Hard to Fix Liability for Henry Bolln's Defalcations.

EXTENDED THROUGH BOTH HIS TERMS

Believed Therefore that Neither Set of Bondsmen Can Be Made to Pay-Opinions of Attorneys.

When the task of examining the books of ex-City Treasurer Bolln was begun it was positively announced that as soon as the investigation was completed the bondsmen would step up and promptly make good every bought the stock. Two days afterward the dellar that the city had lost through Bolin and his deputy. The delay in ascertaining W. K. Potter, the receiver of the Nebraska would step up and promptly make good every and his deputy. The delay in ascertaining the condition of Bolln's accounts as well as a number of other circumstances have steadily operated to imprach this assurance and now t is the general opinion, even with those politicians and officials who have been foremost in Bolln's defense, that the city will not get much of its money.

What invests this idea with more than an ity that the investigation will utterly fall to show conclusively how much of the althe city would be compelled to show which of the two bonds was liable. It is now asserted, and the statement is confirmed by the chairman of the finance committee, that the ooks of the city treasurer do not afford any conclusive proof that a certain amount was taken from the treasury during Bolin's first erm or during the second. The showing inficates that the peculations were begun in the first term and continued with increased confidence during the second, but there is absolutely nothing to show exactly the amount for which each of the two bonds is liable. This being the case it is the opinion of several attorneys who have been consuited that the city can never collect a dollar and that the taxpayers will have to pocket their loss.

Next Tuesday night the finance committee will present a partial report of the results of the investigation. This will be followed a complete report, which will probably ready by the next regular meeting of the how there is a marked difference of opinion among the members of the committee. Coun-cilman Kennard believes that the report will settle all controversy as between the bonds-men of the first and second terms. He declares that the legal department of the city will be furnished with a substantial basis on which it can go into court and compel the condamen to make good every cent of the

On the other hand, Cadet Taylor, chairman of the committee, does not pretend to make any such claim. He says that the main advantage of the investigation will be to dis-cover the shiftless methods which have been used for the [trial, but the intention was employed in the treasurer's office and to suggest improvements which will make the re-currence of such a condition impossible. He admits that so far the effort to satisfactorily place the liability of the bondsmen as between the first and second terms has entirely failed. The books are in such a con-dition that it has been almost impossible to arrive at anything like a satisfactory conclusion and the exact date on which some of the drafts were made on the banks can in no way be ascertained. Mr. Bolln has been appealed to, but he declars that he does not know anything about it, and he is the only man who could set the matter straight.
There is another explanation of the sudder forgetfulness of Mr. Bolln which is given by city official who has been intimately asto clated with the matter from the beginning He says that when the investigation was first begun Bolin offered his services whenever they might be required and cheerfully gave any explanations that were asked. Then he made an arrangement with his bondsmen by which his property was turned over to them and since then his bondsmen have exerted the most influence over him. He began to fear that he was not entirely safe from criminal prosecution and this fear was intensified when Coulter was arrested. The result was that he suddenly found himself unable to give any assistance to the city. Whenever he was asked a question in regard to any trans-action he invariably declared that he did not know and the investigators have given up getting any satisfaction from him. As h holds the key which would alone unlock the intricacles which enter into the complication between the two bonds, the reason of his recently acquired forgetfulness is obvi-ounty Commissioners Consider Belt Line Railrond Assessments. The early and greater portion of the meeting of the Board of County Commissioners yesterday is consumed in considering reports of the judiciary committee on tax matters. A large number of requests of taxpayers for the cancellation of taxes on one protext or another were considered and either granted or refused. Many of them had been in the hands of the committee for some time.

One of the most important of these reports adopted denied the request of the Missouri Pacific Railroad company that the taxes appeared against the Omaha Belt line for the years 1893 and 1894 be declared void on the grounds that they constituted a double tax The railroad company has for a long whil been trying to get out of the payment of these axes. It appears that the Belt line was assessed by the state as Missouri Pacific property. On this assessment the company has re-cently paid over to the county treasurer a total of over $4,200 as state taxes for the two years. At the same time, however, the assessments were made the county assessed the property on the ground that it was a railroad, beginning and ending in the county. The county tax was somewhat higher than the state tax. The railroad company claims that the line is Missouri Pacific company property and that therefore it should be assessed by the state. It refuses to pay the county tax on the grounds that it constitutes a double tax.

The board holds, however, that the Belt line is a separate railway company and therefore claims that the county has the right to

MR. BOATRIGHT ALLEGES FRAUD. YEAR AT THE STOCK YARDS Says that Miles Knew that the Bank

Stock Was Worthless. In the county court Charles R. Boatright has begun suit against Andrew Miles Business Done as Shown by Secretary's to obtain a judgment or $240, the sum which he alleges he paid Miles for some stock in the Nebraska Savings and Exchange bank, which recently closed its doors.

Miles was a director in the bank, holding thirty-three shares of stock. It is alleged by Boatright that on November 21 Miles succeeded in selling him the stock on representations which Miles knew were false. Miles said that the bank was in good condi-tion, would pay dividends on its capital stock within a year and stated that the stock could be sold by Boatright at a 100 per cent advance. To explain his object in getting rid of the shares of stock Miles is charged with having said that he needed some ready cash to pay on California property. On these representations Boatright says he Savings and Exchange bank, has filed an application in the district court for permission to enter into a contract with the creditors of the estate of Hugh G. Clark, who are prepar-ing to protect the estate, and at the same time their claims against it. The bank holds a claim of $4.523 against the estate.

It appears that the administrator has found it impossible to dispose of the property at anywhere near its real value, which is placed ordinary degree of probability is the fact at $30,000. An agreement has, the core, been which is stated on the most reliable authoriters to turn the property over to a trus-tee, who is to set for the interests of all parties. ferred to in this evening's Be-, charging me with making representations in regard to Nebraska Savings and Exchange bank stock, which, on my part, were knowingly false. I wish to say that I was formerly a director, but have not been so acting for some time, and have attended none of their board meetings for the last three months. He further charges that I succeeded in selling him the stock by misrepresentations, etc. My reply to this is not I never asked Boatright to purchase this stock, as he came into my office and voluntarily made me an offer for it. He further charges that I asserted that the stock could be sold for 100 per cent advance within a year. I deny having madany such assertion; and his public statement to that effect proves that he is thoroughly capable of playing the "baby act" in this whole matter. When the case is called in court, the evidence will show that I knew nothing of the bank's intention of going into voluntary liquidation, but the fact of the bank having done so is no reason why the stock referred to here should not be worth a great deal more than Boatright paid fit.

Young Men's Institute Matters. The rooms of the Young Men's institute are thronged almost every evening, rehearsals and social parties being the order. A group of mirth makers has under way a minstrel and musical entertainment, which will be given at Creighton hall on the evening of the 19th. There will be no minor parts in the program planned. Every participant is conceiled to be a local star, and the rehearsals justify the claim that they will shine in their respective parts.

The next two regular meetings of the institute, the 10th and 17th, will determine into whose hands the management of the organization for the ensuing year will be committed. Annual Review. .

STATISTICS OF LIVE STOCK RECEIVED

Trains that Have Pulled In Since Company Was Organized Would Make One Stretching Across the Continent.

A little book containing the annual review of the Union Stock Yards company of South Omaha was given to the public the past week. Columns of figures, with only here and there a word of explanation, are not calculated to create a work of any great litercrary merit, and it is not probable that the book in question will ever reach the eyes of the reviewers, though the facts contained render it of greater importance to the pecple of Nebraska than 100 current novels. At the mention of the stock yards there arises in the mind of the average citizen thoughts of cowboys and strong smells, but a careful perusal of Secretary Sharp's literary effort may add somewhat to the general information on this subject. One of the first features to attract the attention of the investigator is a statement leged defalcation belongs to Bolin's first and how much to his second term of office. This was the important proposition, masmuch as in order to collect any part of the amount Boatright, filed in the district court and respect to find the receipts of the past year. The figures for 1895, 602,222 cattle, 1,188,421 hogs, 208,633 sheep and 6,789 horses, will give some idea of the importance of the business at South Omaha. To be sure, there was a heavy year, but even after suffering a reduction year, but even after suffering a reduction consequent upon the crop failure, the bus-iness is still large. A better idea of the business could be gained if the figures repre-sented dollars instead of cattle or hogs. While it is not an easy matter to figure out he value of a year's receipts of stock, prices and weight can be averaged, and by that means a fairly accurate result arrived at, which shows that stock to the value of over $30,000,000 was shipped to South Omaha during the past year. This money was returned, less freight and other expenses, to the stock growers of the west. The territory from which stock is obtained is the same territory that looks to Omaha for mer-chandise, and no small proportion of the $30,000,000 has found its way back to this city in exchange for goods. Very little grain or produce of any kind, aside from live stock, has been shipped out of this state during the past year, and the money that South Omaha sent back into the country has onstituted about all that has been in cirulation.

But another glance at the book will reveal the fact that the stock yards were opened for business in the year 1884, since which time there have been received 5.611,014 cattle, 13,394,482 hogs, 1.672,862 sheep and 76,558 horses, or a total of 448,529 carloads. A train numbering almost 500,000 cars is something too large to be easily comprehended. If it were streched out along the line of the Ugion Pacific it would reach from Omaha to San Francisco and half way back again. If stretched across the continent, it would reach from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a solid rain of stock cars over 3,000 miles in length. Broken up into sections, it would give eight rains reaching from Omaha to the Colorado tate line over the Union Pacific.

A good many other interesting facts may e gleaned from this little book. From the table of receipts by roads it will be noted that the B. & M., since 1889, has brought in more cars of stock than any other ine, with the Union Pacific a close second, while the Elkhorn ranks third. The Burlington has hauled more stock out of the ards than any other system, with the Milwaukee coming next in order.

Another table gives the information that over 28,000 hogs were "driven in" during the year; that is, they were brought in by the farmers in wagons. As only from one to four hogs are brought in at a time, some idea of the number of farm wagons that have visited the yards the past year may be the charge of having passed counterfeit money.

The federal grand jury, now in session in this city, has found indictments against both Ford and Senter, in which they are charged with passing numerous counterfeit $10 silver certificates. Some weeks are the session in the charge of the session in the counterfeit $10 silver certificates. f she p, 12,000 head, and 50 cars of horses, 1,000 head. Fully eight acres are now covered with pens, barns, sheds and other buildings requisite for carrying on the business, while fully twenty acres more are graded and are being covered rapidly with pens and sheds. The whole is surrounded by a net-work of tracks and switches, which tracks are owned by the Stock Yards company, which, with its own locomotives and train crews, handle all of the stock both coming in and going out, as well as all of the stock yards and packing house supplies and

FOUND THE MINISTER NOT GUILTY. Denver Preacher Acquitted of Serious Church Charges. DENVER, Dec. 7.—A verdict of not guilty

was brought in at 1:30 this morning in the case of Rev. F. F. Passmore, who was before a special committee for falsifying and disseminating dissension among the Methodist ministry. While acquitting the preacher, the committee expresses the opinion that the specifications in evidence show that the defendant has indulged in unwise, uncharitable and indiscreet public utterances in his use of personalities concerning his brethren and ad-monishes him "to desist from utterances concerning his brethren which would arraign their Christian characters."

The language used by Rev. Mr. Passmore in a published letter, which was the basis of the charges against him, was as follows: "I find the Methodist Episcopal church, in her bishops, ministry and press, with few exceptions, has joined hands with gamblers, Sabbath breakers, saloon keepers and harlots."

They Want Their Money to Spend, Secretary Gillan has been sounding the nembers of the Board of Education in regard o the payment of the December salaries before Christmas. This is in deference to the anxiety of the teachers who desire to find out whether they are going to get their money before the holiday vacation. In some cases this has been done in previous years as an accommodation to the teachers, and most of the members of the board have expressed of the members of the board have expressed themselves as being in favor of doing it this year, in case there should be enough money in the fund. As many of the saloon licenses are generally paid before the holidays it is considered probable that there will be funds on hand sufficient, at least, to pay the De-cember pay roll, and the indications are that he teachers will get their money before the vacation.

Two Tramps Steal a Horse, JULESBURG, Colo., Dec. 7.—(Special Telegram.)-Two vicious looking tramps arrived in Julesburg yesterday from the west and were immediately arrested at McClintock's livery barn by Night Watchman Jones, as he had been advised to look out for some parties who had set fire to a car up west. In taking the prisoners to the depot they managed to escape, one of them striking O. Humbertsone, a railroad employe whom Jones had called to his assistance, over the head with a large revolver. They then proceeded to the residence of Sheriff Wallace, where one of them had worked for a handout by grooming the horse, and proceeded to hitch up the horse to Mrs. Wallace's phaeton and drive out of town. The theft was not discovered until this morning and searching parties are out in every direction.
