

TO PATRONIZE EACH OTHER

Nebraska Lumber Dealers Draw the Lines of Trade a Little Closer.

GO TO ASSOCIATION WHOLESALEERS ONLY

Members Pledged by Resolution and Bound by Rules to the New Order of Doing Business in the State.

LINCOLN, Jan. 30.—(Special).—Probably the most important piece of business done by the Nebraska Retail Lumber Dealers' association came in the adoption of a resolution and an amendment to the by-laws, pledging and requiring members to buy lumber only from those wholesalers whose names appear on the list of honorary members of the association.

The second day's session convened this morning at the state chamber of the capital at 10 o'clock, President Frier presiding. Treasurer Bradford's report showed the following financial condition:

Cash on hand January 1, 1895, $770.78 Received from secretary, $62.95

Total, $833.73 Expenditures as shown by vouchers, $1,081.63

Cash on hand, $256.10

P. D. Smith of Lincoln read an interesting paper on the "Disturbances Over the Ohio-Southwest," the principles of which were most strongly endorsed. A high grade of commercial morality and advised each member to be satisfied with the price he paid for lumber and to be the first to violate a contract or go back on a bargain once made.

Director A. M. McCook followed with a paper which elicited considerable applause on "State Associations." Mr. Barnett and W. C. Lambert, the principal speakers in the retail lumber associations, and directed the attention of the members to their manifold benefits. He urged strict and inviolate adherence to the rules which the wholesaler from selling direct to the consumer, and advised frequent conferences between the retailers and other lumber associations.

STOOD UP FOR THE WHOLESALEER. M. L. Freis of Arcadia exploited a short "fun" upon which he took the affirmative. He said he was a wholesaler and had owned and conducted a great many retail lumber yards. This had been very detrimental to the best interests of the retail lumber wholesaler.
