She coughed terribly, with par-oxysms of athma frightful to see. The doc-tors did their best, but she went down until she got so low in strength and so emaclated that she seemed more dead than alive. All the while she was racked by that awful cough and was fighting for breath against the asthma. One day a lady who had been a patient of Drs. LEO PINNELL. "Our little boy, Leo, although but 6 years old, had been in a bad way with catarth of the head for nearly three years. We were aware of the danger of letting such a thing run with a child, but neglected doing any-thing, thinking he would outgrow it. Leo had an intense form of the disease, mainly in the nose. He caught cold continually, and as far up as we could see his nose was raw and inflamed. He could not breathe at all except through his mouth. After a while the breath became offensive and whole masses of discharge would gather in the nose, throat and up in the head faster than he could get rid of it. This was his state-day and night-before his cure by Drs. Copcand and Shepard. Their treat-ment was pleasaut and mild and wrought a perfect cure. We were assured by friends in whom we had all confidence that these physicians had the best system of treating catarrh. That was what we wanted to get at. THE METCALF-BUSHNELL RECEPTION 700 Guests Present at the Brilliant

Event-The Butte-Bolles Wedding-Social Notes and Gossip.

A dash of snow, a suggestion of winter, was all that was required to awaken Coun-ell Bluffs society to a realization of the fact that the social season was rapidly passing with but little effort being made to take advantage of it. The little shift of snow paved the way for many social events and society aroused itself from the long lethargy into which it has failen since the holidays. There were events of all degrees of impor tance during the week, but perhaps none so elaborate and extensive and attended by such an army of people as the Metcalf reception with its 700 guests. As a general thing the society of any city resolves itself into many different coteries, but occasionally some large reception calls them all together. This was especially manifested Friday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Drayton W. Bushnell threw open the elegant home of the Metcalfs for the first time. The color ocheme was pink and white and the guiding hand in the arrangement must have been an artistic one of no mean ability. As soon as you passed into the hall a scene of enchantment met the eye. The fragrance of rores and carhations, the glow of dueky Oriental draperies, the sheen of paims and ferns that filled the vestibule and wound up the quaint carved stairway and were banked to the ceiling in all the alcovez, gave on the glimpse of what seemed to be veritable fairyland.

The guests were met at the door by Harry Van Brunt and Roy DeVol acting as pages. After divesting themselves of their wraps on the upper floor with the assistance of Alma and Jessie Pontius, Maud and Ruby Bryant, they were ushered into the parlors by Della Metcalf, who was like a little fairy. gowned in a pink taffeta silk with valen-ciennes lace overdress. Here they were received by Mr. and Mrs. Drayton W. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Metcalf and Miss Collins. Mrs. Bushnell was charmingly atired in a black sEk Canton crepe with steel spangled sleeves, diamonds and carried a arge bunch of red Camellia, Japonicas.

bewildering profusion of roses, it should really have been called a rose reception. The mantels were banked to the ceiling with the rarest La France roses, ferns and palms. The dining room was a glitter of silver and cut glass. In the center of the refreshment table was a great mound of reses and ferns, flanked on either side with large silver candelabrum with pink wax candles and festooned with ropes of smilax, caught in Mrs. Bushnell by Mrs. Jackson and Miss

A stockman from Hopkins, whose name could not be learned, was left to guard a baby a few days ago, while on his way home from Chicago on one of the Burlington trains.

The mother asked him to grant her this favor and stepped from the car, remarking that she would return in a few moments. She failed to keep her promise, and the Missouri man had a baby on his hands. While reaching over to pet the little thing he found a note, which the mother had left. BOLLES-BUTTS WEDDING.

A topic of absorbing interest for the past week has been the marriage of one of our most brilliant and accomplished society belles, Miss Elsie Butts, to Samuel Eugene Bolles of Delta, O., which occurred at 4 o'clock Thuraday afternoon, Rev. Phelps officialing, at the home of the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Butts, on First avenue It was a quiet, el gant home wedding, the immediate relatives of the bride onl present. The parlors were profuse'y decorated with smilax, roses, jonquis and hyacinths. The chandeller in the front parlor was one mass of smilax and La France roses, and under this the bridal couple stood to be made one. Miss Butts was married in her going one. Miss Builts was married in her going away gown, which was of army blue couver cloth, tailor made, with hat to match. She wore a large bunch of fragrant white violets. All brides are lovely, but Miss Builts was ex-ceptionally so in this becoming gown, which mirrored her exquisite taste in dress. After
