BADE FAREWELL TO THURSTON

Former Associate of the Senator Thurston Had a Farewell Banquet. The men who had been associated with Senator Thurston during the latter's nineteen year service with the Union Pacific railroad, or during the greater portion of that period, took formal leave of their companion at a banquet given by them in his honor at the Millard hotel last night.

The gathering on the board was eminently successful, consisting of only thirty-three men, every one of whom was esteemed by the departing senator as a personal and warm friend.

The banquet took the long glistening white banquet table, covered with shining ware, relieved only by the various tints of sparkling wine, and in contrast to the member committee and white rosettes on the banqueters, the walls of the chamber were marked by a variety of designs of color.
