DISCUSSED FINANCES Current Topic Club Gets Interested in the

Matter. KENNARD AND TAYLOR READ PAPERS

Exalt the Achievements of Their Committee and for the Council Make Promises Strict Economy Will Be Practiced.

"The New Financial System of Omaha" was the subject of discussion at the Current Topic club of the Young Men's Christian insociation last night. The subject was presented by Councilmen F. B. Kennard and Cadet Taylor, both of whom came with care- a fund for that purpose might be collected. fully written statements of what they and the new administration intended to do in the way of reform and retrenchment, which they read word for word. It was somewhat amusing to listen to the congratulations the two councilnen offered each other as members of the leaving out the remainder of the council ilmost entirely. Councilman Kennard was introduced by pressure and then began the clamor for relief from excessive taxation. Matters drifted along through 1893, 1894 and 1895, up to the threshold of 1896, from which time a change might be expected under the new council. PROMISES CONSERVATISM.

"The city government of the city," said Mr. Kennard, "will be run according to its capacity and needs along lines dictated by every principle of conservatism regarded by the people." He stated that this had already been shown by the steps of economy taken. He said that on January 1, ordinances went into effect which cut down the expenses of the city hall $21,000, and that since that time other reductions of $6,000 had been made. A new gasoline lighting contract had been entered into, which would save $9,000. I said that other savings would follow which would decrease the expenses in the city hall $40,000 before the end of the year.

Mr. Kennard recommended the acquirement of ownership of the water works system un-der condemnation proceedings and said that by so doing the city would be able to lay aside a fund and reduce water rent both to itself and the citizens. He also advised the city ownership of the telephone and electric light systems. He stated that by a com-parison with cities which owned such systems there was a difference against Omaha of almost enough to run the municipal govrnment.

Another part of the city's new policy as outlined by him was the honest collection of taxes. He stated that the investigation of the treasurer's office disclosed the fact that taxpayers had had their tax receipts receipted for months and even a year before they paid the taxes, thereby saving the interest of 1 per cent a month. He promised that the new administration would see that all taxes were paid when due, or that inter-est would be added to them. He also adest would be added to them. He also advised home rule for the city, absolutely indeendent of the state government, which would permit the citizens to formulate a charter for themselves. He arged that delegates should be sent to the legislature to vote for Omaha's, and not comporations' interests.

When Councilman Kemaard had finished his paper Councilman Taylor stepped forward with his. He stated that he hoped to see the time when city jobs would be distributed by civil service rules instead of on account of of Superintendent McConnell's paper. paying $1,000,000 a year without knowing where it goes?" He said that the finance committee tried to arouse interest in this question by various reports, and that its efforts finally culminated in the investigation of the treasurer's office. The investigation resulted in the checking up of the office for the first time in three years and a half. He said that thanks ought to be given to the ommittee for the safeguards which were placed about the office by the ordinances of

January 1. HIS TEN-FOLD PLAN. Taylor then went on to detail the elements which, in his opinion, would make a strong city policy. In the first place, the best bus-ness men of the city should be sent to the legislature to work for a revised charter. They should be men strong enough to work or the city's interests and not those of cor porations. Secondly, the legal voters should have the right of making and regulating their own charter. Thirdly, the governments of Omaha, South Omaha and the county should be consolidated into one, as the expenses of the entire county were practically paid by Omaha now. Fourthly, the council should be reduced to nine members and the salaries should be so increased as to attrac business men. He said that as a rule bus ness men refused a seat in the council be cause it meant sacrifice of business. Fifthly all boards and salaries should be wiped ou of the charters. He thought they could bet ter be regulated by ordinances. Sixthly such a system of fees should be established as to make all offices not only self-supporting but revonue producing. Seventhly, no franchise extending over a period of two years should be granted until the consent of the citizens should be obtained. Eighthly, the city should own the water works system Ninthly, no citizens should believe re about their officers without investigation. thought that the character of officers had been sadly maligned in the past. Tenthly, good laws should be made, lower taxes inaugurated and a more vigorous public interest created. He did not think, however, that the matter of lowering taxes should be carried to extremes.

When the papers had been read the ject was declared open to discussion by the meeting, and J. J. Points was called upon. He said that if the council would lower the taxes and carry out the other promises which had been made in the papers the present administration would certainly be highly commended by the public. pecially urged that franchises should be more carefully given to corporations and thought that they only should be granted by the voice of the people. He said that if the city could not own them they should be rented. Frank Heller spoke especially in favor of local government, being of the opinion that the state should have little to do in the affairs of the city. He rebuked the city officials who had put slips in the drawers of the city treasurer for salar a drawn in advance, saying that they were no better than theives, inasmuch as their action was if-

J. W. Powers and City Clerk Highy also made remarks. The latter stated that citizens had made demands that the levy should not exceed 36 mills, but he said that this would not yield a sufficient sum to run the government. WANT NO CITY POLITICS. In ending the discussion Chairman Kil-patrick said that he would like to see the government taken out of politics. He urged that expecial care should be taken in electing assessors, because be thought the great-est dissatisfaction existed on account of the unequal assessment of property. He stated that the economical policy of the new administration was commendable, and he was glad to hear expenses would be cut of $40,000 before the end of the year, thought that was only a drop in the bucket when the entire expense was $1,000,000 a year. He said that the park board, of which he is a member, was economical, as it asked for an assessment of only 1 mill, and would be satisfied with half that amount, sufficient cover the bare running expenses of the board, but he desired to see the other de-

McConnell on Locomotive Service. The current lesue of the Rallway Review prints on interesting paper on "Locomotive Service," by Superintendent Joseph H. Mc-Connell of the Union Pacific system. I vas read at the December meeting of the Western Railway club. The paper concludes "When the mechanical depart ments of our railroads give the same atter tion to increasing the train haul that they do to making a showing of how cheap they can run the locomotives per mile they will find they have obtained increased service from the locomotive, decreased the cost of hauling a ton of freight, and increased the revenue of the company. The problem of today is, how much does it cost to haul a ton of freight one mile, not what does it cost per mile to run your locomotives."

present last night except Franck. The most ommittee appointed to investigate alleged and wercharges by the American Water Works so. He could not see what necessity ompany. The report of the committee was:

"We are unable to report upon as many cases as we would have liked for the reason that many of our citizens on whom we called for water bills declined to furnish them. While many believed the rates ex-orbitant, and that though there mighmight be overcharges they did not feel like getting mixed up in any fight with the water works empany. In all, we presented to the water works company for explanation seven cases. with the following result: "A bill of $22.75 on a residence for the use of water from July 1, 1895, to January 1, 1896. It will be understood that the com-pany's bills are not itemized, the bills reading: 'For privilege of using water for pur powers as per inspection,' and simply give the total amount. Requesting items on this bill we were furnished by the company's manager LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 20.—Articles of bath. $3.50; one water closet, $3.50; one extra wash bowl, $22.75 being for eix months. Comparing this with the company's printed rate we find an overcharge of $10 in the charge for the rotary. It will be seen that the American water used for sprinkling the lawn and $10 for the machine which does the sprinkling. There is nothing in the company's printer rate authorizing such a charge. The bil rendered on this property for the six months commencing January 1, 1896, is for the same smount and has been paid by the owner This is an overcharge of 22 per cent. "Another bill examined was on a residence where a meter was used. It was rendere December 2, 1895, and was for water cor numed from September 24 to November 3.750 gallons at 35 cents per thousand gal from August 26 to September 24, 3,759 gal-lons, $1.39. The explanation of the Septem ber bill having been included in the December bill, which had been paid on Octobe 14, was that it had been credited through error on the company's books to another con sumer in the same neighborhood. ems a little strange that the quantit charged for on each bill, 3,750 gallons, should be exactly the same when the first accoun is for sixty-three days and the last but for twenty-nine days.

The next bill examined was for ouses wituated on a double corner, the two lots fronting 120 feet and running back t the alley 150 feet. But the amount th items furnished on this bill is $12.40 for six months, at seven rooms, $7.50; eight rooms, $8.25; hose use, $7; total, $22.75 At these rates the bills should have been $11.40, not $12.40. The charge for the house: is right according to the rate book, but there to an overcharge in the amount for hose use of $1.30. The company's rate book says. street sprinkling by hose, fifty feet front or less, $5. Each additional foot, 10 cants. As the property is but 120 feet frontage, the total charge should be but $5.70. The next bills examined were for a saloe where a meter is used. One is for water used from March 23 to April 25, one month and two days, 13,500 gallons, $4.50; one for water closet used from June 7 to July 25 one month and eighteen days, 3,000 gallons $1.05; one for water used October 25 to No vember 26, one month and one day, 3,00 gallons, $1.05. The next bill is for $3.75 for six months in a private residence of seven rooms and which is according to the com-pany's rates. The next billo examined are for a business building where a meter is used. The first, as rendered on March 11. with the depositaries.

The last bill was paid. It will be seen that the water works company did considerable estimating to arrive at what should be paid in this case and it appears in the light of the subsequent settlement for less than half that in the first bill of the company's estimate, both in quantity and price it looked for its own interests. It will be noticed that in the first bill the quantity estimated is 507.575 gallons for 257 days, or 1,975 gallons per day. This number of gallons lons at 25 cents amounts to $126.90. Had th lons at 25 cents amounts to $126.99. Had the estimating computer of the company raised the daily consumption to 2.000 gallons, only twenty-five gallons more, the total quantity would have been 514,000 gallons, and the only solution of the estimate of a few gallons per day less is unaccountable unless the estimate took into consideration the difference in the price per day between 2.000 gallons and a less per day between 2.000 gallons and a less per day between 2,000 gallons and a less quantity. The company's rate book says: 'Meter rates, 1,000 to 2,000 gallons per day, 25 cents; 2,000 to 4,000 gallons per day, 20 cents.' Had the quantity run 2,000 gallons per day the bill would have been $102.80, instead of $125.90. Another bill on which the company furnished the items is one for a business property containing two store rooms and ten rooms upstairs. The charge is $36.50 for old months and the items for annual rates are: 'Ten rooms, $12; three water closets, $10; hose use, $6; two saloons, $40; one billiard table, $5; total, $73." was paid July 1 last, and the bill rendered for the six months commencing January 1, 1896, was for the same amount. There has been no saloon in one of the buildings since been no siloon in one of the buildings since May last, and for three months after that time the room was vacant. Since then the first for a brief visit.

P. B. Doddridge, traveling freight agent of the Missouri Pacific, was in the city yessome time ago and a new bill has since been made for the six months expiring July 1 next. The items on this bill are: Ten roome, $12; one saloon, $29; one millinery store, $5; hose use, $5; three water closests, $15; total, $57.' It will be noticed that the 1 next. The items on this bill are: 'Ten roome, $12; one salcon, $20; one millinery store, $5; hose use, $5; three water.closats.

From a letter written by Ray. J. There is in each of the store rooms a water closet and one in the rear of the building. Heretofore the company has charged $5 for the one in the saloon and $2.50 each for the others. They now charge $5 each. The company's rate book says: "Water closets in public houses, per bowl, $5; water closets in private houses, per bowl, $2.50." The charge of $5 for each the results were most marvelous in the gaptist church at Rives Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding la would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. may not be overcharge, but in this case it is certainly an injustice. "It will be seen by the above facts that in almost every case we investigated over-charges were found, and from these findings it is not unreasonable to assert that overcharges by this company are the rule and not the exception, and this is a convincing argument that the ordinance requiring the company to render an itemized bill, now in the hands of the judiciary committee, should

He had simply stopped off, on his way east, with no important object in view. He could not say whether any effort to buy in the plant at the foreclosure sale would be made by himself and his associates, remark-ing that he had so far given the matter no attention. He only stated that the case was still pending in the court of appeals and that if the decision of the lower courts should be reversed, those who were pushing the sale would be compelled to conclude that they had been a little too previous.
