The expert knew be-cause he knew, and that's all there was to its present condition and urgent needs. Mr. Beatty will use his best efforts to see that the committee is duly impressed with the wants of the institution. All of the institutions of the state have

it. When he said, for instance, that the Bostedo building was worth $12,000, he meant that it was worth $12,000. He said he didn't know what the building cost. He stated sums set aside for their operation and maintenance and in addition to this sum an appropriation is made at each session of the legislature for the improvements and special work needed at the institutions for the period of two years. There is always a big demand from these institutions for a share of the appropriation, and this year there is no exception to the rule. Heretofore the School for the Deaf has fared rather poorly in the distribution of the special appropria-tion. Legislators have learned by experi-ence, especially during the last few years, proof vault and was always rened and the offices generally filled with good tenants. These facts had not entered into his com-putation as to the value of the building. The sewer passed through the wall adjoining the foundations of the bank vault, and the clinking and ing their unding attracted the attention of the bank clerks, and one of them went down into the basement to see what they were doing. "We're going through your bank vault," replied one of the men, "and we've found a third of your missing money where it had soaked through the vault." The workmen regarded the joke as a good one and repeated it in the barber shop for which the work was being done, and from there it spread like the unallpox. There was ten feet of solid masonary and a foot of steel and iron beexists. tween the sewer gang and the bottom of the vault, which would make a leak in that

The people of Utah have assured us that they will not hesitate to pass any laws necessary for us, and we want the assistance of the Iowa legislature, and we must reach it through the people of Council Bluffs. Hon. John Y. Stone declared that there was no cltizen of Iowa or Nebraska more heartily in sympathy with the great project under discussion than he. No enterprise is more important. Here is what may be called the central belt. No city in the belt is so favorably situated as Omaha. There will be found no hand in Iowa raised to retard the enterprise. There is every reason why these two great states should unite in this grand work. Our interests are the same. There can be no favorable legislation in Nebraska that will not favorably affect Iowa, and anything that will help Iowa will bear fa-vorably upon Nebraska. Wherever the state of Nebraska has a friend there Iowa has a of Nebraska has a friend there low has a friend also. IOWA AUDITORS IN CONVENTION.

Many Changes Desired in the State Laws.

DES MOINES, Jan. 22 .- (Special Telegram.)-The State Association of County Auditors began a two days' session here today. About fifty auditors are present. The meeting was devoted to a discussion of the natters of legislation in which the asciation is interested. It is desired that the legislature make the term of office four in-stead of two years, and the resolutions of the sheriffs and county clerks on this subject were endorsed. Amendments to the Australian ballot law are asked that will re-quire the auditor to display the sample ballots on the morning of election day, instead of five days before the election as now re-quired; also to take all road and highway quired; also to take all road and highway matters out of the hands of the auditors and give them to the surveyors.

Supreme Countil Decides the A. O. U. W. Case.

arnounced today that Buffalo, Cleveland DES MOINES, Jan. 22.- (Special Telegram.)-The supreme court today decided the case of the grand lodge, Ancient Order of United Workmen, against W. R. Draham et al. This is the case between the loyal and seceding factions of the_Apcient Order of United Workmen of thisastute. There was schism in the order in 1875 and one fac a schiam in the order in 1875 and one fac-tion withdrew and incorporated under the name of the old order. The old faction was not incorporated. Both grew in membership and strength and both engaged in the in-surance business on the initial assessment plan. Finally about three years ago the se-ceding faction brought a suit in Dubuque county against the loyal faction to enjoin it from using the name and facturent if from from using the name and to prevent it from engaging in the insurance business. The district court sustained the petition and granted an injunction on the ground that the older body had not incorporated and had no right to the use of the name which it had lost when the seceders incorporated under it. The loyal division appealed and the supreme court reversed the ruling. It holds that in-azmuch as the older division of the order had used the name first its right to it is such that a new organization cannot new claim an exclusive right to it merely by reason of being incorporated under it. The fecision gives both divisions the right to use the name.
