Sultan Being Forced on All Sides by the Ambassadors.

RUSSIA'S ATTITUDE CAUSES SPECULATION

Oriental Diplomacy us Practiced by the Turkish Government Continnes to Puzzle Representatives of Other Nations.

(Copyrighted, 1895, by the Associated Press ) CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 7 .- (Via Sona, Bulgaria, Dec. 8.)-The situation here on the question of the extra guardships of the powers remains unchanged and continues to offer a tribute to the powers of delay and evasion of Oriental diplomacy as practiced here to win. by the Turkish government.

The reciption today by the sultan of M. Neildoff, the Russian ambassador, in private audiences, awakens the utmost speculation as to the true relation of Russia to the situation and the extent of her agreement with the views of the powers with the views of the powers.

The flight of Said Pasha and his refuge in the British embassay are subjects of the most intense interest and the efforts made comfortable demands they make upon him or the most dangerous adversary he could fear having in counsel with the powers.

That the sultan lives in a state of constant apprehension of his life was indicated by his demeanor during the course of the caremony of the Solamik on Friday, which involved the departure of the sultan from the walls of the palace and his appearance in public for a sort of review of the troops, attended by many high officials, followed by prayers at the mosque.

SCARED THE SULTAN. On Friday, as the sultan was quitting the osque, a man attired as a Turk, bearing o petition, forced himself through the soldiers to the sultan's carriage. The sultan was seen to become much agitated and deathly pale, but the man was promptly arrested and hustled off to prison without having accom-plished any harm to the sultan's person.

Explicit instructions were received today by all the ambassadors to insist on the ad-mission of the guardships, but as has been stated, without effecting any change in the situation. So persistent has been the pres-sure on Said Pasha to leave the British embassy, and upon the embassy to relinquish him, that all palace officials are now excluded tried to induce Said Pasha to relent and re turn to the sultan. The sultan has protested to the powers against the exclusion of his messengers, but the other ambassadors sup port Sir Philip Currie in his position. The report that they advise Said Pasha to again accept the position of grand vizier has proved to be unfounded.

DETAILS OF A MASSACRE.

Authentic details have been received of the Sivas massacre. They show the slaughter began on November 12 and continued for a week following. It is known 1,200 Ar-menians and ten Turks were killed before there was a cessation of the bloody work. The manner of the outbreak is described as follows: Suddenly at noon, as if by a preconcerted signal, the Turkish soldiers police, the Circassians, and even the laborers and Moslem women and children, rushed into the market under command of the officers. All were armed, the laborers with tools or clubs or anything that came to hand that could be used as an offensive weapon. The attacked and looted the Armenian shop. and pursued with relentless fury the pants, who seemed helpless with surprise a the suddenness of the custaught. Many merchants and clerks were killed and their bodies stripped. As the importing busienss was almost exclusively in the hands of the Armenians, financial disaster must overtake Sivas when the fury of the storm of blood Sivas when the fury o and greed has subsided.

ARMENIAN VILLAGES LOOTED. The stricken Armenia a slowly gather d the mangled remains of their kinsmen and burlethem in a great trench in the cemetery. The Armenian villages in the vicinity were also looted and the people left to be and die. The winter will bring terrible suffering to all the living victims of the outrages. A high official in a position to know declares the massacre were the deliberate act of the sultan's venge ance for having been compelled to grant th r forms in Armenia demanded by the powers A few of the Turkish shops were attacked to afford a pretext on which to accuse the Armentans of having started the disorder. It mentans of naving started the disorder. It is asserted the khaimakan of Guerin, where there are 5,000 Armenians, telegraphed to the vall of Sivas. "You may rest assured there is not an Armenian left in Taerin. They rested the butchers and they have suffered nians from Constantinople and the villages continues by wholesale. All the Armenian monasteries in the vicinity of Erzingian have een pillaged. The massacre there after the Aremians has been disarmed and Zokki Pasha had faithfully promised to prothem. At the village of Pasuan, Erzingjan, the Kurds and Turks attacked a crowd of Armenians who had taken refuge in an Armenian church and killed forty of them. Altogether, 400 were killed and 800 were wounded in the Erzingjan district.

Two Hundred Thousand Dollar Blaze in Chiengo.

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—The firemen in the down town district put in all day fighting a stubborn fire that caused a loss of $200,000. The five-story brick and stone front building at 250 and 252 Madison street, owned by the Eipp estate and occupied by H. Wolfe & Co. dealers in general merchandise, was destroyed. The building adjoining, owned by Paul Rothnearth and occupied by the Steuben Wine company and Shibley & Co., cigar dealers, on the first floor; A. W. Hayward & Co., wholesale show dealers, and H. Wolff & Co. on the floors above, was slightly damaged, and the stocks of the occupants also suffered to a large extent. A heavy fire wall between the two buildings presents buildings prevented more serious sults. The origin of the fire is unknown. It had evidently been smouldering for a long time and had gained much headway by the time the fire department arrived. SEARCHING FOR THE STRATNEVIS. Some Heavy Weather.

PORT TOWNSEND, Wash., Dec. 8. Search or the disabled steamship Strathnevis will be prosecuted by the Oriental steamer Tacoma, which sailed westward from Victoria today. In a few days two or three tugs will be sent out a couple of hundred miles to await her appearance. For the past three weeks a series of southerly gales have been experienced for 1,000 miles west of Cape Flattery. Captain Hooper of the revenue marine service, who is thoroughly acquainted with the ocean currents of that locality, ventures the opinion that the Strathnevis is too fan westward to feel the upward coast current, which sets in against Vancouv r island and the southeast coast of Alzska. However, southerly gales would naturally ereate a northern current. If she possesses any steam propelling power at all, which, together with her sail area, according to Captain Hooper, it would doubtless enable Captain Hooper, it would doubtless enable her to approach near enough to Cape Flattery to secure the assistance of a tug. Shipping men say it will require a large steamship of almost her own size to be of any material use in lowing against a headwind. The steamer is heavily loaded, cumbrisome and would be awkward in rough weather. No real alarm for the vessel's safety is approached by experienced navigators and orehended by experienced navigators hey believe she will reach port by the end shoots a Policeman Fatally. ST. JOSEPH, Dec. 8.-William H. Franz policeman, was shot and mortally wounded ere at noon today at the hands of the family f L. Leibawitz, a pawnbroker. The shooting occurred in Leibowitz's pawnshop, and the bullets were fired by the pawnbroker's 12year-old son, Abe. Policeman Franz went to the pawnshop to recover a stolen watch that year-old son, Abe. Policeman Franz went to the pawnshop to recover a stolen watch that Constable McCafferty of Atchison, Kan., had located there. Franz found the watch and asked permission to take it to police head-quarters for identification. This primission was refused, whereupon Franz attempted to take both the pawnbroker and the watch to headcuarters. A souffle ensued during which Lelbowitz and his wife gut the policeman on the floor. The boy then grabbed a revolver from behind thecounter and fired five shots, three of which took effect in the policeman's body—one in the neck and one in the right body—one in the neck and one in the right side. Both bullets went clear through the body. A third pierced Franz' left arm. Constable McCafferty ran in from the street and arrested Lobowitz, and other officers took the boy and woman into custody. Franz' death is monientarily expected.

CHEROKEE, Ia., Dec. 8 .- (Special Telegram.)-George W. Young, aged 65 years, a wealthy and popular citizen of Cherokee, was found dead at 12 o'clock today by his wife on her return from church, a bullet hole through hie head. He was sitting in a large rocking chair, his feet resting on another chair. A revolver was held in the right hand, which rested on his lap, indicating that he had committed suicide. The bullet entered about an inch above the right temple and ranged downward and forward, lodging just

However, the suicide theory is not accepted by some of his friends. They say Mr. Young was the possessor of so strong a character and brilliant mind that his suicide is most improbable. The inquest will be held tomorrow at 5 o'clock. Mr. Young was the owner of the Washington House at this place, also peveral good farms throughout the try, the total value of which is about $ 000. His mind was not burdened by known trouble, and the community is at a loss to know why he should take his own life, if such is the case. The injured: Thomas Bancon, conductor cut and scalded.

Thomas McKeen, fireman, cut and scalded.
All of the killed and injured were residents of this city. The accident occurred between One Handred and Thirty-second and One Hundred and Thirty-third streets. The locomotive was used as a switch engine, and was bound east to Van Nest station, with its crew of five m.n. The accident occurred at a short curve, and no explanation of what was responsible for the trouble could be ob-tained. Everything was in its proper shape apparently, and the engine and its tender were proceeding along at the usual speed. when, without any warning, the engine left the track and went bumping along the ties. Bannon, the conductor, and McKeen, the fireman, leaped for their lives at the momen engine toppled over across the west track, before the others of the crew were able to ave themselves.

Police and fire alarms were at once turned The firemen went to work with their axes to cut away all the woodwork of the cab and in that way were able to take out the bodies of Fitzgeraid and Maples. The body of McNally, however, was under the boiler and the fitemen were not able to release it. A engine was begun. The engine was at last raised and McNally's body removed. All the bodies were crushed and scalded, death dow, and he was sitting on his seat at his duty when the accident happened,

CORPORATION IN TROUBLE. Walter A. Wood Company of New

York Alleged to Be Insolvent. NEW YORK, Dec. 8 .- The World says: Application has been made to the attorney action to dissolve the Walter A. Wood Mowing and Reaping Machine company, one of the largest industrial corporations in New York. Mr. Hancock has ordered a hearing on the application Monday afternoon at Albany. The company was organized thirty and a great plant has been built up at Hoosic Falls.

Fellows & Wright have made application for the dissolution as attorneys for Mrs. Thomas Patterson of New Brighton, S. I. Her husband, the late Admiral Patterson, U. S. N., purchased 170 shares of the company's stock, which she now holds. The petition says the company has remained insolvent for at least one year and a settlement with the creditors is desired. The capital stock is $2,500,000, and prior to 1892 the surplus was $2,500,000. The financial troubles are largely due to the failure of the Walter A Wood Harvester company of St. Paul. Minn., into which, it is alleged, nearly the whole sur

The application says: "The grounds upon which this action is required to remove the directors and call them to account are, in substance, that the said directors have abused their trust and have been guilty of miscon-duct therein. A great legal battle is expected, as the application will be strongly resisted by the directors, who claim that the company is entirely solvent and will prosper in the future. They are trying to effect

Carrol at Louisville yesterday, the aspirants for the senatorship to succeed Senator Blackburn are here with a slight pause, he read in a distinct their managers and a very hotly contested fight is on. Governor-elect Bradley will arrive tomorrow morning. After his inaugura-tion on Tuesday it is said he will be an important factor in the senatorial contest that is pending, and it is generally conceded that the governor-elect favors Congressman Congressman Hunter, who managed the recent successful campaign in the state for the republicans.

Arrangements for the inauguration of Gov-rnor-elect Bradley at Frankfort on Tuesday are rapidly nearing completion. It is the first opportunity the republicans of this state ever had for the management of such an affair, and the indications are that they in-tend to do the occasion full justice. The inauguration of a republican governor in Kentucky is a record breaking event to start with. The preparations are sufficiently elabof the occasion. The parade will of course be the feature of the day, General D. W. Lindsay has been chosen chief marshal, and in the procession will be organizations from Covington, Newport, Circinnati, Louisville and other cities, including the famous Louis-ville legion. The parade will occur shortly before noon, and the inauguration ceremonles will follow. Colonel Bradley will reach Frankfert Tuesday morning, and will, it is expected, be greeted by one of the largest crowds ever githered at the state capital.

REVERSED ITS OWN DECISION Knusas Court Renders an Opinion

TOPEKA. Dec. 7.-The supreme court Kansas today handed down an opinion of vast importance to the debtors of the state, sus-taining the constitutionality of the law of 1893, which gives eighteen months to the 1893, which gives eighteen months to the debtor to redeem all sales on execution or fereclosure of mortgages, whether the mort gage was made prior to the law or not. The supreme court last April had rendered a de-cision holding this law unconstitutional. Chief Justice Martin, seconded by Associate Justice Allen, reversed the April decision. VERDICT RETURNED YESTERDAY MORNING

Prisoner Showed No Feeling When Words of Doom Were Rend-Placed in the Solitary Cell.

George Morgan must explate the brutat murder of little 11-year-old Ida Gaskill on and | the gallows.

This decision, reached by the jury after a deliberation of hours, was delivered to Morgan yesterday morning at the time that the mercies of God were being expounded from pulpits all over the city. It was just 11:05

When the verdict was delivered the crimnal court room presented an appearance mark dly different from that which it had during the days of the trial. It was crowded to its full capacity up to the time that the ease went to the jury Saturday night. Yesterday morning, besides the court officials, the jury and the prisoner and his guards. there were present only two or three newspaper men and as many other spectators.

It was just a little after 9 o'clock when the jury sent word to the court that it had decided upon a verdict. The lawyers of the accused, however, were not present and Judge Scott decided to wait for them for a time. Word was sent, but they failed to put in on appearance. Therefore at a few minutes of 11 o'clock Judge Scott ordered the prisoner brought into the court room. Deputy Sheriffs Rosenzweig and Mahoney brought him handcuffed from the county jail the office of the sheriff. While the shackles were being taken off his hands one of the guards asked:

"Well, Morgan, what is the verdict going be ?" "That's hard to tell," answered Morgan with a smile.

"We have all come to the conclusion here that it will not be worse than life imprisonment," continued the guard.

Morgan said nothing, but the smile again appeared on his face. It was evident from the expression on his features that he him-self expected nothing worse than that.

DID NOT SEEM TO CARE. In a few miru'es Morgan was led into the court room. He took his seat at the long table which he occupied during the entire trial. His face was as expressionless as it was throughout the trial. The spectator would have said that he was entirely insen-sible of the fact that the moment in which his fate was to be announced was impending a fact which weighed upon every one clse who was present.

Morgan sat in his chair with his gaze directed toward the window and paid no attention to any one. He leaned carelessly back with his legs stretched below him and his hands him should be the leaned carelessly back. hands lying loosely in his lap. They were occupied with slowly felding and refolding a strip of paper which he picked up from the There was not a particle of nervoustable. press displayed in this action.

A few minutes passed and the jury filed slowly and deliberately into the room. As each man dropped into his seat in the jury box his face was scanned by everybody except Morgan, whose gaze was still directed to the window.

"Gentlemen, have you decided upon a verdict?" asked the c urt.

Morgan at last shifted the fixed stare from the window. He glanced from man to man of the jury, and apparently read nothing. He then looked at the window again.

"We have," answered A. C. Woody, the The paper was taken from his hand and given to Clerk of the District Court Moores. Every eye, including Morgan's, was fixed upon his face. He unfolded the paper, and, after

MURDER AND DEATH PENALTY. "State of Nebraska. In the district court for Douglas county. State of Nebraska, plaintiff, against George Morgan, defendant, verdict: We, the jury, duly empantled and sworn, do find the defendant. George Morgan, not guiffy of the crime charged in the first count of the information and find him guilty of murder in the first degree in manner and form as charged in the second count of the information and we do determine that the defendant shall suffer death."

As the last words were uttered the heart of the listener appeared to stop beating for an instant, and there was a choking sensation in the throat. The terrible import was com-prehended by all except apparently Morgan. Morgan had fastened his eyes on the clerk as he began to read. There was not a quiver of the eye lash or a tremor of the hand, even when the last word was uttered. The nerve of the man was remarkable. When the clerk finished, Morgan's eyes turned slowly to the window again, and remained there until he was taken out of the court room. All the while the piece of paper in his hands was slowly folded and refolded by him.

"Gentlemen, is this your verdict," asked the cierk.
"It is," was the answer. On an order from the court the jury was polled.

The question was put to Foreman Wo H. L. Lingenfeldt, W. H. Sisher, G. W. Reynolds, F. J. Stanley, James Montgomery, John Marks, John H. Koehler, Charles A. Gregg, F. J. King, James Delancy and James Col-

len. Each gave the same at swer.
Judge Scott spent a few moments in thanking the jury. He said that it was composed which they listened to the syldence, and re-marked that the accused could not say that he had not been given a fair trial. He then dismissed them, Turning then to Deputy Sheriff Rosenzweig, he said:

TO THE SOLITARY CELL. "Mr. Sheriff, I place the prisoner in your care. Place him in the solitary cell and allow no one to speak with him without permis-

This was a signal to Morgan. He picked up his hat and rising, walked steadily be-tween the two guards back into the sheriff's office. The handcuffs were put on his hands, which appeared to be steadier than those of the man who was putling the irons on. He was taken from the court house back to the jail. He said not a word.

When the jail was entered Morgan was held for a moment in the corridor while the handcuffs were being taken off and while the handours were being taken off and while the solitary cell was being prepared. The prisoners in the jail crowded about the grating of the big cells with whispered inquiries regarding the verdict. Morgan remained as indifferent and as speechless as ever. When the handours were taken off he put his hands in his pockets and quietly remained standing until he was taken to the cell in which he will probably remain until he is led to the will probably remain until he is led to the

The nerve and indifference which the convicted man displayed throughout his long trial to the last moment is considered most remarkable by those who have come in contact with him and by those who have been present through the trial. Its effect, however, is not favorable to the man. It is not considered possible that a man imacent of the horrible crime of which Morgan has been convicted would have been able to listen to the evidence against him and to receive his fate with Morgan's apparent nonchalance, despite the training which a criminal career might elec-might give.

The jury in the case was out from 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon to 11 o'clock yesterday merning. The members will not describe their deliberations or what delayed them in reporting sooner. It is judged, however, that they were all agreed on Morgan's guilt viswing the evidence in order that no mistake
