BOTHERED THE WOMEN SOME.

The seating accommodations in the big tent enough, indeed, with rough plain boards and cheap chairs, but the onlooker was none the wiser, for they were buried last night in sating skirts and exhuberant sleeves proper style to dress was very evident, and there were many there who were not just sure of themselves or their gowns. You see we must make this metropolitan. The air of one belle as she doffer her cape and subsided into her seat with a sigh of relief at seting some other woman in a chiffon waist was exceedingly interesting. There were sliks and satins, laces, ginghams, alapaeas and common cloth, diamonds and rhineston n, real and papiermache flowers, but nit, ermine. Many pretty faces were framed with high collars of fur, which make even the homeliest woman pretty. Mrs. Charlle Horse wors a tight fit-ting, small sleeved light cloth sacque of the vintage of 1812, while Mrs. Monabags bent beneath a weight of sealskin. Young-Man-Not-Afraid-of-His-Dress-Coat was there in streaks, but most of the real "in its" appeared without their black ties, perhaps to avoid getting mixed up with the gentlemanly ushers. Then there was a number of chappies who stuck to their brown dogskin gloves all the evening, just as if they were at any open air skating carnival. But it is pleasing to note that the young Omaha society man is learning. He is gradually finding out that he must not wear the same clothes in the drawing room that he does in the rolling mill. The very efficient corps of ushers was com-posed of Mosars, H. T. Clarke, H. H. 791....N posed of Messrs, W. H. Clarke, H. T. WHAT THEY REALLY HAD.

The performance proper opened with the grand oniree, which all well regulated cirgrand entree, which all well regulated cir-cunes never leave out, as it gives a chance to show their whole troupe, and gives the peo-ple some idea what to look for when the show is on. First came that great friend of the musical public of Omaha, the Second infantry band from Fort Omaha, playing the "Christopher Columbus" march, and closely following the Omaha Guards in full regimentals. The Boston Store bears came next, caged in stout irons and having for its driver Emil Brandeis, rigged in a dress suit and a smile. Bennett's Happy Family was caged and driven by W. R. himself, altohugh no one would ever have recognized him in the outfit in which he appeared. The Nebraska Clothing company had a cage of wild animals, while following was Nicol the Tailor with two baboons, one white and one black. The Continental Clothing company had an ali Hayden Bros, had a cage of wild brownies of all sizes and shapes, and Thompson, Belden & Co.'s wagon was filled with stuffed birds. The cowboy riders, the only representatives of Buffalo Bill's rough riders of the world, were followed by the camels and lady bare-back riders on white horses. Then there was Guy Short's cart filled with those lovely girls. Misses Myra Austin, Mae Robinson and Amy Garnhardt, all of when Genderson Verlag Gernhardt, all of whom Conductor Kelly kindly loaned from his chorus of beauties. After the bareback riders came the heavy After the bareback riders came the heavy Roman charlots with their fiery steeds han-dled in superb fashion by Mrs. Will Town-send and Miss Bertha Van Camp. The Mu-sical Union band followed and drawned some sweet strains which Hospe pumped out of his improvised callong. The Thurston Biffae wave sweet strains which Hospe pumped out of his improvised callope. The Thurston Rifles were here brought forth and were followed by myriads of clowns, ponies, donkeys, goats, attendants and Japanese jugglers. The opening part of the performance proper was the Omaha Guards' drill, in which they gave many well executed maneuvers. The fencing bouts, club swinging, parallel bars and horizontal bars all anneared to rand and horizontal bars all appeared in rapid succession, while the young ladies came upon the scene of action for the Ak-Sar-Ben and Nebrazka drills. The people all wondered where so many beautiful girls could spring from, but sweet charity will bring them out

The drills of both wore very into the face of a negro, who had slipped well executed, indeed, and spoke highly for up behind the pair. Ex-Deputy City Treasurer Coulter Gives Up in Disgust.

Yesterday ex-Deputy City Treasurer Coulter was allowed another half day in which to call upon some business men for the purpose of trying to secure a bail bond. This was yesterday. Officers Bloom and Hudson were detailed to accompany Coultor around the city. Emil Gall, a saloon keeper; Contractors Soiro and Peterson, and Reed of the Dellone hotel were in turn called upon to sign the bond. At 1 o'clock the prisoner returned to the city jail and stated that he had secured bondsmen this time for sure, and there was no question about it, but a the hours of the afternoon faded away Coul-tor still aat behind the bars of the jailer's room with nothing to keep him company but memories of past days when he was a free man. At a late hour he was taken back free man. At a late hour he was taken back to the county jail, where he announced to Jailer Miller that he guessed that he would have to give up the bond proposition as a bad job and await his trial in the district court. Coulter will be given a preliminary hearing before Judge Berka in the police fourt this morning.

JUDGE CORNISH IN NEW YORK.

Union Pacific Matters Being Consid ered in His Court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 11.-Wednesday has been designated as ladies' day at Ingle-Judge Cornish is holding court in New York. There is a vounminous quantity of business to come before him and it is likely to occupy the balance of the month. This morning he was to have heard the subordinate bondholders petition against allowing certain judgments against the Colorado division of the Union Pacific Railway company.

P. J. Nichols, general superintendent of the Nebraska division of the Union Pacific, left for a trip over his territory.

Traveling Passenger Man George McNutt of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas left for the south yesterday on the Wabash. Lincoln Wagenhols, manager of the Louis James company, arrived from Kansas City

via the Burlington. R. R. Ritchie, general agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, is confined to the house with an attack of the grip.

The Eikhorn people are working on a new descriptive 2,000-mile ticket, which will go on sale January 1, under the rules of the new passenger agreement.

Minor Court Matters.

A petition has been filed in the county court, asking that the will of Alexander R. McCandless be admitted to probate and that E. S. McCandleas be appointed administrator of the estate. The estate consists of land of the value of $22,000 and $3,000 worth of personal property, all of which is to be divided among six heirs. The attorneys for the estate of Meyer Hell-man have been allowed fees amounting $4,716. This is $315 less than they asked $4,716. Charles Nagle has commenced suit in the county court against Herman Timme, Fred Timme and Mrs. Timme for $200, the value of two horses which, it is alleged, were un-lawfully taken by the defendants. Nagle claims that he pactured the horses with a man named Puls, and that one day the Timmes went into the pasture, took the torses away, and have still retained them, de spite his protests. Two Hundred Years Old.
