At a meeting of Company Red of the Young Men's Christian association last night, it was declared that to succeed the Blues must be overwhelmingly defeated. They say no Red man will ever have his right honored so long as the pale face Blues remain on the hunting ground. To gain their desire they will sound the war-whoop next Friday night in the Young Men's Christian associa-tion rooms. Officer Murphy placed the notorious Jeff Green under arrest yesterday afternoon. Jeff is a wiry and exceedingly tough colored fellow, with the foulest mouth imaginable. His profanity, vulgarity and abuse of the officer were so shocking that the crowd called upon Murphy to choke him off. The officer complled with the general request and lapped his fingers firmly around the saddle-colored throat of the fellow until the patrol wagon arrived. It required the united strength of two officers to handcuff the darkey and put him in the wagon.

The published reports that Miss Blanche Underwood, the telephone operator who died at Glenwood, came to her death through the carelessness of a drug clerk who made a mistake in putting up a prescription, are emphatically denied by Glenwood people. They say the young lady had been suffering for years from a hip joint disease and the prescription in question was simply a preparation of lodoform and glycerine oil for ex-ternal application. The druggist used castor oil instead of glycerine. They say positively that no mistake was made in a prescription designed for internal administration. "Sandy Point" Adams yesterday filed an

NEW RAILWAY TIES FOR FIREWOOD

Discovery of a Great Industry at the Expense of Terminal Company. Special Officers Kennedy and Miller of the Union Pacific detective force were in the city for the purpose of investigating a report that had reached them that a gang of thieves had been engaged in stealing ties from the railroad company, converting them into stove wood and selling the product on the streets. The information was to the effect that the gang made its headquarters on Broadway not far from Sixteenth street, and that they had a barn pretty well stocked with new ties, which were unloaded from wagons durties, which were unloaded from wagons during the night time and sawed up and split into stove wood during the day. About 300 new ties were traced to the locality, and the men spotted who were selling the wood on the market. The Union Pacific officers investigated the matter and were ready to file complaints in the federal court charging the men with stealing the property of the the men with stealing the property of the government, but the doubt as to their ability to prove that the ties taken belonged to the Union Pacific system led them to abandon the plan. A further inquiry convinced them that the ties were the property of the Terminal company and left them without any other than a friendly interest in the matter. It is said that seven men inhabit the place. Four of them live there all of the time, and three of them come over each night from Omaha. It is likely that the Terminal company will conclude to protect its property and the thieves will get into trouble.

The association to inquire to abate the nuisance. at its previous meetings has never had any thing more than the ground plan submitted for inspection, but the committee yesterday was shown the front elevation and the pencil eketch of the entire building. As explained by the architects it met with their unanimous approval. The temple is to be five stories high, above a half basement. The front will be 45.7 and the rear 47.5, and the side walls 112 feet in the clear. The lot is 122.3, and this will give 10.3 feet area in the 122.3 and this will give 10.3 feet area in the rear in addition to the sixteen foot alley. The plans show a building that will be one of the most heaviful and imposing modern of the most beautiful and imposing modern structures in the city. The front will be of pressed brick, with cut stone and terra cotta trimmings. The windows of the fifth floor will be in the form of three sets of three links, the symbol of the order. The main entrance will be in the center, with dcuble store rooms on the side. The entrance and foyer will be modelled after the New York Life building in Chicago, the main staircase and elevator being duplicates star members of a tough gang that runs of the little before the vicinity of one of the little before the star runs of the little before the second floor be a balcony, reached from the second floor. The walls of the entrance and the foyer will be almost wholly of plate glass, affording abundance of light to the store buildings. In the basement will be two rooms similar to those in the Baldwin block. The central part of the basement will be fitted up for general storage purposes, and the rear will be occupied with the steam heating plant. A double system of vaults will extend from the foundation to the roof on the rear corners, giving a vault for every floor.

The second floor will be occupied with offices, single and in suites, toilet rooms, reception rooms, and the main public hall. This hall will be 44x80 The Bee building. GOLDEN WEDDING OF PIONEERS Half a Century of Married Life Cele-

JEFFERSON, In., Jan. 20.-(Special.)-Fifty years ago yesterday Mr. and Mrs. Jacob night, so the anniversary was commemorated at that time. In 1860 Mr. Cline was elected county treasurer and recorder, and served four years. During the forty years they have made Jefferson their home they have witnessed a marvelous change; the vast wilderness of prairie, without sign of human life for miles, has given way to thriving towns and fertile fields dotted with com-fortable farm houses, school buildings and but three sons survive, being present with their families Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Cline have been members of the church for more than fifty years. They are quiet people, whose everyday lives voice the claims of the Christianity they profess, and they are held in the highest esteem and reverence by the people of the town and county. Both are enjoying excellent health. Mrs. Cline doing her own work, and Mr. Cline pursuing his trade, that of a carpenter, day in and day out. They both come of families of long life. Mr. Cline's brother passed the fiftieth year of wedded life with his wife: Mrs. Cline's mother and father celebrated their golden wedding in 1870; her second brother has been married nearly fifty-one years, and a sister, though widowed, married more than fifty years. They they see no apparent reason why the sixtieth anniversary should not be celebrated. There were present at the celebration Saturday night about fifty guests, representing the no couple were less than 100 years, and sev eral touched the 150 mark.
