergeant Bebout, who was after him, and was trying to get him dismissed from the force. The language was supposed from the force. The language was supposed to have been heard by Bill Adams, one of the state fair specials, and Officer Renfrow. Both of these informers were placed on the stand and wilted considerably when asked to give Ravencamp's language, and to swear positively that the remark had been made at Sergeant Bebout. Neither of the informers was very positive. Renfrow admitted that he didn't know whether Ravencamp was talking about Bebout or the Denver Messiah, and was only certain that he had expressed a determination to whip any man who succeeded in securing his discharge from the police force by lying about him. Adams was a little more certain about it, and said he was sure the remark was made respecting Bebout. Officer Ravencamp admitted that he had promised to whip any man who would secure his discharge by lying about him, but denied that the language referred to Bebout. This case will be decided on Wednesday.

him guilty and suspended him for one week. Charges against Fireman Laux for disobeying Captain O'Neill's orders, and against Fireman Madsen for assaulting a fellow firenan, were received, and the hearing deferred intil Wednesday night. Ex-Chief Galligan was dropped out of bis Job as fire inspector, the board deciding to abolish the offices of fire inspector and that of veterinary surgeon from the department. The department saves $120 a month by the deal, the salary of the inspector being $83 a month and that of the veterinary surgeon
