"These gods must have blown in," suggested one of Herrmann's party. "And this one seems to have blown out again," said Herrmann, pointing to the empty space occupied a moment before by the god of the arrested glober. The crowd of Chinese was becoming more uneasy. The temple was rapidly filling with the incruse of sandal wood punk. There was a surging movement toward the place from which the god of the frozen leer had disappeared, and Herrmann passed in front First Methodist's Christmas of the altar and took his stand close to the pop-syed deity. "What is the matter?" he inquired of the interpreter, "Ask the temple guide to ex-plain this mystery." The questions were propounded to the man with the skull cap, but he was too excited to answer intelligibly, and his incoherent reply was drowned in the jabber of his countrymen. Herrmann changed his position again and called attention to the fact that the other god was no longer in its place. When the Chinese fully comprehended the situation the roar of astonishment, mingled with rage at the white man, whom they more than suspected of being responsible for this unseemly performance in a sacred temple, was deafening. Herrmann and his party took advantage of the turmoil and uncertainty to slip down the stairs, and their pace was rapid out of the Chinese quarter, for the interpreter informed them that there were enough high-binders in that temple mob to avenge 100 sacrileges, and willing enough to immolate on that altar any number of conjurers caught "monkeying with the gods."

They will be in charge of D. M. Hartsough. whose work is characterized by "business, and hard sense," and he is said to rank with Moody and Mills for effective results. Prof. Handenschild comes with him to take charge of the music. The Sunday school of the First Methodist church will have its Christmas festivities on Tuesday evening. A cantata, introducing brownies, fairies, Santa's workmen, a boys' drill, a grand parade and Santa himself, has been prepared. The classes of the school will make their offerings to the poor and to benevolent causes. The Sunday school rooms will be elaborately decorated with holly, evergreens and Christmas trees. Christmas Service at People's. Christmas services at the People's church will be on Christmas day, as follows: Sunise meeting at 7:22 o'clock; Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, leader, Mr. Ray Jester; praise meeting at 8:30 o'clock, led by John Dale; What Hath God Wrought? 9:30, leader, Mr. J. here at just about sunrise. As he approached the United States hotel to deliver some produce someone should at him and ask him if he had brought his hons to market roosting on the crosshar under the wagon. He paid no attention, posing the man was guying him. But when he stopped at the hotel and others called his attention to four hens roosting under the wagon and just waking up, it was doubtful was the most astonished, Mr. Berry which was or the hens. Two of the latter were panic-stricken and started down Federal street. One was caught on Temple street and the other got down almost to Exchange street before it was captured. The cook at the hotel bought the four hens for $1 and took them home. How many hens were asleep under the wagon when Mr. Berry started from home he can't tell, but it is very possible that there were more than four.
