PROMISES HOUSE TROUBLE

Commissioner Jenkins Angry with the County Surveyor.

HIS OFFICIAL CONDUCT CONDEMNED

Justness of His Claims in Connection with Southwest Road Paving Denied-Defended by Livesey of the Committee.

County Surveyor House received another everhauling at the hands of County Co.nmisstoner Jenkins at the meeting of the board yesterday. It came about by reason of a number of claims from the county surveyor which were favorably reported upon by a committee. Jenkins was opposed to the claims. He emphatically stated this, and then roasted the surveyor.

"House has done acts that would make him criminally liable," said Jenkins. "He has caused more trouble to the county commissioners than any other county official and he has been the cause of more expense. On he has been the cause of more expense. On account of him the county is looing money by paying interest to the banks in excess of was advocated. It was declared that the what it is receiving for the same money. He is going out of office, but I say that he will hear from me hereafter."

The claims were for services rendered during the arbitration over the southwest road. Livesey, the chairman of the committee from which they were reported, defended them. They were finally unanimously approved Jenkins voting in favor of them by courtesy to the committee, as he said.

Jenkins also called down the county sur-veyor for not furnishing the contractors on the southwest road with monthly estimates on their work. In this connection a resolu-tion was introduced by Stenberg calling upon House to report the amount of paving done on the road and to report if it had been done according to the specifications. The resolution was adopted.

Protests to the granting of liquor licenses to Henry Meis and Henry Ruser, on the ground that they had not compiled with the statutes were received. Compilerable debate ensued over the question of when the hearing on the protests should take place. and Breen wanted them to be heard before they retired, while Stenberg and Jenkins con tended that this could not be done, as the salo n men were entitled to a five days notice of the protests. The former held that If the saloan men were not present, their cases could be continued, and it was finally determined that the protests should be heard next Wednesday morning.

A number of reports were received from the county clerk, regarding the condition of the charity departments. One showed that during the past six months the following purchases of provisions were made: One hundred and two thousand seven hundred twenty-five pounds of flour, 16,751 pounds of sugar, 4,667 pounds of coffee, 2,198 pounds of tea, 19,310 pounds beans, 4,716 pounds of rice, 8,782 pounds of oatmeal, 13,000 pounds of cornmeal 13,183 pounds of bacon, 13,066 pounds of soap and 3,889 pounds of salt. The report on the coal yard showed that during the same six months 713 tons of coal were purchased at a cost of $1,885.64. The coal was bought and delivered at an average price of $2.65 per ten. It was shown that this was a saving of 19 per cent over the cost in December, 1894.

The bond of District Clerk-elect Albyn Frank in the sum of $10,000 was approved. The sureties were Ed Zabriskie and John A. Perkins. A number of bonds of minor officers-elect were approved.

Attorneys Powers and Altchison were ordered paid $150 each for defending Claude H. Hoover. By resolution it was ordered that another door be placed in court room No. 4, the room formerly occupied by Judge Hopewell. The existing door is unsatisfactory, as it is so near the bench and jury box that the open-ing and closing of it has seriously interfered with the work of the court.

The board adjourned until this morn ing at 10 o'clock, when protests to the granting of licenses to two saloon men, Koch and Staack, will be heard.

Long Term of Service. When yesterday's session of the police court closed Judge Berka finished his term as police magistrate of the city of Omaha. This morning the keys and authority that have been the property of Berka for over four years will be formally handed over to S. I. Gordon, police judge-elect, and the old incumbent will step down and out. Berka was first elected to the office of police judge in 1887. He served two years and eight months and then gave place to Lee Helsley, who held the office during 1890 and 1891. Judge Berka was again called to the bench in 1892 and has held the position ever since. The many strange characters and hardened criminals that have passed before his tribunal would form a book of no small interest, and it is stated that Judge Berka's name is known among certain classes from the Atlantic to the Pacific ocean.

For several menths the residents of certain portions of the city have been missing their cows, and though the thefts have been reported to the police, nothing has heretofore come of it. James H. McDowell swore out the warrant upon which Campbell was arrested, and charged that he bereaved him of a fine animal, valued at $40. DECIDES TO HAVE A LAWYER. The board took a little rest by transacting some routine business and then Lunt got up and moved that the action of the last meet-ing, at which it was decided to dispense with the services of an attorney for the board, be reconsidered. This furnished sufficient excuse for a considerable amount of talk. Jordon made his maiden speech in announcing that he was in favor of retrenchment and wanted the resolution to go over for a week. Lowe desired that it be put away forever and quoted from the rules and regulations in which it was laid down that the board could not expend more than $100 for things over, but it was lost by a vote of 7 to 8.

Lowe jumped up with a motion that the matter be referred to the judiciary committee, but he also was sat down on by a vote of 8 to 7. By this time the original motion was lost in the shuffle and another was made to the effect that the action of the last meeting be rescinded. This was promptly carried by a vote of 9 to 6, and was followed up with another that the board at once proceed to elect an attorney, and this was declared

On the surface the balloting was hot and errific, Captain Covell, C. A. Goss and F. W. Fitch running neck and neck, while Judge Blair, Judge Ferguson, Julius S. Cooley, W. J. Connell, William Baird and blank trailed up with one apiece occasionally. Four ballots were without result, but in the fifth the intense excitement was ended, the result being as follows: Covell, 8; Goss, 2; Fitch, 3; Baird, 2.
