JUDGES ARE AGAIN AT WORK

Opening of the February Term of the District Court.

CASE OF ALVA CHAMBERS DISMISSED

Injunction Against Maintenance of Morgue in Clonty Block Ailowed-Other Matters Before the Court.

The February term of the district court for the Fourth judicial district opened yesterwere jammed at an early hour by prospective jurymen, attorneys and litigants, as well as by a large stock to P. C. Rude, who sold it to F. J. well as by a large number of curiosity seekers, whose principal occupation is to haunt the court rooms. There were no unnecessary preliminaries, the judges going The object of the suit is to confirm his posat once to their respective rooms and taking up the routine order of business.

Heizel. The stock was soized by the sheriff

The greatest interest, as is usually the case, centered about the criminal court. Judge Baker did not arrive until after 10 o'clock, being detained at home by the serious Illness of his wife. Sheriff McDonald officiated at the opening of court and re-cited the old familiar "hear ye" without stumbling, although his voice trembled perceptibly from a slight attack of stage fright. The calling of the jury occupied nearly the entire morning. The usual number of citizens failed to respond to the calling of their names, and a capias was issued for their appearance. A number were excused for cause, and the county attorney was then allowed the floor.

case against Alva Chambers, beast who was sentenced to the penitentiary for twenty years for criminally assulting little Alice Bovec, was dismissed. The case was reversed by the supreme court and Chambers was sent back to the Douglas county jail.

HARRISON GOES, TOO. The case against Robert Harrison was also dismissed. This is the man who was arrested for unlawful cohabitation with one Lulu Moore. He agreed to marry the girl and was released with that understanding. The case against Grace Miner, charged with petit larceny, was also dismissed. Grace took French leave a few months ago and is supposed to be on the trail of Vic McCarty and Pat Ford, jr. She relieved one Peter Murphy of a gold watch valued at $20 lest

November, and Peter has not presented himself to push the prosecution. Ralph Higgins and Charles Vanness charged with assault with intent to do great bodily injury, were allowed to plead guilty to the charge of assault and battery, and were remanded to jail to await sentence. This was an election day fight, the accused having assaulted C. B. Dodson and beaten him severely. The mother, wife and sister him severely. The mother, wile under with of Vanness were in court to intercede with of Vanness were in court to intercede with the court for a light sentence on the ground that he was their only support. In Judge Keysor's court the application for a temporary injunction to restrain Coroner Burket from establishing a morgue in the Clowry block on Chicago street was granted. As soon as the order was made Mr. Burket telephoned his assistants and the work of removing his assistants. removing his establishment to Capitol avenue, between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, was commenced, and the morgue of the coroner will be at that point in the future. The balance of the morning was occupied by Judge Keysor in hearing motions. Judges Slabaugh, Fawcett, Powell and

Ed Stout, who is to be Judge Slabaugh's bailtiff, and E. W. Kerr, Judge Scott's bailtiff, were the only new men on hand. Judge Fawcett's bailtiff, Leslie, was reported sick. Norberg and Williams, bailtiffs in the criminal court, will hold over until their term express in March.

time ago. HETZEL CASE ON AGAIN. Judge Keysor moved into Judge Dickin-on's room in the afternoon to hear the case engineer was entered and a considerable of Hetzel against Bennett. This case bids fair to become a very respectable rival of the case made famous by Charles Dickens—Jarndyce and Jarndyce. It has been tried four times and is now on for a fifth trial. friend's assistance. After a short struggle Ravencamp succeeded in landing all three men in jail. He was surprised to find that The jury disagreed in two trials and ver-dicts were returned for the plaintiff in the other two, a new trial being granted in each one of his prisoners was the man who was wanted in several western towns for burgcase. The case is a suit in replevin and grows out of the closing of Hetzel's grocery laries of various amounts and for whose ar rest there was standing a reward of $500. The new depst officer is now considered the best policeman Ottumwa ever had and the people there are wondering how in the world Omaha came to let the officer go. It will be remembered that Ravencamp was dismissed on trivial charges brough by Sergeant Cory, who went after his man several times before securing his dismissal. session. A jury was secured in short order and the case started on another round. In the criminal court the case of Martin

Shields for selling liquor without a license was put over until Friday morning. Waiter G. Faye, charged with forging and celling school bonds of an Illinois school dis-trict, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. Charles Mack, one of the so-called "Bru-ton gang," was arraigned on the charge of stealing feathers from a mattress factory in the northern part of the city. He pleaded gagement at Boyd's last evening in a delightguilty and explained to Judge Baker that he had been told by the police that if he turned state's evidence against his pals he The only drawback to this most capital and would be allowed to go free. The county at-torney said he had no knowledge of any such arrangement. Mack told the judge the police had no evidence against him except his own confession extelled under the promise of lacking it was only that conjured up in the Imaginary mind through the influence of freedom and the judge said he would not althat frigidity which is inevitably concomilow such test mony to be admitted. William Glassco, who was convicted at the September term of robbing a conductor on a street car in August, 1894, sentence being suspended until the present term, was granted a new trial. The attorney who prosecuted the bastardy case of Charles Bachmann, the man sent to jail for life by Judge Scott, asked the indul-gence of the court and made a plea for the relief of Bachmann. He explained to the court that Bachmann was in jail because he could not give a bond for the maintenance of the child. When he gives the bond he is for contempt of court.

The attorney stated that the child was adopted some time ago into a respectable family and would never become a charge upon Douglas county. He therefore asked the court to enter an order that Bachmann enter upon his sentence for bastardy. HABEAS CORPUS SUGGESTED.

to enter on a sentence of one year for bastardy and after that he is to serve two weeks

Judge Baker stated that there was nothing before the court and intimated that if the child was provided for Bachmann was il-legally detained and the proper remedy was proceeding in habeas corpus. Judge Fawcett will not hold court today, his court room being in the possession of the county commissioners for the purpose of holding a local convention. 42-217. Wants the Railway Company to Pay Matilda Heyman has brought suit against the Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley Railway company to recover $2,700. She alleges that in February, 1894, P. G. C. Cooper and A. V. Harris of Crawford, Neb., by force and fraud secured possession of a stock of goods owned by the plaintiff at South Omaha and prepared to ship the same over the defendant railway company's line to Crawford. She replevined the goods, which she alleges were turned over to her with the exception of two boxes containing clothing and furnishing goods to the amount of $2,700, which she charges the company with having delivered to Cooper and Harris. She wants the railway company to reimburse her for the loss sae claims to have sustained through

Pay for Injured Feelings. Joseph Fiorelli, the erstwhile Murray hotel barber who was arrested on a complaint sworn to by Thomas Murray, charging him with malicious destruction of property in tearing out a bath tub and other apparatus in the shop vacated by Ficrelli in the basement of the hotel building, has commenced suit against Murray for $5,000 damages. In his petition Fiorelli alleges that the arrest was subjected him to infamy, disgrace and public scandal and has been the means of doing great injury to his body and mind and nothing short of the ducats of the millionaire propietor will soothe his injured feelings.

Minor Court Matters. The Merchants National bank has commenced suit against W. E. Clarke to recover $11,260.50 on three notes. The Kilpatrick-Koch Dry Goods company will be known in future as Thomas Kil-patrick & Co., amended articles of incorpora-tion having been filed yesterday to that on Saturday. Commencing Thursday evening next and continuing for two nights, the distinguished actor, James O'Neill, will play an engagement at Boyd's theater. It is almost unnecessary to say a word in tribute to this artist, for Mr. O'Neill has been before the public for almost a quarter of a century and has immortalized the character of Edmond has immortalized the character of Edmond Joseph Duffy, P. Martin, Joseph Fitzgerald, Dantes in "Monte Cristo." However, he will not open with Dumas' masterpiece, which The committee decided that in any ward has been reserved for the second evening, but will present Sheridan Knowles' tragedy, "Virginius," in which he has accred an immense success. New scenery and rich costumes will be used in both productions, and the company seen with Mr. O'Neill is said to be a strong one. Fifty people will be on the stage during the performance of "Vir-ginius." During Mr. O'Neili's Omaha en-gagement the prices will not be advanced, althought it required considerable argument to induce Manager Connor to allow the con-cession. The sale of seats will open tomorrow morning. At the Creighton for the first four nights of the coming week, commencing with Sun-day matinee, February 9, will be presented "The Sidewalks of New York." Joe Cawthorn, the well known and popular German dialect comedian, comes to Boyd's theater for four nights, commencing Sunday evening next, with a brand new show called "A Fool for Luck" and a large company under the direction of Mr. John W. Dunne. Joe Cawthorn is most pleasantly remembered here as the co-star with his brother and for two or three seasons as the leading comedian with Patti Rosa. The principal comedienne with Mr. Cawthorn is Annie Buckley, who played June in "Blue Jeans" for tha past two years; John E. McWade, the baritone; Annie Wood, the original cook in "Wilkinson's Wildows;" Elsie Irving, Carrie Francis, Agnes Ardeck, Josephine-Marie Clayton, D. M. Gregory, Collin Varrey, George T. McLaughlin, an old man, who has been in the service of the government for many years. Several weeks ago he went to Yankton, S. D., and reported to United States Marshal Miller that there was an organized band in the neighborhood of the old fort, the members of which were daily committing depredations of the most flagrant kind. The buildings, he said, had been badly mutilated, and he feared they would be hauled away unless the government stepped in and prevented it. He also said that the depredators were cutting also said that the depredators were cutting the timber on the reserve in Boyd county, this state, by the wholesale, no less than 100 wagon loads having been hauled away in a single day.

"Marshal Miller proceeded to the scene of lawlessness and later said that Mc-Laughlin's report had not been exaggerated. Several of the government buildings wan advanced state of demolition and of the reserve in Boyd county had been cleared of its timber. Careful investigation was made, developing that the depredators all belonged in Nebraska and resided in Boyd county. A report of the condition of things was telegraphed to Washington, and the attorney general at once put himself in communication with United States District Attorney Sawyer, who was in this city at the time. Explicit orders were received to sift the matter to the bottom and let no guilty man escape, and this means that United States Marshai White has a big job on his hands." Deputy Marshal Tomlinson has been on the scene for several days, and Sunday he ar-rested two of the ringleaders, who will be tried before a United States commissioner at Niobrara some time this week. Tomlinson not only corroborates Marshal Miller's statement, that the marauders were purely a Nebraska organization, but also that he had spotted some sixty or sixty-five of them and expected to increase the number to 100. He reported that they had openly defied Custodian McLaughlin, demolished several of the buildings and hauled away the lumber, and now that the government officers were after them they threatened to murder him and burn what remained of the buildings. Deputy Tomlinson also found that a vast quantity of choice timber had been felled and hauled away, and that the parties were still engaged in their lawless work.

"That the people engaged in this wholesale piliage are desperate," said a government official, "there is little room for doubt, but considering the extent of their depredations it is reasonable to suppose that the nan is safely landed in jail. Before this is lone, however, there are apt to be stirring acenes up in the wilds of Boyd
